tant resolutions on Federal Relations passed the Legislature of Louisiana on the 18th instant. They are in substance as follows:

stant. They are in substance as follows:

The resolutions regard the Harper's Ferry affair as an attack by the North upon the rights of the entire South. They declare that Louisiana will stand by Virginia at all hazards, in case of another invasion of her territory; they regard the expression of sympathy for Jno. Brown by Northern men, as evidence of a deep-seated hostility at the North towards the constitutional rights of the South, and declare that the election of a Black Republican President next fall will be sufficient cause for the dissolution of the Union.

The resolutions also recommend the appropriation of $25,000, to be given to the State of Virginia to aid in defraying the expenses of that State in fighting the battles of the South, and provide that, in the event of the election of a Black Republican President, the Governor shall order an election of delegates to represent Louisiana in a Southern Convention, and to cooperate with other States in taking such steps as the circumstances of the case and the position of the country require.

ry came into Auburn yesterday, on his way to Canada. While walking about he strolled into one of our restaurants, and there, to his surprise, he saw quietly eating oysters a United States Marshal from Harper's Ferry. The marshal, on seeing the fugitive, arose, and patting him on the shoulder, called him by name, and asked him what he was doing in Auburn. The negro made an incoherent reply, when the marshal immediately left. The negro went into the street, and saw the marshal, in company with two others, rapidly approaching the restaurant. The negro immediately took to his heels, but the marshal failed to pursue him, probably not wishing to attract attention. The marshal lived within three doors of the fugitive at Harper's Ferry, and was perfectly well known to the latter. Whether the marshal was in pursuit of the fugitive, or engaged in summoning witnesses for the Senate investigation committee, and met the fugitive by merest chance, is unknown. The marshal and his men have not been seen since yesterday in Auburn. The fugitive, it is understood, was the slave who guided John Brown into the acsenal at Harper's Ferry. The affair has created considerable excitement among several prominent abolitionists of this city, who were made familiar with the circumstances.—Aubura (N. Y.) Adv., Jan. 18.

In my communication of the 20th inst., it was stated that the meeting of the Raiiroad officials adjourned without coming to any definite conclusion. I intended to have stated that they adjourned over, &c. Several of them are still in this city, and meet from day to day. Such little blunders frequently occur in the Lynchburg correspondence of late, and are mainly caused by the hurried manner in which it is written—the writer seldom having time to read the letters over before they have to be mailed, in consequence of the early hour of closing the Richmond mail in this city.

C mpetition between the packet lines on the James River and Kanawha Canal is so great that one of the lines transports passengers from this city to Richmond, for $1.75, while another charges only 50 cents.

THE LATE LORD MACAULAY.—Lord Macaulay was to have been buried in Westmirster Abbey. The sexton of the Dean Chapter was busy on the 3d instant, opening a grave for the great historian, not with kings and knights of the garter, not even with Stephenson or Talfurd, but in Poet's corner, the south transept of the Abbey. He will lie at the foot of Addison's statue, and close to the grave of Isaac Barrow, one of the great Trinity of Cambridge men, Macaulay's own college. The historian will not lie off Camden—almost the father of English history—not far from wha remains of May, the historian of the Long Parliament, and near to the remains of Johnson, Garrick, Sheridan, and Gifford, the Tory editor of the Quarterly Review. He will lie facing the statue of the poet of "The Pleasures of Hope," at whose funeral the noble historian helped to bear the pall. The 9th instant was the day fixed for the funeral.

ENLARGEMENT OF PARIS.—On the morning of January 1st, the whole circumference of Paris stepped out a mile and drew within its embraces three hundred thousand new inhabitants. Paris now contains a population of amillion and a half. When completed the new city will be thirty miles in circumference, with ninety-two gates. The old octroi wall is to be converted into a boulevard and planted with trees, and will constitute the largest street in the world. The people living between the old and new wall have been accumulating for some time great quantities of wine and other articles subject to city tax, with a view of being provided for years after they are annexed to the city with articles that have escaped the octroi. This evasion of the law has awakened the attention of the authorities, but there seems to be no remedy for it. The city revenue will be largely diminished the first year by this ingenious dodge of the law.

AN OPULENT PLANTER.—Mr. Burnside, a merchant of New Orleans, who, twenty-five years ago, was a dry goods clerk in Virginia, receiving fifty dollars per month, has recently purchased a sugar plantation in St James' Parish, La., for $500,000. There are some 7,000 or $,000 acres in the tract. Mr. Burnside's slaves now number over a thousand.—Three years ago he purchased the magnificent Houmas estate, with some five hundred slaves, from Col. John Preston, the cost of which, with additions of negroes and lands, exceeded a million of dollars.

February, the anniversary of the birth of Washington, will be a great day this year for the holding of State Conventions. The Opposition Convention of Tennessee will meet in Nashville, the Democratic Convention of lowa will meet in Des Moines, the Democratic Convention of Michigan will meet in Detroit; the Whig Convention of North Carolina will meet in Raleigh; the People's Party Convention of Pennsylvania will meet in Harrisburg; the Opposition Convention of Virginia will meet in Richmond, and the Republican Convention of Indiana will meet in Indianapolis,

A FAITHFUL Dog.—Kaufholtz, who was shot in Chicago last week, by his partner, Williams, in a fit of jealousy, is slowly recovering. His life is own g, probably, to the faithfulness of his dog, which, when Williams attacked his master, sprang upon him with a ferocity which finally compelled Williams to make a hasty exit. Had it not been for the dog, Williams would most undoubtedly have killed him, as he was most intensely enraged at the time, and expressed a deep regret afterward, when informed that the wounded man would recover. BURNT TO DEATH .- Mrs. Walter was fatal Burnt to Death.—Mrs. Walter was fatally burned in Oswego county, N. Y., last week.

When at work by the stove the draft took her clothing against the red hot grate. In the twinkling of an eye she was enveloped in a sheet of flame, and was so badly burned that she only lived long enough to make known the manner in which she met her painful death.—
The immediate cause of the fatal accident was the amplitude of her skirts, which being inflated by hoops, was readily brought in contact with the stove.

KANSAS AFFAIRS.—Later advices from Kansas say that the Territorial Legislature assembled at Lecompton on Friday in conformity with the special proclamation of Gov. Medary, and immediately passed a resolution adjourning to Lawrence. The Governor vetoed the resolution, but the Legislature immediately repassed it by a vote of nine to three in the council, and twenty-nine to eight in the assembly.

TAKING ADVANTAGE OF LEAP YEAR.—The ladies in Concord, N. H., are taking advantage of Leap Year, and are giving parties, at a rapid rate. At a party at a Music Hall, Monday evening, says the Democrat: "The gentlemen were served, waited upon, and treated with a degree of elegant gallantry which made them well nigh wish all years might be Leap Year."

AEBRASKA.—From the Neoraska Republican, of the 11th inst, we learn that the bill for a Convention to adopt a StateConstitution, preparatory to the admission of Rebraska into the Union as a State, has passed both Houses of the Territorial Legislature, and been signed by the Governor.

bers of the Tennessee Legislature are spending a social week with the Kentucky Legislature, at Frankfort. The two bodies will visit Cincinnati, where, it is thought, they will be met by the Ohio Legislature. What a jolly time the old fellows will have.

day evening, an explosion took place in the old buildings of the Gaslight Company, in Newark, N. J., which demolished the portion of the building in which it took place. Mr. Hock, the foreman, who was buried in the ruins, was extricated seriously injured.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE.—On the night of the 16th inst, the nail factory connected with the Duncannon Iron Works, Duncannon, Pa., was destroyed by fire. The main building and sixty machines are a complete wreck. The loss amounts to $25,000—insured in Philadelphia, where the building is owned.

FATALLY SCALDED.—A young daughter of Capt. Lewis D. D. Voorhees, of Salem, Mass., fell into a tub of scalding water on Thursday last, and died on the following day. Capt. V. had just arrived at home, as passenger, having had the misfortune to lose his vessel, and now a greater affliction has befallen his family.

FOOLHARDY.—A man in Brooklyn, New York, lately made a bet that he could hold his mouth five minutes over an ordinary gas burner, with the gas turned ou, but not lganited. He attempted the feat, and was almost instagtly strangled, so that his life was saved with much difficulty.

THE NEW JEESEY MONUMENT.—Two thousand dollars have been subscribed towards the erection of the New Jersey monument to the Revolutionary beroes. The estimated cost is $40,000. The work will not commence until $15,000 has been subscribed.

LOCAL MATTERS. Steam Fire Engines.—The stradily inc g popularity of the steam fire engine, mablishes its value, not only as a labor a ETTINGER & EDMOND, on Cary street, yesterday morning, we dropped in a moment, and was surprised to flud that they were consurating a "Steam Fire Engine," to fill a European order, and that it was rapidly approaching completion. After examining the drawings, we were shown the machinery in parts, and were gratified to perceive that every piece was being finished with the greatest nicety and accuracy. This engine, or rather similar ones of its size, will weigh about 6500 pounds, and when completed, will cost $3,500. It has a nine-inch cylinder, is of about twenty horse power, and will throw an inch stream 230 feet horizontally, or 175 feet vertically. It will throw two seven-eighth inch streams 160 feet, can be managed by four men, and is so constructed that in less than ten minutes from the time of an alarm, sufficient steam can be made to put it in operation.

The advantages of these engines are so obvious, that it is scarcely necessary to refer to them. In a city like Richmond three of these engines, (one stationed on Shockoe Hill, one in the middle ward, and one in the lower ward,) would be all that were necessary to protect it from fires, and as they weigh but a little more than a first-class hand machine, could be readily moved to scenes of conflagration whenever they occurred.

The engine now being constructed by Messrs. Ettinger & Edmond is the first one ever built in the South; but we venture to say it will equal any of its class ever constructed anywhere. The workmen employed on it are the best to be had, and the contractors have determined to make it worthy of themselves and of the South. As soon as it is finished it will be thoroughly tested, and if not all they desire, it will not be sent from their works.—They are prepared to supply the South with all sizes of fire engines, just as rapidly as they can build them, and it is to be hoped that no Southern city will send north of Richmond for any sort of engine or machinery that can be manufactured here. If the South wishes to become independent, she must

Chester Shoe Factory.—The gentlemen engaged in getting up stock for a large boot and shoe factory at Chester, in Chesterfield county, will find no difficulty in securing all themoneyed influence they may need, and can get thousands of workmen from the North, if they wish, to enter the factory as soon as it is erected. Indeed, Northern men of wealth and influence, have proposed to purchase the stock, and identify themselves with the business, but the great difficulty to progress seems to be the conflicting schemes of the various parties. The most popular plan as yet suggested, seems to be the one which requires the erection of three factories, each to be used for the manufacture of different styles of work, and all to be under the management of one directory. To this plan there are three objections—the first of which is, that a vast deal of the funds would be expended in buildings and fixtures. The next is, that the scheme would require an unnecessarily heavy outlay for the commencement of a new business.—And the third and greatest objection is, that the company would have to import from Massachusetts, (the hot-bed of abolitionism.) the very fanatics who are now warring against the South, and settle them down in the midst of a slave community, to corrupt them by their teachings. Instead of investing a capital of where else.

A gentleman who has had experience in the shoe business, is about to digest a plan for an establishment, which he thinks will meet the views of capitalists, and as soon as he has completed it, those favorable to it will be invited to meet for action.

Premiums to Pupils.—The scholars in the night school of the Virginia Mechanics' Institute are to have three premiums awarded to them at the close of the session, each of which will be a silver medal, with the name of the pupil, and for what the award is made. Punctuality, good behavior, and progressive studies are to be rewarded; and as every pupil has a right to compete, we presume it will be a difficult task for the teachers to determine which scholar combines the three qualities in the highest degree. This school ought to effect a great deal of good amongst the apprentice boys of the city, and will doubtless do so if they are disposed to avail themselves of its advantages. The teachers are untiring in their exertions to impart information to the youth under their charge, and from this time to the close of the session the Committee of the Institute will be in attendance, to render such aid as may be in their power. Boys need never fear of learning too much that is useful and valuable, for when they grow to manhood they will soon find that they know comparatively little.

Beggars Choosing.—Not many days since a lady in this city was solicited for alms by a young beginner, and promised the beggar something if he would call upon her. Shortly after an imperative "rap" was heard at the front door, and a servant being dispatched to answer the summons, soon reported that the youth had called for his present. Supposing that he would be glad to get whatever she could spare, she sent him a Spanish quarter. When the servant handed it to him, he eyed it for a second, and handed it back to the girl, directed her to take it to her mistress and get an American quarter in exchange. The impudence of the fellow was so great, that the lady promptly made the exchange as commanded, and in a very short time after the young beggar was regaling himself on the best Havana's, puffing off the American eagle in whills of smoke, at the expense of charity.

Street Cars.—The business community as far

Havana's, pulling off the American eagle in whiffs of smoke, at the expense of charity.

Street Cars.—The business community, as far as we have been enabled to form an opinion from frequent conversations, are generally in favor of a street railroad from Rocketts to Brooke Avenue, and would cheerfully vote for chartering a company to lay one, if the question was submitted to them. They contend that coaches drawn by horses along a good track in the middle of the street, would take up much less room than the scores of omnibuses and hacks now employed, and that as they would run regularly and pass given points at the time named, they would prove a great saving, as well as a decided convenience to the community at large. The gentlemen who propose to construct this work have abundant means to do it well and at once, and we have no doubt will realize a handsome dividend on their investments.

The Young Guard are steadily increasing in vestments.

The Young Guard are steadily increasing in numbers, and from present indications will soon be as strong and well disciplined as in their palmiest days. They are now applying for admission into the First Regiment of volunteers, and we presume no objection will be raised to them, not with standing the fact that they have decided it to be inexpedient at this time to change their present uniform and adopt a grey one. The Regiment would certainly look very handsome if all the companies attached to it were uniformed alike, but volunteer companies are generally composed of working men, who are not always able to afford the necessary amount for purchasing a new dress.

Clay Statue.—The Directory of the Clay statue, on behalf of the ladies of Virginia, have appointed a committee to solicit the Legislature to grant them the privilege of placing this beautiful work of art on the Capital Equare. The Directory, at their last meeting, expressed their preference for a site on the acuthern alope, fronting Goddin's Hall, and as the statue is of life eige, and of the purest trailing marble, it would obstruct no view from any point. If the privilege is granted, the Directory intendered from the weather.

Es. It is a common observation that there are more suferers from debility among Americans than can be found among any other civilized nation. The reason is obvious. We take too little exercise, and forget the wants of the body in the absorbing pursuits of business. In all such cases, ordinary medicines can do little good. What is required is just such a tone and invisorator as Dr. J. Hostetter has given to the world, in his CELE-BRATED "BITTERS." The weak and nervous denizen of the counting-house, the exhausted toiler upon the shop-board, and the prostrated student of the midnight lamp, have found a wonderful regenerator in the "BITTERS," and prefer it to more pretentious, but less efficacious medicines. But it should not be foreotten that the agent which is on magical in its influence upon a frame which is merely debilitated, is equally powerful in assisting nature to expel the most terrible forms of disease. Who will not give it a trial?

Mr. Douglas, to commencing his speech in the Senate on Monday, read the correspondence between the Governor of Virginia and the President in last November, in which the former state that he has evidence to show that a conspiracy has been formed in Ohio and other free States to rescue John Brown, and the latter replies that he finds no power in the Constitution to act upon. The Senator took the ground that it was the duty of Congress to pase laws giving the President power to use the naval and military forces of the Government to repel invasions between different States, and also to make it criminal to enter into conspiracies or combinations in any State or Territory, with intent to invade a State, or molest or distorb its government, its peace, its citizens, its property, or its institutions—such offences to be punished by indictment in the United States Courts, and confinement in the prisons or penitentiaries of the State or Territory where the conspiracies might be formed. He said the Harper's Ferry crime was the natural, logicas, inevitable re ult of the doctrines and teachings of the Republican party.

In the House of Representatives, Mr. Barksdale, of Miss, made a speech on the subject of organization. There were, he said, on the foor, four organizations. The Democrats, South Americans and anti-Lecomptonites, all profess to stand in an attitude of opposition to the Republicans. Was it not, then, the duty of these three to unite on broad, comprehensive, national principles to defeat the Republican has been exhausted. He said he could not vote for Mr. Gilmer, who had been presented by the South Americans; he could vote for mo man who commended himself to the consideration of the Republican party. He had nothing to say as to Mr. Gilmer's loyalty to the South, but was opposed to his political conduct. Rather than the candidate of the Republicans should be elected—he receiving not one vote from fifteen States of this Union—rather than his State and section should be take, closed by saying that the people of the

er dated Puerto Cabello, Jan. 10, says:

THE DISTURBANCES IN VENEZUELA.—A letter dated Puerto Cabello, Jan. 10, says:

On the 30th ult., the gang of negroes headed by-the black General, Guerara, stationed in Meron, a village about five leagues from this port, and who has kept this population in continual alarm was attacked by the Constitutional troops by land and sea; the black General having had six months to fortify himself in, erected strong barricades, and the government troops were beaten off. On the 31st they again attacked him with the same unfortunate result. On the 1stof January, some fresh forces having arrived from Valencia, they again returned and took the village; but unluckily, Gen. Guerara and his gang all escaped without the loss of a man, making towards Agua Negra, further down the coast. A more favorable result would have been obtained if Commandant Y saguirra, who had orders from the 30th ult., had arrived on that day instead of the 29th, when the enemy only having to attend to him, beat him back by throwing out ambuscades for two leagues, by which the advancing troops were shot down from before and behind, without having even the satisfaction of seing one of their enemies. The Commandant Adolfo Olivo, Guerara's mortal enemy, (a younger brother having been murdered by that gang,) is pursuing him and his follow-Crown.

Mr. Wilson, the new Chancellor of the Indian Exchequer, had arrived out at Calcutta.

The expedition of troops from India to China was not expected to sail before next Guerara's correspondence, which compro-mised several parties here. It is impossible to say when this country will be in peace. No sooner is one faction put down when another arises, burning, plundering and murdering like Sepoys.

States speaks as follows about Realf, Brown's "Secretary of State," who is now before the Harper's Ferry Investigating Committee:

Harper's Ferry Investigating Committee:
Richard Realf, who was born in England about twenty-five years ago, is a very good and resolute looking man, about five feet four inches high, with dark eyes, and rather long black hair, beard and moustache. He says that as soon as the "Brown foray" was heard of in Texas, it being known that he had been connected with Brown in some of his schemes, there was much excitement and some threats toward him personally, but that all that has now died away, and he claims to have in Texas now, where he resides, more true friends than in any other portion of the world. He expresses his perfect abhorrence of the Harper's Ferry matter, of which he knew nothing until it appeared in the papers, and gives "Old Brown" credit for truthfulness and sincerity of purpose, contrasting him strongly in "Old Brown" credit for truthfulness and sin-cerity of purpose, contrasting him strongly in this respect with Col. Hugh Forbes—very much to the disadvantage of the latter.— Realf's ideas on the subject of slavery, since his residence in Texas, have undergone a radi-cal change, and at the present moment it has no more ardent supporter than he He is perfectly untrammelled in his movements, and except in the mere name of the thing, is not in custody.

FRENCH RIPLED CANNON.-The followin description of the French Rifled Cannon, used by Louis Napoleon with so decided effect in his late Italian campaign, and particularly at Solferino, is translated from La Constitution, solierino, is translated from La Constitution, published in Yonne, France:

"These guns are bronze four pounder, (diameter of the bore 3-316 in.; weight of gun, 660 lbs.) lighter than the other field-pieces. They have six deep grooves, and have a chamber like the Delvigne rifle, or the old pattern howitzer. The projectile rests against the junction of the bore and the chambers. It is made of cast iron, cylinder conoidal in shape, similar to the infantry musket ball, and is hollow at its base or rear end. The cylindrical part of the ball is bored and tapped in six places, to correspond with the six grooves of the gun, and short tin plugs are inserted into these holes. These plugs are forced out into the grooves by the pressure of the gas, and give the ball the rotary motion and accuracy of the rifle ball. The projectile is sometimes made hollow and filled with musket balls, and is exploded at the desired distance, by means of a fuse which is cut at the proper point, according to the time required for the explosion. A movable sight is attached to the right side of the gun. The firing is accurate to 2,000 yards, and the extreme range is said to be 23 miles." published in Yonne, France:

firing is accurate to 2,000 yards, and the extreme range is said to be 2½ miles."

SAD NEWS FROM THE WEST.—The news by the Overland mail, brought by telegraph a day or two since, included some melancholy tidings from the region known as Carson Valley, located in western Utah, on the verge of Catifornia, and constituting the inchoate Territory of Nevada. The cold in that quarter had been intense, and, to add to the distress of the people, there was a scarcity of provisions, consequent, no doubt, upon the gleaat rush thither of emigrants from California to avail themselves of the silver and gold mines.—There must, also, have been there many overland emigrants with their stock, for we read in the telegram that the number of cattle wintering in the vailey east of the mountains was estimated at 20,000, and many of these were starving from the scarcity of hay. This (says the Philadelphia North American,) is getting to be pretty much the asual result of any great discovery of gold in our country. Thousands rush heedlessly to the mines, without the requisite preparation, half-provisioned, and depending on fortune to help them through. Next summer or spring this will all be remedied in Nevada, the productiveness of the mines being ascertained and the inducements to emigration no longer debatable.
