

ALASKA DAILY EMPIRE
Douglas Branch
M. A. SNOW, Manager

DOUGLAS, Oct. 20.—The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Kronquist was christened in their home in the presence of several guests. They gave it the name of Arne Armas Kronquist on Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kinnimmi also presented their child in the Congregational church Sunday afternoon for Christian baptism. Several friends gathered to witness the event. The child was named Tano William Kinnimmi. Rev. Owen Umstead officiated at both services.

The young people of the Congregational church have planned another one of their social evenings for Thursday evening of this week. All are invited. Everything is free.

POPULAR YOUNG COUPLE WERE MARRIED YESTERDAY

DOUGLAS, Oct. 20.—In the presence of the immediate families and a few out-of-town guests yesterday afternoon, Rev. Father Buckert, S. J., united in the bonds of matrimony Miss Ann Geraldine Fox, of Douglas, and Mr. Royal Mumford Shepard, of Juneau.

The ceremony was performed at the Fox residence on East Second St. After the wedding, a dainty supper was served and the bride and groom left for Juneau where they boarded the Alameda for a trip to the States.

DOUGLAS HARDWARE DISPLAY IS EXCEEDINGLY ATTRACTIVE

DOUGLAS, Oct. 20.—One of the ways to judge a city, it is said, is by the appearance of its store windows. If that is the case Douglas must create a good impression on people who visit our town, as one of the best and most tastefully decorated windows in Alaska is shown by the Douglas Hardware Company, situated at the approach to the City Dock. The window presents a truly metropolitan appearance and is attracting a great deal of attention.

CHARLES E. BUNNELL TO SPEAK TONIGHT

DOUGLAS, Oct. 20.—The Lyric theatre tonight will be the scene of the biggest turnout for the purpose of hearing a candidate speak on the issues of a campaign, that has ever been seen in Douglas if all the indications are correct. Everyone who heard Wickersham is expressing the desire to hear the other side of the present issues at first hand.

Besides Mr. Bunnell there will be other speakers, who are thoroughly conversant with all phases of the situation and who will give convincing arguments on all the mooted questions.

The Treadwell Band will be in attendance and two reels of moving pictures will be shown before the speaking starts.

A large number of the Douglas women have signified their intention of attending.

The meeting will open at 8:30 sharp.

LYRIC THEATRE TONIGHT

DOUGLAS, Oct. 19.—Four reels of first class pictures will be shown at the Lyric theatre tonight.

"The Night Rider," a Majestic drama of the South.

"A Regained Reputation," a Romance feature.

"Angel of the Canyons," an American story.

"The Auto Smashup," one of Gaumont's best.

TREADWELL NOTES

TREADWELL, Oct. 20.—Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Bradley, who have spent the summer at Treadwell, left last night on the Alameda for their winter home in California.

Rufe Lindsey, formerly of Treadwell, was a Sunday visitor at Treadwell. He says that Mark Raskevich will soon be up from Speel river where he has been for the past month.

The gas boat Phoeasant, which has been hunting for the Cyanide party, returned late Sunday night.

FOR SALE.—One complete set of furniture and household effects, including a piano. All in good condition. Inquire of Alfred Hunt, Treadwell.

The third club dance of the season will take place tomorrow night.

Guy Johnson, a former pitcher of the Treadwell base ball team, and who was with the survey department for a number of years, recently returned from Dawson and has taken a position at the Treadwell mine.

Alfred Hunt, who has been employed at Treadwell for the past 6 years, has severed his connection with the company and will probably leave for California on the Humboldt. Mr. Hunt was foreman of the Cyanide plant for several years, but for the past year he has had charge of the sampling works at the Central Hoist. He will be accompanied to California by his wife.

JUNEAU DEMOCRATS WILL GO TO DOUGLAS TONIGHT

Members of the Juneau Democratic club and others will go to Douglas tonight to attend the big meeting there, which is to be addressed by Charles E. Bunnell, Democratic candidate for Delegate to Congress.

GOV. STRONG IS ILL.

Gov. J. F. A. Strong who got out of a sick bed to preside at the great Democratic rally last night, is confined to his room today, but suffered no harm through attending the big Bunnell meeting. He hopes to be about again in a day or two.

AT THE JUNEAU.

The fact that the Juneau Theatre is such a family resort, with its beautiful St. Andree, Roller's "Canaries," its five reels of feature films, and our new movie operator's pictures which prove beyond doubt that he is of the best school, and its general homelike atmosphere, make it hard on the regular patron when on some big occasion like the Bunnell Rally. The regular bill is broken into, but tonight we have a complete change of program, with "A Highland Romance," 2 reels, a number that holds one as only a good Scottish number can, "Targets of Fate," another 2 reel thriller, and "Baby Day," a Keystone comedy in which Ford Sterling figures; "Nuff Said," "Mile. Violet," who's popularity is ever increasing will render a new number and "Herr Crandall" the violinist will render "Conzantetta" by Deambrosia. Curtain raises, 7:30, and 9:15. Two shows.

Cities on English Channel

By Gertrude E. Mallette

Once again the transient hand of history notes Calais in the line of conflict, and England's army again arrays itself where her third Edward in 1347 laid the siege resulting in the surrender of France's first city of commerce. But the relationship of nations is an uncertain affair, at best, and today England arrays herself to aid France in keeping the very port the red-coats once wrested from her.

That other time the fall of Calais proclaimed England the "land of the narrow seas." Came then, in the wake of war that scourge chronicled as the "Black Death" and for four years ravaged "from city to city, from village to village, from house to house, from man to man," and crushed Calais bore her burden with the rest.

During the two hundred years while Calais was an English town she increased England's power and trade, and won for herself and enviable commercial reputation.

In 1558 at the accession of Queen Mary, she of short-lived popularity, England's relationship with Spain were cemented by Mary's marriage to Philip II, of the Spanish throne. Mary stood with Spain against France in the struggle then ensuing, but failed to send aid to her ally in time to prevent the French recovery of Calais. And in 1558 England lost her last possession in France just at the beginning of the reign of Elizabeth.

Calais is about twenty miles northeast of Boulogne—one of the chain of coast cities which from the objective point of the German movement at present—and about twenty-three miles southeast of Dover. The city centers around the junction of several canals and is connected directly with Paris by rail. The city is composed of two parts, separated by water areas which form a part of the harbor accommodation. These parts are Calais proper, which is the old town to the north, and the new district of St. Pierre on the south, which was incorporated with Calais in 1885. The entire city is enclosed by a wall of modern construction and is further defended by a citadel and a series of detached forts and batteries. It is possible to flood the land without these fortifications, and thereby render the city's defenses doubly effective.

Calais streets are broad, and well paved, and the houses flanking them are for the most part of brick. The city is known among travellers for its excellent hotels. One of these hotels, "Hotel de Ville" is in the chief square of the city, the Place d'Armes, built in 1740. The Hotel de Guise is another notable place in Calais which claims for its founder Edward III, of England.

Several important schools play no small part in the activity of Calais, the foremost among them being the government school of Hydrography. There are also several commercial schools, and three well known schools of design.

Casey's Gorrilla

Ran away. He was found at the Orpheum—the house of good shows—by the Biograph Co.

This is an Irish comedy and the world over knows that for humor it takes "the Irish to beat the Dutch." And there comes "Uncle Tom's Cabin" in 2 reels, you have all seen the other Uncle Tom's Cabin, but you must see ours. It has just had a new coat of paint, and the wings that little Eve uses, to ascend up to Heaven was purchased from our Local Merchant. So it is a sure guarantee that she will get there.

Next on the program — "In The Elemental World," by the Biograph Co., which is always good.

And to finish out this good bill we will give you a good comedy that will make you say, Well I've got to go and see our old favorite John Bunny in "The Pirates" on Thursday night.

Our music is another feature of the shows at the Orpheum.

Special arranged program for Saturday matinee.

Tuesday and Wednesday, Kaleem's extra special feature—2 reels — "Uncle Tom's Cabin." First show 7:30; second show 9 p. m.

GET YOUR SKATES OUT.

The skating season is on full blast. Bring your skates down and let us fix them up for you; all parts free. Tonight a large crowd is expected out as last night was matinee night. Indoor sports soon.
