THE SUPREME COURT

Day Given Largely to Denying Motions for Rehearing.

The territorial supreme court held two sessions yesterday and adjourned to October 29. There had been an understanding that the court would meet on May 16, but that was based on a misunderstanding. A new petition for a writ of mandamus had been filed by Martin Duggeln, of Coconino county, against E. M. Doe, district attorney for that county, requiring him to institute proceedings against certain persons who are occupying, it is alleged without right, the Bright Angel road. It was stipulated that the petition should be submitted to Chief Justice Kent in chambers on May 18, and from that circumstance grew the impression that there would be a meeting of the court on that date. The chief justice decided that he could not act upon the petition alone. The petition was, therefore, argued yesterday by Mr. Clotfelter for the petitioner and briefs were ordered filed within thirty days.

Teodora Elias, the murderer of Officer Katzenbach at Tucson, was led a step nearer the gallows yesterday. At the last meeting of the court the judgment of the lower court convicting him of murder in the first degree was affirmed. There was a motion for a rehearing and yesterday that was denied. It is not likely that any further legal resistance will be made.

In the case of Charalou et al, appellants, vs. Price and Shields, appellees, from Pinal county, the judgment of the court below was affirmed. A motion to retax the costs was denied in the case of Charles M. Taylor, appellant, against Thomas Burns, Cochise county. In the case of Jake Marks et al, appellants, against the Bradshaw Mountain railroad, a motion for a rehearing was denied. A similar order was made in the case of Ernest Hall against the territory, from Coconino county. In this case the appellant was a sewing machine peddler who was arrested for selling machines without a license. Notice of appeal was given. A motion for rehearing was denied in the case of the Gila Bend Reservoir and Irrigation company against the Peoria Canal company. There was a notice of appeal.

A motion for a rehearing was denied in the case of the Valley bank against Governor Brodie and other members of the loan commission. This was an application for a writ of mandamus to compel the commission to fund the so-called Tombstone warrants. In the case of Charles MacKitchie, appellant, against Helena Stevens and others, appellees, Pinal county, a motion for a rehearing was denied and notice of appeal was given.

There was an application for a writ of habeas corpus in the case of Francisco Mapula, of Graham county. The application was based upon the fact that Mapula had been indicted for murder and had been convicted of murderous assault. The writ was denied. K. K. Scott, of Tucson, and J. M. Ross, of Prescott, were admitted to practice.

SATURDAY MATINEE

Operetta "All the Year 'Round" at the Dorris Yesterday.

An appreciative audience greeted the production of "All the Year 'Round" at the Dorris yesterday afternoon. Miss Welch needs no introduction to the Phoenix music lovers, and any of her productions are always met with enthusiasm. The presentation of the operetta had been looked forward to for some time and was most pleasantly received. The choruses were unusually fine, and showed most careful drilling, while the solo work was exceptional for such young singers. Mr. Frank Meyers, as "The Stranger" covered himself with glory, by his manly appearance and fine presentation.

Little George Morgan, representing Winter, sang very sweetly, though hampered by a cold; Miss Luella Hartwell sang the part of Spring finely, and Miss Dixie George, as Summer, looked her part and sang it well. Perhaps the most lengthy work fell to Misses Little Butler and Hazel Marshall and their singing was very fine.

The Indian band played unusually well and their music was well received. But the crowning number was the reading by Miss Kunkel of Paris; it is seldom that Phoenix has an opportunity to hear such a talented elocutionist and her reading was much appreciated. She gave the grave-digging scene from "Hamlet" and graciously responded to an encore with "Cuddle Doon." Her enunciation is exceptionally clear and her reading was without the "stagey" effect so often seen in amateurs; every motion bespoke the professional reader, and told of her experience on the stage.

The operetta will be remembered a long time as one of the best amateur entertainments ever seen in Phoenix.

THE HIGH SCHOOL BONDS

A Favorable Sentiment Toward Them in Yesterday's Meeting.

A meeting of the residents of the Union high school district was held at O'Neill hall yesterday afternoon to consider the matter of holding another bond election for the purpose of procuring funds for needed improvements at the high school. The bonds were defeated at the last election largely by the voters of the country districts composing the high school district. The opposition of the country members rested largely on a misapprehension of the situation.

The attendance at the meeting yesterday was made up for the most part of members from the country but all together there were only about thirty persons present. C. B. Wood was chairman of the meeting and there was a very harmonious discussion of the situation. Many of those who had opposed the bonds at the previous election expressed a change of view and there was a consensus of opinion that the improvements suggested were actually needed and that it would be better to issue bonds for them than to resort to a tax levy. A motion was made to request the board to call an election but some of those who have all along been in favor of the bonds believed that in view of the light attendance at the meeting it would be better to let the matter go over to another meeting. In the meantime it was resolved to get together all the information on the subject possible and lay it before the forthcoming meeting which it was decided to hold three weeks from yesterday.

Accordingly a committee of three was appointed from the country to act in conjunction with the school board for the collection of information. With an architect they will go over the school building and make an estimate of the needed improvements and the cost of them.

There were several things which contributed to the defeat of the bonds at the last election. One of them was a story of the extravagance of the board in allowing the teachers a month's extra pay last year to assist in defraying their expenses at training schools. As a matter of fact no such allowance was made and that fact will be a part of the information to be laid before the next mass meeting. There is little doubt at that time there will be a unanimous request for the board to call an election and from the temper of the country districts reflected in the meeting of yesterday there is no likelihood that there will be great opposition to the proposal to issue bonds for the improvements which have been recommended.

LITERAL LITERATURE.

(Extract from a popular novel).—"Florabel was a vision of feminine loveliness. Her swanlike neck supported a fair face crowned with a wealth of golden hair which glowed like radiant autumn leaves. Her shell-like ears, eyes like twin stars and coral mouth made the fair maid indeed a dream of beauty."

I know you cannot catch a bird
By sprinkling salt upon its tail,
But on the other hand I've heard
That that's the way to catch a mail.

PROJECTED RAILROAD.

From Tucson to the Twin Buttes Mine in Pima County.

It is currently reported that Mayor David S. Rose who went out to the Twin Buttes mine this week is contemplating the building of a railroad from Tucson to this property, a distance of twenty-eight miles. It has been demonstrated that ore can be worked at a greater profit when a smelter is near some city and on the main line of a railroad. This consideration led the Phelps-Dodge company to remove their smelter from Douglas to Elbae. Mayor Rose has behind him large Wisconsin capital and it is said that he is ready to undertake the building of a railroad and smelter when the Twin Buttes property is fully developed.—Tucson Post.

subjected to the punishment wants no more of it, though he may be smiling within a few moments after the ordeal is over. Gov. Chamberlain and the prison authorities are highly pleased over the result of the experiments, for they have been desirous of abolishing the whip.

Only one prisoner has been flogged during this administration. That man was a trusty and had run away, and upon being captured was given the penalty always imposed in such cases up to that time. Since then two prisoners have been punished with the cold water remedy. One of them was a big burly negro. When he came to the prison he was assigned to work in the shops but refused to obey orders. He asserted that he didn't have to work and wouldn't work. He was taken to the bath room, stripped and stood in a corner. The first spurt of water from the hose brought out a shriek that was evidence of the effectiveness of the remedy. After trying for half a minute to dodge the stream of cold water, the man gave up and began to beg and make promises. The punishment ended, he went to work, and has given no further trouble.

The other prisoner subjected to the water cure was a white man. For several months he had been giving trouble, and seemed to find enjoyment in disobeying rules, even when he gained nothing by it. Small penalties did no good, and he was finally warned that another offense would bring severe consequences. A few days later he deliberately violated an important regulation and was sent to the bath-room. He began to beg before the water struck him, and before a painful of water was used he was completely subdued. Before he had dressed again he was laughing over the punishment, but his subsequent conduct has proved that he doesn't intend receiving a second dose of water cure.

There are men in the Oregon penitentiary who bear flogging scars that they will carry to their graves. It is but fair to say that the scars were not received during this administration. Some of the men thus punished are still unconquered and are perhaps more vicious and more desperate because of the method of inflicting pain. Many a prisoner has sworn that if he ever gets an opportunity he will take the life of the officer who has laid the lash across his back. Flogging was degrading to both the prisoner and the man who imposed the punishment. The prisoner was stripped and bound and flogged until, in many instances the blood flowed down his back. Not so with the water cure. The prisoners are not bound nor cut and bruised. The cold water cure leaves the offending prisoner with a cleaner body and apparently a more peaceful mind.

TOLD IT IN SEA TALK.

Dry Land Court Scene Enlivened by Nautical Language.

An associate judge of the Oklahoma supreme court, who has had a varied experience during his residence in the territory, tells a story of a witness who "tripped his anchor" and it happened right in Judge H—'s court room, when he was but a humble justice of the peace out in the new country.

The witness at hand was a typical jack tar, and among other peculiarities of seamen, it is well known that they have an inveterate tendency to describe everything in the language of the sea. This peculiarity was strikingly exemplified in the case of the old boatman who had been called in connection with the trial and added another color to the rainbow of the court's varied experience so far from water—and where it didn't even rain many times a year.

"Now, Mr. Smith," said the lawyer, "you will be good enough to tell the court precisely what you saw concerning the prisoner at the bar."

"Well," said Jack, "ye see, 'twas like this: I was dodgin' along in the lee of the town hall, just backing and fillin' so's 't let a little cutter I was expectin' range up alongside, when all of a sudden that fellow opened out the harbor lights and came along like the Fly in Dutchman. When he comes under my lee he jammed his helm hard down and stood away on the north tack until he nearly fouled the pier head. Then he put his wheel up and bore away before a good ten-knot."

"My dear sir," said the lawyer, "this jargon is utterly unintelligible to the court. You must be more explicit. Was not the night on which you saw the prisoner a particularly stormy one?"

"Oh, well," replied the Jackie, "you could have carried your topsails easy enough, and your courses, too, but it would hardly have been safe to set your topgallants without a double reef in each of them."

"This is not answering my question," cried the lawyer. "About what time was it on the night on which you saw the prisoner?"

"About two bells in the second dog watch."

NATURE'S AWAKENING

Seasons Change and we Change with them.

As warm weather approaches nature awakes from her long winter sleep. The dreary months of bitter cold give way to sunshine, the ice king vanishes and the swelling buds and tender sprouts give evidence of spring's awakening. The sap, the life blood of all vegetation, is coursing upward through roots and fibres, taking with it from the bosom of mother earth food for the growth and development of vegetable life. Rich soil and a free and abundant circulation of sap produces healthy vegetation, while poor soil and a deficiency of the life-giving fluid means dwarfed or stunted growth and decay.

At spring's awakening the blood from which all animal life draws its sustenance and which nourishes our bodies must be free of all impurities and in a normal, healthy condition, or evidences of it will surely crop out in the form of sores and boils, red itching eruptions, pimples, rashes and skin troubles of every description. Warm weather stirs the blood, and in the effort to throw off the accumulated poison is thrown into a feverish excitement and riotous state, and the skin is the chief sufferer. The humors and poisons with which it is filled are thrown off through the skin, and so long as the blood is burdened with impurities sores and boils, pimples and blotches, bumps and rashes will continue to come. Bad blood not only affects the skin but creates internal disorders. The Liver and Kidneys act less promptly, the stomach is upset and the appetite usually fails, and this condition of affairs is bad on the nervous system and brings on that debilitated, run-down, tired-out feeling common to this time of the year. To remove from the blood all impurities and poisons is necessary before there is a full and free circulation and healthy action in other parts of the system. If your blood is all right then you are prepared for spring's awakening and the coming of warm weather. As a perfect spring medicine nothing is superior to S. S. S., which is made from roots and herbs gathered fresh from fields and forests, and not a particle of any mineral substance of any kind enters into this great vegetable remedy; and S. S. S. is the only blood purifier known of which this can truthfully be said. S. S. S. for the blood is widely and favorably known; it has been used for nearly fifty years and is more popular to-day than ever. If your nervous system is run down and the appetite fails, or sores, boils, pimples, or eruptions of any kind begin to appear, it indicates the blood is not up to the proper standard and that it has become impure and lost its power to nourish the body. Rich, pure blood and good circulation assures perfect health and freedom from many annoying ailments peculiar to spring. You will find S. S. S. acts promptly and will put your system in the best possible condition at spring's awakening. If you have any blood trouble, write us about it and our physician will help you get rid of it. Book on blood and its diseases free.

HAS A GOLDEN OPINION OF S. S. S.

Salem, Ohio, August 4, 1903.
I have a golden opinion of S. S. S. Will have no other blood medicine in the house. I do not believe there is a remedy made that can compare with S. S. S. as a blood purifier, alterative and tonic. It purifies and enriches the blood and gives tone and strength to all the organs. In other words, it builds up the general health while driving out poisons and impurities. I am a great admirer of S. S. S. because I know it to be all you claim for it, and know, too, that it is superior to Sarsaparilla compounds and other things I have used. To sum up what I have said, S. S. S. is the prince of blood purifiers and I unhesitatingly give it my endorsement.

INCREASED STRENGTH AND ENERGY.

Wheeling, W. Va., May 27, 1903.
This spring I was greatly run down in health, and feeling that I needed a blood purifier and tonic, I began the use of S. S. S. and took some six bottles, with the result that it put my blood in good condition, gave me increased strength and energy, improved my appetite and digestion, and made me feel like a different man. As a blood purifier and tonic S. S. S. is all right.
