Personally we prefer the locust and the locust edible.

About the only place a king still ranks high is in the deck.

Except for 30 or 40 little wars the world is at peace again.

The fellow who complains the most generally does the least good.

Generally a steepjack lives in suspense or he doesn't live at all.

At this rate airmen will soon be flying around the world in 12 hops.

Before the war, propaganda was just one of the words in the dictionary.

And the worst of it is that none of those army worms wears a red chevron.

Frightfulness seems to have transferred itself to certain bathing costumes.

The way they are hopping across the ocean nowadays makes the big pond a little one.

The noise made by the silk worm bears a strong resemblance to that of the goldbug.

The heavy sale of corkscrews is no indication of an oversupply of corkscrews to the homes.

The girl who doesn't get anything in college but a husband doesn't always get much.

As far as known there is only one thing in the world can't be run down—that's a rumor.

Girls are delicate vessels, which require a small fortune every season to keep them in sails.

Yes, the world advances. Literary critics no longer describe the new novels as "gripping."

Walking would be a cheap and beneficial exercise but for the increasing price of shoes.

Soon there will be enough French bodies in this country to keep them from getting lonesome.

Recklessly driven automobiles continue to prove their right to be classified as deadly weapons.

What the very young man doesn't know he thinks he knows, and it answers the same purpose.

True to his low-down nature, the army worm kept in hiding until he could tackle $2.26 wheat.

The "parlor bolsheviks" are just another class of persons who should be doing something useful.

American girls can get husbands without waiting for a war to bring foreign soldiers to their homes.

Don't fail to keep an eye upon the friend who offers you suggestions at the expense of another friend.

Luxury taxes are collected on things whose quality prevents them from being strictly classified as luxuries.

If you would establish a record as a prophet, you might begin "predicting" raises in the prices of various things.

You can't tell the make of an auto by its muffler, but you can tell the stripe of the driver by the way he uses it.

In the case of weather, one can be reasonably certain, always, that it is good for a lot of things and equally bad for a lot of other things.

It is said that contentment is better than riches—but most people are willing to take chances with the riches.

Uncle Sam is willing to lend Europe money to put it on its feet, which is better than having Europe on his hands.

Not having been all shot to pieces, America continues to be more attractive to tourists this summer than in Europe.

If it will make you feel any cooler these hot nights, the coal men announce that coal will be $20 a ton next winter. Well, if it doesn't now, it will later.

A news item says that it's the proper thing for women to wear tall and winter hats right now. If father had known that he might have saved some money last spring.

The Omsk government is as easy to pronounce as any Russian name, and it's much easier to remember the spelling.

A small part of the energy that goes into ending the liquor laws would solve many labor problems if otherwise directed.

One of the major noises that now afflict this country is the wild screams of theoretical bolsheviks at being threatened with deportation to the land of applied bolshevism.

THE TROUBLE'S WITH THE TIME LOCK

SENATE GETS TREATY SLAUGHTER 19 JAPS

PACT WITH FRANCE HANDED IN BY PRESIDENT.

MIKADO'S SOLDIERS ARE SLAIN BY CHINESE.

Almost Identical With One Signed Between Great Britain and France.

Chinese Government Expresses Regret Over Incident—Chinese Losses Not Given.

Washington, July 31.—President Wilson transmitted to the senate the special treaty with France by which the United States pledges itself to come immediately to the aid of that republic in the event of an unprovoked attack by Germany, and asked for its early ratification "along with the treaty with Germany."

Submission of the treaty came after sharp criticism by senate Republicans, who for several days had openly charged on the senate floor that in failing to present the draft of the pact along with the treaty of Versailles, the president had violated one of the articles of the document. The president did not follow the usual custom of presenting the treaty in person.

The Franco-American treaty is almost identical with one signed between Great Britain and France. One difference between the texts, as made public by the French foreign office, to which attention has been called, is that the United States pledges itself to go "immediately" to the assistance of France, while Great Britain "consents" to assist that country.

The president told the senate the purpose of the treaty was to provide assistance for France in case of unprovoked aggression by Germany without waiting for the advice of the council of the League of Nations that such action should be taken, and explained that it was to be an arrangement, "not independent of the League of Nations, but under it."

RIOTING DIES IN FACE OF GUNS

Illinois Militiamen Prove Their Worth as Soldiers; Act Like Veterans.

SEE PLENTY OF EXCITEMENT

Opposed by Angry Mobs Which Outnumbered Them Many Times—Rescue St. Louis Negro Hanged to Telegraph Pole—Negroes Go to Work.

Chicago, Aug. 2.—The militiamen of Illinois have proved their worth as soldiers. Their advent into the flames of the South side has curbed the rioters, but the race feud that has killed 32 men and beaten, killed, stoned, stabbed, and shot more than 300 others, still smolders. Last night one man, colored, was killed; six were hurt.

In the district controlled by the soldiers there is little lawlessness. Outside it there were several outrages committed by white mobs.

One such mob tried to set afire the house at 5432 South LaSalle street, where a negro family resided. Three times the night before it had been fired. The men of the Tenth National Guard found the incendiaries just in time, and chased them. The colored residents ran from the house and took refuge in a hollow square, the edges of which were bristling with bayonets.

The mob, numbering several thousand, hooted and jeered, but they didn't dare to pass that wall of steel. With the coming of reserves the mob was scattered, and orders were issued that no one should be allowed to leave or enter that block—between LaSalle and Wentworth, and Fifty-fifth and Fifty-fourth streets.

The troops were doing excellent work. Adjutant General Dickson said he was proud of them. Their commanders said they acted like veterans. They saved many lives, protected property, and were cool and steady facing angry mobs that outnumbered them many times.

They saw plenty of excitement. They rescued Richard Duide, a negro from St. Louis, who was about to be hanged on a telegraph pole by a white gang at Sixty-third street and Campbell avenue.

The negroes, feeling safe now that the troops had come, went to their work in the stock yards. They were pursued by whites, beaten, knocked down, kicked. Then came the militiamen with bayonets fixed. The rioters drew back, snarling and cursing, but the bayonets didn't waver.
