

ELK PROSPER IN ARIZONA

Report of Forest Supervisor Shows That They Are Flourishing in the Chevelon District—New Game Refuge Proposed.

That Arizona, especially the Chevelon district in the Sitgreaves National forest, is proving an ideal habitat for the herd of elk imported a few years ago is indicated in the recent report of Forest Supervisor Charles H. Jennings of Snowflake to the district forester at Albuquerque. Forty-nine elk and 19 calves, the report states have been seen this year on the Sitgreaves forest, and 15 calves on the Coconino National forest, and all appear to be in good condition.

About 50 of the original herd of 78 are still alive and seem to be flourishing according to Forest Ranger Hughes, who is stationed in the south portion of the Chevelon district, and who has had opportunity to observe the elk since they were brought to Arizona from the Yellowstone park and taken south from Winslow. The elk he reports are fat, not very wild, and appear to be well located. Last year 47 grown animals were seen, together with seven calves; this year the number has increased. Seven or eight, he states, died in the winter of 1913, the deaths being due to poverty and preying animals. Ranger Owens who also reported having seen elk in his rounds, states that two were seen this year near the head of Chevelon canyon.

Forest Supervisor Jennings has announced that he will recommend the creation of a game refuge covering the entire Chevelon district. This will be done not only for the elk but also as a protective measure for deer and wild turkey, which are said to be in need of protection in this part of the state. The introduction of elk into Arizona from the Yellowstone National Park was brought about largely through the efforts of the local lodge of the B. P. O. Elks, which took great interest in obtaining a herd for liberation in this state. Plans are now under way for the liberation of a number of elk into the Graham mountains, their shipment from the Yellowstone Park having been delayed only by the federal quarantine against the foot and mouth disease. It is now believed that the herd in the Sitgreaves forest numbers considerably over 100 head.

VIENNA HAS NOT RECEIVED REQUEST

Message of Secretary Lansing Asking Dumba's Recall Is Delayed Somewhere

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH] VIENNA, Sept. 15.—Even though no admission could be obtained from government quarters that anything more was known about the request for the recall of Ambassador Dumba at Washington than is contained in newspapers reaching here, it appears to be a fact that no report of any nature has as yet been received from the ambassador himself.

American Ambassador Penfield has not received Secretary Lansing's note requesting the withdrawal of Dr. Dumba.

The first news that Ambassador Penfield received concerning the situation was through foreign newspapers. Austria is so cut off from the outside world it is doubtful whether Dumba's report can be received other than by means of a messenger, which indicates at least a fortnight of waiting will result. Conversations with various persons in a position to speak strengthen the impression already reported by the Associated Press that the Austro-Hungarian government ardently desires to avoid anything which will lead to the belief that the Dumba matter signifies anything approaching an actual political issue or is likely to have any effect whatever on the relations between Austria and the United States.

MAKE FARM

ganizing the Maricopa County F. L. A. have proven the value of the work.

The advisory council of the Maricopa County F. L. A. is to be the official body representing the farmers of the county in their relations with the University of Arizona and the U. S. department of agriculture. Matters relating to agricultural extension and experimental work will be taken up through this council. The United Produce Growers' association will be supported by the F. L. A. in its marketing efforts, and no endeavor will be spared to put the farms of the county on a sound profit-making basis.

In the above article, Prof. Morse outlines some of the more important measure to be taken up at this afternoon's meeting of the advisory council. He will himself handle the important topic of financial support for the farm advisor. He arrived from Tucson yesterday, his special mission being to attend today's meeting.

FATHER'S WAY

"The trouble with father," said the guided youth, "is that he has no idea of the value of money."
"You don't mean to imply that he is a spendthrift?"
"Not at all. But he puts his money away and doesn't appear to have any appreciation of all the things he might buy with it."

LUNCH CLUB REORGANIZED

An Informal Association of Business Men Will Again Take Up Vital Matters Touching Welfare of City and the Valley.

Starting Monday, October 4, the lunch club, reorganized at a meeting in the Chamber of Commerce office yesterday, will resume its weekly meetings, with a discussion of that vital question of marketing farm products from the Salt River valley. It is the aim of the club, which consists of no special membership, but of all earnest business men, to take up the important matters touching the welfare of the city and valley.

Other topics to be discussed at early meetings are how to help the state fair, and how to secure more canning factories for the project.

At yesterday's meeting, committees were named as follows:

Executive Committee
F. E. Rich, C. J. McElroy, V. C. Cook, C. A. Stauffer, H. S. Prince, Marshall Humphrey, Eugene Gold-

On Arrangements
To supervise men's and places of meeting: Chas. A. Stauffer, H. R. Tritle and H. W. Asbury.

On Program
To frame programs for October meetings: F. E. Rich, J. H. Mulre-

established twenty shell factories and eighteen more were in course of construction. In all there are 715 controlled establishments under the department.

Reviewing the military situation, Asquith stated that in France and Flanders the position of the British troops had been strengthened everywhere by large reinforcements of men and munitions and that there had been considerable extension of the line taken over from the French.

In the Dardanelles he continued, the British had made substantial gains, though they had not succeeded in dislodging the Turks from the crest of the hills. The British now hold a front of more than twelve miles.

In the east, Premier Asquith said, the Russian army was unbroken. He asserted the superiority of the Germans only in artillery and that their objective was still far out of reach. "They have succeeded in forcing the line of our gallant ally and taking several fortresses," he continued, "but all accounts show that the Russian retreat is being conducted in a masterly fashion and that the Russian army is still unbroken. The assumption of supreme command by the czar is the most significant proof that could be given of the unalterable determination, from the highest to the lowest of the Russian people."

CELEBRATION NOT MARKED

officers of General Urbina's force were executed with Urbina as a result of the visit of Villa to Urbina's ranch, at Las Nuevas, last week, according to an American who arrived here and who said he accompanied Villa on the trip.

To prevent the possibility of disorder Mayor Montfort of Juarez closed the doors of all saloons and ordered that they remain closed until Friday morning or during the entire period of the Mexican celebration.

Garrison Is Disarmed
EL PASO, Sept. 15.—With the garrison disarmed except for patrol, and saloons closed and gambling halls practically deserted, Juarez began at eleven o'clock tonight the celebration of the national independence anniversary, which will last until Friday noon. El Paso was practically deserted by Mexicans when the hour for beginning the celebration arrived.

imperative, both as a public necessity and as a safety measure.

That both sides were willing that the lighting plants should be operated and differed only as to the manner of their operation was the information received Tuesday by the commission from Sheriff J. G. Cash of Greenlee county. Inquiries brought statements from Norman Carmichael, general manager of the Arizona Copper company and H. H. McClean of the Detroit Copper Mining company to the effect that they were even more anxious than the commission to operate their lighting plants but that the strikers had refused to allow them to resume. Manager Carmichael stated that he had been prepared to resume operation of the plant, which was shut down at 2 o'clock yesterday morning, and that he could do so unless prevented by force. The lighting plant of the Detroit Copper Mining company has not been in operation since Sunday night. Manager McClean in a telegram to the commission reported the strikers had demanded that the plant be turned over to them to operate. This, he declared, the lighting plant of the Detroit Copper Mining company would not do.

Sheriff Cash, reporting a conference with labor leaders, informed the commission that the strikers had competent men and were more than willing

What Well-Dressed Women Will Wear in Millinery

No one can complain that the first fall millinery models are not interesting. No one can despair because they are "hard to wear," unbecoming, save to certain types of women. No one can bewail the new Chapeaux, as "too extreme."

Just as is the case with costumes, the fall hats, the first models for cool days, show the widest variety of shape and trimming. Some milliners announced that the approaching season would not be a large hat season. And in the next breath they assure one that the small hat will not lead, and so on.

ONE of the FOREMOST MILLINERS aptly described the Chapeaux tendency for fall, the other day, in saying "the smartest hat a woman can select is the shape most becoming to her." Here is cause for gratitude.

At the same time the seeker of novelties, can see them at Korrick's—plenty of both small and large shapes—

We are showing the prettiest hats and shapes in the fullest sense of the word and the prices are very moderate.

Korrick's First Grand Showing of Silk Dresses for Fall Wear

We couldn't describe them all, nor would it be possible to tell you which is the prettiest—there are so many of them.

As they were unpacked yesterday: "Well, isn't this the most elaborate thing you ever saw," and look here, "this must be an expensive one," and another surprise came, on the sales ladies, when the price tickets were placed on the garments—"they should sell in one day," said one of the enthusiasts, "at such small prices."

We are now ready to show the latest creations—every new model is represented in our showing of silk dresses and silk and wool combinations—come today. The prices are from

$3.95 to $29.95

It Is High Time That You Select Your New Fall Suit

Surely the most discriminating woman is no more particular in choosing the suit she wears than we are in choosing the suit she will eventually buy.

To Us a Good Suit Means —That the material is all wool.

—That the tailoring is impeccable, the very best possible at the price.
—That the fit is perfect. Before a style is selected, a suit is tried on a half a dozen living models and every defect of line is corrected and rectified before our order is confirmed.
—That the collar must fit close to the back of the neck and the shoulders set snug and smooth.
—That the lining is the best to be obtained at the price specified.

Are You More Particular?

Hundreds of suits received the last two days have been inspected by many of our patrons—they tell us of the superiority of smartness and style. We suggest that you inspect them today.

Prices From $18.95 to $55.00

An Unusual Group of Wool and Silk Skirts Arrived

Today we are showing the new fall dress skirts that will be of exceptional interest to all women. All of the skirts have just arrived and you'll have the opportunity to see them first.

All of the skirts shown are values, considerably out of the ordinary.
The tailoring is of the highest grade.
The materials include mannish worsteds, pre-shrunk, English and French serges, checks and novelty weaves in all wanted colors—values better than ever. A complete range of sizes. We invite your inspection.

AMONG THE NEW SILK DRESSES CAME THESE
Chiffon Taffeta Dresses
Exceptional Value
at $10.95

Have all the style of the higher priced models, and the material is excellent—Silk and gold braid trimmed waist line, some have white hemstitched taffeta vestee, collar and cuffs, some wide shirred belt and novelty buttons—they're worth more.

We invite you to inspect our silk and dress goods section.

CONVICT TOLD SIMS

"something doing" at Superior, he said: "Our information is that that town is the breeding place for at least a part of this trouble. I am going to look around, and see what I can find. It is our desire to establish something more definite about the plans of any hands of men who may be organized or organizing to start things at Florence. I just want to see what I can see. We shall take every precaution to protect both Pinal county jail and the prison, if it comes to a need of such protection. But in the meanwhile, I am working on clues that may lead to the bottom of the reports of trouble. I shall return here day after tomorrow, or as soon as I can get back and then I mean to spend four or five days right here."

"No Trouble" says Sims
In a telephoned conversation with The Republican yesterday morning, Warden Sims denied that there was any trouble, or even a suspicion of trouble at the state prison. He questioned the authority of The Republican's statements yesterday morning, and in response to further queries declared that not the slightest hint of a combine against the prison had ever been heard at his office. No special preparations had been made to meet an attack.

Governor Hunt, basing his statement on a phone message from Sims also denied that there was any trouble, and that the least precaution had been taken.
