WATER USERS PAY LEVY

The second half of the $500,000 appropriated by the Water Users' association last summer for the installation of pumps for the development of water is now being paid by the shareholders. The $500,000 is to be paid in two installments, the first of which was paid many months ago, and the second half of which was due March 1, and which becomes delinquent April 7. The amount that the shareholders have to pay is $1.95 per acre.

EXCITEMENT AT SMALL FIRE

Considerable excitement was caused at Central avenue and Jackson street yesterday when the glass gasoline container at the filling station at that corner owned by Fred Noll was shattered, the gasoline becoming ignited as it spread in all directions. No one was able to determine how the gasoline was ignited, the fire being extinguished by chemical after a hurry run by the department. The loss was confined to the glass bowl.

BROKE IN TO GET MEAL

Statting that he was hungry when he broke into the Arizona Grocery and that he only took a meal which he ate there, Lucio Sheldon Hicks yesterday told Justice Wheeler that he was guilty of the charge of burglary placed against him. The defendant, who was bound over to the superior court, stated that he had entered the store at 1:20 o'clock in the morning and prepared a square meal. He ate a bit of fish, some crackers, a banana and drank a bottle of soda pop.

INTEREST HIGH IN ELECTION BY WATER USERS

Members Are to Decide Tuesday Whether Association Shall Engage in Drainage Work; Where They Will Vote

Whether the Salt River Valley Water Users' association is to engage in drainage work on the project will be decided at the annual election of officers for the association Tuesday, April 1. The amendment to the articles of incorporation of the organization, which has caused a great deal of distrust in the minds of some of the water users in the valley who perhaps do not thoroughly understand all the features of it, is as follows:

"To construct, install, operate and maintain pumps, ditches, conduits, and other drainage works for draining any or all of the land received through the irrigation works of the association." Secretary Charles Van der Veer of the association yesterday stated that the passage of the amendment will entail no added levy on the shareholders of the organization this year, as the present year's budget already has been made out. Such expenditures that may be necessary, he declared, will be made from the money already levied. The shareholders of the association recently voted that the organization spend no more than $100,000 this year.

Also Choose Officers

Resides voting upon the proposed drainage amendment, the voters will elect board and new members of the council and board of governors for the various districts.

In the first district of the project, Rudolph Johnson is retiring from the board, and H. H. Gilbert is candidate for his place. W. H. Bartlett is retiring from the council, and Charles H. Barkley has been nominated by petition.

C. Floyd Smith, who was appointed to fill the place on the board vacated by Linn Orme, resigned in the second district, is candidate for re-election, and Charles H. Orme, son of John P. Orme, for many years president of the association, is contesting with him. In the third district, George L. Wilky and Charles L. Smith are contesting for the place vacated by C. Floyd Smith, by his appointment to the board of governors.

In the third district, H. J. Hansen, of the board and Henry Hilliers of the council, are both candidates for re-election.

A. G. Smoot, who was appointed from the council in the fourth district to fill the place of Brown, who moved to a new place, is candidate for re-election to the board, and is opposed by J. G. Hammels. C. E. Cartwright and A. A. Carriek, Glendale banker, are contesting for the vacant place in the council.

To fill the place of Lauris Lassen, retiring member of the board from the fifth district, T. C. McKeeney, retiring member of the council, and C. Rodney McDonald are contesting while F. W. Lewis, of the board, and W. Hughes are candidates for the council.

E. J. Bennett is candidate for re-election to the board from the sixth district, and W. J. Murphy was renominated to the council.

To fill the place of the retiring member of the board from the seventh, and Glenn Martin is the candidate by petition. W. S. Perry is retiring as council member, and no qualified candidate has as yet been nominated for the place.

There are two vacancies in the eighth district, in the council, one to fill the place of A. A. Wood, who was appointed to the place of F. J. Clemans, deceased, and the other for the regular retiring member, R. P. Sellers, is candidate for the three-year term and John Anderson for the two year term. The friends of A. A. Wood, the present governor, petitioned to have his name on the ballot, unknown to him and against his wish. Mr. Wood stated at the meeting of the board of governors Wednesday that he didn't want the position and that he would throw all his influence to the election of his opponent, Andrews Johnson.

In the tenth district, Edward Pattee is retiring and William Irwin is candidate for his place as member of the board. O. H. Kuncie is the retiring member of the council, and so far no qualified candidate has sent in his petition for the place to the election officers.

District No. 1: Schaefer's store, at Peoria; Earl J. Anderson, inspector; Hinman Sanderson and I. L. Sturges, judges.

District No. 2: West End school house; C. L. Smith, inspector; Hosea Greenhaw and Paul Greenhaw, judges.

District No. 3: Fowler schoolhouse; George R. Hay, inspector; Peter Trug and F. J. Ackley, judges.

District No. 4: Reasecker's hall, Alhambra; C. E. Cartwright, inspector; Henry Renaud and A. S. Reed, judges.

District No. 5: North of the Salt River, Murphy school house; William P. Hughes, inspector; John R. Bradshaw and Horace Shorman, judges.

District No. 6: South of the Salt River, Rooser's store; John J. Gould, inspector; O. H. Loch and Walter Strong, judges.

ANSSELL CONTROVERSY LETTERS KEPT DARK UNDER CRITICISMS

(Republican A. P. Leased Wire)

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Lieutenant Colonel Ansell's reply to statements by Major General Crowder, judge advocate general on the subject of military justice, will not be made public by the war department.

Secretary Baker announced today that he had returned the letter to Colonel Ansell, with the suggestion that its publication would not be helpful, and that if the officer had any suggestion or recommendation as to changes in the court martial system, he could make it either to his superior officers or to the secretary of war.

Colonel Ansell said he had no statement to make. His friends asserted it was improbable that he would take any steps toward making public the reply himself, as such action would be construed as insubordination and would render the officer liable to court martial.

Chamberlain's Statement

NATCHEZ, Miss., March 28.—Senator Chamberlain of Oregon, chairman of the senate military affairs committee, upon learning of Secretary Baker's announcement that Lieutenant Colonel Ansell's reply to Major General Crowder's statement in regard to courts martial would not be made public, tonight declared General Crowder represents the "reactionary element" of the army and that Ansell is an exponent of the "progressive element." Senator Chamberlain said he had nothing further to say in regard to the Ansell-Crowder matter other than what he wrote Secretary Baker March 18, requesting that the Ansell letter be made public. He stated, however, that he still held to the view that "infirmities" held to be worked by the courts martial systems in the United States army.

"It is an infirmity system," he said, "that will permit a commanding officer who had no knowledge of law to send back the case of an enlisted man for retrial, following an acquittal and then a new verdict of guilty be found."

HARD-TIME BALL

If you want to be assured of a good time, get an invitation to the Fraternal Brotherhood "Hard-Time" dance, Saturday, March 29, at E. P. hall. Dancing from 8 p. m. to 12 o'clock. Refreshments will be served. Fines levied on finery.—Adv.

CANDIDATE FOR TRUSTEE—C. H. Green is candidate at the election today for school trustee in Alhambra district. A report had secured circulation to the effect that Mr. Greene had withdrawn, but his friends last night declared that the report is not true and that he is a candidate.
