THE ACCIDENTAL SHOOTING. Not so Much Blame to the Boy as Supposed. An examination of the boy Lucy for the shooting of Fidele Rolanti in Young's Judge Harmon. The District Attorney that a slight injustice had been done the boy in the first notice of the unfortunate occurrence in ascribing to him extreme carelessness. It appears that at the time the pistol was fired the boy was not brand-ishing the weapon in a careless manner, but carefully examining it to see if loaded, when, it being a self-cocker, it was un-intentionally discharged by an almost imperceptible motion of defendant's hand. From the position in which the revolver was held Mr. Green, the main witness for was held Mr. Green, the main witness for the prosecution, swore it was impossible for defendant to see a charge in the gun, and, as Lucy had previously withdrawn the cartridge placed in it, he had no reason to think it loaded in any chamber. Under the circumstances the District Attorney did not press for a conviction, and the defendant was discharged.

We clip the following article from the Pioche Record: "The papers are surprised that in the organization of the Idaho Legislature one-third of the members of that body are Mormon Democrats. There is nothing surprising in this. The Mormons are possessed of a great deal more power cutside of the borders of Utah than the public is aware of. The Mormons are numerous in the southern part of California, have actilements of their own, and to-day control San Bernardino County, and wield much power in other counties in the Golden State, yet the Californians themselves appear to be ignorant of this fact. McCoy Fitzgerald Thrown With His Sled Under a Horse's Hoofs.

Last evening about 7 o'clock a number of boys were coasting down the street from the school, quite a long stretch towards the old barley mill, little McCoy gunsmith shop was held yesterday before | Fitzgerald among the rest. McCoy was going down the hill very rapidly on appeared for the State and Alex. Wilson his sled, when he came suddenly upon for defendant. The evidence educed showed Henry Kind, who was leading his horses across the street. On account of the dark-ness, though having a lantern on his sled, he could see but a few yards about him. He tried to come to a halt when he found He tried to come to a halt when he found himself about to be hurled under the horses' feet, but it was too late. The velocity acquired by the sled in descending the steep hill was so great that he could not check his speed or manage his sled. He was precipitated against the feet of one of the horses. It was supposed at first that he had been kicked on the head by the arrival and that his skull was fractive more registrative. The men were neighbors, owning adjoint a registrative more registrative to the country of the town of Independent of the that he had been kicked on the head by the animal and that his skull was fractured. This, fortunately, is not the case. He probably received no greater injury than a terrible shock from striking his head upon the horses' hoofs. He was picked up and carried home in an unconscious state. At 9 o'clock last night he lay still unconscious. The skull does not seem to be injured, there being only an abrasion of the skin on one side of the head. The shock, however, produced a concussion of the brain, which resulted in nervous prostration and unconsolousness.

Mrs. Amelia Scott received news yester day by telegram that her brother, J. C. Snell, had died in San Francisco at 11:25 in the morning. He had been a resident of Eureka, but left here some two months ago for California for his health. His disease was consumption. He was a native of Cornwall, England, and 36 years of age.

THE STATE'S DEPRESSION.

Some of the Blunderings that Have

E. T. George, editor of the Lewis Heraid, returned home recently from a thorough inspection of the mining country in the southern counties of Nevads. He is a very intelligent gentleman, a practical miner and a very close observer. He gives in the following article some very useful hints. A representative of the SENTINEL lately finished a tour of the State on different business from that which occupied the attention of Mr. George, but he did not travel with his eyes closed. He saw enough to make him appreciate fully what Mr. George says, and the article of this gentleman is heartily commended to our patrons for perusal. Mr. George says:

During our trip through the southern part of Nevada we were surprised at the number of reduction works that had been erected in the different mining camps and lying idle, monuments of folly and mismanagement. If one-fourth the amount of capital had been expended in exploring the mines that has been wasted in erecting those expensive works, our State would to-day be the greatest builion producer in the world. Valuable mines are lying idle, which, if worked on legitimate business principles, would be dividend payers, but useless expenditures and gross mismanagement have caused stockholders to refuse to contribute any further funds, and the mines and mills have become he did not travel with his eyes closed. He and the mines and mills have become almost uninhabited, where heretofere all was life and bustle, and not on account was life and bustle, and not on account of the merits or demerits of the mines, but simply for the incapacity and make all you can for yourself management. Nevada has had "wild eat and stock jobbery" enough. While our neighboring mineral States are enjoying a season of prosperity, Nevada is undergoing a season of dullness unparalleled in her history, and through no fault of her mines or mineral wealth. unparalleled in her history, and through no fault of her mines or mineral wealth. We believe that our State is the best min-eralized State or Territory in the Union, if properly worked, and in all our principal properly worked, and in all our principal mining camps it has been proven beyond a doubt that our mineral veins are continued to as great a depth as in any other country in the world. Then why should so many of our mines be lying idle to-day? Let any person who has been a resident of those camps answer the question. Is it through the mines giving out, or on account of the poorness of the ore? Can they truthfully say yes in either case? There may be some say yes in either case? There may be some few exceptions, but the greater number will have to be laid to the incapacity of the management and useless expenditures in salaries to non-producers. How many mines are there whose pay-roll for miners and mill men equal the amount paid out to supernumeraries, many of whom have never seen a mine, and know no more about mining than a cow does about handling a musket. Mining can be made a paying business, and will pay a larger rate of interest on the amount invested than almost any other business, but must be conducted on the same business prin ciples that any other business is conducted on, then, and not till then, will our State return to its old time prosperity, and it should be the endeavor of all interested in mining and the welfare of the State of Nevada, to do all in their power to en-courage legitimate mining and discourage wildcat schemes and stock jobberies. WILLIAM GARRARD.

The State Prison Under His Man agement.

A correspondent of the Reno Gazette says: A visit to the State Prison Sunday afternoon was enjoyable. Major Garrard has kept that institution up to its former standard of excellence, and has made a most efficient Warden. In this connection it may be well to say that the Republicans must use excellent judgment in selecting a candidate as his successor if they expect to elect him. Warden Garrard will make a candidate as his successor if they expect to elect him. Warden Garrard will make a splendid showing. His administration has been very successful; in fact, nearly perfect. He has used good judgment in looking after the many duties of this im-portant office and deserves great credit. The place is as clean and neat in every department as son water and muscle can department as soap, water and muscle car department as soap, water and muscle can make it. The prisoners are as contented as men deprived of their liberty could well be, and look healthy. The shoe shop has been well conducted, and Foreman Burlington has manufactured nothing but first-class goods, which Warden Garrard has disposed of. They only have about $4,000 in manufactured stock on hand. At the present time there are but 213 convicts, and at the January meeting of the Board of Pardons that number will most likely be reduced some. His appropriation was second of the converse of the second of the converse of th $100,000. Of this amount about $98,000 has been used. The number of convicts for the two years will average probably 125 to 126, about 20 less than under Batterman's administration. Major Garrard expects his party to stand by his official record, and if 8 Republican members think him as good as anybody else and think it for the interest of the State to retain him he will of course accept the trust for another term.

FATAL SHOOTING,

ing farms north of the town of Independence. Some months ago the men had legal trouble about a water right, when Baxter obtained a perpetual injunction, which prevented Robinson taking water from the stream that supplied the two farms. On Christmas Baxter went to Darwin with a wagon load of farm prod-uce. Robinson heard he was in the place, uce. Robinson heard he was in the place, and began hunting him. Robinson was mounted upon a horse, and had been drinking. While riding about Robinson's hat blew off, and he fired several shots at it from a new self-cocking pistol, with which he was armed, putting two bullers through it. Finally a man, of whom he inquired, told Robinson where Baxter's that the young gentleman will recover his health in a few days.

A Promising Town.

The town of Hawthorne, on the Carson & Colorado road, is comparatively lively now. The men engaged in constructing the wagon road to the Mount Cory mine have infused new life into the village, which on Sundays presents quite a breezy aspect. Hawthorne will very likely be a thriving place next season. Some good mines will doubtless be developed in the neighborhood—perhaps as promising as the Mount Cory, which has opened out finely, and already shows a respectable bonanza.

To Cure Corns.

Corns are said to be curable as follows:
Take one-fourth of a cup of strong vinegar, crumb finely into it some bread. Let it stand half an hour, or until it softens into a good poultice. Then apply on retiring at night. In the morning the soreness will be gone, and the corn can be picked out. If the corn is a very obstinate one it may require two or three more applications to effect a cure.

War Ships Going to Honolulu. San Francisco, Jan. 5 .- The United States ship Alaska has been ordered to Honolulu, to be there at the time of Kalan's coronation. The Lockawanna is now at Honolulu, and will remain there, and it is expected that the Wachusetts will be ordered there. The principal naval powers will send war ships to Honolulu. The avowed object is to pay proper courtesy, but it is understood that the real object is to protect foreign interests in case of trouble, which may arise from opposition to the extrawagant arrangements for the coronation. Rumors are circulated of a possible revolution. H. W. Severance, the Hawaiian Consul of this city, places no faith in such rumors, which, he says, are the talk of a lot of disappointed office-seekers. I. D. These figures do not include the lumber ship ments direct from Frazer River, which would swell the total exports for the half year to $1,650,000.
