POLICEMAN INJURED IN MAKING ARREST

Policeman Shirk sustained painful injuries last night when he was kicked in the lower part of the abdomen by Juan Rowbles, whom he was arresting. Shirk sank to the pavement at Second and East Washington street, while the assailant fled. Shirk raised and fired, the bullet passing close to Rowbles' head. Shirk commanded him to halt. Shirk then staggered to his feet and in a further altercation Shirk truck Rowbles on the head with the butt of his revolver and succeeded in getting him to the city jail.

Shirk went with the wife of Rowbles upon complaint that Rowbles was with another woman. She pointed Rowbles out to the policeman. It was then that that Shirk made the arrest. This was at the corner of Third and East Washington streets. Rowbles offered no resistance to the arrest then, but walked beside Shirk to the next corner when he turned upon him and the fight followed. Rowbles is being held, aside from the charge of assaulting an officer, on charges said to have been made by Rowbles' wife which are included in a warrant she told the police had been issued by Justice of the Peace Wheeler.

Banners gave the information that "200,000 Greeks were on the Macedonian Front. 500,000 Shortly." A Greek swordsman in costume and a bugler were features of this elaborate float. At Fifth street the police reserves opened order and permitted the parade to pass between their ranks on the way to Eastlake Park.

MEXICANS HEAR OF BIRTH OF LIBERTY CHEER FOR ALLIES

One of the pleasing things about the parade yesterday, was the large gathering of Mexican citizens of the Republic of Mexico. Never has there been as large a contingent of real Mexican people participating in any of our national events. This manifests a spirit of good will and willingness to help our country in this time of war.

There were over 200 men who were lead by the Mexican Consul at Phoenix, Francisco Peredo, and Dr. Albert Diaz Vizcarra. Another feature was the strictly Mexican band, and the banners of the two nations. After the flags came the standard of The Sociedad Nacional Mexicana de Benificiencia, a local society established by the Mexican people for their own protection, and for caring for and assisting the brothers who have not been as fortunate as they.

After the parade, the whole assembly convened at the Mexican consulate, where Dr. Alberto Diaz Vizcarra spoke in Spanish to the Mexicans, explaining the meaning of the Fourth of July, and putting a new meaning in it for them on this day. After his speech, Consul Peredo addressed the people and thanked them for responding so nobly and told them that as long as they acted as they now have, and as long as they were honest and industrious, they could count on him to help them in all ways and means within his power. That the world belonged to the honest man, and as long as they gave an example of thrift and industry, that the whole world would receive them with honor and treat them with respect.

Dr. Vizcarra's speech was in part as follows:

"Today, 142 years ago, July 4, 1776, the immortal George Washington gave the cry of 'Long live Liberty, long live Independence,' a cry which as an electric current electrified the thirteen colonies. The strife lasted for many years but the liberators gave an example of indomitable valor that proved to the whole world that tyrants only last as long as the people will. Since that time the great Republic of the United States has risen, where the liberator George Washington is first in peace, first in war and first in the hearts of the American people. Each anniversary is an occasion of examining of the conscience and a declaration of new principles, and the anniversary of the independence of The United States should not go by without it be a great opportunity for Mexico and the Mexican people, upon gripping their hands should communicate with each other with all frankness, their ideals, their glories and their victories and also the defeats.

The French revolution was prepared by philosophers, but the date which this great nation celebrates is the celebration of the rights of men in the whole world. This is the cause that has made her make this war her war, and the United States upon entering into this terrible war is the Lacteal Aurora of the American continent, and she shall take her refulgent light to Europe to illuminate the consolidation of the liberty of the whole world. This is a war of life and death, and Mexico should not see her with indifference, for she too, is a link in the chain which moves the world.

M. Berohu, president of the Council pronounced a speech in Versailles, before an assembly of Spanish Americans said: "I salute the friendly nations of Latin America who have given their support to this noble cause," and I, gentlemen, believe that my Mexican compatriots, not only offer their love to the United States, but also their blood, because the Mexicans wish the United States to win this war; she should win it and we shall help her to defend our America. All for America, long live the United States, President Wilson, and the Allied Nations."

GERMANY DESIGNS A LOYALTY MEDAL

(Philadelphia North American.)

From his name you might suspect Adam Pietz, veteran engraver, of Teutonic affiliations. But mention any such suspicion to him and he will put his hand in his pocket and draw out a medal of his own design, made for the purpose of bringing good luck and victory to America and her allies.

Pietz calls it his "loyalty medal," and he has cast some 600 of them to ward off Teutonic demons and propagandists. For there may be those in the city who have not known the engraver's loyalty through 25 years, who may not be acquainted with his recent Liberty bond and war savings stamps subscriptions.

When one of these strangers appears, Pietz passes out a medal. "This is the briefest argument that I can present," he says.

Pietz is of German birth. During his career as an engraver he has designed many patriotic medallions, among them bearing the faces of Lincoln and Girard. His latest effort is made for the purpose of bringing to America "good luck and victory"—and Pietz hopes it will.

FOUR CARS INJURED IN TWO COLLISIONS UPON COUNTRY WAYS

Two automobile collisions, in which all four cars were either badly damaged or completely wrecked, but which resulted in no fatal injuries, occurred on county roads near the city last night.

The most serious collision was that between a car driven by L. B. Ragsdale and an Egypt stage driven by Jack Kinney at the old cross-cut canal on the Tempe road. The stage contained a number of passengers and in the passenger car with Mr. Ragsdale were members of his family.

All occupants were thrown to the ground and a small daughter and small son of Mr. Ragsdale sustained injuries about the body, which, according to the sheriff's office report, were only slight. Aside from a shaking up and considerable fright all other occupants escaped with only damage to wearing apparel.

Deputy Sheriff Harry De Winton, who went to the scene and reported upon the collision, said that the Ragsdale car and the stage came together at, a dangerous point in the road, where one road turned off from the highway; that there is a cluster of mesquites at the junction and that the approaching vehicles, according to the drivers of them, came together before either had time to stop or turn out; that the road is such, concealed by the mesquites, that one car was practically upon the other before the drivers knew it.

Both cars were completely wrecked. The injuries to the two children were such that they were taken home by their father, no physician being summoned at the time. The place where the collision accured is considered one of the most dangerous places on the Tempe road, according to the sheriff's office.

The other automobile collision occured some distance south of the river on the Center road. An automobile driven by Roy Cameron and an automobile driven by Mrs. J. T. Duncan came together. The occupants were thrown out but nobody was injured. Cameron's clothing was torn in several places. Both cars were damaged, the amount being estimated at $100 by Cameron, who agreed to pay for the repairs necessary on Mrs. Duncan's car. Harry DeWinton reported the collision for the sheriff's office, and witnessed the verbal agreement Cameron made with Mrs. Duncan.

WORD OF PRESIDENT FORCEFULLY GIVEN BY ARIZONA SPEAKER

Hon. George J. Stoneman made a very effective presentation of the message of the president to citizens of foreign extraction, a message which had been sent to be delivered through the Arizona state council of defense. The message as read by Mr. Stoneman was as follows:

To our citizens of foreign extraction:

I have read with great sympathy the petition addressed to me by your representative bodies regarding your proposed celebration of Independence day and I wish to convey to you in reply, my heart-felt appreciation for its expressions of loyalty and good will. Nothing in this war has been more gratifying than the manner in which our foreign born, fellow citizens, and the sons and daughters of the foreign born, have risen to this greatest of all national emergencies. You have shown where you stand not only by your frequent professions of loyalty to the cause for which we fight, but by your eager response to calls for patriotic service, including the supreme service of offering life itself in battle for justice, freedom and democracy. Before such devotion as you have shown, all distinctions of race vanish; and we feel ourselves citizens in a republic of free spirits.

I therefore take pleasure in calling your petition, with my hearty commendation, to the attention of all my fellow countrymen, and I ask that they unite with you in making the Independence day of this year the year when all the principles to which we stand pledged are on trial, the most significant in our national history.

As July 4, 1776 was the dawn of democracy for this nation, let us on July 4, 1918, celebrate the birth of a new and greater spirit of democracy, by whose influence we hope and believe, what the signers of the Declaration of Independence dreamed of for themselves and their fellow countrymen shall be fulfilled for all mankind.

I have asked the committee on public information to co-operate with you in any arrangements you may wish to make for this celebration.
