MEETING HELD LAST NIGHT.

The Pittsburg end of what promises to become a very lively undertakers' fraces ex- Flannery. ploded and went off with a loud report last night. The Johnstown end of the affair consisted, if the reports that came to the city vesterday are true, in a conflict of authority between Mr. W. H. Devore and Mr.

J. J. Flannery, of Pittsburg. Mr. Devore claimed to be authorized by the State Board

delegated by the State Board of Health to to manage the work of the undertakers and exhibited a postal card signed by the Chairman of the board, requesting him to direct these matters. Mr. Flannery claimed to be autorial and the state Board of Health to take charge of the dead. That is true, The Pittsburg undertakers were delegated to go to Johnstown to bury these bodies. We went there, and at once threw off our coats and went to work. Not so with Mr. Devore, however; he acted mainly as a continuous complities of the dead. matters. Mr. Flannery claimed to be authorized by the Chamber of Commerce Committee, and to have been elected by the Pittsburg undertakers as the undertaker-incharge. There was a quarrel between the two, the lie was given and, it is said, a knowledge of the manuer in some states to receive an who called at the morgue, but did not work as the others did. I want to say that there was utterly no feeling in the matter of the men coming home. It is well known that Saturday and Sunday are big days with undertakers and liveryknock-down fight narrowly prevented. Mr.

Flannery came to Pittsburg Friday night, bringing 30 or 40 undertakers with him. Mr. Devore stated to newspaper correspondents that the trouble arose over the men under Flannery getting drunk, and referred apparently to a great for an ambalming. especially to an agent for an embalming company.

The Fight in Pittsburg. The undertakers' world in Pittsburg was in a furor yesterday. Mr. Flannery was on deck with the ferce that he had brought recognized as such. Chairman McCreery, back with him. Mr. H. C. Tarr, agent for of the Citizens' Relief Committee, said that the embaiming company, whom Mr. Devore had referred to without, however, mentioning his name, was also on hand. He had worked hard among the Johnstown suf-ferers, and the wrong that he had suffered from Mr. Devore in being pilloried in the public press as a drunkard was enlarged upon. It was stated by Mr. Flannery and othes that Mr. Devore had lived like a gentleman on Prospect Hill, while the other undertakers stept on the floor of the morgue, that Mr. Devore had worked upon the State Board to get the credentials, had worked upon the correspondents to get among the Johnstown sufferers to get busi-ness, and had forwarded bodies to his undertaking rooms in Pittsburg, taking pay for his work and the work of his assistants. By noon excitement had been raised to nearly fever heat, and when the evening papers came out with Mr. Devore's charges of drunkeriness, it fairly knew no bounds, it builed over.

Something had to be done. A meeting of undertakers was called at Mr. Flannery's

Sitting With Closed Doors Thirty or more responded. They ad-fourned at once to somewhere else. The reparters were told that they would be given whatever it would be thought best for them to print after the meeting was over.
The clerk in Mr. Flannery's office refused to tell even where the meeting was held. The DISPATCH was unsatisfied with promise of post mortem information. He went even to the camp of the enemy—the office of Mr. W. H. Devore. By industrious use of the telephone there he located the indignation meeting, strange to say, at the office of Mr. Devore's own son, Mr. E. L. Devote, on Sixth avenue. There he betook himself, and there he was denied admission. He was told that the meeting was simply to arrange for further work in Johnstown and to pass resolu-tions, retuting the charges of drunkenness made in the evening papers. They did pass such resolutions and they did arrange for further work in Johnstown, but the real in-terest of the meeting centered in the storm of indignation against Mr. W. H. Devore.

His Son Displeased With Him. Mr. E. L. Devore did not wish to mention his father's name in any resolutions of in-dignation, but he did feel that if his father and said what the papers had represented him as saying, he ought to be censured by the undertakers. On his part he was ready to de what Mr. Flannery thought best. Mr. Flannery had done much, sacrificed much and ought not now to be set carelessly one Accordingly Mr. Flannery was made Chairman of the meeting. As a starter he read the following call: Mr. J. J. Flannery, Chaleman:

As you have had charge of matters pertaining to the undertaking, please confer through us with Mr. J. E. Scott, and also use your own discretion and see that the dead are properly cared for.

meeting. It was to consider and act upon this that they were assembled. Having thus established his position, Mr. Flannery proceeded to show what the position of Mr. W. H. Devore was He read in full extents from the evening papers in which Mr. Devore had referred to his men as being under the influence of liquor. He stated what Mr. Devere's conduct had been in his opinion in this Johnstown matter, describ-ing it substantially as above given-Mr. F. elected secretary of the evening, supported Mr. Flannery in emphatic terms. The position of Mr. Devore's own son was in itself a power of strength to the Flannery faction. Some, however, counseled moderation, and partly on this account and partly at the partly on this account and partly at the migh of Mr. E. L. Devere, no names were used in the resolutions passed.

Mr. H. C. Tarr, the embalming agent, Mr. Devere, had, it was supposed, reserved to in such uncomplimentary terms, stated how grossly he had been misrepresented, and many who had been with him at Johnstown supported him in his statements as to his sobriety and industry. He was really no incompliance he factor in the matter-man no inconsiderable factor in the matter—one spoke and all agreed that the conduct of W. H. Devore had been at least unprofessional. Out of about 44 undertakers in Pittsburg it was claimed that there were 30 at the meeting, and that the action of the meeting practically represented the action of Pittaburg undertakers outside of Mr. De-

As the Chairman, Mr. Flannery, put it, the action of the meeting was the action of the Funeral Directors Relief Association of Pittsburg, that this association comprised every firm of undertakers in the city except Mr. W. H. Devore. As he represented it, Mr. Devore practically stood alone.

After a very general and desultory debate, a which condemnation of Mr. W. H. De-ore seemed to be the lending feature, the 'lowing resolution was passed:

which the funeral directors conducted themselves in Johnstown, and especially one Eastern gentleman who came here and worked and labored very hard; and.

Whoreas, This is doing the funeral directors a great injustice and is highly insulting to certain members, the Eastern gentlemen, and in fact the entire profession, be it therefore.

Resolved, That we here assembled deny all such statements as great untruths, and hereby censure and condemn the action as very unprofessional and not worthy of our notice.

F. C. EKINHAUR, Chairman.

Besides passing this resolution, the meeting decided upon action for the future. It would not do to let the work drop because of Mr. Devore's assumption of authority. Under the call of Mr. McCreery, the work must be carried on, and carried on under the must be carried on, and carried on under the management of Mr. Flannery and irrespective of the commands or interference of W. H. Devore. Men must be sent back to Johnstown at once.

These men must go under Mr. Flannery's direction and to take care of the dead, Mr. Flannery stated that it would be impossible Fiannery stated that it would be impossible for him to go himself at once, but the men could act under his direction. There were at once many volunteers. The following is a list of the men who will return to their work in the Johnstown's morgue to day.

These men will go with instructions to act independently of Mr. Devore, to pay no attention to his orders and to consider themselves under the direction of the Chamber selves under the direction of the Chamber of Commerce Relief Committee and of Mr.

Mr. Plannery's Statement.

After the adjournment Chairman James J. Flannery, in speaking to a DISPATCH reporter, said: "The statement as made by Devore that I induced the men to come he could have in saying so, as it is not true. It is true that we met in Devore's office, because there was not enough room in my office to accommodate the men. I was elected Chairman of the Funeral Directors' he did not recognize anyone but me as the head of the delegation in the ordering of supplies.

"This trouble will by no means have the effect of keeping the men back. We are going back there to work, and are as anxious to go ahead and do good as we were before this matter came up. Let Devore attend to his business and we will look out for ours. He made the same statement before we left. I went to him and asked him if he said it, and replied that some one had told him so,

THE RAILROADS.

Through Trains Over Both the Pennsylvania and Baltimore and Ohio Reads Making Good Time-Freight

Being Shipped. The Pennsylvania Railroad Company is having considerable trouble with the army of sightseers who persist in going to Johnstown. No matter how heroic are the measures taken to keep such people out, there seems to be always somebody who, on some excuse or another, can get the proper passes, which the company has bound itself to accept. The crowds of such people who distributed themselves over the ruined city last Sunday were enough to fill two good-sized towns. A vast number of good-sized towns. A value them, too, were not of the best class and everything was in an upset condition. Yesterday, however, the company decided that this would not be repeated, and decided to run no train, special or otherwise, eas of Bolivar under any circumstances. This order holds good all day to-day, and no one who has not a horse and wagen to meet him can get to Johnstown without walking exactly 19.7 miles. In speaking of the arrangement just prior to the issuance of the order, Chairman McCreery, of the Citizens Committee, said McCreery, of the Citizens Committee, said McCreery, of the Citizens Committee, said
We are endeavoring to have the Pennsylvania Railroad Company refuse to run any train to Johnstown Sunday, and we rather think that they will respect our wishes in the matter.
But even if they do run a train I will not sign a pass to be used Sunday unless the board reverses its action, as they have already decided not to allow any passes to be issued for Johnstown Sunday. Last Sunday the town was crowded with loafers, and we are determined to prevent that if we possibly can. The Sheriff of Westmoreland county has declared that he will board the train when it reaches his ballwick, and any man who has not a pass h will compel him to leave the train. Regular Trains to the East. The Pennsylvania Railroad Company is running their two regular trains to the East via the Allegheny Valley and Philadelphia and Eric, as announced in THE DISPATCH of vesterday. The time con-sumed is not as long as was at first anticiconnections. The freight traffic is getting in a much better shape also, and it is thought that in a few days the blockade will be removed entirely. Nine carloads of provisions were sent up for the relief of the sufferers at 1 o'clock yesterday.

The traffic on the West Penn will be divided. Mr. Wilson, the Assistant Superintendent, says that 375 cars of east-bound freight would be sent East over Allegheny Valley road every day from Pittsburg to Red Bank, where the low grade road would be reached, instead of taking it up on the West Penn from here to Allegheny function. The coke trade and heavy freight from east of the Southwest Junction would go east to the Belivar bridge, come down the West Penn through Blairsville to the Allegheny Junction above Freeport, then up to the Allegheny Valley to Red Bank and over the low grade dithe P. R. K. in running around by the Allegheny Valley and Drittwood agrees not to sell passenger tickets on that part of the road covered by the Allegheny Valley Railroad, and thus avoid a species of rivalry in the traffic.

Over the Other Road. Eight carloads of provisions and clothing for the Johnstown sufferers were sent to that city over the Baltimore and Ohio yesterday. The Baltimore and Ohio still continues to handle nearly all the perishable freight and live stock that ordinarily goes over the Pennsylvania Bailroad. The through trains to the East over this road are not making such bad time as night have been expected, considering the disagreeable condition of the roads. The first section of the through train was only three hours late yesterday, while that of the second section was a triffe over four hours behind.

Yesterday afternoon the Baltimore and Ohio people put on an extra through train for Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York. This was found to be an Devore practically stood alone.

STRICTER RULES MADE.

The Bureau of Information Limited in Giving Out News-Refugees Still Arriving and Being Given Assistance-Seme Notable Cases Among the Arrivals-List of Persons Cared For.

The number of refugees arriving at the Second Presbyterian Church is increasing daily, and the ladies who have control of this mammoth work of humanity are growing more and more in carnest with their labor of love.

Among the arrivals yesterday there was one quite distinguished one on the train. It was the Hon. David McLaughlin, a prominent practicing lawyer of Johnstown, and an ex-member of the State Legislature. Mr. McLaughlin was accompanied by his wile, son, daughter and his niece. They arrived on the Baltimore and Ohio train once sent. which got in at 3 o'clock in the morning. After being served with a warm supper at the church, Mr. McLaughlin arranged for quarters for his family in this city, and left resterday for Johnstown, where he will assist in the mighty work of rebuilding the

A remarkable incident occurred at the table of the Bureau of Information on Fri-day evening. A well-dressed man stepped up to Mrs. Dr. Easton, the efficient head of the bureau, and the following dialogue en-

"I want to inquire for a friend." A Trife Muddled.

"Yes, sir," responded Mrs. Easton, "what is the name?"
"McCoy," answered the fellow.

Don't you know his first name?" "What was his business?" "I don't know."
"Where did he live?"

"I don't know."

"Do you want us to institute inquiries for "Yes; put him down as McCoy, an agent. He must be surely there; he is well "Where shall I send word if we hear anything?"

"Oh, send it to C. R. Cutter, 642 Penn avenue, or anywhere in that neighborhood; they all know me."

The fellow then turned on his heel and walked away. As he left, a gentleman who had overheard the convention and the had overheard the conversation said: "I know that man. He is McCoy himself, the know that man. He is McCoy himself, the noted gambler, and one of the smartest men in the State, but I can't imagine what his idea is in having himself described as among the missing."

The two Johnstown policemen, David and George Hedrick, who have been persistently reported as dead, are now known positively to be alive and well. A triend of theirs called at the church yesterday and informed the committee that he had just left them in Allegheny. Allegheny.

No Sunday School: The regular members of the church have been somewhat disturbed during the week as to what disposition would be made of the work in order that the church would be ready for the divine service to-day. Finally, after considering the matter in all its phases, it was decided to leave the committee in undisputed possession of the lower part of the building, and to abandon the Sunday school exercises for the day. In explaining the matter to DISPATCH reporter yesterday, Rev. Dr. Sutherland, the pastor of the church, said that the sufferers would be admitted to the schoolroom through the side entrance. A sufficient number of the ladies, he said, would be admitted also, but absolutely no

The committee will arrange a list o names, which will be handed to the police man in charge, and parties calling there who cannot answer to their names will not e admitted. For the services Dr. Sutherland has arranged two special sermons. The morning sermon will treat of the Johns-town disaster, and in the evening he will speak to the Union Veteran Legion, which organization will attend the church in a body. Any of the sufferers who may care to attend the services will be entirely wel-

Her Renson Dethroned.

On the hospital train which arrived early yesterday morning there was among the passengers a woman whose condition was pitiable. She had lost all her relatives and her home had been carried away, but at first she did not seem to comprehend her loss, and went to work with a vim nursing loss, and went to work with a vim nursing and caring for the siek and injured. At last the strain proved too much for her, and she succumbed. Her reason was dethroned, and she became violently insane. She was brought to this city in charge of Miss Dr. Bennet, chief of the violent ward at the State Asylum in Norristown. Up to a late hour last night her name could not be ascertained.

Another of the passengers was Thomas Ryan, a laborer employed at Johnstown by Booth & Flinn. Yesterday he fell from a roof and landed on some sharp-pointed lumber and sustained severe internal injuries, from which it is said his recovery is extremely doubtful. He resides on Penn avenue above Thirty-first street.

There was quite a pathetic scene at the church during the afterneon. A lady visited the rooms scarching for her sister, Mrs. Bearshanks, who resided at 71 Main street, Johnstown. The ladles of the committee could give her ne information, as such a person had not been recognized as having been assisted. The lady was in a great state of excitement, and was about to start away when who should she run right into but her missing sister, who was coming into the church. The sisters clasped each other about the neck and tears of thanks were shed, and a number of the ladies present shed, and a number of the ladies present also found instant use for their handker-

From there he walked to Nineveh and purchased a beat from Mr. Regers, whose pleasure resort is a complete ruin. The small from bridge, and also the bridge across the river and the dam are all gone. Mr. Will found one man below Nineveh in some wreck and assisted to get others out from there to Blairsville. The last body found on his trip was that of a young woman about 23 years of age with black hair. From appearances she had been a beautiful woman, but when found the corpse was so badly discolored that it would have been a task for her relatives to identify it.

On Thursday Mr. Will took dinner with Sheriff Mack, of Indiana county, on the Daniel Pershing farm. The Sheriff had about 300 men at work along the river, who are making great speed. The drift on the Pershing farm was one mile long and would average 60 feet wide and 12 feet high. Two bodies were found on this farm Thursday forenoon, making 49 in all at that place. The Sheriff amen were clearing the drift from the Ligett farm slace.

In shooting the rapids at Tunnelton Mr. Will partly wrecked his second boat, but repaired it sufficiently to make the trip to this city.

He took 30 persons from the debris, all Henry C. Smith, of Daytou, O., called at the church vesterday to try and find some trace of his 5-year-old daughter. Mr. Smith states that his wife and child were on the ill-fated train, and that while at Johnstown he saw and recognized the remains of his wife, but could not find any trace of his child, and thinks that she may be living. He leit with Mra Campbell, the Chairman, a piece of cloth of the same material that was in the dress the child wore.

Among the refugees yesterday was a Lutheran minister, who was also professor of German in the Johnstown schools. His entire family, except one child, had been lost. His wish was to be sent to some quiet home, and for the ladies to pray for him that his reason may not be disturbed.

Bureau of information Stopped.

The scenes about the church are daily becoming more interesting, and were it not for the fact that there is just a trifle too much ceremony attendant upon gaining an interview with some of the leading lights of this most noble undertaking, the work would seem to go along smoothly. By direction of the Executive Committee the Bureau of Information has been bereft of a most important portion of its work. Hitherto the bureau supplied nearly all the information to the reporters, but this bas been stopped, and as the Executive Committee desire to direct what shall be published, the inchless reporter is now compelled to struggle through a hall-way crowded with women, and await his opportunity to gain an audience with the men. Bureau of Information Stopped. Will partly wrecked his second beat, but repaired it sufficiently to make the trip to this city.

He took 30 persons from the debris, all living, with a boat when the flood was at its height. Among those he rescued was a Mr. Miller from Morrellville, a Mr. Sarlouis from Cambria City, and two men from Maryland named Jennings, who had stopped off in Johnstown to see the factories and steel works. He would have saved more, but the people were as paralyzed with fear that they were airaid to come over the drift to the boat when taken in to them.

How Rev. Mesers, Bragdon and Hicks Falfiled It-They Find the Ber. A. P. Diller and His Family-The Baby Boy Tightly Clasped, The Rev. Charles A. Bragdon and Rev.

Mr. Hicks were appointed a committee by Bishop Whitehead to search for the body of the rector of the Episcopal church at Johnstown, and, assisted by C. C. Craft and a gang of Booth & Flinn's men, their efforts were crowned by success. The Rev. A. P. Diller lived with his family opposite the Protestant Episcopal Church building on Locust street, in a substantial brick building. Not a vestige of either remained but the cornerstone of the church.

The first trace of the church was found down near the Point, by the pew cushions and the pipes of the organ, prayer books and other volumes of Mr. Diller's library, which was in a small building attached to

A Remarkable Direction.

From the location of the wreck, the church building and others in a similar location, were swept back toward Kernsville. On Thursday morning, while searching among the books for the perish register, Mr. Hamilton, a neighbor of Mr. Diller's, was found, who had escaped on the roof of his house. He showed the searchers the location of his roof, and by his descriptions Mr. Diller's now making that some general action be taken to solid drift, purt of which was a pile of hourds from a distant lumber yard.

A gang of laborers was at once summoned # and the search began in earnest. Assisted by Mr. Breunciser, who was his next door neighbor, articles of household goods were taken out and identified. On Friday morning his sideboard, containing the lamily silver, was found and passed over to his brother, Mr. S. B. Diller, of Lancaster, who had arrived and joined the party of searchers.

A Pathetic Discovery.

A Pathetic Discovery.

At 2 o'clock on Friday the roof was raised and the bodies were found. First, tola Dinant, an adopted child, aged 13; then Mr. Diller with his baby boy under his arm, and lastly his wife, lying close by his side. The bricks sustaining the heavy slate roof having been battered down by the crush, fell upon the doomed family, gathered in the highest room for eafety. They were thrown upon their faces, and death, or at least unconaciousness, must have been immediate. Mr. Diller's heavy hunting case watch, which must have run a few minutes after the water reached it, recorded 4:38 o'clock.

The bodies were taken charge of by the Rev. Mr. Brapdon, embalmed, and buried temporarily in the presence of the tew members of his afflicted congregation who could be notified. The notice was not extended, as all people here rely mostly upon THE DISPATCH for news.

TO THE DEPARTMENT.

The County G. A. R. Rellef Fund to be Son to Higher Authorities. The G. A. R. Relief Committee of Alleniston reported, as treasurer of the fund, that $1,351 21 had been received, and $250 pledged besides. The following amounts were received since the last statement published: Ladies' Auxiliary of Post 88, $50; J. R. Hutchinson, of Post 88, $25; Post 151, $100; Colonel J. W. Patterson Circle, Woman's Relief Corps No. 1, $50; H. B. Hays Camp, Sons of Veterans, $25; Post 236, $25; W. J. Ritchey, $25; Thomas Fawcett, $5; Mary E. Dugan, Hoboken, Pa. $1

The committee decided that, as the Department Commander had issued a call for contributions from all the G. A. R. posts in the State, and that department officers will probably provide for distributing the funds, the Allegheny county fund will be turned over to the department after all the posts bave reported, and no disbursement of the local fund will be made until that time.

Great Day of Fun at Rock Point Yesterday

BY THE SONS OF VULCAN

Gennd Time - Baseball and Walking Matches Is the Sport-A Pleasant Time on the Beaver.

The picnic of the members of the Amalgamated Association at Rock Point yesterday was another red letter day in the his-tory of the sons of Vulcan, and the enjoyments incidental to the grand outing were truly appreciated by all who were there.

It was 8 o'clock yesterday morning when the delegates who had been so busily engaged at the convention assembled again at the Central Turner Hall, on Forbes street. In anticipation of the great day before them all, their faces were wreathed in smiles, and gheny county met yesterday afternoon in all, their faces were wreathed in smiles, and Treasurer Denniston's office. Major Denjokes passed to and iro among the stalwart iron men. At last the Select Knights' Band was placed in order, and under the merry music of "Marching Through Georgia," the column went in the direction of the Union depot, bound for Rock Point.

The Number Increases.

All along the line the excursion train picked up additional numbers of pleasure seekers from the iron workers' fraternity, and when the train arrived at its destination in the valley of the Beaver a large con-gregation of people had already arrived. There were men with their families from Vheeling, Steubenville, Cleveland, Roches Wheeling, Steubenville, Cleveland, Rochester, Sharon, Youngstown, Sharpsville, New Castle and other points in the Mahoning Valley, making altogether about 5,000 people who had assembled to enjoy themselves among their fellow craftsmen in the picturesque valley at Rock Point.

A great programme of entertainments had been arranged for the amusement of the people and all of the details thereof was people, and all of the details thereof were heartily enjoyed by all.

There was a baseball game played by the iron workers from Greenville and Sharon, and a walking contest between ten women from Pittsburg was one of the events. But the Greatest Feature of the day's sport was the dancing. There were two platforms erected for that purpose, and many a heavy six-feeted iron man skipped the light fantastic in excellent Although all the refreshment stands were not selling anything else but soft drinks, there were nevertheless a few men there who had succeeded in getting possession of some whisky and the consequence was a slight excitement at occasional intervals. Fortunately, however, all disturbances were put down before they could break out to any

Apart from these little unpleasant incidents the whole day was passed in one continuous round of pleasures, and when the sun set behind the hills, indicating that the sun set behind the hills, indicating that the day had come to a close, the picnic people, fatigued from the day's lun, slowly wended their ways toward their homes, sorry that the day had gone already.

At 8:30 o'clock the first train arrived at the Allegheny depot of the Pittsburg, Ft. Wayne and Chicago Railroad, carrying most of the Pittsburg picnickers bound for home.
