MEETING OF THE ROCKBRIDGE MUTUAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY.

A Large And Enthusiastic Representation—Election of Officers.

The Rockbridge Mutual Fire Insurance Company, after two unsuccessful attempts, held their annual meeting here on Saturday in the Court House. Over 12,000 of the 17,000 shares of stock were represented. A harmonious and enthusiastic meeting was held.

Past experience proved the unwisdom of requiring a majority of the shares of stock to be represented in order to constitute a quorum. To overcome this difficulty it was determined to reduce the number of shares required for a quorum. Senator-elect Charles E. McCorkle, J. G. Cress, and Wm. A. Ruff were appointed a committee to apply to the State Legislature to have the present charter so amended that one-fourth or more shares will constitute a quorum.

J. G. Cress was re-elected president by acclamation, and Robert C. Walker, Deputy County Clerk, was elected secretary and treasurer. Dr. John T. Wilson, who served in that capacity for the past ten years, declined reelection. In recognition of his efficient services the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That the thanks of this company are hereby tendered the late secretary and treasurer, Dr. John T. Wilson, for the fidelity and courtesy with which he has always discharged the laborious duties of his office.

G. W. Effinger and R. D. Firebaugh were re-elected directors for three years from the Natural Bridge and Walker's Creek districts, respectively. There are six directors in the company, one from each district in the county, two being elected every two years.

Below will be found the report of the secretary and treasurer for the year ending August 27th, 1898:

MISS NANNIE ROGERS.

(A TRIBUTE.)

In the old burying ground of Collierstown Presbyterian church, and among her kindred, we handed down gently to the grave, and committed to the dust all that was mortal of Miss Nannie Rogers in her forty-first year.

From earliest childhood she had gone upon crutches—the result of an injury, besides being by nature of a frail and delicate constitution, but she was endowed with a bright and sunny disposition, and became the centre of a large circle of friends and admirers.

She was a member of the M. E. Church (South), but having passed the closing months of her life at the home of her maternal Aunt, Mrs. Dr. Leitch, where she died Tuesday morning, the 6th of September, 1898,—it became my sadly pleasant privilege to conduct the simple yet full services at the grave. The interment took place at 12 M. the day following her decease. Many friends and loved ones were present, and the scene was an impressive one.

Miss Rogers spent eight or nine years of her life among relatives in Dallas, Texas, but returned to this community about two years ago.

Fresh flowers of every hue were heaped upon the newly raised mound, that donated her narrow house of clay.

She sleeps upon a slope that is early kissed by the morning sun, and in a valley of surpassing beauty. The body is here but the soul has ascended. Both father and mother had preceded her to the spirit world—brother or sister she had not. And yet, home, comfort, and friends were provided for her in the fullest manner to the last.

With crutch upon her left and right, She walked through life, serene and bright, And though as fragile as a flower, Her spirit had a magic power.

She was a bird in cheerfulness, A very queen in her address, Whose soul and nature, most refined, Were wedded to a lucid mind.

But, best of all, God gave her grace, Which shone out in her chiselled face, And showed by what she wished and willed, That she was with the Spirit filled.

Enjoy thy rest, thou weary one; Thy toils and struggles all atone, And, safe within the City Bright, Thy soul is raptured with delight.

R. M. TUTTLE.

DEATHS.

Robert Fulwiler died a week ago in California, aged about sixty years. He left Rockbridge for the Bath neighborhood about 30 years ago.

George Poley, a native of this county, died a short time ago at the soldier's home in Richmond. He was sent there by the Lee Jackson Camp of Lexington.

John N. Eubank, a prominent farmer of Amherst county, near Pedlar Mills, while on a visit to Buena Vista was stricken with paralysis Wednesday evening in the office of City Clerk D. H. Rucker. He was taken to the home of Mr. Rucker where he died Thursday night. His remains were taken home for interment. Mr. Eubank had reached the advanced age of seventy-three years. He is survived by his wife and seven children. He was a man of sterling character and was a consistent Baptist.

Wm. M. Bryan died November 21, 1898, aged seventy-eight years, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. C. F. Miller, of Cedarstown, Ga. He was a native of Rockbridge and went to Georgia about twenty years ago. He was a relative of the Bryans at Vesuvius who for many years were engaged in the iron furnace business. He himself was at one time interested in a furnace in Shenandoah county. He afterwards lived in Staunton, from which place he went South.

PATRICK PAYNE DEAD.

One of the landmarks of Lexington passed away Saturday in the death of Patrick Payne, colored, at the advanced age of 83 years. His funeral took place Sunday afternoon from the First Baptist church, colored, of which he was for many years a deacon. His funeral was largely attended by both white and colored. He was born in Lexington a slave in the family of Benjamin Darst, proprietor of the "Indian King" hotel which stood on the present site of Trinity Methodist church. He was afterwards owned by Governor John Letcher, Virginia's war governor, and served as the latter's butler during his official residence in Richmond. For years he was head cook at the Virginia Military Institute, where he was a general favorite with the cadets. "Pat" was held in high esteem by everybody in the community for his uprightness and honesty. His mind was stored with many events of ante-bellum times, which he delighted to tell.

Miss Nettie Houston, of Lexington spent Monday night in the city with Miss Sadie Weellerton Kalamora street. She left yesterday for Baltimore.—Staunton Spectator.

DIED.

Colonel John Redmond Cox Lewis, of Berryville, died Monday night of congestion of the lungs, at the residence of his wife's sister, Miss Maggie Freeland, of this place where he was visiting. He was born sixty-four years ago at "Audley," the beautiful home of his ancestors near Berryville. His funeral took place to-day at noon at Miss Freeland's, after which the body was taken over the Baltimore and Ohio railroad via Staunton to Richmond for burial Thursday.

Colonel Lewis was the last of six sons. He was a son of Lorenzo Lewis, whose father, Lawrence Fielding Lewis married Miss Eleanor Parke Custis, the step-daughter of George Washington. On his mother's side he was the grandson of Dr. John Redmond Cox, of Philadelphia, who invented the vaccine virus.

For eleven years Colonel Lewis served in the United States navy, and was with Commodore Perry when the ports of Japan were opened up to commerce. At the outbreak of the Civil War he resigned his commission in the service of the United States and entered the Confederate army. He was given the rank of major and was assigned the command of Jamestown Island, and was afterwards transferred to Mobile, Ala. He served under Gen. Stephen D. Lee. After the war he devoted himself to agriculture.

He is survived by his wife, who was a daughter of John Freeland of Richmond, and three children, two sons and one daughter. His wife, daughter, and youngest son were with him when he died.

DEATH OF GENERAL GARCIA.

General Calixto Garcia, the Cuban warrior and leader, and head of the commission elected by the Cuban Assembly to visit this country, died in Washington Monday morning shortly after ten o'clock at the Hotel Raleigh, where the commission has its headquarters. The sudden change from the warm climate of Cuba, with the hardships he had endured, added to the wintry weather of New York and Washington is responsible for the pneumonia which resulted in his demise.
