ALLEGED BOGUS CHECKS

Samuel D. Nesmith's Case to Be Heard Tomorrow.

The Police Say That the Defendant's Operations Have Been Extensive. An Investigation of His Record by the Local Detectives-His Relations With the Navy Department.

Samuel D. Nesmith, the local representative of the Crocker-Wheeler Electric Company, of New York, who was arrested here by Detectives Parham and Gallaher, charged with false pretences, will be arraigned in the Police Court tomorrow morning to explain the circumstances surrounding the making and cashing of several checks for varying amounts, wherein it is alleged a deposit of only a few cents was posted to the credit of the man at the bank with which he was transacting business. Since the arrest Nesmith, on the complaint of Charles McDevitt, the doxectives have been investigating the couduct of the prisoner, with the result that it now necessary that he had been doing an extensive and successful check-cashing

The detectives have now located tine checks made and cashed by Nesmith, all of which, it is said, were turned down at the bank, because of insufficient funds to meet them. Of the nine checks located, eight are in the hands of Detectives Par-ham and Gallaher and one will be turned over to them this evening. Still other checks are expected to be given into the care at the detectives tomorrow.

Among the checks now in the hands of the detectives, and which Nesmith is accused of untering under false pretences, are one for $25, cashed by Thomas Le Cuyer, of the Owen House; one for $56, cashed by Alexander Seeley, of the Stratford, and two for $20 and $17.50, respectively, cashed by Mr. Graham, of the National Electrical Supply Company. Another check cashed by Easton & Rupp, and one cashed by Mr. pperman, of the Chesapeake and Potomac elephone Company, are also in the hands

THE CASE OF CONSUL BEDLOE. His Connection With the Steamer

Abbey Explained. Edwin B. Hay, counsel for W. F. Sylester, owner of the steamer Abbey, which was selzed as a fillbuster carrying arms and ammunition to the Filipino insurgents, ha made a statement in defence of Dr. Edward Bedice, United States Consul at Canton China, against whom charges were made in connection with the grant of an American registry to the Abbey

"Sylvester," he said, "sold only one par cel of arms and ammunition to the Filipinos, and that parcel was sold at a time when the same was equivalent to assisting the United States forces, the whole trans-and consent of the United States officials.

"On or about June 5, 1898, Sylvester entered into a contract with the Filipinos to sell and deliver 5,000 Mauser rifles, 500,000 rounds of ammunition and two Maxim machine guns, the price to include cost of a steamer, delivery, etc. The British steam-er Pasig was purchased, the merchandise secured and details arranged for the expedition, but as the goods were being placed aboard the steamer the British Government revoked the permit.

"The Pasig was changed from a British register to an American register, under the name of the Abbay, in the United States consulate of Canton, then under charge of Dr. Bedlos. It was a purely routine pro-ceeding and any other consular officer in Dr. Bedloe's place must have acted as he

"The Abbey salled from Canton about August 26. Sylvester left Hongkong on September 3 and arrived at Manila on September 6. All stopped at Manila for over a month, living at the principal hotel and associating with army and navy officers.

The Manila newspapers had full accounts of the landing of the Abbey's cargo at Batangas, so that the fact of the arms and ammunition being furnished to the Filipines was in possession of the army and naval authorities and yet not a word was Sylvester, after arranging for the final settlement and transfer of the steamer, left Manila near the end of September with all the ship's papers. Upon arriving at Hongkong be learned that the Abbey had been seized. A telegram had been sent to Admiral Dewey, stating that the steamer Abbey had left Macao about September 23 with a second expedition. There was not the slightest foundation for this report. It was actuated by malice on the part of certain enemies Sylvester had made in the competition for the Filipino business.

There is absolutely nothing wrong in this matter of the Abbey, so far as Consul Bedice is concerned. His connection with the case was purely incidental and nothing whatever could have resulted from it in the slightest way detrimental to the United States Government."

COST OF MOTOR OPERATIONS.

Views of an English Authority o Automobile Expenses.

Marshall Halstead, Consul at Birming ham, England, sends to the State Department an interesting and valuable statement by E. H. Bayley, regarding the queschinery and return to the ship from which tion of cost of operating heavy motor vehicles, which, he says, are to replace horsedrawn wagons in the near future. Mr. Baylcy, the consul says, is entitled to speak with some amount of authority, as he was chairman of the London Road Car Company, and now, in addition to employing 1.000 or so horses in his own business, is chairman of the Daimler Motor Company, and takes a keen interest in all that tends to lessen the cost of heavy traffic. "Of course," he said, "no matter how excellent motor driven vehicles may be, no one would look at them seriously if their less were more expensive than that of use were more expensive than that of horses. That is exactly where the ultimate success of motor vehicles lies, for the tests by the Automobile Club at Richmond and re recently those held by the Liverpool Self-Propelled Traffic Association have shown that not only can motors do general carrying work more quickly and more ef-ficiently than horses, but-most telling int of all-do it at less than one seventh

"For instance we have a car which has been proved, under the tests already men-tioned, to be capable of carrying a load of three tons twelve hundred miles at a cost for fuel which works out a half penny per ton per mile. The total up-keep of such a vehicle when all expenses for working. wages, fuel repairs, insurance, etc., are taken into consideration comes to a sum of $1,980.73 and this, with a carrying capacity for 260 working days gives un average cost of a fraction under 3 half pence (3 cents) per net ton per mile. When that is comence teaches me that it varies from 18 c seen what a future these vehicles have.

A REPORT FROM SHAFTER

Condition of the Troops in the Presidio Camp.

Operations in the Departments of California and Columbia-Excellent Discipline-The Desire of Recruits to Perfect Themselves as Marksmen-The Shipment of Stores

The annual report of Major Gen. William R. Shafter as Commanding General of the Department of California and Department of Columbia, has been received at the War Department. Regarding the Department of California, General Shafter reports;

"The discipline of the troops is excellent and officers and men have been zealous in perfecting themselves in their profession. The small number of troops in the Department of California and Oregon require but very little attention. But the bulk of operations in this department pertains entirely to the transmission of stores and the shipment of men to the Philippines. A very large camp of recruits has been established at the Presidio, at one time numbering over four thousand men."

General Shafter recommends that so long as any large bodies of troops remain in the Philippines the recruiting camp be continued at the Presidio and that as a re sult troops be congregated there and drill-ed for at least three months. He says there is every facility there for properly instructing and caring for them.

Capt. Robert H. Noble, inspector of small arms practice, says in his report sent by General Shafter that the target range at the Presidio is not well adapted to the purpose for which it is intended, except for firing at fixed ranges and at short distances. No defective cartridges short distances. No defective cartridges were found among those manufactured by the ordnance department. Captain Noble explains that the great importance of the instruction of all recruits has been fully appreciated and no recruit has been sent away until he had had actual practice on the range. Since May 12, 156,000 rounds of ammunition have been fired. For the lack of time principally, and the fact that the range is not suitable for skirm. that the range is not suitable for skirmishing, no practice in akirmishing is given. He reports the result of practice unusually good and says that it is not unusual for twenty-five targets to be made out of twenty-five shots. One man the second day on the range made ninety-seven out General Shafter adds to this report by "The men have shown a great desire to perfect themselves as marksmen and have shown great skill in the use of their

As to the recruiting camp, he remarks "There can be no doubt of the wisdom of establishing this camp. It has enabled the medical department to weed out men unsuited for service. This course has been found a great saving to the Government, for if they had been permitted to go to Manila they would have broken down

In his report on the Department of Co-lumbia, General Shafter calls attention to the fact that there are as yet no guns mounted on Puget Sound. He says: "Three 10-inch and two 12-inch barbette carriages are mounted at Marrowstone Point and the guns are on hand. Sixteen mortar carriages mounted, and four 10-inch disap-pearing carriages not mounted, are at Ad-miralty Head. I have recommended that a hattery of the Third Artillery be sent from the Department of California to care for the guns at Marrowstone Point and Ad-miralty Head. The work of the engineers at Admiralty Head and Point Wilson is also nearly co mpleted, except the mounting

GERMANY IN SOUTH AFRICA.

Has Large Interests, Report Say, In the Transvanl.

According to information received by the State Department from United States Consul Monaghon, from Chemnitz, the German Empire has large interests in the Transvaal. He writes as follows: "This empire's industrial interests in the Transvaul are great. In the ten years 1889 to 1898, Germany imported 3,000,000 marks ($714,-600 worth) of merchandise from the Transvaal, and exported 60,000,000 marks ($14. 280,000. The chief articles of export for 1897 and 1898, were: Cyankalium, glycerin (cleaned), igniting matches, rough ironware, fine ironware, railroad parts, plates, sieepers (iron), etc., iron ralls, rallroad ax-les and wheels, castiron machines, wroughtiron machines, locomotives and locomobiles, railroad wagons, cotton cloths.

TRADE WITH NEW CALEDONIA. Gratifying Reports From Commercial Agent Wolf.

Paul Eugene Wolf, commercial agent at Noumea, writes the State Department as follows regarding the United States trade with New Caldonia:

"I am glad to report that the principal obstacle to United States trade with this district, viz., the lack of direct communication, is about to be removed. In a letter dated June 14, 1899, Messra. Macondray & Co., merchants of San Francisco, inform ne that they are about to send a sailing vessel of 1,000 tons register every three months direct to Noumea, which they hopto keep employed regularly in the trade. This line of vessels is to supply this colory mainly with food products from California, which are to be consigned to an fornia, which are to be consigned to an American commission house at Noumea. Return cargoes of minerals, copra, coffee, vanilla, pearl shell, beche de mer, and other commodities will be furnished. "As the commerce of New Caledonia, which for the past year has been growing very rapidly, is daily assuming much larg-er proportions, this line, in addition to the regular monthly steamship service referred to in my report of the 24th of June last, between San Francisco, and Saigon, via Honolulu, Tahiti, Noumea, and Manila, is certain to aid largely the development of trade between this colony and the Wes-Co., of San Francisco, for the famous nick-el mines at Thio, east coast of New Cale-donia, is expected." "Hechts' Greater Stores."

ROANOKE, Va., Oct. 13.-An attempt was made to assault two girls, aged eleven and twelve years, respectively, by a white man yesterday. One of the children was the daughter of W. H. Nelson, and the other little Emma Cheatham, daughter of C. A. Cheatham.

A. L. Marshall, a Roanoke contractor, who was riding a wheel, discovered the man. He jumped off his wheel a few feet distant. The man deliberately fired a shot at Marshall, painfully wounding him in the thigh. He then made his escape. The police were notified and from the de

A search was instituted and it was learned that Garrison had drawn his money at the bridge a few minutes after the assaults had been made, and the next beard from him was that he was seen going north along the Shenandoah Railroad, six miles distant, before sundown.

John W. and R. L. Cheatham boarded a freight train and went in pursuit. Garri-son was discovered on the train at Lithia, and in order to be sure of their man the train was stopped and the brakeman passed over the cars and flashed his lantern in the man's face, while J. W. Cheat-ham looked on.

Upon ascertaining that there was no mistake in his identity Cheatham fired at him as he sat between the coal cars. Garrison rolled off on the other side of the train and made for the woods. He left a bloody trail behind, but succeeded i making his escape. Every effort is being made to capture him.

WASPS INVADE A RAILWAY CAR Passengers Put to Flight by an Insect Raid.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 16 .- The morning accommodation train from New Haven, due at Stamford at 9:45 o'clock, was held up Friday by a swarm of wasps. Soon after the train left Bridgeport the assengers in one of the coaches, that had begun to get rather warm, noticed that there were many big black wasps flying about. As the train proceeded and the car became warmer the wasps increased in number. The passengers began an inves-tigation, and found that the wasps came out of some ironwork about a chandeller Faster and faster the wasps appeared, and soon began to attack the passengers, who had to dodge right and left to avoid the insects. Finally the wasps seemed to become angry and began to sting. Women rushed into the smoker to get rid of them, and the men threw the doors and windows

By the time the train reached Stamford by the time the train reaches standing the car was described. There it was side-tracked, and the wasps were left in full control. It is supposed that the insects got into the car while it was on a siding and built a nest in the ironwork about the ven-tilators. When the steam heat was turned on they were roused up and came out.
