HALDIMAN THROWS HAT IN PRIMARY RING

State Senator Joe Haldiman, Jr., Democrat - Maricopa, announced his candidacy for the Governor of Arizona, subject to the primary election.

"If I succeed in this venture," Haldiman said, "The symbolic implement of my office will be a sharp spade, not a dinner fork. Haldiman pointed to the repeal in 1955 of the 2 per cent sales tax on goods manufactured for the Federal Government, which he introduced.

As a result of the adoption of this bill several electronic firms have moved to the state.

He was born in Phoenix 40 years ago. He attended city grammar schools. After completing high school he studied at Phoenix College and Arizona State University. He served in the U. S. Air Force.

Following World War II he joined his family's firm, Haldiman Brothers Insurance Agency, rising to his present position as vice president and treasurer.
