"FORBIDDEN PATHS"

An entertaining story of love and sacrifice; also a Mack Sennett Comedy in two parts, "THOSE ATHLETIC GIRLS" featuring Louise Fazenda, Jack Cooper and a bevy of pretty Paramount girls. This comedy is full of charm and uproarious fun stars from start to finish.

Last Time Tonight—KATHLYN WILLIAMS and WALLACE REID in "BIG TIMBER" story, and unlike the usual run of plays, it has a punch in every scene, excellent photography and splendid night effects that are extraordinary in the photo drama.

"FORBIDDEN PATHS" AT THE COLISEUM THEATRE SUNDAY.

Sato, a Jap, loves his ward, an American girl. She loves a young diplomat who goes to Mexico and is inveigled into marriage by a Mexican adventuress. Returning home, he realizes his true love, and Sato, studying the situation, brings the two together by sacrificing his love and lives of the adventuress and himself.

Vivian Martin and Sessue Hayakawa appear together for the first time. She appeals by her vivacity and girlish simplicity while he is splendid in his Oriental devotion. Tom Forman completes the triangle.

GARDNER GIVES THRILLING SHOW IN "THE RANGE BOSS."

The East can ride as well as the West. This fact, not generally conceded, is ably demonstrated by Jack Gardner in his current Essanay-Western picture, "The Range Boss," to be seen at the Palace theatre Sunday.

Reports from the California studio have it that the professional cowboys present were shaken with suppressed laughter when Director W. S. VanDyke informed Mr. Gardner his role in "The Range Boss" was to be that of a cowboy. Now a cowboy, naturally, must be a hard rider. That is what tickled the professionals. They figured that Gardner, who formerly was a Broadway musical comedy star, and had never lived west of New Rochelle, didn't know the saddle from the bride, and would be tossed about ten feet in the air the first time he attempted to stride a horse. "Now we'll see some fun," the cowboys whispered up their sleeves, and they picked out the most vicious pinto pony in the corral for the "tenderfoot."

Jack, attired in the latest thing in cowboy togs, came strolling out, nonchalantly tossed his cigarette to one side and leaped upon the little horse without a word.

Momentarily the horse stood still, then bracing itself it lunged forward, head down and rear hoofs flying high into the air. The entire company, which had gathered prepared to see the star flying through air over the animal's head. But, lo and behold, Jack sat his seat like a regular trooper. In fact, he laughed aloud and stuck his spurs into the little beast's sides for an "encore." There followed a series of buckings and plungings by the horse which would have made an extremely difficult seat for one of the professional cowboys even to have maintained, but Jack stuck it out with ease.

"THOSE ATHLETIC GIRLS" FEATURE COMEDY AT COLISEUM SUNDAY.

Beauty, fun and wholesome entertainment are the elements which make the new Paramount-Mack Sennett comedy which is to be presented at the Coliseum theatre Sunday a distinctive creation. The scene is laid in a boarding school for girls of which Louise Fazenda, the athletic and talented Mack Sennett comedienne, is the janitress. She has a husband who has an eye to female beauty, and it is this propensity which gets him into trouble frequently.

"BIG TIMBER" TONIGHT.

Kathlyn Williams and Wallace Reid will be seen for the last time tonight at the Coliseum in "Big Timber."

WHAT A $50 LIBERTY BOND WILL DO

It will protect 100 soldiers from smallpox and 666 from typhoid. It will ensure the safety of 139 wounded soldiers from lockjaw, the germs of which swarm in Belgian soil and in the trenches.

It will render painless 400 operations, supply two miles of bandages—enough to bandage 155 wounds. It will care for 160 injuries in the way of "first-aid packets." It will furnish adhesive plaster, and surgical gauze enough to benefit thousands of wounded soldiers.

Every purchaser of a Liberty Loan Bond performs a distinct individual service to his country and to our boys fighting in France.

Buy a Liberty Bond of the Fourth issue, as soon as the campaign starts. It is the safest investment you can make.

WASHINGTON AND ALASKA SOCIETY IS FORMED AT CAPITAL

A Washington and Alaska Society was recently organized at the National Capital, and it has a considerable membership, according to word from Washington. Representative John F. Miller of Seattle is President of the organization, and Representative Albert Johnson of Hoquiam is an active member. Ashmun Brown, Seattle newspaper man is Secretary. The first meeting, held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms in the Star building, was attended by a large representation, among them being more than a dozen Alaskans.

A Committee on Constitution and By-Laws was appointed of which Ross Howe Pratt is chairman and Mrs. Earle C. Jameson, formerly of Juneau, a member.

WAR'S EMERGENCIES MET BY ADVANCING DIAMOND PRICES

Cutters at Work

Cullinan, World's Largest Diamond (Exact Size)

How a diamond paid the emergency expenses of a soldier's family is one of the sidelights of the war, disclosed through the proposal of diamond cutting as one of the highly paid vocations now open in America to disabled "Yanks."

Here is the story: A family accustomed to affluence was strangely disrupted when Belgium's invasion sent out the call for men to fight. A son enlisted and went to sea; a daughter entered war work; family incomes were stopped and a blue service star was turned to gold. Heavy expenses had to be met and one remaining diamond had to be sacrificed. Fortunately, diamonds of quality are more in demand than before war reduced the supplies and almost a fabulous sum was realized from a quick sale in the emergency.

Before the war the jewelry exports of Germany and Austria amounted to $200,000,000 a year, leading those of all other countries. To secure for America a dominant place in this trade will require a large increase in available workmen and uninterrupted growth, even during war's economies, of the industry with which diamonds are concerned.

FAIR PRICES FOR GASTINEAU CHANNEL

(Official Announcement by the U. S. Food Administration.)

The Federal Food Administrator for Alaska announces the following price quotations determined by the Price Interpreting committee, which should govern prices charged by all retail dealers in Juneau, Douglas, Treadwell and Thane. These quotations will be changed from time to time and will be published in this paper from week to week, the changes being made as prices change in the wholesale market.

The range of price the retailer pays as indicated in the left hand column is due to the difference in the size of the package or container at wholesale and figured on wholesale prices plus handling charges, freight, wharfage and insurance.

The range which the consumer should pay is based on the cost to the retailer plus the reasonable cost of doing business and a reasonable profit. Any charges in excess of the amounts here named will be deemed by the Food Administration as an unreasonable charge.
