FIRST REGIMENT WORKING HARD

Dispatch from the Front
from War Correspondent
States All Are Working Hard and That Line is Still Intact

(Special to The Republican)
GARDEN CANYON, Aug. 14.—Drilling, maneuvering, policing and eating are the four most important things in the daily life of the First Regiment. From daylight to long after dark, everyone is busy.
The first call is sounded at 5:20 a. m. Ten minutes is given for the men to dress, and at 5:40 the band parades through the camp. At 5:50 assembly is blown, and roll call is made. Following the assembly, ten minutes brisk setting up exercises are indulged in, after which mess call is sounded, and a large and husky breakfast is stowed away by each man.
The real business of the day is started. Signal drill, company drill, assembly, recall, school call, and in fact so many calls are sounded in such close proximity to each other, that some of the men are at times puzzled as to whether they are wanted at headquarters, or whether the sergeant wants more help in cleaning up camp. Much adverse comment has been heard among the men upon the contemplated move of Auditor Callaghan to pay them with the so called Villa currency instead of coin of the realm. They are working hard and faithfully any many have expressed the opinion that in case of active service, they will need the cash.

The first case of sickness was registered when W. C. Sparks of company B, was wounded by eating green walnuts. He doubled up and rolled over as if hit by a 42 centimeter shell. A rush call was made to the hospital headquarters, and Capt. Huffman, a sergeant and two men responded in double quick time. The entire maneuver was conducted without a hitch, and was witnessed by most of the camp. Sparks recovered from his trouble alright, and was back in the ranks this morning.

CONFERENCE ON COTTON MARKETING

GALVESTON, Aug. 14.—A conference to organize a concerted movement among all southern bankers for the marketing of the cotton crop is being held here today. The governors of federal reserve banks of Dallas, Atlanta, St. Louis and Richmond have joined with the presidents of the Southern States' Bankers' association in arriving at a plan to handle the cotton crop to the best advantage of the planters under the present unusual conditions in the cotton trade.

PYTHIANS ENCAMP

FRENCH LICK SPRINGS, Aug. 14.—The great tri-state encampment of the Pythians III begin here tomorrow, the first in the history of the order where three states have combined. Illinois, Indiana and Kentucky Pythians are arriving in large numbers for the encampment. The encampment will occupy a full week, and there will be drills for prizes, parades, a military ball and social events. Notable visitors are expected Monday, including the governors of the three states.

The slogan of the state fair for this year, "See Arizona First," has been aptly adopted in the above cartoon by a student of the United States Indian school here, John Schley. The cartoon is an original one the whole scheme having been thought out and worked out by the clever young native American.

Incidental to the cartoon, arrangements are being made for the coming fair as rapidly as possible. The authorization of the purses for the races is the next thing on the program and these will be made on Wednesday by the State Fair Commission, which will assemble in regular session at that time.

Indications are that this year's fair will be a record maker in every respect. It will be different from many of the fairs but will be a distinctive one, a fair that will live long in the memory of those who attend and those who will be instrumental in making it a success.
