across the Atlantic.

The custom of gratuities to public servants was carried to a disgusting extent during Grant's administration; and now, under a sentimental cover spread over it by the attempt on the President's life, it appears again. It is utterly wrong in principle, and of all persons the President should be most rigidly kept from being the object of such offerings. He is the chief officer of the Government, and no government can be healthy when its officers are liable to receive money or other property from private sources. It can have no tendency but toward corruption, and no matter how overflowing may be the generous impulse of the community they should zealously guard against any act which can blunt any public officer's perceptions of what he owes to the people, without compensation other than the law allows.

THE BULLET FOUND.

The bullet fired by Guiteau and which missed the President has been found by an Italian glazier, lodged in a piece of putty in his box. This man, at the time of the shooting, was standing near the ticket office. He heard the shots, and at the same time heard a smashing of glass in the box on his back. He immediately ran out of the depot, and for the time thought no more of the cause of the breakage. In cleaning his box last week he came across a bullet imbedded in a pistol. There is no doubt that this is chinery and dynamite were supplied in New York. the missing bullet, after which so much search has been made. .

THRIFTY FEMALES. That the women of America are thrifty

is shown in the report of the special agent of the Census Office just published. From this it appears that, omitting the 6 per cents, the foreign holders, and the banks, there are $644,990,400 of four, four and a half, and five per cent bonds to be distributed throughout the country. The total number of holders is 73,114, and of these 42,262 are males and 29,325 females, and 1,527 are corporations. The average per capita for the male holders is $7,841 84; for the female holders, $3,081 10. From this it is to be gathered that there must be a from London says: Yesterday Mrs. Midgood many rich women in the United States.

TERRIFIC COLLISION.

Fourteen heavily-laden fruit cars broke away from a train on the Chicago and St. Paul Railroad, and started down a grade of eighty feet to the mile. A locomotive weat in pursuit and made a brisk chase, but gravity proved too much for steam, and the runaway cars were soon thundering along at the rate of thirty miles an hour. A telegram was sent forward to the track, but it could not be obeyed quick enough by one train of cars, from which the occupants escaped just in time to avoid death in one of the most violent

A Cincinnati sage asserts that it is the famous one of 1337, while the wise men of Boston incline to the belief that it is an entirely new astronomical acquaintance. Until they have agreed it is, of course, idle for the unenlightened to have any opinion on the subject. It seems as hard to get astronomers as doctors to agree.

FIFTY YEARS HENCE.

Jay Gould works very hard, but he only gets his board and clothes. When he passes in his checks some other fellow will pocket the fruits of his hard life of labor and anxiety. Many a man without a dollar will own as much land and be as rich as he 50 years hence. Gold glitters, but there are other things than gold more worth men's thoughts.

THE CHARACTER OF AMERICAN DIVORCES

BROUGHT INTO NOTICE.

EXECUTIVE MANSION, Washington, July 30 - 8:30 A. M .- The President enjoyed a refreshing sleep the greater part of the night. The slight febrile rise of yesterday afternoon had subsided by midnight, and this morning his temperature is again normal. A gradual improvement of his general condition in all particulars is observable, and is recognized by himself. His pulse is now 92, temperature 98.5, respiration 18.

Signed,

J. K. BARNES, J. J. WOODWARD, ROBERT REYBURN.

11 A. M .- Dr. Boynton, Mrs. Garfield's physician, who has been stopping at the Executive Mansion ever since the President was wounded, says the President is decidedly better this morning than at any time since he was shot. He has been elevated in bed by means of pulleys, and has eaten a small quantity of beef, which was prepared for him by Mrs. Garfield. The President has professed himself as feeling much better and stronger to-day than at any time since the shooting. He watched the clock until exactly 9 o'clock, at which moment he remarked: "Well, it's exactly four weeks since I was shot." Dr. Boynton is of the opinion that the progress of the patient toward recovery will not be impeded again. The attending surgeons seemed assured that the President is re-covering strength as rapidly as could be covering strength as rapidly as could be expected, and say he is in excellent spirits. Generally speaking, the patient's recovery is considered only a question of time.

12:30 p. M.—The President showed no fatigue from the dressing of the wound this morning. It looks very well, and the discharge of pus is satisfactory in quantity and quality, and his general condition is greatly improved. A moderate quantity of solid food has been added to his nour-ishment and was eaten with relish. A frame ishment and was eaten with relish. A frame has been introduced beneath his bed, by which his head and shoulders have been elevated somewhat, and he expresses him-self as well pleased with the change of po-sition. At present his pulse is 98, temper-ture 98.5, respiration 20.

Results of the Times' Inquiries. Results of the Times' Inquiries.
Chicago, July 30.—The results of the Times' inquiries throughout the country, as to the effect of the recent events in the political world, are thus headlined: The political effect of the recent attempt to assassinate the President has done much to obliterate factional differences and harmonize discordant elements, and raise an almost universal demand for a change in the civil service system. Several plans are suggested for reforming the present order of things. Conkling and Platt are generally accorded all honors that belong to defeat. Their action is looked upon as of but little importance outside of New York. There are no indications of a break up or rearrangement of party lines.

rearrangement of party lines.

A Husband Liable to Prosecution for Rigamy.

CHICAGO, July 30 .- The Times' cable ley procured a divorce from her husband on the ground that he had married another on the ground that he had married another woman in Chicago. The husband made no defense. The facts showed that the husband left his wife in London two years ago, procured a divorce in Colorado and then married again. The husband is liable to prosecution for bigamy. The case has excited considerable attention, bringing into notice the character of so-called American divorces.

Killing of an Estimable Man. ADRIAN (Mich.). July 29 .- J. P. True, a banker, at Hancha Springs, New Mexico, is reported in to-day's telegrams as having shot Major Carpenter, who is a nephew of ex-Congressman F. C. Beaman, and has many relatives and friends here. He is a cousin to Roscoe Beamer, whose sad death will be remembered, and he has a brother living in Chicago. He is much esteemed wherever known.

The Railroad Whr. NEW YORK, July 29 .- There is apparently an armistice in the railroad war today, each watching the other. The brokers are the flercest against the Pennsylvania Central, and the latter claim that the other roads have aided them. It was rumored to-day that the roads would cut the rates west of here, but this is denied by Fink and all the freight agents. The war at Boston continues.
