

NEWS NUGGETS FROM ALASKA

News of Alaska, Taken From the Exchanges, to Show What's Going on in the Great Northland

The U. S. Fisheries boat Deputy is being advertised for sale.

The pupils of the Wrangell public school had a week's Easter vacation.

The choir of the Methodist church recently gave a concert at Ketchikan.

It is reported about Valdez that the city will soon have a new city hall.

There were no Easter egg dyes in Skagway this year and many people missed them.

The Ketchikan Civic League has been incorporated so that it will be more efficient.

The Women's Central Society made its first public appearance last week. Selections from music operas were sung.

Edward H. Turner, historian of the Yukon Valley of Pecos, died at that place recently of heart disease.

Preparation of an Idaho of the Pioneer has been completed at Wrangell with P. E. Hanson as first president.

A big fire of poles have been destroyed by the big massacre in the city at Douglas tonight by the Homeless.

A new shrimp and crab canning plant at Petersburg is marketing its product under the label of the "Gold Dollar Brand."

N. E. Walker has been elected to represent Ketchikan at the convention of the American Legion at Valdez on April 12.

Alvin Hester has been notified that he has been appointed a cadet at West Point if he can pass the entrance examination.

The play "Captain Roberts," as given by the Ketchikan Dramatic Club last week under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A., is said to have been a great success.

The Petersburg fish plant, discontinued two years ago when the cable was taken to that place, is being leased and plans to start to produce the apparatus destroyed by fire a short time ago.

The trail from Whitehorse to Lake Lebarge is said to be in good shape now owing to traffic over it by experimental trucks that have taken the snow off.

Much building activity is anticipated at Anchorage this summer on account of the many bridges for estimates to be furnished being received by contractors there.

An ice pool amounting to 11 is expected to amount to $2,500, has been started at Nenana. The pool is for the time of the breaking up of the ice in the river in front of the town.

David E. Jones, road superintendent for the Alaska Road Commission, is in Seattle purchasing horses to be shipped North soon for the use of the commission this season.

The H. Howe Brown Ketchikan Hospital at Whittier has been designated a public health station of the third class, according to information recently received in that city.

Three raids were staged at Ketchikan a short time ago by Chief of Police James McIntosh. A quantity of alleged intoxicating liquor was found and several arrests were made.

Hattie, an alleged insane man, was taken off the steamer Northwestern on her last trip to Ketchikan on her last trip and is now under observation there.

The White Pass & Yukon Route has given notice that an advance in freight rates averaging between 7 and 8 cents, will go into effect on April 15. Passenger rates will be unchanged.

None is said to be crying for Anchorage coal and an effort is being made to have Alaska Steamship vessels take a cargo north from there when they make their spring trips to Bering Sea.

Ketchikan has been designated a depot for Alaskan operations by the Coast and Geodetic Survey, and mine repair stations, field stations and a marine railroad will be constructed at once.

According to the Whitehorse Star, there is a rumor going the rounds from Ottawa that Yukon Territory is to be merged with the Northwest Territories and that Lieut.-Col. J. K. Cornwall better known as "Pease River Jim," will be the first lieutenant governor. This new territory would have a government similar to the old Northwest Territories.

James L. Stewart, the many years a resident of the North, is making preparations to leave Alaska to make his permanent residence with his family at Vancouver, B. C. At Vancouver twenty-seven members of the Stewart family live within a few blocks of each other, and James L. Stewart is head of the clan.

The schedule for the routing of mails for various districts in Alaska was announced by local postoffice officials. The changes are contingent on seasonal conditions and the opening of river navigation and in the Bering Sea. Mails for Fairbanks, Nome and other interior points in the Yukon River district will be sent via Seward over the government railway to Fairbanks for distribution until April 1. After that date only first-class mail and newspapers will be sent to these points. Other classes will be held in Seattle until May 15, when all mail will be routed via Skagway down the Yukon river on steamers immediately after the breaking of the river ice for navigation. Mails for Nome, St. Michaels and Seward Peninsula will be sent by boat about May 19.

The Russians had skin money. It was made of the tanned entrails of seals. When the two upper corners were cut off it circulated for 5 cents, but when all four corners were cut off it represented 4 cents. Our soldiers would trim the bottom of the 4-cent skins even and pass them for 2 cents, so they soon demoralized the currency system till the natives were afraid to take any skin money.

Mrs. C. A. Klunk of Portland was my Sunday school teacher. Her husband was one of the members of the first city council. We stayed there till 1871.

It is a rather interesting thing to know that soon after the transfer of Alaska to the United States there was a rush of town lot speculators, office-seekers and other adventurers to Sitka. An election was held and a city government was established. William C. Dodge, collector of customs, had been acting as mayor of Sitka. The first city election resulted in the following officers being elected: W. H. Wood, mayor, and for city council men, J. X. Fuller, C. A. Klunk, Frank Maloney and Isaac Bergman.—Fred Lockley in Portland Journal.

In an effort to obtain a vessel to carry supplies to its stations in Bering Sea and the Arctic, the Alaska Division of the United States Bureau of Education is conducting negotiations with the owners of three different craft, it was learned recently.

One of the vessels is the power schooner Haly of the Kuskokwim Transportation & Trading Company, which is now in Victoria, B. C., where she arrived September 23 from Herschel Island in the Arctic.

The Alaska Division of the Bureau of Education had hoped to get the brigantine Hovey, now in Newport, R. I., for service between Seattle and Bering Sea and the Arctic, but Congress failed to make an appropriation of funds for placing the vessel in condition for sea. She has been used as a naval training ship in Newport and would have to be repaired, overhauled and an auxiliary engine installed before she could be used on the Seattle-Alaska route. An effort will be made at the next session of Congress to obtain funds to place the Hovey in condition for service. It is planned to install semi-diesel engines in the vessel and convert her into power schooner or motorship.

With the Hovey, the Alaska Division of the United States Bureau of Education had hoped to reach about 2,400 natives who live between the Yukon and Kuskokwim rivers in Alaska. Arrangements are now being made with the United States Coast Guard service for the delivery of government school supplies to the stations in Alaska from St. Lawrence Island north.

During Dr. L. E. Keller's sojourn in Seattle the past two months he was invited by the "Bourdough" Club to address them in their meeting place in the A. B. building erected on the "D" campus by the Arctic Brotherhood in 1905 at the A. Y. P. fair. The club is composed of students in the Washington University who were at one time residents of Alaska and those who still live here. During the meeting Dr. Keller learned that the A. B. building, which is the headquarters of the University Y. M. C. A., will soon be vacated for more commodious ones in the Y. M. C. A. building recently erected. This will leave the A. B. building without occupants, and it is deemed advisable by the University trustees to tear it down and remove it from the spot where it now stands. To Dr. Keller and to all Alaskans this seems almost a crime, and for that reason he has asked the Territorial Legislature, now in session, to pass a bill appropriating a sum of money to keep the picturesque old landmark on its present site.—Skagway Alaskan.

A baby daughter, the sixth child in the family, was born Tuesday evening at St. Ann Hospital, Juneau, to Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Edwards of Thane. Mrs. Edwards was formerly Miss Ash of this city and lived here many years.

Mrs. Charles Westlake, who arrived here on the Jefferson late last week, has taken a position in the Treadwell boarding house during the illness of Mrs. Pearl Freeburg, stewardess for the Treadwell Company. Mrs. Westlake's husband is an operator at the Nugget Creek power plant for the company.

Hubert Gilligan, formerly of Douglas, returned this week from San Francisco, where he has been since last summer on a visit. He is living with his parents at Thane.

PIONEER DAYS IN OLD SITKA

Transfer Described, With Bits of the Customs of Old Capital Many Years Ago

(The story of a man who saw the Russian flag lowered and the American flag raised over "Seward's Folly" in 1867 is here related by Mr. Lockley. This almost primeval source, though bit a lad in 1867, observed events to some purpose and his recollections make the best of reading today.)

Elmer E. Montague is a clerk at the custom house. He is one of the original Scandinavians of Alaska. He went there in the fall of 1867, while Alaska was still a part of the Russian empire.

"My father, Charles B. Montague, was for many years a resident of Lebanon," said Mr. Montague. "He went to California in 1819 in the gold rush, stayed there ten years, and in 1829 came to Oregon. He bought the Kube Lewis farm in the Walla Walla Hills. I was born there, October 24, 1851. My mother's maiden name was Martha Peabody. There were three boys and three girls in our family. My father, who was a graduate of the University of Aberdeen, before coming to America had been an officer in the British army. While stationed at Malta he sold his captain's commission and came to America. In those days officers' commissions were purchased, in place of being given for proficiency or fitness.

"When the Civil war broke out, father enlisted and served in the Oregon regiment commanded by Colonel Thomas R. Condit. He enlisted in Salem in Company B, commanded by Captain E. J. Harding. After three years' service he re-enlisted and was assigned to the quartermaster's department. Our family went to Alaska aboard the United States steamer John L. Stephens. In the fall of 1867, my father serving under Colonel George H. Weeks, who was in charge of the quartermaster's department.

"The troops stayed on board the steamer for some time before being landed. On Friday, October 18, 1867, they went ashore to take formal possession of Alaska for the United States. A company of the Ninth United States infantry was drawn up with the Russian troops on the rocky point on which the flagstaff was planted. General L. H. Bennett represented the United States and Captain Alois Panteleoff represented the Russian government. The Russian captain ordered his men to haul the flag of Russia down. Then our men raised the Stars and Stripes. The soldiers of both nations presented arms and the guns of the Russian garrison as well as the guns aboard our ship saluted—and that was all there was to it. Our soldiers moved into the Russian barracks and we took over the buildings of the Russian American Fur Company. Most of the Russians sailed back to Russia.

"The soldiers were a pretty tough bunch and Sitka soon was wide open. The Russians had named the place Novo Archangelsk, but had shortened it to Sitka, so it has kept that name ever since. It was against the law to import or sell liquor, but it was shipped in on Nevala. With 500 soldiers stationed there and with nothing for them to do, things were pretty serious at times. Finally the folly of keeping troops there was recognized, so they were sent back to the United States.

"There were only four white boys at Sitka. Besides myself there were Eddie, son of Colonel Weeks; Louis Lory, son of a Jewish merchant, and George Murphy, son of Sergeant Murphy. We four boys, with Veritas Kestromestoff, a Russian boy, used to be inseparable chums. We went to school to Madam Konoplyky. Later a public school was established. My mother served as teacher till they could get a teacher from the states. General Davis sent to Boston and had his niece come out to teach the school. One of the first things she did was to lick me because I wouldn't pronounce a word the way she said was right. She asked me to name the capitals of the Pacific coast states. I said Salem on the Willamette was the capital of Oregon. She said, 'Pronounce that river with the accent on the "m".' I said I had lived in Oregon, and we pronounced it with the accent on the "am." So she said, 'I'll "am" you'—and she did. We three white boys decided to run away and go to St. Petersburg, but Louis Lory got cold feet and beat it back and gave us away, and my father tanned me so I had all desire to run away to sea for some time thereafter.

"The Russians had skin money. It was made of the tanned entrails of seals. When the two upper corners were cut off it circulated for 5 cents, but when all four corners were cut off it represented 4 cents. Our soldiers would trim the bottom of the 4-cent skins even and pass them for 2 cents, so they soon demoralized the currency system till the natives were afraid to take any skin money.

Mrs. C. A. Klunk of Portland was my Sunday school teacher. Her husband was one of the members of the first city council. We stayed there till 1871.

It is a rather interesting thing to know that soon after the transfer of Alaska to the United States there was a rush of town lot speculators, office-seekers and other adventurers to Sitka. An election was held and a city government was established. William C. Dodge, collector of customs, had been acting as mayor of Sitka. The first city election resulted in the following officers being elected: W. H. Wood, mayor, and for city council men, J. X. Fuller, C. A. Klunk, Frank Maloney and Isaac Bergman.—Fred Lockley in Portland Journal.

In an effort to obtain a vessel to carry supplies to its stations in Bering Sea and the Arctic, the Alaska Division of the United States Bureau of Education is conducting negotiations with the owners of three different craft, it was learned recently.

One of the vessels is the power schooner Haly of the Kuskokwim Transportation & Trading Company, which is now in Victoria, B. C., where she arrived September 23 from Herschel Island in the Arctic.

The Alaska Division of the Bureau of Education had hoped to get the brigantine Hovey, now in Newport, R. I., for service between Seattle and Bering Sea and the Arctic, but Congress failed to make an appropriation of funds for placing the vessel in condition for sea. She has been used as a naval training ship in Newport and would have to be repaired, overhauled and an auxiliary engine installed before she could be used on the Seattle-Alaska route. An effort will be made at the next session of Congress to obtain funds to place the Hovey in condition for service. It is planned to install semi-diesel engines in the vessel and convert her into power schooner or motorship.

With the Hovey, the Alaska Division of the United States Bureau of Education had hoped to reach about 2,400 natives who live between the Yukon and Kuskokwim rivers in Alaska. Arrangements are now being made with the United States Coast Guard service for the delivery of government school supplies to the stations in Alaska from St. Lawrence Island north.

During Dr. L. E. Keller's sojourn in Seattle the past two months he was invited by the "Bourdough" Club to address them in their meeting place in the A. B. building erected on the "D" campus by the Arctic Brotherhood in 1905 at the A. Y. P. fair. The club is composed of students in the Washington University who were at one time residents of Alaska and those who still live here. During the meeting Dr. Keller learned that the A. B. building, which is the headquarters of the University Y. M. C. A., will soon be vacated for more commodious ones in the Y. M. C. A. building recently erected. This will leave the A. B. building without occupants, and it is deemed advisable by the University trustees to tear it down and remove it from the spot where it now stands. To Dr. Keller and to all Alaskans this seems almost a crime, and for that reason he has asked the Territorial Legislature, now in session, to pass a bill appropriating a sum of money to keep the picturesque old landmark on its present site.—Skagway Alaskan.

A baby daughter, the sixth child in the family, was born Tuesday evening at St. Ann Hospital, Juneau, to Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Edwards of Thane. Mrs. Edwards was formerly Miss Ash of this city and lived here many years.

Mrs. Charles Westlake, who arrived here on the Jefferson late last week, has taken a position in the Treadwell boarding house during the illness of Mrs. Pearl Freeburg, stewardess for the Treadwell Company. Mrs. Westlake's husband is an operator at the Nugget Creek power plant for the company.

Hubert Gilligan, formerly of Douglas, returned this week from San Francisco, where he has been since last summer on a visit. He is living with his parents at Thane.

The Russians had skin money. It was made of the tanned entrails of seals. When the two upper corners were cut off it circulated for 5 cents, but when all four corners were cut off it represented 4 cents. Our soldiers would trim the bottom of the 4-cent skins even and pass them for 2 cents, so they soon demoralized the currency system till the natives were afraid to take any skin money.

Mrs. C. A. Klunk of Portland was my Sunday school teacher. Her husband was one of the members of the first city council. We stayed there till 1871.

It is a rather interesting thing to know that soon after the transfer of Alaska to the United States there was a rush of town lot speculators, office-seekers and other adventurers to Sitka. An election was held and a city government was established. William C. Dodge, collector of customs, had been acting as mayor of Sitka. The first city election resulted in the following officers being elected: W. H. Wood, mayor, and for city council men, J. X. Fuller, C. A. Klunk, Frank Maloney and Isaac Bergman.—Fred Lockley in Portland Journal.

In an effort to obtain a vessel to carry supplies to its stations in Bering Sea and the Arctic, the Alaska Division of the United States Bureau of Education is conducting negotiations with the owners of three different craft, it was learned recently.

One of the vessels is the power schooner Haly of the Kuskokwim Transportation & Trading Company, which is now in Victoria, B. C., where she arrived September 23 from Herschel Island in the Arctic.

The Alaska Division of the Bureau of Education had hoped to get the brigantine Hovey, now in Newport, R. I., for service between Seattle and Bering Sea and the Arctic, but Congress failed to make an appropriation of funds for placing the vessel in condition for sea. She has been used as a naval training ship in Newport and would have to be repaired, overhauled and an auxiliary engine installed before she could be used on the Seattle-Alaska route. An effort will be made at the next session of Congress to obtain funds to place the Hovey in condition for service. It is planned to install semi-diesel engines in the vessel and convert her into power schooner or motorship.

With the Hovey, the Alaska Division of the United States Bureau of Education had hoped to reach about 2,400 natives who live between the Yukon and Kuskokwim rivers in Alaska. Arrangements are now being made with the United States Coast Guard service for the delivery of government school supplies to the stations in Alaska from St. Lawrence Island north.

During Dr. L. E. Keller's sojourn in Seattle the past two months he was invited by the "Bourdough" Club to address them in their meeting place in the A. B. building erected on the "D" campus by the Arctic Brotherhood in 1905 at the A. Y. P. fair. The club is composed of students in the Washington University who were at one time residents of Alaska and those who still live here. During the meeting Dr. Keller learned that the A. B. building, which is the headquarters of the University Y. M. C. A., will soon be vacated for more commodious ones in the Y. M. C. A. building recently erected. This will leave the A. B. building without occupants, and it is deemed advisable by the University trustees to tear it down and remove it from the spot where it now stands. To Dr. Keller and to all Alaskans this seems almost a crime, and for that reason he has asked the Territorial Legislature, now in session, to pass a bill appropriating a sum of money to keep the picturesque old landmark on its present site.—Skagway Alaskan.

A baby daughter, the sixth child in the family, was born Tuesday evening at St. Ann Hospital, Juneau, to Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Edwards of Thane. Mrs. Edwards was formerly Miss Ash of this city and lived here many years.

Mrs. Charles Westlake, who arrived here on the Jefferson late last week, has taken a position in the Treadwell boarding house during the illness of Mrs. Pearl Freeburg, stewardess for the Treadwell Company. Mrs. Westlake's husband is an operator at the Nugget Creek power plant for the company.

Hubert Gilligan, formerly of Douglas, returned this week from San Francisco, where he has been since last summer on a visit. He is living with his parents at Thane.

The Russians had skin money. It was made of the tanned entrails of seals. When the two upper corners were cut off it circulated for 5 cents, but when all four corners were cut off it represented 4 cents. Our soldiers would trim the bottom of the 4-cent skins even and pass them for 2 cents, so they soon demoralized the currency system till the natives were afraid to take any skin money.

Mrs. C. A. Klunk of Portland was my Sunday school teacher. Her husband was one of the members of the first city council. We stayed there till 1871.

It is a rather interesting thing to know that soon after the transfer of Alaska to the United States there was a rush of town lot speculators, office-seekers and other adventurers to Sitka. An election was held and a city government was established. William C. Dodge, collector of customs, had been acting as mayor of Sitka. The first city election resulted in the following officers being elected: W. H. Wood, mayor, and for city council men, J. X. Fuller, C. A. Klunk, Frank Maloney and Isaac Bergman.—Fred Lockley in Portland Journal.

In an effort to obtain a vessel to carry supplies to its stations in Bering Sea and the Arctic, the Alaska Division of the United States Bureau of Education is conducting negotiations with the owners of three different craft, it was learned recently.

One of the vessels is the power schooner Haly of the Kuskokwim Transportation & Trading Company, which is now in Victoria, B. C., where she arrived September 23 from Herschel Island in the Arctic.

The Alaska Division of the Bureau of Education had hoped to get the brigantine Hovey, now in Newport, R. I., for service between Seattle and Bering Sea and the Arctic, but Congress failed to make an appropriation of funds for placing the vessel in condition for sea. She has been used as a naval training ship in Newport and would have to be repaired, overhauled and an auxiliary engine installed before she could be used on the Seattle-Alaska route. An effort will be made at the next session of Congress to obtain funds to place the Hovey in condition for service. It is planned to install semi-diesel engines in the vessel and convert her into power schooner or motorship.

With the Hovey, the Alaska Division of the United States Bureau of Education had hoped to reach about 2,400 natives who live between the Yukon and Kuskokwim rivers in Alaska. Arrangements are now being made with the United States Coast Guard service for the delivery of government school supplies to the stations in Alaska from St. Lawrence Island north.

During Dr. L. E. Keller's sojourn in Seattle the past two months he was invited by the "Bourdough" Club to address them in their meeting place in the A. B. building erected on the "D" campus by the Arctic Brotherhood in 1905 at the A. Y. P. fair. The club is composed of students in the Washington University who were at one time residents of Alaska and those who still live here. During the meeting Dr. Keller learned that the A. B. building, which is the headquarters of the University Y. M. C. A., will soon be vacated for more commodious ones in the Y. M. C. A. building recently erected. This will leave the A. B. building without occupants, and it is deemed advisable by the University trustees to tear it down and remove it from the spot where it now stands. To Dr. Keller and to all Alaskans this seems almost a crime, and for that reason he has asked the Territorial Legislature, now in session, to pass a bill appropriating a sum of money to keep the picturesque old landmark on its present site.—Skagway Alaskan.

A baby daughter, the sixth child in the family, was born Tuesday evening at St. Ann Hospital, Juneau, to Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Edwards of Thane. Mrs. Edwards was formerly Miss Ash of this city and lived here many years.

Mrs. Charles Westlake, who arrived here on the Jefferson late last week, has taken a position in the Treadwell boarding house during the illness of Mrs. Pearl Freeburg, stewardess for the Treadwell Company. Mrs. Westlake's husband is an operator at the Nugget Creek power plant for the company.

Hubert Gilligan, formerly of Douglas, returned this week from San Francisco, where he has been since last summer on a visit. He is living with his parents at Thane.

COD FISHING STOPS

FERRY TIME CARD

JUNEAU FERRY & NAVIGATION COMPANY

Leaving Juneau for Douglas, Treadwell and Thane

7:10 a. m. 4:40 p. m.
9:30 a. m. 6:10 p. m.
12:15 p. m. 8:20 p. m.
12:00 p. m. 9:40 p. m.
3:10 p. m. 11:25 p. m.
Saturday night, 1:00 a. m.
*Douglas only

Leaving Douglas for Treadwell and Thane

7:35 a. m. 4:55 p. m.
9:45 a. m. 6:15 p. m.
12:30 p. m. 8:55 p. m.
3:25 p. m. 11:40 p. m.
Saturday night, 1:15 a. m.

Leaving Douglas for Juneau

8:30 a. m. 5:25 p. m.
10:25 a. m. 8:55 p. m.
11:10 p. m. 8:45 p. m.
2:15 p. m. 10:35 p. m.
Saturday night, 1:55 a. m.
*Saturday only, to Douglas.
*Freight will be accepted.

Subject to change without notice

TOBACCO --- CIGARS

We carry the largest stock of Smokers' Sundries on the Island.

A large stock of Juno Beverage and other soft drinks always on hand.

BUTTE POOL ROOM

MIKE PUSICH, Proprietor
Front Street Douglas

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES

(Fifth Street, between Main and Seward Streets, Juneau)

Services are held every Sunday at 11 a. m. in the church of the Christian Science Society of Juneau, on Fifth Street between Main and Seward streets. The subject for next Sunday will be "Reality."

Sunday school at 12:15 p. m.
Wednesday—Testimonial meeting at 8:15 p. m.

Christian Science Reading Room at Room 3, Maloney Block. Open daily, except Sundays and holidays, from 2 to 4:30 p. m. and from 7 to 9 p. m. Wednesday evenings, 8 to 9 p. m. The public is cordially invited to attend these services and visit the Reading Room.

Job Printing at the News office.

ADmiral THE LINE

PACIFIC STEAMSHIP COMPANY

	NORTHBOUND	WESTBOUND	SOUTHBOUND
Leaves Seattle		From Juneau	From Juneau
City of Seattle			City of Seattle
April 2			April 5
Admiral Watson		Admiral Watson	Adm. Watson
April 6		April 9	April 19

Three sailings a week from Seattle, San Francisco, Los Angeles and San Diego

GUY L. SMITH, Agent
Douglas, Alaska
Phone 15

J. H. KLINE, Agent
Juneau, Alaska
Phone 4

SAFETY—COURTESY

SPED SERVICE

B. M. BEHREND'S CO., INC.

JUNEAU, ALASKA

WHOLESALE --- RETAIL

FIVE BIG DEPARTMENTS

to purchase from

GROCERIES, HOUSE FURNISHINGS, Dry Goods, Ready to Wear, Notions, Clothing, Men's Furnishings, Shoes, Rubber Goods

OUR MOTTO :
Service, Superlativeness and Satisfaction

PHONES:
Groceries, 5 Dry Goods, 8
Office, 2 Rings on 5

B. M. Behrends Company, Inc.

LODGE DIRECTORY

Alaska Lodge No. 1, I. O. O. F.

Meets every Wednesday evening in Odd Fellows Hall

Visiting brothers always welcome.
CLAY SWANSON, N. G.
L. W. KILBURN, Sec.

Amora Encampment No. 1

Meets at Odd Fellows Hall first and second Mondays at 8 p. m.

Brothers of the Royal Purple are cordially invited.
CHAS. W. CARTER, C. E.
L. W. KILBURN, Sec.

Northern Light Rebekah Lodge No. 1

Meets at Odd Fellows Hall second and fourth Thursdays

Visitors are cordially invited.
PHILBA SWANSON, N. G.
JOSEPHINE LANGRISH, Sec.

DOUGLAS AERIE NO. 117

F. O. E.

Meets every Friday evening at 8 o'clock in their hall on Third Street.

Visiting brothers welcome.
ROBERT FLASHER, W. P.
CARL H. KRIVONSON, Sec.

F. WOLLAND

MERCHANT TAILOR

JUNEAU, ALASKA

PIANO TUNER

GEORGE ANDERSON, Expert

29 years experience. High Grade Players and Pianos for Sale and Rent. Address Box 331, Juneau. Phone 1-4-1.