

FREE MEDICAL ADVICE TO WOMEN.

All Correspondence Is

Sacredly Confidential

This is a very important consideration in a woman's correspondence with Mrs. Pinkham. It is a great satisfaction to feel that one woman can write to another telling her the most private and confidential details about her illness, and know that her letter will be seen by a woman only, — a woman full of sympathy for her sick sisters, and with a knowledge of woman's ills greater than that possessed by any other person.

Mrs. Pinkham never violates the confidence thus entrusted to her, and although she publishes thousands of testimonials from women who have been benefited by her advice and medicine, never in all her experience has she published such a letter without the full consent, and often by special request of the writer.

The reason Mrs. Pinkham is so amply qualified to give advice in cases of female ills is for the reason that over one hundred thousand cases come before her each year, — some personally, others by mail, and this has been going on for twenty years, day after day, and day after day. Twenty years of constant success, — think of the knowledge thus gained. Surely, women are wise in seeking advice from a woman of such experience, especially when it is absolutely free.

As an illustration of the good coming from such advice we herewith publish two letters and portrait of Miss Hattie DeGroat, the reading of which should give every sick woman confidence in Mrs. Pinkham's ability to help them. This is only one of thousands of the same kind of letters which Mrs. Pinkham has on file.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM: — I have read with interest your advice to others so much that I thought I would write to you, for I have been suffering for a long time. I have such bearing-down pains, and such shooting pains go through me. I have headache, backache, and feel tired. Menstruation is very painful, sometimes have to stop work and lie down. My stomach bloats terribly, and I am troubled with whites. Hoping to hear from you soon, I remain,
July 24th, 1900.

MISS HATTIE DEGROAT, Succasunna, N. J."

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM: — I can hardly find words to thank you for your advice and wonderful Vegetable Compound. I was in a terrible state, every part of my body ached, was very nervous, had hysterical spells. I think I would have become insane had it not been for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Your letter told me just what to do, and your medicine cured me, and I cannot express my thanks."
March 8th, 1901.

MISS HATTIE DEGROAT, Succasunna, N. J."

No other medicine in the world has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine has such a record of cures of female troubles or such hosts of grateful friends. Do not be persuaded that any other medicine is just as good. Any dealer who suggests something else has no interest in your case. He is seeking a larger profit. Follow the record of this medicine, and remember that the thousands of cures of women whose letters are constantly printed in this paper were not brought about by "something else," but by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

LAS VEGAS.

From the Record.

C. C. Kinkaid, live stock agent for the Santa Fe company in Chicago, died of consumption at the local railroad hospital last night. The body will be shipped to Milwaukee, Wis., for interment.

In attempting to stop the runaway team this morning and prevent it from running into the Murphy drug store, Marshal Curtwright was struck by the foaming steeds and had his shoulder blade dislocated.

In the presence of only a few of the most intimate friends of the family, W. C. Hurt and Miss Edna Rhodes were united in the holy bonds of matrimony, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Rhodes, 903 Main street, last evening, by Rev. A. C. Geyer. The wedding was of the most quiet kind, and came as a pleasant surprise to the many friends of the happy couple.

J. P. Dempsey, special organizer of the Fraternal Union, has arrived in the city and is at work developing new material for that order.

From the Optic.

It was moved at a meeting of the city council that the mayor appoint a committee of six citizens to act with a similar committee to be appointed by the county commissioners to further the work on the great scenic highway between Santa Fe and Las Vegas. The mayor accordingly appointed the following: H. W. Kelly, C. C. Gise, J. H. Stearns, E. G. Murphy, D. T. Hoskins and Julius Graef.
Last night burglars entered the second hand store of Perry Onion, on the corner of Eleventh street and National, and purloined two good revolvers and two good watches. The miscreants overhauled the jewelry and revolver cases and only took the best, leaving the poorer watches and revolvers. They took a bit full of cartridges for one of the pistols and decamped without molesting anything else in the store.

It Saved His Leg.
P. A. Danforth, of Ladrange, Ga., suffered for six months with a frightful running sore on his leg; but writes that Bucklen's Arnica Salve wholly cured it in five days. For ulcers, wounds, piles, it's the best salve in the world. Cure guaranteed. Only 25c. Sold by all druggists.

SANTA FE.

From the New Mexican.

County School Superintendent J. V. Conway reports that all the schools in the northern districts will close at the end of this month.

Arthur E. Curren, of Tucumcari, who spent yesterday in town, left last night for Las Vegas on his return home. Within a few days, he will commence the publication of a weekly newspaper, the Quay County Republican, at Tucumcari, the county seat of Quay county.

The Elks have issued a most remarkable hanger for their minstrels which will be given at the Court House Monday and Tuesday, April 13 and 14. The hanger is three feet long and is called a "Yard of Daisies." The announcements are fearful and wonderful and the promises of fun are many.

Col. J. Frank Chavez, superintendent of public instruction, returned last night from a week's trip to eastern Valencia county. He went and returned via El Paso, and reports that during the past two days, very good rains have fallen in eastern Valencia and eastern Lincoln counties and Otero county, also in the Rio Grande valley. The country looks fine. There is plenty of water for stock and grass on the range is already getting a fine start and green.

M. Hess Dunand, well known in this city for many years, died this morning at St. Michael's college, of which institution he has been custodian for many years. He was a native of Switzerland and came to Santa Fe in 1869. For many years he was a prominent democratic politician. He then went to St. Michael's college and has remained there as custodian the latter years of his life. He was 82 years old at the time of his death, and has one son living. The remains will be buried tomorrow afternoon, but funeral services will be held in San Miguel church at 6 o'clock tomorrow morning. Charles Wagner embalmed the body and will be funeral director.

William Farah will leave in a few days for Albuquerque to bring to this city a fine dark bay mare which has been purchased by N. Salmon. The return trip will be made overland.

Traffic on the Denver & Rio Grande railroad between Antonito and Santa Fe is so heavy that scarcely a day passes but that the train must leave cars of freight at Antonito or Española destined for Santa Fe. Last evening, among the freight that arrived, was another car of angle bars for the Santa Fe Central railway.

Councilman Malaquias Martinez and sister, Miss Margarita Martinez, who went to Denver last week with Mr. Martinez's 8-year-old daughter, returned last night and went to their Taos home this morning. They left the child, who is suffering with hip joint disease in the Queen City of the Plains for treatment. The little girl is getting on well and the specialists who have her in charge, are of the opinion that she will recover from that ailment.

When the new fish and game law goes into effect, the section regarding the serving of game and game fish at hotels and restaurants will be strictly enforced. The law prohibits the serving of game fish caught in New Mexico streams or of game killed in New Mexico. Hotel and restaurant keepers are

A SIMPLE QUESTION.

Albuquerque People are Requested to Honestly Answer This.

Is not the word of a representative citizen of Albuquerque more convincing than the doubtful utterances of people living everywhere else in the union? Read this:

Mrs. W. C. Wood, (W. C. Wood, employed in the Santa Fe railroad shops) residence, 729 South Broadway, says: "When on a visit to Fall River, Mass., I learned that Doan's Kidney Pills had been a household necessity in that city for years. Naturally when a person has backache themselves and friends, acquaintances and relatives continually insist that a particular remedy shall be tried, you at least consent to take a course of the treatment. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they stopped an aggravated attack of backache, only one of many which had occurred in the past. When I came west I brought with me a dozen boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills long before they were so extensively known in California, as at present. I have not the slightest hesitation in publicly stating that I know from experience as well as observation that this remedy can be absolutely depended upon in all cases of kidney complaint causing backache, lumbar or other symptoms which follow in the wake of that far too prevalent annoyance."

Just such emphatic endorsement is plentiful in Albuquerque. Call at the Alvarado Pharmacy and ask what their customers report.

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's and take no substitute.

She Refused Him!

But do you blame her? She was young, and he appeared, at first sight, old enough to be her father.

It grieved her deeply, too, to realize that she could never tell him that the cause of her refusal was his single misfortune--baldness.

Newbro's Herpicide

Kills the germ that causes the dandruff and falling hair, but it must be used before the hair follicles are completely destroyed.

"Consider why the change was wrought, You'll find it his misfortune, not his fault."

Addison's familiar lines apply particularly to the unfortunate gentleman portrayed in the drawing, for when he was a boy, Prof. Unna, Europe's greatest dermatologist, had not yet discovered that a microbe is the underlying cause of dandruff, falling hair and baldness. Indifference to baldness on the part of some young men is one of the surprising conditions formerly met with, but there was a good reason for this indifference. The world did not know dandruff to be a very contagious disease; in fact, it was regarded as a perfectly normal condition. The falling hair and itching scalp, that followed dandruff, was regarded as a matter of course. Baldness often appeared to "run" in certain families, but a single overworked hair-brush usually arranged this misfortune by planting the dandruff microbes in one scalp after another. Prior to Unna's discovery, medical men shot the entire pharmaceutical alphabet at falling hair, but it still continued to fall. Alcohol headed the list, then came Bay Rum, Borax, Bitter Apple, and Bear's grease. C proved a favorite letter for hair treatment: it brought Capsicum, Castor Oil, and the beautiful green blistering bugs from Spain, called Cantharides. Cantharides was the king pin of all hair preparations during the dark ages of scalp knowledge, but fortunately for the people, its use is now confined to raising blisters on the skin. Speaking of it, a well known scalp specialist says: "What on earth gave Cantharides its reputation in hair tonics is more than I know. It is the tradition of a century, and it is all nonsense. It cuts into the scarfskin, causing inflammation, and it is made out of dead bugs, so that it furnishes the elements of decomposition upon which scalp microbes thrive. Its use upon the scalp should be forbidden by law." Quinine was a popular hair tonic when the discovery of the dandruff microbe completely exploded the "hair tonic" fallacy, and proved the absolute necessity of a germicide in hair care and preservation. Newbro's Herpicide is the first and only successful scalp germicide ever offered. It has been tested by hundreds of physicians, who continue to use it in their daily practice. Once kill the scalp microbe with Newbro's Herpicide, and dandruff will disappear, itching scalp will cease, and falling hair stop, thus permitting Nature, the only true "hair grower," to do its work. In many cases of acute baldness, if the hair follicles are not completely destroyed, a full new crop of hair may be grown. Dr. N. A. Herring, of Benton Harbor, Mich., writes: "I have tested Newbro's Herpicide in several extreme cases of dandruff, and the results were very satisfactory."
