Safford.

A. P. K. Safford has been the Governor of this Territory for the last eight years, and during that time he has made many and lasting friendships all over the country. His official duties have been discharged creditably to himself and advantageously to the people. Until this last year the inhabitants and the entire press of Arizona have been in entire accord with him. Recently the differences between him and Gen. Kautz, combined with some sectional jealousies, have made some partisan feeling against him, and have emboldened some wretched scribblers to attack his character for integrity. With impudent mendacity he was charged with having unlawfully received $3,000 from the Territorial treasury. With petifoggish ingenuity it was shown that $2,000 had been paid to him; but the well known reason for the payment was shamelessly suppressed. Gov. Safford has been unwearied in his efforts to extend the public school system throughout Arizona. He is ex-officio Superintendent of Public Schools, and in that capacity is required to visit every public school in the Territory at least once a year. For this extra expense of traveling $2,000 have been allowed him during the past six years, and for this purpose alone has that money been used. No one knows it better than his calumniator. The only effect of this unwarranted abuse of Safford has been to add to his popularity, and to bind the people to him more strongly. His term of office is over; his successor has relieved him. Yet the sheet that might have forged a pretext for hostile comment on his official career, pursues him into private life like an angry insect. Whatever judgment may be passed on the wisdom of his disagreement with Kautz, Safford will always be connected with the history of Arizona as one of its best Governors.

Humboldt said that Bayard Taylor had traveled more miles and seen less than any other man he ever knew. An exchange says of Tom Scott, that he has presided over more miles of railroad, and built less, than any other man in America.

Mining Notes.

Mr. Ed. G. Peck, Supt. of the celebrated mine of that name, informs us that the proposed sale fell through, owing to the hard times among mining men in San Francisco. They were willing and anxious to pay the $400,000, but could not raise the money. His company own the Aztlan mill near Prescott, and will now move it over to the mine. They have been paying $100 per ton for transporting their ore from the mine to the present site of the mill. Hitherto they have sent nothing to mill that assayed less than $400 per ton. They have thousands of tons accumulated on the dumps that will pay handsomely to crush near the mine. Their present ore body has been opened for a length of 680 feet along the vein and to a depth of 300 feet. The Black Warrior is reported to have high grade milling ore of six feet width. The Black Warrior mill, lying at Ehrenberg, has been bought by M. Masterson and others for the Goodwin mine, and will go forward at once. The mechanics who are to erect it, under the supervision of Jim Mee, went through here this week. Tom Luther is to have charge of the mill. A. J.

Holmes left here on Sunday for the Peck district, where he has bought the Lone Juniper and other mines. He proposes to put up machinery at once and has the means to do it. He was one of the original locators of the Northern Belle in 1864, and, as that mine has just paid its 24th consecutive dividend, he has taken much money out of it.

D. G. Chilson gives encouraging reports of Pinal county. McMullen & Harris have been working some rich ore from the Little Mac mine. They took out $10,000 in bullion within a few weeks, running a little two stamp mill. Smelting with copper fluxes has proved a success and several new furnaces are being erected. Large lots of copper bullion from that section have gone through here lately. Col. Mason reports hand-somely from the Silver King. The mine never looked better. The last assays from the bottom of the 240 foot shaft give $750 to $900 per ton. Chilson shows some wonderful specimens, lately extracted by him from his claim. It has been generally supposed that his mine was of the nature of a placer, fragments of rich ore lying on the bed rock under the surface dirt; but Chilson says this is not the case, that it is in fact a flat vein, sometimes lying on top of the bed rock and at others lying eight to ten feet under its surface. It has so far been a puzzle to even experienced miners. CASTLE DOME still keeps up its regular shipment of lead ores and has over 100 tons now at the landing awaiting shipment. San Francisco parties are now trying to effect a consolidation of all the mines up there, preparatory to undertaking operations on a large scale. Some interest is also being taken in the famous old "Ajo" copper mine, south of the Gila. By fall we expect to chronicle great activity in all the mining camps of Yuma county.

County Physician.

IN PREPARATION

HAND BOOK

—TO—

ARIZONA TERRITORY.

—BY—

Richard J. Hinton,

OF THE

San Francisco Evening Post.

THIS VOLUME WILL BE THE result of an extended tour through the rapidly developing Territory, and will present a faithful account of its advantages and resources; its rich mineral development and agricultural capabilities, climate, towns, mining districts, stage routes, ancient ruins, &c., with vivid description of its wonderful picture-like scenery, mountains, river, canyon valley and mesa. It will also present a very careful historical description of the Territory, tracing its history with care and completeness.

A NEW MAP

Showing the most recent mining districts, towns, routes of travel, &c., will accompany the volume. In addition there will be a Route Map of the Southern (Cal.) R. R., and also one showing the eastern lines of communication. Tables of distances, rates of fare and freight, stations on overland route, &c., will also be a feature of the work. In short the prospector, emigrant, miner and traveler will find it invaluable.

A limited space will be devoted to advertisements.

The Editor may be addressed at this office.

The Book will retail at $2 per copy.
