FOR LEASE.

THE subscriber offers to lease for a term of years, the BRICK TAVERN, at Charlotte Courthouse, formerly the property of his father Mr. Wm. M. Watkins. The tavernouse in large and commodious, with necessary out-buildings, is situated on a lot of about the ty acres, stached to which is a small tract of land at a small distance from it, affording an abundant supply of wood for fuel and timber for the use of the same. Its public situation, its proximity to the Gourthouse, being the nearest, and there being but one other tavern at the place at present, renders it a very eligible stand for a tavernous property.

place at present, removes to accept the first year, the server.

Terms will be very moderate, especially for the first year, to one who can come well recommended as a tavern-keeper. Possession can be given the 10th December next. Apply to the subscriber at his father's.

James River Land, Negroes, Stocks, Corn.

James River Land, Negroes, Stocks, Corns

Sc. for Sale.

On Friday, the 17th day of November next, if fair, if not the next fair day. I will sell to the highest bidder, at public anction, my tract of land on James River, near Warminster in the County of Nelson, on a credit of 1, 2 and 3 years. This tract contains about 50 acres; produces abundantly, the usual ctops, & has en it a large & convenint brick dwelling house, &c The situation is beautiful & very bealthy. A crop of wheat will be sown in good time and in good order, and possession will be delivered immediately after the sale. At the same time will be sold, all the negroes belonging to the said farm, being seventeen in number. Almost the whole of these negroes are old enough to render service; and, as a set of hands, are certainly very likely and very valuable. Three immediate barrels of corn, all the plantation utenals, and all the atocks of horses, cattle, hogs, &c. will be sold at the same time. There are some valuable work horses and work steers. The negroes and the corn will be sold for cath, or the drafts or acceptances of approved merchants at very short dates. The stock and other articles will be sold on a credit. Bonds with approved security will be required from the purchasers on credit; and m addition thereto, a deed of trust will be required from the purchaser of the land. The sale will take place on the farm, and will be conducted by my brother, Joseph C. Cabell. In the mean time the land will be shewn by the manager, Mr. Duck, living on it. Persons disposed to purchase any portion of this property, need not fear a disappointment, as my determination to sell, is absolute and fixed.

may choose to attend.

At the close of the College course, candidates for Degrees are carefully examined on all the studies of the Junior and Senior years, and on any parts of the preceding studies which may be thought necessary. It is understood that the Candidate is required to be ready for a thorough examination on the whole course, should the examining committee call for it. The writer of this, after having paid particular attention to the most distinguished literary institutions of the country, feels himself authorised to say, that probably no where else are the Students called to go through a drilling so thorough, and endure an examination so severe, as at Hampden Sydney.

The result of all this appears at commencement. The young men then deliver in public, orations on subjects of their own selection, written by themselves without aid, and without correction, except in cases where matters are introduced, which youth ought to let alone.

The range of thinking, and the style of thought, in these exercises, may, in part, he seen from the list of subjects inserted below. The last Anniversary was celebrated on the 27th of September. It may be proper to observe that there are four Orations, the pronouncing of which is understood to confer distinguished honer. The Salutatory Addresses in Latin; the Cliosophic Oration; the Philosophical and the Valedictory.

The following is a list of subjects with the names annexed of the young gentlemen who treat-1 Oration in Latin. De rebus gestis famaque

They had the prudence to abstain from abstruse topics of political economy They did not undertake to regulate the affairs of the nation, and " teach our Senators wisdom." while I would thus commend their sound discretion, in forbearing to meddle with things too high for them; it is due to these young gentlemen to observe, that they showed a diligence of research, and a sobriety of thought, from which we are authorised to derive the best auguries in relation to

A TEACHER WANTED.

A GENTLEMAN who can offer unquestionable evidences and the French and Spanish Languages, may obtain a desirable situation in a very flourishing Institution, not far from Richmond, situated in a healthy neighbourhood, where the society is as good as the State affords. The advantages offered to a gentleman of steady habits, qualified as above, are board washing and lodging and a salary of $400 per annum. Applications made to the Editors of the Richmond Enquirer will be immediately attended to, a knowledge of the Spanish language, though desirable may be dispensed with—an accurate knowledge of the French and Mathematics is indispensable.

At the same time, it is apparent that their attention has not been confined entirely to the studies of the College course. There is an excursiveness of thought and a range of endirect our literary institutions deserve well of their country, when they send out the youth committed to their care, so accustomed to free enquiry, and to Philosophical observation, that they are fitted to take hold of any subject, and pursue the proper train of investigation.

It is not my intention in this brief review, to enter into the particular merits of the several speakers. The performances on the whole were highly creditable to the institution, and very gratifying to all who truly love the "Old Dominion." And it would be invidious to notice individuals, when all deserve the praise of having done well. One general remark, respecting this institution then, will close this brief notice. Its principal value is founded on the judicious course of study pursued in College, and on the rigorous examinations to which the students are subjected.

The whole secret of mental improvement, consists in vigorous and patient mental effort. On attending the examinations at this College, I observe that the students are required to analyse with great care their text books; and, instead of answering questions so framed as to suggest the expected anwers, to give in continuity the substance of a section or chapter, as the case may be. And thus it happens, that they cannot get along at all without diligent study and strenuous intellectual exer-
