THE IMPROVED

U.S. Triple Current Separators

ARE THE CLEANEST SKIMMERS ON THE MARKET.

As witness the reports from the State Experiment Stations and users the country over. They are also noted for their simplicity, ease of operation and durability, making them the most desirable separators to use.

What the President Says.

BRATTLEBORO, VT., Feb. 25th, 1899.

It gives me pleasure to say that the dairy machinery bought of your company two years ago, including a No. 5 Improved U. S. Separator and a Pony Power, is working well and giving entire satisfaction.

The Improved U. S. Separator is doing all and even more than was claimed by your agent. The separation is perfect, it runs easily, without noise or friction, and it is easy to manage and care for. Of all the separators placed upon the market, there is none that excels the Improved U. S. in my opinion.

G. W. PIERCE, President Vt. Dairymen's Ass'n.

Satisfied Himself that the U. S. Separator was the Best.

CHESHIRE, MASS., Jan. 25th, 1899.

That separator you sold me some time ago has been causing me quite a little uneasiness, from the fact that some of my neighbors as well as agents for other machines have been trying to make me believe I was losing any quantity of butter fat, and I really began to think so, but to satisfy myself about the matter, I had the butter milk tested, and that is what makes me feel so good. The test failed to show any butter fat, but same test tried on butter milk from other machines said to be superior to mine showed 1 per cent. It quite satisfies me to know that the laugh is on the other fellows. SETH CURTIS.

Works Perfectly in All Ways.

THETFORD, VT., Jan. 23d, 1899.

After one year's use of the Improved U. S. Separator I am glad to say that I am highly pleased with its work. It runs easy, separates clean and does its work perfectly in all ways. I find that I get about one-third more out of my milk than at the creamery, and the skimmed milk is worth very much more to feed. E. C. BOND.

Rev. Albert Hammatt went Thursday to Grafton where he officiated at the funeral of Miss Fannie Fairbrother.

E. R. Ball has rented the vacant store in the Maynard block for the summer and will move his stock there pending the building of the new Suter block.

Benjamin Walters, who has been in the employ of Norwood & Field for several years, has severed his connection with the firm, being obliged on account of poor health to rest from his labors for a time.

Mrs Roswell Huntoon of Alstead and her daughter, Marcella B., mother and sister of H. J. Huntoon of this place, both died at their home Thursday morning, there being a lapse of about two hours between the times of death. Both died from the effects of grip.

The whist party given by the ladies of the Relief Corps in Grand Army hall Wednesday evening was in charge of Mrs. Ida and Miss Nellie A. Brown. There were 12 tables of whist and every arrangement had been made for a pleasant evening, but the confusion naturally attending the fire at Towns hotel considerably disturbed their plans. Another party will be given later when the ladies hope to be able to entertain their guests to better advantage. Over $12 was taken at the bean supper, which was in charge of Mrs. R. J. Stoodley, Mrs. W. L. Mandigo and Mrs. W. H. Taylor.

Universalist Notes.

Rev. Albert Hammatt's theme next Sunday will be "Then."

The pastor's young people's class will meet directly after the morning service.

A kindergarten class will be started in the vestry tomorrow morning. It will convene at the same time as the preaching service at 10 30. This will enable parents having little children, to bring them to the kindergarten, while they attend the morning service in the church. The pastor's wife will have charge of the children's service.

Glue in Sugar Closes a Woman's Mouth.

Such a point has been reached that it seems as if it were impossible to obtain any more pure homemade sugar. James Luney, a Harrodsburg (Ky.) merchant, purchased several pounds of what was represented to him as a pure article the other day. An old lady came in and purchased two cakes. She took about a half one in her mouth and began to chew no more. The merchant and those standing about in the store, seeing she could not open her mouth, became alarmed, thinking the elderly woman had a severe attack of lockjaw. But, to the chagrin of the obliging merchant, he soon discovered he had been imposed upon by some unscrupulous person, who had made the "sugar" of some kind of glue. It was necessary to heat a kettle of water and melt the stuff before the old lady could open her mouth. However, she hadn't forgotten how to use it when the glue had been removed.—Harrodsburg (Ky.) Democrat.

Clark Caught the Counsel.

In a recent issue of the Penny Magazine published in New York is found the following story of the late George M. Clark of Felchville, who was well known throughout the state and especially in Windham county from his long connection with Whitmore & Clark's Minstrels. It is a story which Mr. Clark was very fond of telling himself:

In some cases counsels receive answers to questions which they have no business to put that, if not quite to their liking, are what they justly deserve. The following story of George M. Clark, the celebrated negro minstrel, is a case in point. On one occasion, when being examined as a witness, he was severely interrogated by a lawyer who wished to break down his evidence.

"You are in the negro minstrel business, I believe?" inquired the lawyer.

"Yes sir," was the prompt reply.

"Is not that rather a low calling?" demanded the lawyer.

"I don't know but what it is, sir," replied the minstrel, "but it is so much better than my father's that I am rather proud of it."

The lawyer fell into the trap Clark had laid for him and inquired, "What was your father's calling?"

"He was a lawyer," replied Clark in a tone that sent the whole court into a roar of laughter as the discomfited lawyer subsided into his seat.

ELECTRIC GETS $1000.

Town Would Not Vote to Pay Indefinite Damages—No Reason Why Road Should Not be Built at Once.

The special town meeting which convened in town hall Thursday at 10 A. M. was characterized by sound sense and good judgment. Those present were, with few exceptions, friendly to the construction of the Bellows Falls—Saxtons River electric road, but they were determined to guard safely the best interests of the town. The result was that it was voted that the town pay land damages not to exceed $1000.

George A. Weston as moderator read the warrant and then asked A. N. Swain to occupy the chair while he addressed the house. He stated that while he is attorney for the road, he never forgets that his duties as a citizen are superior to his obligations as a paid attorney. He then read the following resolution:

Resolved—That the public good, or the necessity or convenience of individuals, requires that the highway on Pine and Center streets, lying between Burt Place and West street, in the village of Bellows Falls, be cut down or altered by lowering the same to the extent of 12 feet at the highest point of said highway, and that the same be properly graded.

In the event that the Bellows Falls and Saxtons River street railway company will furnish to the town a good and sufficient agreement, in writing, to do said cutting down and grading free of expense to the town, the selectmen are instructed and directed to immediately thereafter give notice to the owners of any dwelling-house or other building standing upon the line of said highway, where the same is to be altered by lowering the same more than three feet, of a time when the selectmen will examine the premises, hear them upon the question of making such alteration and damages by reason of such alteration, and the selectmen are hereby instructed and directed to order said highway to be altered by lowering the same 12 feet at the highest point of the same, and seeing to it that the same is properly graded. And if the selectmen are of the opinion that such owners will sustain damages by reason of such alteration, they are instructed and directed to determine and award the amount thereof to the owners respectively, taking into account, by way of offset thereto, such special benefit, if any, to such owners as shall accrue to them by reason of such alteration. And the selectmen are instructed and directed to make their orders and awards for damages, and refusals to award damages to such owners, in writing and cause the same to be recorded in the office of the clerk of the town within 10 days from the time of making the same, and at the final determination of the question of damages, to draw their orders on the town treasurer for the payment of the same.

An amendment to Mr. Weston's resolution was offered by Z. H. Allbee later which "Provided that the railway company shall assume to pay any and all land damages exceeding $1000." This clause to be inserted in the second paragraph of the resolution after the words, "to do said cutting down and grading free of expense to the town." In its amended form the resolution passed with few dissenting voices.

This was followed by a statement signed by a majority of the directors.

Mr. Weston then read sections of the Vermont statutes, and entered quite extensively into the law points involved. He stated that the railroad company stood ready to give a bond of any reasonable amount like $10,000 to save the town harmless from any suit or suits which might be brought by any party or parties owning land along the line of the proposed cut on which are not situated a dwelling house or other buildings. E. L. Walker seconded Mr. Weston's resolution. Mr. Weston mildly criticized the selectmen for their report on the recent petition for a suitable grade on Pine street and complimented the newspaper men of the place by admitting that they were able to run their papers without his assistance. He admitted that he and F. A. Bolles, attorney for the bailiffs, got caught, supposing that the bailiffs had the right to grant the four per cent grade stipulated in the franchise. He said he should oppose the road's ever attempting to cross the new bridge at Saxtons River and believed that the directors themselves will consider it cheaper to build a new bridge. The charter, he said, expires in 1902 and no one but the present board of directors has any rights under it. In answer to questions he said the directors were in favor of a ten cent rate between Bellows Falls and Saxtons River, or a 15 cent rate for the round trip. If E. C. Fairbank and Dr. Parker will sell their places for what they paid for them. Mr. Weston will produce purchasers within 48 hours, and the town will be asked to pay no land damages.

C. H. Robb took a stand against the town paying any land damages. Brief remarks were made by Dr. Pettengill, Wallace White and W. W. Barry.

Dr. Campbell offered a substitute for the Weston resolution.

H. D. Ryder said that once on a time he sold the property now owned by E. C. Fairbank for $6500 and that a lot had since been sold off the property for $1000. Dr. Parker wants $3500 for his house. He thought $1000 ought to cover all land damages. The moderator declared the Campbell substitute out of order.

On the motion of H. D. Ryder the school directors were authorized to sell the old school house in district No. 12, known as the Barber district.

Have You Heard Of It?

You may have heard about SCOTT'S EMULSION and have a vague notion that it is cod-liver oil with its bad taste and smell and all its other repulsive features. It is cod-liver oil, the purest and the best in the world, but made so palatable that almost everybody can take it. Nearly all children like it and ask for more.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

looks like cream; it nourishes the wasted body of the baby, child or adult better than cream or any other food in existence. It bears about the same relation to other emulsions that cream does to milk. If you have had any experience with other so-called "just as good" preparations, you will find that this is a fact.

The hypophosphites that are combined with the cod-liver oil give additional value to it because they tone up the nervous system and impart strength to the whole body.

Overdiplomatic.

Mr. Meekton was gazing at his wife with that inane and amiable fixety which comes into a man's face when he has been napping and is ashamed of the fact.

"Leonidas," she said sternly.

"What is it, my dear?" he inquired as he straightened himself up in his sleepy hollow chair.

"What is the matter?"

"Nothing is the matter," he said, growing red in the face. "I haven't intimated that there was anything wrong, have I?"

"No. But you have been behaving rather queerly. Just now you gave a little start and exclaimed, 'Yes, Henrietta, I agree with you perfectly.'"

"Well," answered he, apprehensively, "there isn't anything in that to take exception to, is there?"

"Are you sure you meant it?"

"Every word of it."

"You had given the matter due consideration before you spoke?"

"Certainly. Do you doubt me, Henrietta?"

"Oh, no. But I can't help attaching some significance to the fact that I hadn't uttered a word during the ten minutes previous to your enthusiastic indorsement of my sentiments."

"Well, to tell the truth, Henrietta, I had been asleep, and something awoke me, and I naturally supposed—that is to say, I took it for granted"— And then he gave it up.—Washington Star.

The Sensitive Porgy.

The porgy, common as it is, is a beautiful fish when seen in the water in a favorable light, and it is likewise one of the most sensitive of fishes. In captivity it is easily frightened. It will take alarm from something done by a passing visitor, a thoughtless touching of glass, or something of that sort, and go rushing around until it is exhausted. Sometimes a porgy in a tank may, when frightened, jump out of the water and bump its nose against the wire screen over the tank and be seemingly paralyzed by the shock and rendered unable to swim. In such a condition it will lie upon its back, motionless, except perhaps for a fluttering of its fins, for an hour, and then it may come back all right again and swim about so lively and in such good form that you can't tell then which fish of the lot it was that had bumped its head.

A peculiarity of the porgy is its liability to blindness. Blindness is not uncommon among fishes, but there are perhaps more blind porgies than there are fish of any other kind. There's a saying among fishermen, "As blind as a porgy."—New York Sun.

Not Quite Satisfactory.

A dog belonging to a west side family has the sociable habit of visiting throughout the neighborhood. During a recent wet spell the dog went over to a next door house and "tracked" mud all over the front porch. The woman of the house was indignant. She sent word that the dog was a nuisance. The woman who owned the dog was offended. She resolved to make the complaining neighbor ashamed of herself.

"Mary, you take a bucket of warm water and a brush and go over and scrub Mrs. Brown's front porch," she said to the servant girl. "Make it cleaner than it has been in a year."

The girl did as she was ordered. Mrs. Brown stood in the front door and watched her, not at all abashed.

"That's very nice," she said when Mary had finished. "Now come around and begin on the back steps."

She kept the girl at work for two hours, and now there is a deadly feud.—Chicago Record.

Petrified Water.

That beautiful transparent stone called Tabriz marble, much used in the burial places of Persia and in their grandest edifices, consists of the petrified water of ponds in certain parts of the country. This petrification may be traced from its commencement to its termination. In one part the water is clear, in a second it appears thicker and stagnant, in a third quite black, and in its last stage it is white like frost.

When the operation is complete, a stone thrown on its surface makes no impression, and one may walk over it without wetting one's shoes. The substance thus produced is brittle and transparent, and sometimes richly striped with red, green and copper color. So much is this marble, which may be cut into large slabs, looked upon as a luxury that none but the king, his sons and persons especially privileged are permitted to take it.

In Sympathy.

"But did not the neighbors send you anything after the fire?" inquired the poor commissioner of the widow whose home and belongings had been totally destroyed three nights before by the relentless flames.

"Yes, sir," was the reply. "Mrs. Cleaver, across the street, sent me a beautiful drawn work doily with her card, and Miss Hushington, in the next block, a very pretty cut glass knife and fork rest."—Detroit Free Press.

Proof of Reason.

Free Hairdressing.

Some one said once that you could get almost anything for nothing in New York. This was brought practically to my notice a few days ago, says a writer in the New York Herald, as I was going up town on Third avenue. I passed a barber shop which displayed this strange sign:

"Ladies' Hairdressing Done Free Every Afternoon From 1 to 5 o'Clock."

As it was past 3 I was prompted by curiosity to go in and investigate. I found the "ladies'" hairdressing parlor a neat, cozy place, with a number of chairs standing in front of a long mirror, which covered one side of the room.

I was fortunate enough to find a subject in the chair, who was having her hair dressed. She was a middled aged, thick handed, respectable looking woman, who was going to the inevitable ball. "Doing" her hair was a nice looking little woman, the head of the hairdressing establishment, and gathered around the chair were half a dozen white coated young men, watching the process of the work and occasionally giving assistance. And that is how the apprentice or student in hairdressing gains his experience, and the clever women who are in touch with the trick get their hair dressed for nothing.

The Prig and His Cane.

In the number of The Tatler for Oct. 6, 1709, it is observed that "a cane is part of the dress of a prig" (this, by the way, shows the erroneous notion prevalent that "priggishness" is a modern word) "and always worn upon a button, for fear he should be thought to have an occasion for it or be esteemed really and not genteelly a cripple."

In the number of Nov. 18 a rural squire in town is sketched who is the prototype of one of the pavement nuisances: "His arms naturally swang at an unreasonable distance from his sides, which, with the advantage of a cane that he brandished in a great variety of irregular motions, made it unsafe for any one to walk within several years of him."

And under date of Dec. 5 there is an amusing sketch of "a lively, fresh colored young man" who was among the applicants to Isaac Bickerstaff's court of censorship for license to use "canes, perspective glasses, snuffboxes, orange flower waters and the like ornaments of life." This young man had his cane hanging on his fifth button and was "an Oxford scholar who was just entered at the temple."—Gentleman's Magazine.

George's Teeth.

The American Journal of Dental Science for 1848 states that George Washington lost most of his natural teeth at an early age, relying upon the art and skill of one Mr. John Greenwood, a distinguished dentist of New York, to make good the deficiency.

Washington's artificial teeth were manufactured from the ivory of the tusk of the elephant, the only material at that time employed for the purpose.

New Hampshire News.

A new schedule of wages went into effect yesterday in the cotton mills of the Chinn, Webster and Pembroke companies at Suncook. The schedule is about the same as that which existed before the cut down January, 1898, or an increase of 11 per cent. The three companies employ in all about 1500 hands.

George C. Wilson, who has been for some time past the efficient assistant secretary of the Keene Young Men's Christian association, has been notified by Gen. J. J. Estey, chairman of the board of directors of the Brattleboro association, of the unanimous call to become the general secretary of the Brattleboro association. Mr. Wilson is a graduate of Colgate university, and with his wife has made many warm friends in Keene, who will regret their departure.

Several of the Keene clergymen commented in their pulpits Sunday in a condemnatory manner on the strictures of Gov. Rollins in his Fast day message on the existing state of religious feeling in New Hampshire. The feeling at Keene is that the governor exceeded his warrant in thus upholding his state to the criticism of the world. The status of religious feeling in Cheshire county rural communities is certainly improved, if anything, over that of 10 or more years ago, and there is no town where the usual rites are not performed by the clergy.

HOW IT SPREADS.

PEOPLE ARE TALKING ALL OVER BELLOWS FALLS—THIS REPORT COMES FROM SAXTONS RIVER.

How it spreads!
Can't keep a "good thing" down.
Ever notice, how "good things" are imitated?
Better the article, more imitators.
Fortunately the people have a safe-guard.
Praise can't be imitated.
And true praise takes root and spreads.
Claim is one thing, proof another.
Claim is what the manufacturer says.
Proof is what the people say.
Bellows Falls people say
Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys.
Hundreds of citizens testify to this.
Here is a case in point:

Mr. Rexford Benson of Saxtons River, a harness maker, living near Glynn Bros.' store, says:

"My kidneys commenced to trouble me with sharp pains across my back and hips. If I took cold it always settled in my back and bothered me until my cold was better. After working hard for a few days I felt lame and sore and if I turned around quickly a stitch like pain caught me in the back, which for the time being was very severe. In the fall of 1896 my back was very bad and I had my attention called to Doan's Kidney Pills. I sent and got a box at Andrews' drug store. They were just what I needed. They relieved me in every way and made me better and stronger. I still use them once in a while and from what I know of them I can safely say that Doan's Kidney Pills will do all that is claimed for them."

Doan's Kidney Pills are for sale by all dealers, price 50 cents. Sent by mail on receipt of price by Foster-Milburn, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name Doan's and take no other.
