Clearfield County Authorities to Investigate

THAT HU GARIAN MURDER.

More Correspondence in the Notable International Case.

THERE IS A PITTSBURG PRECEDENT

Involving Semething of a Romance Up on Mt. Washington.

IMPORTANT RESULTS ARE LOOKED FOR

Yesterday morning Consul Max Scham berg received the letter which was sent him by the District Attorney of Clearfield county. It acknowledges the receipt of the correspondence from the Austrian authorities, translations of which were published exclusively in THE DISPATCH yesterday. The District Attorney stated in reply to Mr.

Schamberg's request that he would take the come much greater, and may carry down the street at that point. In the event of the testimony of the witnesses named by the Royal Court of Hungary if that Government would bear all the expenses.

For Consul Schamberg's information the District Attorney states that John and Mike Ivan and George Murin were arrested for the murder of Joseph Loksa. Mike Ivan was tried for the killing and acquitted, while John Ivan and George Murin were discharged.

POSSIBLY THE GUILTY PARTIES. There was not sufficient evidence to hold them. The District Attorney adds that he should not be surprised if the two men now in prison in Austria, Andrew Ivan and Stephen Toma, are the guilty parties.

Mr. Seamberg at once wrote a reply to the Clearfield county attorney, telling him to go ahead and his country would pay all expenses incurred in taking the testimony. The Consul then mailed the District Attorney's letter to the Austrian Legation at Washington City, Mr. Schamberg realizes that if the murderers of Joseph Loksa have been captured in Hungary, they must not be allowed to escape, though the question of money should arise. He hopes that the American people will appreciate the promptness with which the Hungarian Government calls its citizens to strict account for misdeeds even in a foreign land. It is so usual to charge Hungarians with outlaws' deeds in the coke regions, or heinous depredations at Johnstown, that Mr. Schamberg thinks it no more than just for Americans to aid in the present case. It vindicates Hungarian law.

THERE IS A PRECEDENT.

This proceeding of trying a criminal in one country for a crime committed in another, strange as it may seem, is not without trian, after discovering many private points in connection with a certain family on Mount Washington, in this city, waited upon the head of the family and declared himself as his nephew from abroad. As he was a good-looking, well-dressed young fel-low the old man congratulated himself upon the possession of so stylish a relative and accepted him without investigation-a proceeding which he had good cause to regret afterward. The young man soon became one of the family, and made himself so agreeable to the lady of the house that one morning they departed together, taking m $1,800 of the old man's good, hard cash. They were traced to Austria, where they were arrested, a charge of robbery brought against them, and on the evidence taken in Pittsburg and forwarded to the authorities there, they were convicted. AN EXAMPLE FOR FLEMON.

The young man received a sentence of three years in prison; the woman being an American citizen and not amenable under the cir cumstances, was placed upon a steamer and returned to America. The greater portion of the money was recovered and returned to

The plea given by the Austrian Govern ment in explanation of their attitude on the extradition system is that the prisoners will receive a more dispassionate trial in that antry than would be possible in America; that here the popular teeling would be liable to militate to the prisoners' disadvantage.

This latter view of the mattergives weight to the request of the Pittsburg colored pe ple in the Flemon extradition case, and the desire of many Pittsburg people that the prisoner should not be delivered to the South Carolina authorities, but that the trial should take place in Allegheny county.

They think he can get a fairer trial here. A LIVELY OUTING.

Some Disturbances at the Allegheny Grocers' Picnic Yesterday.

The annual picnic of the Alleghenv retail grocers took place at Ross' Grove, on the West Penn Railroad, yesterday. It was a most enjoyable affair, the only disturbance reported being a fight on the last train home last night, in which a man named David McGrew, residing on Fourth avenue, was severely beaten about the head. He was able to walk to his home, where a physician dressed his wounds. No arrests are reported in connection with the affair.

Veteran Fire Department Horses Turned Out to the Highest Bidder.

The Department of Public Safety will allow no flies on itself nor on its fire department horses. They must be able to keep out of the way of the flies. There are 15 horses in the department that will be offered at auction on Monday next. Chief Evans says there is nothing particular about them. They "have neither pride by ancestry nor hope of posterity;" have neither illustrious pedigree nor have they done or suffered anything specially notable, never had burning houses fall on them, though they are good horses and have so far served their day and generation faithfully and well. They have lost a portion of their vim, however, and cannot get the engines to fires as quickly as they once could. A Palace for a Caterer.

The Executive and Building Committee of the Exposition Society met on the grounds yesterday and decided to erect a restaurant between the main building and machinery hall. The restaurant will be 60 x100 feet, and will extend out over the boulevard to the water's edge. It will be in the shape of an "L" and will contain 6,000 feet of space. The building will cost from $5,000 to $6,000.

are on each side of the street deep de pressions which remind one of volcanic craters, or at least of descriptions given of them by travelers. Originally they constituted a part of a ravine 80 or 96 feet in depth and were divided by the fill requisite to make Main street's connection. The upper pit, where the break is, has been filled up to within 30 feet of the surface of the street. It contains an acre or more territory, and as at Red pond, on Center avenue, a chimney has been built, connecting with the upper part of the sewer to accommodate an overflow. The break in the sewer is probably 20 feet from the curb of the street. At first the break was visible from the top of the bank, but the earth began sliding and filled it up.

Three men were at work all day yesterday removing the base of the slide, which is about 15 feet above the sewer, but at 5 o'clock last evening a spectator calculated that they had made about six inches progress, the moraine pushing down almost as fast as it could be removed. Should a heavy upper basin filling with water above the top of the chimney, there might be a more ex-tensive sewer burst, though it might choke. Should the earth give way gradually, the sewer might carry away the detritus. The expense of repair will be very great. sewer was built about three years ago.

RE-FLOORING SHARPSBURG BRIDGE. A Double Oak Floor, Costing $10,000, Replaces the Old Planking. The Sharpsburg bridge has been solidly re-floored with three-inch oak planking. The job has been very slowly done, as it was necessary to accommodate daily traffic of iron wagons and street cars. The total expense of the job will shade $10,000 very closely. The bridge is 3,000 feet in length and the old bridge floor has been subjected to very heavy work for upward of seven

As fast as the old flooring was torn away a course of three-inch planks was laid upon the iron girders. A chair tie of oak was laid on top of this for the rails of the street railway. The top floor was then laid at leisure. The job has taken ten men nearly two months of continuous work and the fin-ishing touches are now being put on.

SAFETY GUARANTEED THE PRISONER

Governor Beaver yesterday afterno signed an order restraining his warrant for the extradition of Rev. E. F. Flemon, and commanding the parties concerned in the case to appear before him by counsel next Tuesday, the 30th inst., at 4 P. M. The Governor had just stepped into his private carriage after the review of the Eighteenth Regiment at Uniontown, when he was waited on by Attorneys G. W. Wurzell and J. H. Baldwin, of Pittsburg, attorneys for Flemon, with a deputation of colored preachers. The deputation requested permission to read a petition relating to the Flemon case; and the Governor expressed his willingness to hear any requests they might have to make. Attorney Wurzell then read the petition which prayed that the Governor should issue an order recalling his warrant tor Flemon's extradition, until he could have an opportunity of fully sifting the case. The Governor listened attentively during the reading of the petition, and expressing himself satisfied with the arguments immediately signed the order to the Sheriff as above stated, and summoned Flemon before him on Tuesday next at Harrisburg, "to make good the facts set forth in the pe-

Meanwhile Flemon is to remain in the ustody of the Sheriff of Allegheny county. Before bidding the deputation good by the Governor expressed a desire to see justice done in the matter, and promised, if it should be necessary, that he would give Flemon a safe conduct through South Carolina. Judge Ewing yesterday again postponed final action in the case until Saturday next. Colonel Echols argued that the prisoner had received all the grace he could expect, and ought to be at once turned over. Judge Ewing replied that he had expected to terminate the case yesterday, but at the request of Justice Sterrett would allow it to rest until Saturday, as Justice Sterrett wanted Chief Justice Paxson to pass on it.

Judge Ewing's request for the papers in the case developed the fact that Mr. Mc-Kenna, in his haste to get to Phitadelphia, had carried them away with him. His ACTIONS IN PHILADELPHIA. Information from Philadelphia is that Colonel Paxson, whom Mr. McKenna, when he left for Europe, put in charge of the case had gotten Chief Justice Paxson and Justice Sterrett together, and that they would ex-amine the papers carefully and consult as to the wisdom of issuing a special allocatus to Judge Ewing, but it was also stated there was but little prospect of interference by the Supreme Court.

It is regarded as a rather ticklish busines for one Governor to refuse to honor the re-quisition of another, though it has been done more than once. It is regarded as liable to stir up bad blood and lead to retaliatory measures subsequently.

A report was current yesterday that Flemon had made arrangements with his colored friends to have him shot while going to the station, if he is taken South, believing this an easier fate than death at the end of a rope in South Carolina; but there seems to be little foundation for the story. Mr. D. M. Washington, treasurer of the body that meets in the Franklin street school house, stated last night that he knew nothing of it and did not believe it. He

There was the usual gathering of colored folks at the Court House yesterday, and thei interest seemed unabated. Some colored people who, yesterday forenoon, viewed from afar the crowd that always gathers around the Black Maria ere she departs with her treight of workhouse prisoners, became greatly excited, thinking the South Carolina officials had gotten their prey. They were much relieved when told that Judge Ewing had granted another respite.

It was laid by a new method. The late car which started from Market street at 20 minutes after midnight yesterday morning was followed by another car which stopped at the Washington street power house. The at the Washington street power house. The old cable was cut, unwound and coiled up at the rear of the cellar. The new cable, wound on a huge spool, was trained through the cable apertures and carried around the wheel at the pit in front of the power house. The method used on the Citizens' line in its recent relaying was not used. It consisted of splicing the new to the old and slowly revolving the machinery, thus making the old cable lay the new. This was not deemed a safe way on account of the heavy gradient in the slope down from the Court House and also the loop at the foot of Fifth avenue.

The end of the new cable was securely fastened to the grip of the car, and the latter was slowly propelled backward along the line, the cable being thus kept at an even altitude all the way. This trip was finished about 4:30 o'clock, and the splice making the cable continuous was hastily but carefully made, the machinery was started up, and everything found to be all right.

The Dead Man's Widow and One of the Pall-Bearers Quarrel. John O'Brien, a colored man of No. 102 Water street, died day before yesterday, and his widow, Maggie O'Brien, a white woman, invited the neighbors to hold a wake that night. It is alleged the be-havior of the guests was anything but decorous, and when the funeral was held yesterday morning all of them were lively in the extreme. After the man had been buried, and Mrs. O'Brien returned to her home, a row took place, and in a few min-utes all went to the 'Squire's office, making the following informations: Mike Ryan sued Mrs. O'Brien for disorderly conduct, John Haulan for assault and battery and Jenny McKee for keeping a disorderly the late O'Brien. Then Mrs. O'Brien, the widow of the colored man, sued Ryan for assault and battery. Warrants were issued for the parties and the cases will come up for a hearing to-morrow evening.

Desired as an Addition to the Pennsylvania Female College.

SCHEME TO GET NECESSARY FUNDS

An Instructress Chats Brightly Upon Muscular Topic.

BALTIMORE COLLEGE EQUIPMENT

Persons interested in the future of the Pennsylvania Female College will be atforded an opportunity shortly to subscribe for a gymnasium. Such a building is projected as a much-needed addition to the college. It is estimated that the gymnasium, including its appointments, can be handsomely constructed for $5,000. Miss H. E. Pelletro, Principal of the college, left yesterday morning for the East to enjoy a four weeks' vacation in Long Island, and was not accessible to inquiry as to details of the plan. A well-known merchant who is a patron of the college states, however, that a subscription paper is to be quietly circulated, with individual subscriptions limited to $25, and it is believed that $5,000 will be easily raised for the desired end.

It was learned that a gymnasium used to exist upon the third floor of the old college building, but the increase in pupils rendered an encroachment upon the space imperative. The gymnasium was transformed into classrooms, and the only unusual physi-cal exercise available for the pupils has been the ascent and descent of the long steps leading up from Fifth avenue. Calisthenics-that old-fashioned arm-swinging exercise-although a portion of the daily programme, is not considered an effective substitute for genuine gymnastics, and Mis-Pelletro has expressed the opinion that a gymnasium hall is all that is needed to complete the college buildings.

GOOD FOR GIRLS. "Educational institutions for women," said a well-known instructress last evening, "are not considered complete nowadays unless equipped with appliances for the physical development of the pupils. I have just returned from the pupils. I have just returned from Baltimore, where I inspected with great interest the gymnasium annex of the new M. E. Woman's College, near Boundary avenue, North Baltimore. The building and equipments will cost $10,000, and it is certainly a handsome affair. Oh, yes. Gymnastics are of the greatest value for girls, because physical exercise gives them a greater zest for studies, keeps them from getting round-shouldered and furnishes a healthy stimulus to a complete education. Many noted instructresses in this country take very advanced ground upon this matter, and hail either manual training or gymnastics as the salvation of a fast degenerating race. There is really no room generating race. There is really no room for argument upon the subject, for no one disputes the value of physical education for our young women."

"What sort of gymnastics are en regle for young ladies?" diffidently inquired the re-

are a few things which the sterner sex do that the girls would feel some natural timidity about attempting. For instance they would not care to hammer each other with boxing gloves, nor would they want to get

HAIR FULL OF TANBARK. nor would they want to jump from a spring board. But I presume that horizontal bar East—and many other of the more sedate exercises would be all right. In the Baltimore gymnasium I noticed a very fine bowling alley, a large swimming pool, the usual rings along the length of the hall, jumping bars and two or three trapeze bars."

Noticing the look of surprise upon the reporter's face at the mention of trapeze bars the lady laughed merrily.
"Oh, yes!" she said, "young ladies can manage semi-aerial exercises very easily.
It must be understood that girls who in-It must be understood that girls who in-dulge in gymnastics must wear a suitable costume. No, I don't think I could give much of an idea of the customary costume, but I suppose it would be something on the Bloomer idea. Free action of the muscles could not be secured unless bifurcated garments were worn. In my experience girls ments were worn. In my experience girls always extract more amusement from gymnastics than an equal number of boys, and many girls are far more daring than the average boy. In botanizing expeditions I have seen girls attempt climbing leats that many boys would shrink from. Oh, yes, there are a great many girls in Pittsburg who have enjoyed progressive muscular education, and who seem to be much better grounded in health than their more sedentary sisters."

While at the Union station waiting to be transferred to the West Penn Railroad the majority of the party got out of the train and stretched themselves, prom-enading up and down the station platform. The most prominent among the party were Adjutant General D. H. Hastings, for whom nearly every resident of Johnstown would lay down his life; Generals John A. Wylie and Snowden, of the Second and First Brigades; with their staff officers, Quartermaster Gen-eral S. W. Hill, of this city, Colonel Spangler, Assistant Commissary General, Colonel eral S. W. Hill, of this city, Colone: Spangier, Assistant Commissary General, Colonel Louis W. Reed, Colonel John I. Rodgers, Judge Advocate General, Colonel T. J. Hudson, of this city; Major Walter Green-land, Quartermaster of the Second Brigade, and Major Califf, who fired the first cannon and Major Califf, who fired the first cannon at Gettysburg. The latter was detailed by the War Department to accompany the party on its tour.

The special train was switched on to the West Penn tracks, and about 11:25 it left for Grove City via the West Penn road. When the train arrived at the Union station an effort was made by THE DISPATCH representative to see the Governor. The representative to see the Governor. The latter had withdrawn from the glare of the electric lights to his stateroom, and all efforts to gain admittance were fruitless. Even Adjutant General Hastings, who is never so busy that he cannot do a favor, tried to rouse the aleeping Governor, but could not do so. The reporter rode to Allegheny with the party, but the Governor's stateroom was as quiet as its occupant's explanation of the relief fund mix.

THE FIRST ARREST

By the New Mounted Policemen Out Along

Forbes Street. Officer Wachter, of the new mounted poice, made his first arrest last evening. He noticed two young men racing on Forbes avenue, after whom he immediately gave chase and ran down, greatly to their surprise. The patrol wagon was called and they were taken to the Fourteenth ward they were taken to the Fourteenth ward station. They gave the names of F. Flemming and C. Shilling.

Yesterday brought a surprise to police annals, when that long contemplated adjunct to our police force, mounted officers, went into effect. Chief Brown is trying to make giant improvement in the police sys-tem. The new officers, only two in number, will patrol Forbes and Hiland avenues, where there is considerable fast driving, The horses of the patrol will be of the best, and it is proposed to stop racing, if possible.

ONLY A SCARE.

The U. S. Treasury Officials Explode Pitt

burg's Wool Story. That free trade scare in this city about wool the other day will not be followed by serious results, according to the following telegram which reached this office last night

Treasury officials say that the statement contained in a dispatch with regard to a reduction of duty on English wool at Pittsburg are erroneous. In the first place the surveyor at Philadelphia has no jurisdiction over the port of Pittsburg, which is in the New Orleans Customs district, and in the next place the rate of duty on English wool is specifically provided by law and can be changed only by act of Congress. Under the tariff act English or second class wool is liable to duty at the rate of 10 cents a pound if unscoured, and at the rate of 30 cents per pound if scoured.

WAGES REDUCED.

The Miners in the Third Pool Followed in the Procession.

mines of Foster Clark and Wood at Coal Valley, in the third pool of the Monongahela river, were started up yesterday, the miners receiving 21/2 cents per bushel. The firm had a meeting with a committee from the miners last Tuesday, and the men de-cided to accept the reduction of a half cent. All the mines in the fourth pool have be at work for the same price during the last week, and it was stated that on this account the men in the third pool would not hold out against the firms any longer. Wash Your Bedelothes. To have this properly done has always been a source of anxiety to the busy housewife. It affords us great pleasure to be able to announce that Demmler Bros., 526 and 528 Smithfield st., have added to their immense variety of useful house-furnishing goods a wonderful little contrivance called the New Era Washer, which will not only wash bedclothes, but lace curtains and any article of wearing apparel in one-quarter of the time ordinarily required, and do it, too, without the least risk of wear and tear.

Don't fail to see it before next washday. IF you want to go to the seashore, now your chance. Excursion tickets will be sold for this evening's trains leaving at 4:30, 7:15 and 8:10 P. M., giving you ample time for breakfast in Philadelphia, and can either spend the day in Philadelphia or continue on to Cape May, Atlantic City, Sea Isle City or Ocean City. Fare for the round trip $10, tickets good ten days.

New Train Arrangements. The Bedford Springs Hotel Company beg to notify the public that commencing to-day, and during the season, the train on the Penn-sylvania Railroad leaving Union station at l o'clock makes direct connection via Huntingdon for Bedford Springs on any day except Sundays.

AN ELECTRIC IDEA

Which Was Probably Conceived by Two Men at the Same Time

BRINGS ABOUT ANOTHER SUIT.

An Electric Consolidation of Westinghouse

and Edison PREDICTED BY AN EXPERT LAWYER

Judge Taylor, of Fort Wayne, Ind., is now in this city taking testimony in an interference case, pending in the Patent office at Washington, D. C., between the Westinghouse Electric Company and the Fort Wayne and Jenney Company, of Fort Wayne. The suit in question refers to a multiple are system of converters, involving certain conditions of construction for the purpose of securing good regulation. This patent has been applied for by Mr. Slattery, of the Fort Wayne and Jenney Company, but Mr. Stanley, of the Westinghouse Company, claims a priority of the patent by several months. Messrs. Bailey and Terry, the counsel for the Westinghouse Company, are taking rebuttal testimony Yesterday Messrs. F. L. Pope and L. B Stillwell, both experts of the Westinghouse Company, were examined.

BOTH GENIUSES AT ONCE. Judge R. S. Taylor, the legal representa-tive of the Fort Wayne and Jenney Com-pany, was seen last night at the Hotel An-derson, and when he was asked as to what he thought of the possible verdict in the case, he replied that he could not make a statement on that subject, because the mat-ter rested entirely with the Patent Office.

"The case presents a very fair contest." "The case presents a very fair contest," he continued, "and I believe that both the inventors were working on the invention at the same time, but who deserves the recognition of priority I cannot decide."

"What is your opinion of the great electric suit between Edison and Westinghouse, which was tried here some time

"Well, that is very hard to tell, and if in the case, I am positive that nobody is able to say anything about it to-day. I have studied that case thoroughly and I must acknowledge that both parties seem to have some very strong points in their favor, but as far as I am able to judge I think that Edison will be the victor in that contest. The chances are slightly against Westing-

"As a disinterested party, Judge, would you like to express an opinion as to the con-solidation of the Edison and Westinghouse "I believe that consolidation will b brought about, although I do not think that there are any immediate prospects. These men have to fight each other very thor-oughly at first, and when they get tired of that, then THEY WILL SHAKE HANDS and work in harmony. But it will have to come, and my belie: is that the entire elec-tric interests of this country will eventually form a combination. They have to do it, and here is a good reason: The amount of money which is spent annually by these companies in litigation is an enormous item of expense, and the mere saving of that would make a consolidation advisable. On the other hand, the wraugling and fighting which now exists between all these concern is disastrous to all of them, and the compe tition decreases profit very considerably.

"But would such a consolidation no disadvantageous to the public?" solidation not be "No, not in this case. The elements of the electric business are common property, and a combination of all the electric com-panies in the world would not be able to monopolize them. Then, again, the con-struction of electric machines is now known by almost every ordinary machinist. For large concerns to keep the price of their manufactures low in order to prevent a number of little fellows from getting into WHAT is there more pleasing, healthful or exhilarating than a glass of sparkling amber-colored beer, with the genuine flavor of pure malt and hops? Such an article is brewed by the Bauerlein Brewing Company, of Bennett's, Pa., and sold by them in the wood, or by the bottle, quarts or pints, and delivered to all parts of both cities. Your order will receive prompt attention. Telephone, 1018.

This delicious summer beverage, brewed by Frauenheim & Vilsack, is undoubtedly the best in the market. It is pure, whole ome and nutritious.

A NEW GAS COMPANY.

River Towns Along the Monongabela to be Supplied From Bellevernon. A McKeesport company, whose name is yet secret, is laying a new pipe line from Bellevernon. The line has already been surveyed across the Monongabela river at Draggs' Ferry, between Monongahela City and Bellevernon, and runs from there to Boston, passing about two miles south of Elizabeth.

The new company will supply the natural gas to Elizabeth, Buena Vista, Greenock, Boston, Elrods, Bissell, Christy Park, and then enter McKeesport.
