

COAST ITEMS.

Haymakers are scarce near Reno, Nev. Oregon has 400 Penitentiary prisoners. Bogus greenbacks are circulating at Salem, Or. The squaws at Phoenix, A. T., have begun to wear shoes and stockings. At a fire in Chinatown in Vallejo Sunday a 3-year-old child was burned to death. The water in Tulare Lake is not covering one-half of the land it did several years ago. Over 500 acres of grain were burned on the Floyd ranch, near Milton, Thursday. Santa Clara has an opium den where several young men have been rendered slaves to the drug. The bark Guy C. Goss is overdue at Tacoma. She sailed from Japan with $500,000 worth of teas. The fruit crop in Los Angeles county is light. The grape crop promises to be unusually large. The tree-dweller, missing from Healdsburg, is reported to have passed Ingomar, going south, last Monday. The Fraser river salmon pack is 50 per cent behind the two previous years. The pack is also short on the Columbia river. Ah Quong's wife, who was stolen by highbinders from Vacaville and taken to Woodland; has been judicially restored to him. A fabulous gold strike is reported at Spokane to have been made on the Red river. The ore is reported to be "thick all over with gold." Los Angeles intends to carry out the Sunday-closing ordinance, three licenses were revoked Wednesday, for selling liquor last Sunday. Twenty horses perished in the stable fire at Marysville, Tuesday. One of the employes carelessly dropped a cigarette and originated the fire. Mrs. A. D. Beecham of Puente, Los Angeles county, was bitten by a rattlesnake at Peach Springs, A. T., last Wednesday, and died in a few hours afterward. There is a report that the soda works at Keeler are to change hands and be greatly extended. The industry could readily be made to assume vast proportions. The town of Booneville, in Anderson Valley, twenty-two miles from Ukiah, has been entirely destroyed by a forest fire. Only one building remains. The loss is estimated at $30,000. Ukiah has had a sensation in the confession of three of its young bloods that they tore down a large business sign on the 3d inst. The authorities had been sifting the matter, with the result noted. Sixty tons of hay, several tons of stubble were consumed on the old Hartley ranch, near Merced, Wednesday. The fire started from coals left in the blacksmith's forge. Five carloads of horses, valued at $10,000 were stolen from the ranch of A. L. Davis, in the vicinity of Ritsville, Wash., on or about July 4th. The horses were shipped from Pampa, a small station on the Union Pacific, to Chicago by way of the Chicago and Northwestern Railway. August Drayeur, proprietor of the Delmonico Restaurant at Tacoma, Wash., has been missing three weeks. He had been acting strangely for some time past, and his friends fear that he has wandered away and is lost or has committed suicide in a fit of despondency. Drayeur was well known in San Francisco. Railroad freight agents at Portland are worked up over the fact that the Union Pacific carried forty-eight carloads of wool East which the Northern Pacific had engaged and was to have been turned over at Walla Walla to it. The Union Pacific claims the wool was billed to Boston, and they delivered it there. For the past three days the water at Salton has been about stationary, the inflow being only sufficient to replace the evaporation. A Riverside man has written to Washington, asking that the authorities prevent attempts to stop the overflow of the Colorado river into the desert, but the Interior Department says the courts are the only places where such prohibition could be secured. In the neighborhood of Saticoy, Ventura county, the acreage of lima beans is estimated at 6,050, and the probable yield 700 pounds per acre. The yield will be under the average owing to the lack of fogs since July 1st. Seven hundred acres of walnuts were planted during the past season. From Hueneme, in the same county, the acreage of beans is reported at 30,000, against 22,000 last year. The yield will be one-fourth less. Of walnuts there is a large acreage, but the crop will be a fourth less. Grain will be increased and fruits are plentiful and delicious.

The question is often asked by amateurs "Do bees make wax?" The answer is Yes. Wax is a natural secretion of the honey bees, formed in delicate scales on the under side of the abdomen. While it is formed to some extent in activity, it is formed in largest quantities in repose, while the bees are quietly clustering inside the hive. Wax is used by the bees for comb building. The production of each pound requires in the neighborhood of twenty pounds of honey. Another thing that puzzles beginners is how to render old combs without an extractor. We give a plan recommended by Root in his work on bee culture. It is simply a large honey barrel having a basket made of perforated zinc suspended in it by a hoop that rests on the top of the barrel. A steam pipe throws a strong jet of steam into this basket, and all one has to do is to shovel on the old comb in any quantity. The wax is found in the basket. A Ministerial Conductor. "We have had some curious men on this line," said a Third Avenue car conductor, "but I think about as strange as any was one who had formerly been a Methodist minister. How he came to get on a street car I don't know, but he was a wholesome, manly sort of man, and he did his work well, though he had at first a singular way of doing things. He had been on the front platform one day collecting some fares, and when he got back to the rear platform a passenger told him a man had got on at Houston street and was sitting inside. The conductor stood in the doorway and looked in, but he couldn't locate him. Then he said with perfect calmness, 'Will the gentleman who got on at Houston street please rise?' The gentleman who got on at Houston street stood up like a man and paid his fare."—New York Sun.

They Can't Do It. There are two things a full blooded Indian cannot learn to do—box or wrestle. He is all right as a runner, jumper and rough and tumble, but anything like science puts him out. His way is to bite and kick and pull hair, and he can't be broken in to stand up and take one on the nose.—Detroit Free Press. It is said that Daniel Webster was the first editor of the first college paper published in this country, the initial number appearing at Dartmouth in 1800. These journals now number 190 in the United States, while but 1 is issued in England. The best plan of supplying charcoal to the poultry is to burn corn, not black but nicely browned; give them all that they will eat up clean.
