WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, June 21th, 1897.

The Territory of Hawaii. How does that sound? It is going to be the next addition to Uncle Sam's family. It is now known, although no official statement has been made, that a treaty for the annexation of Hawaii will be sent to the Senate in the near future, probably before the close of the present session of Congress. There is very little, if any, doubt of the ratification of that treaty, as the sentiment of the Senate, regardless of party is overwhelmingly in favor of the annexation of Hawaii; but owing to the difficulty of keeping a quorum of the Senate in Washington after the tariff bill has been passed, the treaty will hardly be acted upon until the regular session of Congress, even if sent in at this session.

President McKinley will return from his trip to the Nashville exposition tomorrow, and the White House, which has been quite deserted by all but the sight seerers while he has been away will again take on an air of business.

The attempts of some of the Democratic Senators to explain that they are not protectionists, although they have voted for protection for the products of their states, have been more or less ludicrous. Senator McEnery, of La., is the only one of them who has come out squarely for protection, although a number of them have voted for it in particular schedules. He said in reply to the taunts of Senators Jones, of Ark, and Vest,; "Considering the vast interests Louisiana has in rice and sugar, considering the output of her saw mills, her salt and sulphur mines, is there any reason why the Democratic party of my state should not be committed to protection? Not high protection, but such protection as is consistent with revenue necessities. This, also, I believe, is the doctrine of the Republican party. Call it what you will, protection, revenue duty with incidental protection, or anything else, large amounts must be raised, and there is no reason why the industries of the South should not be protected."

The Democrats took advantage of the agreement of the Republican Senators to shorten the tariff debate as much as possible by not making speeches or taking part in controversies, to make a number of statements concerning the sugar schedule which has been adopted by the Senate, that they must have known were untrue. The only one of their statements that any attention was paid to was that asserting that the new sugar schedule would give the American sugar refiners more protection than the schedule for which it was substituted, and that was only replied to indirectly by Senator Allison, who stated that the new schedule would give the American sugar refiners less protection than the one abandoned, and that it would be shown by indisputable evidence as soon as a statement now being prepared by unprejudiced experts could be completed. Senator Allison's word was enough for the Senate which adopted the new schedule.

The object of the Democratic Senators in talking to delay progress on the tariff bill is obvious. It is estimated that every day the bill is delayed means a loss to the government of at least $100,000 in duties, and the more that is lost in that way, the better prepared will be Democratic stump speakers to charge the new tariff with not producing enough revenue during its first nine months or a year. Of course intelligent people will know that advance importations under present duties will prevent the new tariff showing what it can do as a revenue producer for sometime after it goes into effect, but intelligent people are seldom or never influenced by the untrustworthy statements which form such a conspicious feature of Democratic stump oratory; it is the unintelligent and poorly informed class which is led astray by such talk.

It has been denied that Bryanism stood for repudiation but it cannot be denied that a bill introduced by Representative Bell, of Colorado., a Populist deciple of Bryan, provides for partial repudiation, pure and simple. His bill provides for sealing the debt of the U. S., which is represented by the $62,315,400 worth of bonds issued by the Cleveland administration in February, 1895, by directing the Secretary of the Treasury "to pay not less than one-half of the interest and principal of said bonds in standard silver dollars." The part of Mr. Bell's repudiation scheme is that he only specifies that it shall include one of the Cleveland bond issues. The bill will not be heard from again, but it shows the spirit of Bryanism and is therefore worth mention, as a warning of what might be expected should Bryanism ever get on top.

NOTICE.

In the Probate Court of the County of Yuma, Territory of Arizona.

In the matter of the Estate of James Macy, Deceased.

Order to show cause why order of sale of Mining property should not be made.

Isaac Polhamus, the administrator of the estate of James Macy, deceased, having filed his petition herein, duly verified, praying for an order of sale of certain mining claimes belonging to said estate, for the purposes therein set forth, it is therefore ordered by said court that all persons interested in the estate of said deceased, appear before this court on the sixth day of July, A. D. 1897, at 2 o'clock p. m. of of said day, at the court room of said Probate court to show cause why an order should not be granted to the said administrator to sell said mining claims at private sale; and that a copy of this order be published at least four successive weeks in THE ARIZONA SENTINEL, a weekly newspaper printed and published in the village and County of Yuma, said Territory.

Dated June 4th, 1897.

A. FRANK, Probate Judge.

Indian Conservatism.

From Northern Arizona comes a report illustrating the strong Indian characteristic of conservatism. The Interior Department has been considering for some time a project for the consolidation of the tribes of that region, the Hualapais Yavapaies, Chumehuevas and Mohaves. The plan with the cooperation of the Indians concerned would be excellent, but that, it seems cannot be obtained. It provides for a great canal from the Colorado river for the irrigation of the valley, the land to be farmed by the tribes mentioned. Inspector Duncan has been interviewing the Indians. The hatred between hill and valley tribes prevails there that is found between the Pimas and Apaches in the southward. The Hualapais, a hill tribe, announced at once that no inducement could take them to the valley among the hated Mohaves, and that they would run away the first night if put there. Another tribe that is well content where it is is the Yava-Supais, the last of a fine race, as Indians go. They have never asked the government for anything, and only desire now to be left alone. They occupy 500 acres of land in the beautiful and mysterious Cataract Canyon, one of the tributaries of the sublime Grand canyon of the Colorado. They worship its rocks and associate their regions with its incomparable waterfalls. "We will not go," said they. "When your troops have killed all our men, then you may take our women and children. We men will die here in our canyon home."

Probably the inspector will report unfavorably on the colonization scheme. He is expected to recommend the erection of an Indian school for 175 children at Kingman or Hackberry.—Los Angeles Times.

ODD FACTS ABOUT DIAMONDS.

People Have Been Known to swallow Diamonds in Order to Save Them.

Diamonds are rather plentiful nowadays, said Richard Burlsett, the veteran jeweler, to a St. Louis Globe-Democrat man, but, like really great men, there are very few large ones. We all know of the Koh-i-noor, the whilom treasurer of the kahn of Persia, and again the great orange diamond, now in possession of the German emperor; but the largest diamonds, are not always finest. Sometimes a large diamond fails to sparkle properly, lacks radiance and color. Such a stone upon being divided will often make several very brilliant and valuable small diamonds, whose aggregate value would be more than the great colorless original. In the early dawn of civilization diamonds were the cause of more crime than even gold or silver. They have been swallowed for safekeeping, frequently causing death. Murder after murder can be traced to one or the other of these great diamonds as the primal cause. Some dire state intrigues and plots have a diamond for the center or nucleus.

One of the finest diamonds in the world was found not long since in the Brazilian sands. It came in a novel form. A small quartz rock was found, about the size and shape of an egg, lying in the sands along the bank of the Amazon, in Brazil. This was carried home by a Brizilian peasant, who was attracted by its odd shape and light weight. For some time it lay in his home, with a number of other geological specimens, a mere curiosity. Happening one day in handling it to drop it on a stone block it burst open and lay in halves on the block. The hollow interior that gave the light weight to the stone was filled with blood-red sand. In this sand lay the diamond, a sparkling stone of the rarest quality. The stone was later sold to a diamond merchant and left the finder exceedingly wealthy. It is safe to say that the next egg-shaped stone found in that section will not long remain unbroken, and now that the quality and value of a diamond so formed is well-known the next finder will realize a fortune out of it most certainly.

A Valuable Prescription.

Editor Morrison of Washington, Ind., "Sun," writes: "You have a valuable prescription in Electric Bitters, and I can cheerfully recommend it for Constipation and Sick Headache, and as a general system tonic it has no equal." Mrs. Annie Stehle, 2625 Cottage Grove Ave., Chicago, was all run down, could not eat nor digest food, had a backache which never left her and felt tired and weary, but six bottles of Electric Bitters restored her health and renewed her strength. Prices 50 cents and $1.00. Get a Bottle at W. T. Gonder & Co.'s Drug Store.

The Peralta grant of 50,000,000 acres in Arizona, in which Phoenix, the capital of that Territory, is situated, and also a great portion of the Gila river valley, in which a large number of valuable farms and towns exist and have their being, is about to come up in the courts again to be litigated, and this time, it is thought, successfully.

The heirs of said grant live at San Luis Potosi, Mexico, and the eminent Mexican attorney, E. D. Garza, who does business in San Antonio, Texas, and Monterey, Mexico, is in El Paso on his way to New Mexico, to file the claim before the land court now sitting at Santa Fe, for the heirs of said grant. He says that the grant was originally given to Marquez Falces de Peralta, Baron de Arizona, by the Spanish government, for services rendered the queen, in 1774, and that the title is as clear as the noon day sun.

Attorney Garza, who is on his way to New Mexico, to represent the Peraita heirs, is very enthusiastic over the matter, and having as he has, a clear chain of title signed by the queen herself, properly authenticated and designated on old maps of the grant. Mr. Garza thinks that he will be able to establish the Peralta grant beyond the possibility of a doubt, as he has ample authorities at his command to convince any court in this country, of the genuineness of the grant and of the legitimacy of the heirs of the same.—Albuquerque Citizen.

Theory About Bee Stings.

[Correspondence of Science.]

It is a fact not generally known that if one holds his breath wasps, bees and hornets can be handed with impunity. The skin becomes sting proof, and holding the insect by the feet and giving her full liberty of action you can see her drive her weapon against the impenetrable surface with a force which lifts her body at every stroke: but let the smallest quantity of air escape from the lungs and the sting will penetrate at once. I have never seen an exception to this in twenty-five years' observation. I have taught young ladies with very delicate hands to astonish their friends by the performance of this feat, and I saw one so severely stung as to require the service of a physician, through laughing at a witty remark of her sister, forgetting that laughing required breath. For a theory in explanation, I am led to believe that holding the breath partially closes the pores of the skin. My experiments in that direction have not been exact enough to be of any scintific value, but I am satisfied that it very sensibly affects the amount of insensible perspiration.

A Queer River.

There is in Spain a river called Tinto, which has very extraordinary qualities; its waters, which are as yellow as a topaz, harden the sand and petrify it in a most surprising manner. If a stone falls into the river and rests upon another they both become perfectly united and conglutinated in a year. It withers all the plants on its banks, as well as the roots of trees, which it dyes the same hue as iti waters. No fish live in its waters.
