It Was a Hot and Tiresome Day for a Ball Game, Girls, And the Game-Why Say More?

(By SALLY JACOBS)

Dolly followed the crowds to Prescott and while I'm not particularly friendly with the creature, I must admit Dolly in this instance showed good judgment.

Being a fan, and one who knows how miserable Dolly would have been at the tiresome game played at Riverside yesterday, I positively suffered during the dreary hours I passed there until finally at five-thirty o'clock I was released, too fagged to be joyful over the big majority we made over Tucson. Where, oh where is there a team, a worthy rival of Captain Barrett's regiment.

It really was too bad to see such brilliant playing wasted, and the young men from the Old Pueblo certainly should not be encouraged to play. It is with kindness only in my heart that I would suggest—let me see, not jack straws nor ping pong—those games require finesse quite beyond them, but why not croquet? If they couldn't send the ball through the wicket it would probably relieve their feelings, at least, to let the mallet down on the earth with considerable force and so express themselves. How much more manly that would be than to act peevish and cross and crabby. The pitcher, Mr. Doerdorf, (they call him Dearie, but for the life of me I can't see why, but of course, that's neither here nor there) was so disagreeable that they put him out of the game. All the other Tucson persons wanted to stop playing but in order to finish in some shape Phoenix gave them everything Speaking of gifts, reminds me of the umpires. Two we had, one Mr. Davis from Tolleson, I believe, and the other a Mr. Barkley, whom I understand came from Higley. They were simply outrageous. Of course, they should not be blamed because they had never before seen the game played, I'm certain, but still it was hard on the fans in a grand-stand that is not ice-cooled They made the most atrocious decisions. There's no use talking about it because I know a nice man like Manager Baum would never stand for it a second time.

There were pleasant features, too. It was a joy to see the beautiful runs of Mr. Billy Dodge, and the splendid batting of the baby of our Solons, extraordinary youthful Mr. Kern Warren. And I'm just frightened to death that some of those grizzleys or purples back east will offer big prices and get our handsome captain and his clever lieutenant, Mr. Kimberly. Mr. Kimberly catches balls with more grace and enthusiasm than anyone and no matter where they were sent he was there to get them. Captain Barrett's fielding was perfect. He was behind Mr. Kimberly all the time—in case—don't you know. He was not more than twelve and a half inches away and what is twelve and a half to a man like our genial captain.

I met another genial person yesterday, Mr. J. M. Ormsby and what that man doesn't know about baseball !!! I couldn't grasp quite all he told me, men fans use such queer terms you know, but I was mightly impressed about a certain piece of information. The ball grounds will be formally opened Sunday so please forget that lovely christening party we had on the Fourth of July. The players have not been announced but Governor Hunt is to be asked to pitch (between us I'm in favor of Captain Barrett), Major Young to catch and Judge C. W. Johnstone an organizer of the National League Association is to bat. I do not care very much for amateurs myself, but they can't be worse than Tucson players. Another thing Mr. Ormsby told me—the management is going to put the outfield in grass and in January one team of the National League will come here to train.

"Oh, Mr. Ormsby, how grand and may I bring Dolly out to see them practice? Then who shall I ask if not you, and at the same time I'm going to beg him to put carpet down for our boys, not just on account of the dust, but because they deserve it, bless them."

SECOND GAME IS SLOW SESSION

Phoenix Bests Tucson in Slow, Uninteresting Exhibition—Locals Outclass Visitors — Battingfest — Umpiring Poor

The second session of the parliament between the representatives of the Old Pueblo and the Phoenicians which took place at Riverside park yesterday afternoon, was not as good by a great number of degrees as the previous day's exhibition. In fact it was so hot all through the session that the umpires got roasted. Some of the fans expressed the hope that they would also get parboiled and pickled. For two hours and thirty minutes pastime enthusiasts sat waiting for the end of the agony. It was one of the slowest exhibitions that has been seen here for some time, due to no other cause than that the arbitrators failed to make the players get a move on. For some reason Geary was out of the running and didn't show, so two others were commandeered to serve and they did. The less said about it the better. In closing the measure of their performance may be put down to the best they could do by honest endeavor, and let it go at that.

From the beginning it was seen that the visitors were outclassed. The fielding of the locals was good, better even than that of the day before, and added to this was an ability to smite the sphere at opportune times. In this particular, Barrett, Cook, Warren and Dodge featured, Dodge making one of the longest hits on the grounds. In six out of the eight frames in which the locals officiated at the bat, they scored, while the visitors succeeded in getting by but twice.

Doerdorff, who was on the slab for the Pueblans, pitched a good game while in the box although he was touched up rather severely for hits by the hickory hoisters of Phoenix, but with better support he would have made a much better record. There is no overlooking the fact that he is a finished baseball player and knows the game from end to end.

Krause pitched a good game and was accorded splendid support. He fielded his position with great ability as reference to the box score will show. His strike out record is not big, but he evidently remembered there were eight other players in the field all anxious to show the grandstand what they could do, so long flies were in order and these were pulled down with regularity. Warren, Hathaway and Kimberly excelled in this, while Cook again played a star game behind the bat. Hudson made a number of excellent plays and showed more as the Hudson of old. A description of the game would be too tiresome to inflict upon the public.

THE MARK OF CAIN

Behold, thou hast driven me out this day from the face of the earth; and from thy face shall I be hid; and I shall be a fugitive and a vagabond in the earth; and it shall come to pass that everyone that findeth me shall slay me. And the Lord said unto him, Therefore whosoever slayeth Cain, vengeance shall be taken on him sevenfold. And the Lord set a mark upon Cain, lest any finding him should kill him.—Gen. IV, 14 and 15.

JEWELS GRAB ONE FROM TEMPE

Gem Cityans Obtain Revenge from Bears in Close Interest Contest at College City Yesterday — Plenty of Pitching

(Special to The Republican.)

TEMPE, July 5.—Mesa scored an 8 to 7 revenge against the Bears on the local diamond this afternoon in one of the same sort of contests that has charactetized the past half dozen games between these two clubs. As the score might indicate, the game was as close as it could be without going extra innings, and throughout the class of ball exhibited was that style that always holds the fans' attention keyed to the utmost interest.

Mesa opened the score with a run in the second inning and then five in the fourth, all on three hits. The Bears came back at them in the third session for three of the five tallies on three successive hits. It looked like a rally that would mean disaster to the visiting Jewels, but just the right turn didn't come and the locals took the field still these two badly needed tallies behind. Never did they gain a lead during the game, but the Jewels were so hard pressed in the ninth for that last needed run to tie things up and carry the contest into extra innings that they were all but ready to say the tie-up was a certainty.

If ever two clubs played evenly matched ball, Mesa and Tempe are providing the southside fans with it now. One to nothing once, and then on the Fourth of July, 4 to 2 in the forenoon and 5 to 4 in twelve innings in the afternoon, and the game of today on the local diamond, gives one a pretty good impression of the relative strength of the two aggregations. Southsiders are now beginning to wonder how the home clubs will match up against the Phoenix regulars.

This is the box score of today's game:

RED M'GHEE SEZ:

STUFFY McINNIS

The most unlikely lookin' pup may cop blue ribbons when grown up, upsettin' all the dope. The scrawny-lookin fauntleroy, a reg'lar sissy when a boy, grows up—big White Hope. When Stuff McInnis joined the Macks the wise ones made a lot o' cracks 'bout foundling institutes. Their laughing rang out loud and strong when Connie said this kid 'fore long would fill ol' Davis' boots.

"First base?—that kid?—Au, cut the fun!" the fans all said. "It can't be done." But Connie played his hunch. He knew the kid was short on height, but figured he'd produce all right because he had the punch. That year Stuff was just nineteen, but in that swell infield machine he fit just like a glove. There must be springs in Stuffy's legs; he gathers in the wildest pegs—both sides, below, above.

An' he don't fall down at the bat. Ask any pitchin' guy 'bout that. They'll tell you Stuffy's there. His two-base wallops sure look fine a-scuddin' out the first base line. He don't pop in the air. The boy is just a youngster yet an' it's a purty darn safe bet he'll shine for some more moons. There's nothin' bout this little man that smacks of flashin' in the pan or single year balloons.

U. S. WILL SCORE IN BILLIARDS SURE

May Los Out in Polo But Hoppe Is On the Three-Ball Firing Line

Reverses sustained by the United States on the polo field at Meadowbrook, on the cinder path at Philadelphia, where the Oxford team won the relay race, and on the golf links at Sandwich doubtless have caused some misgiving as to the outcome of the other international contests.

In the ring, Willie Ritchie is to meet Freddie Welsh; on the ocean Sir Thomas Lipton will endeavor to defeat the American cup defender with Shamrock IV; and Great Britain will send her tennis stars to New York.

The Union Boat club of Boston has arrived at Henley to compete against the leading crews of Great Britain on the Thames, and early in July, Melbourne Inman, the English billiard champion, will sail for New York to prepare for his international match with Willie Hoppe, the American champion.

Although Uncle Sam has so far failed to score in the three contests already staged, he can, by winning the fighting, yachting, tennis and billiard events, still get better than an even break with John Bull.

If it should happen that the outcome of the billiard match between the American and British champions is necessary to decide the rubber, then it will add greatly to the interest. Few lovers of billiards on this side of the water believe Inman has much chance to defeat the young New York wizard, but the polo fans were equally confident that their team would win and they were given a hard jolt. English players are just as enthusiastic over the chances of Inman, who has displayed such gameness in many of his matches that he is known as "The Twickenham Terror."

Many American fans think that as the English game consists so much of winning and losing hazards into pockets that Inman will be hopelessly outclassed, but when he was in New York last year he convinced Maurice Daly, the dean of the New York roomkeepers, that he was a clever performer at caroms. Friends of Hoppe believe it will not be any trouble for him to make twenty-five consecutive caroms and then play any kind of shot and soon get the balls in position for another run of twenty-five.

Manager R. B. Benjamin, who is looking after Inman's end of the match, is back in New York after a few weeks spent in London. He reports that Inman refused a big offer for his end of the international match. The English champion is confident the series will be the biggest thing of its kind in international billiards.

Inman's successful invasion of Canada last year has caused some of the leading players at the English style of billiards to come in search of new pastures.

George Gray, the phenomenal young Australian player, already has contracted to visit the Dominion. It is quite possible that Reece, the former English champion, also will appear in Canada early next season. So far no dates have been booked for Gray in the United States but it is quite possible he may be seen in several of the leading cities as there is no doubt there is a tendency of the men who pull the billiard strings to get a combination of the best points of the English and American styles and so produce a game that will afford genuine international competition.

AND HE WALKED.

It happened on a 3-cent car line. The car was crowded. A man got on, evidently a foreigner. He bought a quarter's worth of tickets, (eight). The conductor took one and handed him the others. When the conductor came around for fares again the man gave him another. After a little another call and another ticket, until they were all gone. "Py himmel," said the man, "I puy no more tickets! I valk!" And he got off and walked.—Judge.

DIDN'T NEED CURE

"Slickers has a queer impediment in his speech, hasn't he."

"I haven't noticed it."

"Yes; he pronounces Vera Cruz as if it were Vera Cruth."

"But that's right."

"Eh? What do you think of that! And, by George, I told him how Uncle Jim and Cousin Max both cured themselves of lisping!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

PRECAUTION

During the preparation for battle Pat emerged from his tent wearing his uniform hind side before. This soon attracted the attention of his superior officer, who demanded an explanation. Pat scratched his head and seemed loath to comply, but finally replied, with a sheepish grin:

"Well, begorra, Oi thot if Oi wore it this way, thin whin Oi had to retrate Oi wouldn't get shot in the back."—Life.

AN EXPLANATION OF NEW BASEBALL PARK

As the impression that the new baseball park is owned, controlled and operated by Riverside park seems to have become rather general, we wish to announce that this is not correct. The facts of the matter are as follows:

Riverside park owns the grounds and erected the ball park at their own expense, but they have leased the ball grounds to the Phoenix Baseball club for four months and have no interest whatsoever in any receipts at baseball games, nor have they anything to do with the management of any of the games. All baseball games are under the management of the Phoenix Baseball club and they take the gate receipts.

Riverside park is most friendly in its feelings for the baseball club and, in order to do all it can to increase the attendance at all ball games and at the same time serve the comfort and interest of its patrons, it has arranged with the management of the Phoenix Baseball club to issue "pass out checks" to any of its patrons who already have entered Riverside park and wish to attend the games. Entrance to the ball grounds may be had from the gate inside Riverside park near the auto parking grounds if so desired. The regular price of admission will be charged to enter the ball grounds; but all holders of pass-out checks may reenter Riverside without charge up to six o'clock p. m. on the day of the game.

APPROPRIATE COGNOMEN

A prominent motor car manufacturer in the Midlands had the idea of naming his cars after flowers. Said he to a friend:

"I think of calling that new car over there," pointing to a huge red limousine, "the Crimson Rambler."

But the friend, who had been out in the indicated car, replied, kindly:

"Why not call it the Virginia Creeper?"

ALIBI FOR LONDON BURGLARS

"London burglars have things down to a fine point now."

"How so?"

"They take a 'movie' outfit along. If they are discovered entering a house, it's a picture film. See?"

"I see."

"Then after they have looted the establishment, they leave some suffragette literature behind."—From the Louisville Courier-Journal.

There came a peddler to our door
And he was wondrous wise;
He handed out a line of talk
That failed to hypnotize.
And when he finished talking
With all his might and main,
A dozen other peddlers there
Were waiting in his train.
