Pause a moment, please!

Come and see that celebrated Capital Wagon. It has no equal in the land. Price to suit the times, and we cover it all over with guarantees.
As to Buggies, Carriages and Harness we defy all comers and goers to meet our prices. Our trade is rapidly convincing the public of this fact.
Hay, Corn, Oats, Meal, Offal and Chops always kept in our Grocery Department, where you can find a complete line of Staple Goods cheap for cash or trade. Give me a call and I will prove what I have said.

Stockmen and Farmers.

Your fodder crop is a valuable one, and you should bestow upon it as much care and attention as you do your hay crop, and put it in the best shape for your stock. Don't scatter your wet and frozen fodder on the cold and muddy ground, and have your stock tramping your land to death in wet weather, and eating muddy fodder, then claim you are taking good care of your stock, and manuring your land.

"A merciful man will be merciful to his stock."
Make your stock a Xmas gift of a

TORNADO Cutter and Shredder
which will cut and split the stalk so that every particle of the stalk will be eaten.

The TORNADO has no equal as a straw, shuck and hay cutter, and can easily be turned into a root cutter.

In connection with these cutters we sell the

STAR MILL AND POWER
Combined, which will grind your corn and run your cutter at the same time.

If you are at all sceptical as to what these machines will do, we refer you to the following up-to-date farmers to whom we have sold machines, and ask them if it is not best to feed your cattle in the dry:

T. J. Jennings, Fancy Hill, Va.; J. R. Brown, Brownsburg, Va.; J. W. Lackey, Fancy Hill, Va.; Hamilton & Co., Monmouth, Va.; W. E. Miller, Fancy Hill, Va.; Patterson, Monmouth, Va.; E. M. Longwood, Va.; G. S. Lott, Natural Bridge, Va.; P. H. Monmouth, Va.; C. W. Whitmore, Glenwood, Va.; Wm. Washington, Lexington, Va.; G. W. Layman, Amsterdam, Va.; T. S. White, Lexington, Va.; G. A. Weeks, Fairfield, Va.; A. W. Harman, Lexington, Va.; T. S. White, Lexington, Va.; J. A. Wilson, Lexington, Va.; J. W. Cupp, Fairfield, Va.; W. W. McGuffin, Fairfield, Va.; J. A. Owen, Lexington, Va.; J. T. Preston, Lexington, Va.; Robert Saville, Oak Dale, Va.; Walter Searson, Raphine, Va.; Philip Day, Glasgow, Va.; Bean Bros., Eagle Rock, Va.; J. W. Nickle, Lexington, Va.; S. T. Ruff, Lexington, Va.; and Hon. W. B. F. Leach, Oak Dale, Va.

We would be glad to have you all come and examine these machines before you buy, or write for prices to

Made Mother Well.

Sickness Driven From Another Home by Paine's Celery Compound.

Women, mothers of families, have no more right to live beyond their strength than beyond their income.
The greatest injustice that women do themselves and their children is in putting off getting well. Headaches, nervousness, dyspepsia and melancholia lay their leaden fingers over the whole household.
Paine's celery compound has driven sickness and gloom from innumerable homes, where some loved member was the source of continual anxiety and even despair. The constantly repeated successes of this great invigorator in making people well have roused many persons who thought themselves destined unchangeably to lives of imperfect health to try Paine's celery compound.
No one can read the following letter without being inspired with confidence in this great remedy.
31 Playter street, Buffalo, N. Y., July 23.
About eight years ago, after the birth of a child, I suffered terribly. I could not get help from over a dozen physicians to whom I applied, and after receiving treatment from the last doctor continued for nine months, was pronounced cured and continued so until the birth of another child, when I was obliged to commence doctoring again, although all imaginable treatments had been resorted to without one particle of relief.
I was subject to neuralgic troubles and slightly rheumatic, and I became discouraged and melancholic, feeling that I should never again be a well woman.
I was in a pitiful state, when my husband, who had been benefited by the use of Paine's celery compound, urged me to try it. In a remarkably short time after I began taking the remedy I began to notice a change for the better. Before I had taken three bottles, I was well. I consider my cure a miracle, for I had tried a great many doctors and different drugs and spent hundreds of dollars in vain. Respectfully yours,
MRS. KATE HENNESSEN.
Close, careful observation of great numbers of cases like the above led Professor Edward E. Phelps, M. D., L. D., of the Dartmouth Medical School to the formulation of Paine's celery compound.
The success of this universally well-known remedy in quickly driving out disease from the blood and system need not be retold to newspaper readers.
Paine's celery compound restores to a healthy state a weakened and diseased nervous system. One of the first evidences of this building-up virtue is the gain in flesh and weight about the face. Night sweats and nervous twitches are a thing of the past; there is a great improvement in looks, a better appetite, sounder sleep, a clearer skin and more regular functions. These are a few of the outward improvements. More important is the thorough and radical purifying of the blood and the regulating and building up of the deep-seated nerves all over the body. There is nothing half way or partial in the effects of Paine's celery compound. It cures permanently.

STERLING WORTH

Worth Thinking Over

That My Meat Market

Is the Best Equipped Establishment in the Valley of Virginia for Handling and Taking Care of Fresh Meats.
That my Cold Storage enables me to keep all kinds of Meats fresh during the entire year.
That my Stock Buyer is wide awake and keeps his eyes on all good stock in the country. My patrons are assured of getting only the best.
That I am the only Butcher in town supplying the people with Fresh Pork all the year around.
That my Slaughter House is modern, well equipped and CLEAN.
Worth Seeing—my Butcher kill and dress stock. They are the most, most experienced and skilful to be had.
Worth Having—my Cutters to cut your meats. They have been raised in the business and know it thoroughly.
Worth Your While—to have my Delivery Men handle your meats. They are polite, careful, attentive and prompt. Meats being delivered are amply protected from dust. Free delivery within the town; and meats carefully packed for shipment.
Worth Your Inspection—my Sausage Machine. It is the largest size Enterprise Cut, capable of 1000 pounds per hour, and is run by an Otto Gasoline Engine. I make PINK and WHITE SAUSAGES twice daily. No beef goes into my sausage. It will pay your living in the country to bring your sausage meat here and have it ground at 50 cents per hundred. I grind my own pepper for sausage. No adulteration in the pepper—no strings in the sausage.
Worth Buying—my PINE LARD of my own make, on sale at Funkhouser & Rhodes', W. H. Boley's, J. McD. Adair's and Wm. H. Laughlin's.
Worth Eating—Smoked Tongue for cold lunches. Pudding for everybody. I know how to make it.
Worth Knowing—that the season has arrived for CORN BEEF, SPICED BEEF and PRESSED BEEF. I will have it next week.
Worth Your Money—my Beef, Mutton and Pork (always on hand), and Veal and Lamb (whenever it can be had). Only the Best finds its way to my counters.
Worth Your careful consideration that I want Your Patronage and in return I offer you the BEST MEAT, neatly and cleanly butchered, skilfully and economically cut, and promptly delivered in town. When you come for my Market, you shall be served promptly and courteously, and with the best the county affords.
A trial will convince you

AT THE POINT OF A PISTOL.

She was one of the smallest women I have ever known. So small, indeed, that if it had not been for her marvellously nice proportions people would have called her a dwarf. Anyhow, small though she was there never beat a braver heart than the one beneath the plain bodice of Jeanne Dupree.

This fact her husband discovered one day, to his everlasting shame, in a manner altogether startling and unexpected.

Philip Dupree had been a heavy dragoon, and maybe it was his great stature or his bombast (or he could brag) or his bright blue eyes, or possibly these taken altogether, had endeared him to Jeanne in the days gone by.

It was an amusing, yet withal a pathetic, sight in the early days of their married life to see how much the tiny woman made of the great, bragging, indolent soldier—great in everything except soul; yet withal all his faults she loved him even now.

Notwithstanding her diminutive size, the "petite Jeanne" managed her home to perfection; her brain had not stopped growing with her body.

With their two children they lived in a house such as one often sees in the towns and cities of Normandy—high and narrow, with fantastic gables and a deep stone parapet running along the roof; in fact the house was old-fashioned but picturesque, but it proved a godsend to Jeanne. It was left her by an old aunt with whom she lived as a child.

The ex-cavalryman was considered fortunate to have secured two such tasty "dots" at one venture, but he only looked on it as a happy provision of Providence to save him from work—which he abhorred.

Great numbers of English tourists had at last discovered Normandy, with its peaceful homesteads, its fruits and flowers and old-world inhabitants, so that Jeanne found an easy way to make a living by letting the lower and better part of her house.

This necessitated them being satisfied with the top floor for themselves, an arrangement which was the subject of endless complaint from her lord and master.

She argued that as he did nothing to swell the exchequer he had no reason to complain, "and," she continued complacently, "he ought to think of the children; they must be clothed and educated;" but he never did; even as babies they were always a nuisance and in the way.

Still this selfish dragon was dear to her. He was the father of the bold and handsome Gilbert, eight years old to-morrow, and the little fairy Louise, the apple of her eye. She blessed the good Virgin she had still much to be thankful for.

But there came a day when his discontent became open mutiny. "He couldn't stand it any longer, Con found the lodgers, what right had they to live in a garret when they could have the best room in the house?"

Some such arrangement would have suited the old bold warrior, there he could have posed in all the glory of an immaculate white waistcoat (Jeanne's handiwork), a gorgeous necktie and elegant stockings. He was never satisfied; men who dislike honest work never are.

That night Jeanne went to bed thoroughly disgusted with her lot in particular, and the world generally.

In the middle of the night she awoke with a tickling sensation in her throat; she smelt the smoke, and knew the house must be on fire.

Rousing Philippe, she rushed out on the landing, thinking only of her children. To her horror, she could not open the door to their room; it was not locked, but the house was very old, and in some mysterious manner the plastered wall had given out, and strained and jammed the door.

She exerted all her puny strength to burst it open, but without avail; she cursed their names, but with the sleep of healthy and happy childhood they slept on regardless of danger.

Shrieking in frenzy, "Philippe, for God's sake come quickly!" she rushed back to her room just in time to see the bragging dragon baselessly deserting her at this moment of her need.

He had already mounted a chair, and with shaking hands was unfasting the casement so as to make his escape on to the roof.

Almost speechless with his callous indifference, the poor little woman paused for an instant—then rushed over and pulled the chair from under him.

The collapse was instantaneous. Down he fell with a crash; and lay gazing in a paroxysm of fear at the fragile creature who had so effectually stopped his cowardly flight. She saw in his eyes the madness of absolute fear, and would fain have let him go, but in the room beyond lay her two precious darlings. He must save them—his great strength could shatter that door to splinters.

Quick as thought Jeanne darted across the room from the table by the side of the bed a revolver which he had boastfully provided for burglars, should any dare to cross his threshold. Oh, he was a brave man! "Very well," she said calmly, though her heart was faint at her children's peril. "If a soldier of France can forget his honor and basely desert his post in a time of danger, his wife shall show him how to die."

"Unless you try to save the children we will die together, and may God have mercy on us."

This man had faced the fanatical hordes of Algiers and fought gallantly in Madagascar and the far East; at any rate, he had never shown the white flag—desertion or cowardice in the French army meant death; and yet at the very smell of fire his senses forsook him.

Nothing could have calmed him swifter than the sight of the shining revolver with its barrel pointed steadily at him; only a week before he had put fresh charges into those five barrels, and either one would finish his career.

The fear of death is a wonderful sensation. He had ceased to shake, and was lost in admiration of the woman who could, like his old captain, call him to "Attention!" in such a drastic fashion.

He recovered his nerve and wit out a word strode across the passage. There was a sound of smashing wood and in a few moments he reappeared with a child under each arm—and, strange to say, the light of a new tenderness in his eye, and a smile on his face, for at last he had acquitted himself like a man.

As he went toward the window he looked wishfully at his wife. Would she forgive him? Had he wiped out his dishonor? Oh, how great is woman's love! He was still her hero, her husband and all! She had forgiven him. The pistol is slung under the grate. Her! a shout ascends from the street; a head appears at the window; coming from the adjoining house roofs is more help and they are saved.—London Star.

MARRIED IN BEDFORD.

Mr. John David Lincoln, of Lexington, and Mrs. H. B. Brown, of Bedford, were united in marriage yesterday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, at the home of the bride, near Bellevue. They arrived in Lynchburg over the Norfolk and Western railroad, and left at 5 o'clock over the Chesapeake & Ohio for their future home in Lexington.—Lynchburg News, Jan. 13.

President E. T. D. Myers, of the Richmond Fredericksburg and Potomac Railroad, has commenced the erection of the monument to mark the battlefields of Spotsylvania, near Hamilton's Crossing. The monument will be of rough rubble granite in the shape of a pyramid.

The use of the surgeon's knife is becoming so general, resulting fatally in such a large number of cases, as to occasion general alarm.

Mr. William Walpole, of Washington, South Dakota, writes: "About three years ago, there came under my left eye a little blotch about the size of a small pea. It grew rapidly, and shooting pain ran in every direction. I became alarmed and consulted a good doctor, who pronounced it cancer, and said that it must be cut out. This I would not consent to, having little faith in the indiscriminate use of the knife. Reading of the many cures made by S. S. S., I determined to give that medicine a trial, and after I had taken it a few days, the cancer became irritated and began to discharge. This after while ceased, leaving a small scab, which finally dropped off, and only a healthy little scar remained to mark the place where the destroyer had held full sway.

TERRIBLE TORNADO AT FORT SMITH, ARK.

Fort Smith, Ark., Jan. 12.—Two scores of human lives and upwards of one million dollars worth of property were destroyed by a tornado which burst upon the city a few minutes past 11 o'clock last night. The storm struck near the National Cemetery, and tore its way through the entire city, leaving its path marked by death and desolation.

Men, women and children were awakened without a moment's warning to meet death by falling walls or in the flames which engulfed many of the wrecked buildings.

THE SOUTH AS SHE IS.

The Jacksonville Times-Citizen says: "In this new era the South is being seen as she really is. When the artificial advantages are withdrawn from the West—when the business of that section is called upon to sustain the agents of development brought into premature being by the demand of the nation, when the advantages of its wide fields, however rich in soil, are contrasted with those of the lands, the climate and the agricultural productions of the South, then the tide of immigration turns and the Western farmer as well as the capitalist and the European turns his face to the South, he examines and is convinced."

HANNA IS ELECTED SENATOR

COLUMBUS, OHIO, Jan. 12.—Marcus A. Hanna was elected to-day to represent Ohio in the Senate for seven years and two months. If McKinley should be re-elected, Hanna would still be there to the end of the President's second term. Including both the short and long term, Hanna's time as Senator will expire March 1905.

THEIR FIRST TRIP TO TOWN.

"Here's some more of the home-work of them blamed monopolists," said Farmer Hayricks, as he hung his coat over the foot of the bed. "Goodness, where?" asked his wife. "Here's a sign what says 'Don't blow out the gas.' I s'pose they make these folks burn it all night, so's to run up their bill's on 'em. Gosh, I don't know what this country's comin' to!"

According to a celebrated anatomist there are upwards of 5,000,000 little glands in the human stomach. These glands pour out the digestive juices which dissolve or digest the food. In which dissolve or digest the food. Indigestion is want of juice, weakness of digestion, need of help to restore the glands, need of help to restore the health of these organs. The best and most natural help is that given by Shaker Digestive Cordial. Natural, because it supplies the materials needed by the glands to prepare the digestive juices. Because it strengthens and invigorates the glands and the stomach, until they are able to do their work alone. Shaker Digestive Cordial cures indigestion certainly and permanently. It does so by natural means and therein lies the secret of its wonderful and unvaried success.

The difference between pills and Simmons Liver Regulator, is just this: Pills don't go down very easy with most people, and you feel them afterwards. While Simmons Liver Regulator in liquid or powder is very easy to take, and the only feeling that you have afterwards is the great relief that it gives from Constipation, Bilelessness, Sick Headache and Dyspepsia. It is a mild laxative and a tonic.
