THE NEED OF HURRY ON ROOSEVELT DAM

It Will Be Worth $250 a Day to the Contractors to Reach a Certain Stage by April 1.

Roosevelt, March 2.—(Special Correspondence of The Republican.)—Actual work on the setting of the gates of the tunnel began today. It was necessary to clean the tunnel after the last flood as considerable sediment was deposited. The upstream bulkhead was raised and strengthened so that in case of a second flood the tunnel will not fill. It was necessary to build a bulkhead down stream where the water enters the river from the tunnel as the high waters would cause the tunnel to fill from below. A derrick has been brought from Granite Reef and placed on the side of the canyon to be used in lifting the heavy pieces of iron into the tunnel.

Masonry work on the dam has continued at a good rate through the week. About fifteen men are kept at each derrick and all possible speed is being made. The front of the dam is up nearly thirty-five feet. The contract says the dam must reach 150 feet above bed rock by April of last year but on account of unavoidable delays the time was extended a year. In case the dam does not reach the required height the contractors are to pay $250 a day until the required height is reached. So undoubtedly every effort will be made to bring the work up to the contract for it seems hardly likely that the government will extend the time longer. In a few instances the government has caused short delays and this time will be credited the contractors.

The pen-stock just above the power house was completed last week. The pen-stock was designed by O. H. Harris and is for the purpose of controlling the supply of water to the power house from the canal. In case it be necessary to stop the machinery in the power house suddenly, by a push button switch in the power house the water is shut off.

The first tower was raised on the transmission line. Monday and over a half mile of towers were raised during the week. Twelve men are required to assemble the towers and about half that number to raise them. The towers on this desert portion are being raised by means of a gin pole operated by horse power.

THE WHITE SOX

WILL PASS US UP

Hetting and Spear Have Been "Farmed Out" to Minor Leagues.

The champion White Sox passed through Tucson Tuesday en route to the coast for the annual spring practice. The party included newspaper men, ball players and their wives, Comiskey and others to the number of about sixty in all. Hetting and Spear, who had been signed by the Sox manager at the end of last season, and who played with the Browns, were not in the crowd, as they have been "farmed out" to minor league teams.

It is unlikely that the champions will be seen on the diamond in Arizona towns, Albuquerque or El Paso, to all of which Comiskey wrote as long as five months ago, and as late as three weeks ago, to make advance arrangements. But the cities wanted to see the real champions and not the second team of young try-outs, if they were to hand over such large guarantees as asked. Comiskey at El Paso said that if the southwest cities were not contented with the team he would send,
