DIRECTORS AT CLUB — The board of directors of the chamber of commerce will hold its regular weekly meeting at four this afternoon at the Arizona club instead of the chamber of commerce, because the builders are busy altering the premises. The regular routine of business will be taken up.

IN SUPREME COURT — The case of J. W. Bennie vs. the Becker-Franz company, and the appeal of W. H. Bertlett vs. George A. MacDonald, treasurer of Maricopa county, are set for argument in supreme court today.

RECORD CAUGHT THIEF — Because the man who was trying to sell a Goodrich safety tread stolen from the delivery auto of the Paris cleaners called up the Motor Supply company to inquire as to the value of the tire, the deal did not go through. CAN SELL STOCK — Formal permit to sell $25,000 shares of stock was issued yesterday to the Big Jim Gold Mining company by the corporation commission. CREIGHTON ANNUAL MEET — The Creighton Parent-Teacher Association will hold its annual meeting and election of officers, at the school house on Friday, at 2:30 p. m. It is hoped all members will find it convenient to be present, and that others interested in child welfare will come and join the association. Nagell of Addis-Abeba is the man who saw the ad. and who wrote to C. L. Sengrave, colonization agent of the Santa Fe. His home is in Abyssinia, on the upper reaches of the White Nile. Harry Welch of the chamber of commerce, who answered the inquiry, saying he hoped Mr. Nagell would recognize the advantages of the Salt River Valley well enough to make his home here, maintains that this is the world record for long distance responses to advertisements.

I wish to express my gratitude and appreciation to my many friends and acquaintances who have so kindly extended their sympathy and services in my recent bereavement; also to Mrs. Ingham for her beautiful singing during the funeral services.

SUPPLY BILL TO BE

Goldwater, Kinney, Martin, McMillen, Riger, Stapley and the president of the S. P. Webb then offered another amendment to increase the appropriation to $250,000 a year and he urged the democratic senate to carry out the pledge of the last party platform which he read:

"We call attention to the progress of education under a democratic administration, the codification of admirable school laws, and the granting of free text books and we pledge a continuance of a liberal policy in this vital matter. The party Mr. Webb said, would be held to account for failure to carry out this pledge which he was sure was demanded by a very large majority of the people of the state. And he forcibly reminded his colleagues who were opposing the appropriation that they were inviting security that they would dread still more, an entire change of the school system by which all the school funds would be derived from the state. Just as sure, said he, as this amendment was defeated, so surely would a bill intended providing for the state school fund and for a centralization of authority in the state; the state would be made the unit instead of the county. He believed that this change would be for the better but the gentlemen who believed that no part of the fund should be raised by the state would find themselves in a more unpleasant predicament for he was sure that such an initiated measure would be adopted. In spite of the warning, the second amendment was defeated by precisely the same vote.

Changes on Second Reading
On convening the senate decided to read the bill, by the numbers of the sections or subdivisions and act upon such amendments as might be offered. The first was by Mr. Webb providing for the distribution of copies of the history of Arizona, one to each member of the legislature, the secretary and assistant secretary of the senate and the chief clerk and assistant chief clerk of the house. It was adopted.

Mr. Campbell offered an amendment to the game warden section to provide that the payment of the salary of the deputy and the expenses of the office should be paid out of the general fund instead of out of the fees. When a long debate was threatened, the amendment was withdrawn.

Mr. Claridge offered an amendment to increase the salary of one of the stenographers in the office of the secretary of state from $75 to $100 a month. That was defeated but later the amendment was allowed.

Mr. Claridge offered an amendment providing for concurrence in the section of the bill relating to the land commission. This was defeated and then Mr. Claridge proposed to strike out that section.

A proposal by Mr. Colter to substitute the house section for the state fair, increasing the appropriation from $40,000 to $70,000 was rejected.

An amendment by Mr. Goldwater for an additional appropriation of $4500 for the Pioneers' Home to cover a deficit was accepted.

Mr. Martin also secured an additional appropriation of $75,000 for the constructing of a miping and engineering building at the university.

On the motion of Chairman Stapley of the appropriations committee the senate agreed to concur in a house appropriation of $6000 for an investigation by the federal government of the economic use of water.

A proposal by Mr. Karns to restore the apary inspection section was agreed to with the understanding that the expense of the department would be borne by the fees provided by statute and the question was raised whether or not the Goldwater amendment would bar remuneration.

The senate came near doing something out of the ordinary, finally passing the bill before it was engrossed. Mr. Claridge was desirous of returning home on account of the illness of his little son and wanted to go on record as to the bill. It was proposed to take a vote on it at once, since it was fresh in the minds of the senators and had already passed the stage of change. Senator Chase, however, said that it could not be passed without a reading in full. That would probably have been done, but Mr. Claridge said that he would remain until this morning.
