

WHY MAKE POOR BUTTER?

A little dirt taints butter—lowers the grade—reduces the price. Separators full of bowl complications are dangerous—very hard to clean—and hurt the butter.

TUBULAR SEPARATORS

Have no contraptions—have outgrown them. Just a simple tubular bowl, THAT GETS ALL THE CREAM—don't chop and froth it—and is thoroughly cleaned in one minute. Let me show you and give you interesting facts.

AMPHIBIOUS FISH

How Some Phoenix Piscatorial Experts Were Surprised.

This story has an unpromising beginning, but there is a satisfactory and veracious explanation near the end. It relates to cat fish which, getting tired of the water, are supposed to come out and feed on the succulent alfalfa and grain growing in a nearby field at regular stated times during the day.

The other day a gentleman by the name of Galpin, well known throughout Phoenix, and some friends were fishing will ill success below the city, in the vicinity of the ranch of N. W. Haggard. They were broiling in the sun, but there was no prospect of broiling any fish when Mr. Haggard came along. He told them that they seemed not to know the habits of the fish in that part of the river. He said that that was their feeding time and they were scattered out somewhere in the alfalfa and grain fields. He invited the fishermen to come to the house and sit on the porch in the shade where fishing would be more pleasant, as well as more profitable, than on the unsheltered river bank. He said he would send one of the boys out to drive some of the fish up to the edge of the porch where they could be easily caught.

The fisherman went along with Mr. Haggard to the house, but not with the expectation of fishing; merely because he had asked them to go. Arriving at the house he told a boy to go out in the field and round up a few of the fish for the amusement of the visitors. The visitors looked at each other and smiled and the boy went out into the wilderness of alfalfa. He soon returned with an armful of cat fish of varying sizes and laid them down at the edge of the porch. Mr. Haggard then told his guests to proceed with their fishing.

Before they left they were given an explanation of the strange thing they had witnessed. It turned out that Mr. Haggard has a system of tanks in which water is stored for irrigation purposes. These tanks are stocked with fish. The water is transferred through ditches from one tank to another or else over the fields. There are so many of the fish that whenever the water is set running a large number of the fish go out with the stream and are left stranded in the ditches. At the time Mr. Haggard invited the fishermen to his house he knew that the water was running low in the ditches and that the fish would be there.

A FLORENCE WEDDING

The Sale of Mining Property—Social and Other Events.

Florence, Ariz., May 11 (Special Correspondence of The Republican).—A very interesting event took place last evening when Miss Tillie Miller, one of the popular young Florence belles, was united in marriage to James Horton, of Congress. The wedding was consummated at the residence of the Rev. H. Heltz, the couple being attended by Miss Sophie Harris as bridesmaid and Ed. O. Devine as groomsmen. A few relatives and close friends witnessed the ceremony, after which the party returned to the home of Judge Harris, where a most convivial time was spent until midnight. The happy couple was then escorted to the Florence hotel and ushered into the bridal suite, after a most rousing reception from a number of the bride's friends, who had met there for the final send-off. We wish all good things for Mr. and Mrs. Horton in their new state of life.

Richard Trevelyan, of Superior, has been in town for a couple of days wishing his friends goodbye, previous to his departure for the county of Cornwall, England. Mr. Trevelyan is a very old citizen of Pinal county and has not been back to the old country for thirty-five years and says it is about time he paid his mother a visit. He is certainly entitled to such a pleasure after his long absence, and the meeting between the two would certainly be worth going miles to see. "Dicky," as he is best known in this section, is brimming to the full with good spirits in anticipation of the good time to come, and with the pleasant time he has had amongst his Florence friends.

Troxel Bros. have sold their mining property at Mineral Hill to a syndicate named the Oklahoma Mining and Smelting company. The principal stockholders are H. T. Board and Mr. Chapman, bankers from Oklahoma. The price for the mine is in the neighborhood of $25,000. The company has let a contract to L. E. Troxel to sink a couple of shafts on the property.

On Friday last the Florence Literary club held its final meeting for the season of 1903-1904 at the residence of C. D. Reppy, when the members presented scenes from Hamlet, the Merchant of Venice, Romeo and Juliet, Macbeth and Othello. The parts were rendered exceedingly well and the members deserve much credit for the pains taken in the study of the various characters. After the serious business was completed a banquet took place and the members again showed their all-round ability by seeing that nothing was omitted which could tend to make that part of the programme a success. The grounds and house were beautifully decorated for the occasion, Chinese lanterns being used to give the grounds a bright appearance. Mrs. Borques gave selections on the piano and Miss Michea and Mrs. Borques also rendered some very pleasing duets.
