Over 40 years ago an old German hermit published in a Bavarian pager a curious prophecy. In it he foretold the Austro-Russian and Franco-Prussian wars, the death of Pope Pius and the Turko-Russian debate at arms. He said that Germany would have three Emperors in one year before the end of the century, and indicated the death of two United States Presidents by assassination. All these things have come to pass, says the New York

The shock of these earthter of War suggested that Cervera quakes will raze buildings to the ground in almost every city on the continent, millions of lives and billions of dollars' worth of property will be lost.

> There will be a change in the economic conditions of almost every civilized nation. He foretells the growth of a Democratic spirit in England, which will result in a revolution that will overthrow the present form of government and make the country a Republic. He says the last ruler of England will be the best the country ever had, and the first President of the new nation will be one of the

This feeling will be the outgrowth of the unequal social and economic conditions. He predicts that the 25th President will be the last executive head of the United States. During his administration the discontented masses will break into open rebellion, and the established form of government will be rent asunder, and for a vear or more anarchy will prevail. When order shall be brought out of chaos six Republics will be formed, with capitals at the following cities: San Francisco, Denver, New Orleans, St. Louis, Washington and Boston.

A Pertinent Suggestion.

The Bee. Nugget, of Chehalis, strikes the nail squarely on the head in the following paragraph. Unless the departed is prominent in some shape before his fellow man, grief for his deunobtrusive way.

In such case they felt certain tribute of respect paid to one who that they would be able to secure the nomination of a Democratic candidate for the Presidency who would be acceptable to them. Therefore the result has brought much confusion into the ranks. The returns from Ohio are no less satisfactory to them than those from Nebraska. If McKinley had secured a strong indorsement in Ohio they would feel much confidence in his success next year. But being repudiated by an overwhelming majority of the voters of Ohio it is now plain that he cannot carry that State against Bryan next year.

The official vote of Ohio shows the vote cast for candidates who opposed the President's policy to be a majority of 73.771 of the total vote of the State and that the combined vote of McLean and Jones is 57,692 greater than the Republican vote. In view of the pathetic appeals of Hanna and McKinley for an endorsement, such a verdict in thundertones the unpopularity of the President's policy.

Who Are The Traitors? Colfax Commoner.

The Commoner has no sympathy with men who express the hope that the Filipinos will exterminate our army. Such talk is unpatriotic and treasonable. It has no more sympathy with the men who declare that we must retain possession of the Philippines because they are too valuable to give up. No patriotic man can wish defeat for our troops, no matter what he thinks of the war in which they are engaged. But a man can wish for a change in the policy of the administration toward the Filipinos and yet be a patriot. To call a man a traitor and copperhead because he is opposed to forcing our government upon the Filipinos without their consent is as senseless as to call a man an anarchist and repudiator because he believes in the free coinage of silver.

No patriotic man can advocate the committing of a wrong by the government because there is profit in it any more than he could uphold the robbing of a bank because there is money to be made by the transaction.

The man who contends that his government shall do right is more of a patriot than the man who contends that his government should acquire wealth by fair means or foul.
