There is a rumor in circulation that Kenneth, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Barridge, died sometime last night. The report is false, and was no doubt started by an alarmist. The little fellow has been seriously ill the past few days, but a telephone message to Mr. Barridge this afternoon, inquiring as to Kenneth's condition, brought forth the answer that "he is getting along nicely and will soon be up and around."

When a man gets a comfortable jag on, it is quite difficult to steer a straight course with two good legs. Ex Operator De Bell has but one, and when last evening he took a stroll the billowy sidewalk was too much for his one sea leg. De Bell appeared before Justice Crawford this morning, but through consideration for the man's family he was let off with a reprimand.
