the disease.

We need not speak to the public of its virtues. Throughout every towe, and almost every hamlet of the American States, its wonderful cures of pulmonary complaints have made it already known. Nay, few are the families in any civilized country on this continent without some personal experience of its effects; and fewer yet the communities any where which have not among them some living trophy of its victory over the suble and dangerous diseases of the pulmonary organs, it is also the most powerful antidote yet known to man for the fermidable and dangerous diseases of the pulmonary organs, it is also the pleasantest and safest remedy that can be employed for infinite and young persons. Parents should have it in store against the insidious enemy that steals upon them unprepared. We have abundant grounds to believe the Cherry Pecroral saves more lives by the consumptions it prevents than those it cures. Keep it by you, and cure your colds while they are curade, nor neglect them until no human skill can master the inexorable canker that, fastened on the vitals, eats your life away.

All know the dreadful fatality of lung disorders, and as they know to the virtues of this remedy, we need not do more than assure them it is still made the best if can be. We spare no cost, no care, no toil to produce it the most general which our skill thus afford those who rely on it the bost agent which our skill cost, no care, no toil to produce it the most perfect possible, and thus afford those who rely on it the best agent which our skill can furnish for their cure.

Now, this is a very plausible theory, but will not stand the test. The distinction between the effect which the Constitution has in a State and Territory is this: That the Constitution in a Territory reigns supreme for the protection of the property of a citizen of the States, the United States, and for the preservation of society. This supreme protective authority as the Supreme Court have decided, arises ex necesitate rei-it arises from a necessity to protect society until the sovereignty of the people begin, and the first act of soveignty of the people, is the creation of a Constituton, by which they are

But a State Legislature may dispose of the property of the State, and here lies the distinction.

If Mr Douglas could first establish his point that The territories are distinct political communities, Territorics stand upon the footing and equality of the people of the States generally. They are not distinct political communities, and there is no distinction between Federal and local authority in the Territories. We think we have proven this to the DESTRUCTION OF A CITY BY AN EARTHQUAKE. -The English papers received by the Etna an nounce the entire distruction of the ancient city of Erzroom, in Turkey, by repeated shocks of earthquake within the last three months. The first earthquake occurred June 1st, and a letter from one of the missionaries of the American board gives a vivid description of the first great shock. He says :

"The first shock, which was not very severe was felt about 8 o'clock A M, June 1st, and at 10 o'clock A M, the following day came the fearful earthquake, which laid in ruins 2,000 houses nearly destroying 1,500 more, and injuring 1,300 others; leaving [according to the accounts of Turkish officials over 1,300 house. are 109 houses in Erzroom as sound as they were before the earthquake. The shock was not only felt throughout the city, but the villages on the plain, and even at Hassan Hallah, twenty miles to the east.

"According to official returns, 370 dead bodies have been taken out from the ruins about 206 wounded, and 60 are missing. The heavy shock, which did the mischief, is said to have continued about eight seconds, and it

It is a singular fact that the destruction was almost entirely confined to the Moslem quarter of the city, and only twelve Christians lost 31.6 - their lives .- None of our Protestant friends Fonnage exclusive of engine room
