one Name. BY ARBY HUICHINSON PATTEN. Upon the silve" shining and a maiden wrote, with loving hand, the name—no more. The waves crept up with steady aim, And washed a way the little name, Far from the shore.

She wrote aga'n deep in her hea't,
he wrote aga'n deep in her hea't,
he came no more.
But fear, and doubt, an't wounded pride,
Soon drowned within the crimon tide
The word she bore. Then, with a pen of finer art.

"Yet." said the maid "through grief and pain till write I on the living brain.

Put want, and core, and added years,
Buried in depths of biter tears

The sign she wore.

Then cried the maid in wild despair,
ls there no safe place anywhere,
ls yea or shore,
In brain or heart?" The answer came,
God keepeth asfe the true love's name.
Forevermore.

A mong spurious Hibernicisms, m-ther for neither (neether) may be placed-a mispronunciation rejected by Mr. Ellis and by the distinguished London elecutionist, Prof. Melville Bell. This m-ther bad been attributed to Hibernian pot-house writers, who had probably been told that their legitimate and historic form, nay-ther, must not be used in England, when they blundered upon nigh ther, and sent it up into "good society." Various other hybrids received the caustic condemnation of the Professor, whose genial sareasms elicited quite a vivacious debate, somewhat to the exposure of pretentious frauds of expression and forms of speech much affected by callow pedants and half-primed literary hacks.-Report of Professor Haldeman's

See Remarks made by BENJAMIN TRAVERS, F. R. C. S. : Speaking of those diseases and diseases arising from the excess of mercury he states that no remedy is equal to the Extract of Sarsaparilla. Its power is extraordinary; more so than any other drug I am acquainted with. It is in the strictest sense a tonic, with this invaluable attribute, that it is applicable to a state of the system so sunken and yet so irritable as renders other substances of the tonic unavailable or injurious.

WM. R. WARNER & CO.

H. T. HELMBOLD will remark, in conclusion, that his remedies are the result of long and careful study. The fluid extracts have been before the public twenty years—the sale of them in that time proves their value. All have benefited by them who followed my instructions; and to-day they stand unequalted in the extent of their sale, unsurpassed by any medicament in the Dispensary of the United States not excepting a single HERB, ROOT, PLANT, or scientific preparation. tion.
