Week in the Churches

IS INVITED BACK TO M. E. PULPIT

CHRIST THE BUILDER

By Rev. Robert M. Donaldson, at the First Presbyterian Church.

Matthew, 16:18. "I will build my church." No words mock the progress of Christ thru the world. War, greed and sin are great wasters. Christ was and is constructive. He is building thru every social, moral and spiritual agency that is helpful to mankind. He sifts out the ephemeral. He strips off the veneer, the masks, the traditions of formality. He saves and uses the eternal verities. Christ builds His church upon the changed lives of men; upon men's acceptance of His divinity; and upon their Christlike ministry to the needs of the world in their own day and generation. He has enriched the thinking and the enterprise of the world thru the men who have been changed into His own likeness. We are builders with Christ. We are not building cathedrals, but are building individuals, institutions and nations upon the foundations of righteousness. Our age should deal as earnestly with human life and its possibilities as former ages where human faith and divine favor have wrought together, we see foretokens of the completion of that city whose builder and maker is God.

PALMER SUGGESTS FOOD REGULATION BOARD REORGANIZE

Says It Could Now Take Up Work of Investigating Profiteering.

Bozeman, Aug. 10.—Revival of the Montana federal food administration organization is requested as an aid in the campaign against profiteering by A. Mitchell Palmer, attorney general of the United States, in a telegram received here and addressed to Alfred Atkinson, president of the Montana state college, who was food administrator for Montana during the food control organization built up by Herbert Hoover.

Mr. Palmer suggests that fair price committees such as operated in the various counties of the state during the war can now be used to determine costs, a fair margin of profit for the ordinary necessities of life, and a fair price under the conditions existing in each county. Mr. Atkinson is asked to re-organize his war-time machinery which went out of business several months ago, and undertake this task without compensation as a public service.

President Atkinson is now in the Southwest in the interest of the college, but the telegram has been forwarded to him and it is believed here that he will find some way to take care of the attorney general's request.

FRENCH ALREADY BEMOAN LACK OF U. S. EQUIPMENT

Blame Suffering Because of Slow Rehabilitation on Our False Promises.

Chicago Tribune Cable, Copyright. Paris, Aug. 10.—In reading the leading articles in Le Temps, entitled, "The American Crisis and European Duty," you wonder if the editor was not laughing in his sleeve when he wrote it.

"Despite their wonderful prosperity, their limitless resources," says the writer, "the United States show in their turn economic difficulties which follow the war. They have the railroad problems which exceeds in dimensions, perhaps in gravity, all the industrial conflicts we have seen for this side of the ocean. During the negotiations for the peace the people of Europe easily forgot the embarrassment of America."

"Europeans that only of the riches of America and had got in the habit of thinking America could by a simple gesture remedy all her ills. Actual events have given us a more exact appreciation of the American situation. We have found out the Americans are not without merit when they said, 'We should also realize we must help ourselves as allies of nations of continental Europe.'"

Le Temps then goes into the details of Congressman Sims' project for the United States to buy the railroads, calling for the improvement of the whole expense of such purchase be charged to the public, but that only half the returns of the investment go to the public, the other half to go to a small class of railway employees in salaries and wages.

Le Temps is not astonished to learn that the Sims plan is supported by the railway unions.

The paper then raises questions as to what congress will do with the plan, if serious strikes will not break out of agitation over such a project. Such trouble present and prospective in America and England, the writer thinks, should stimulate the European nations to help themselves.

"Beginning last month," continues Le Temps, "Hoover said that the forces of production in Europe were demoralized and that the remedy was to increase industrial effort and avoid useless expenditures. These statements are exact, but the spectacle of the United States shows us Hoover has not exhausted the subject."

It seems that the industrial crisis so justly denounced by him is not confined to Europe. It is also apparent the individual discipline and other remedies prescribed by Hoover, necessary as they are, would not suffice to establish European prosperity. Let us have courage to declare it—the demoralization of productive forces is due in part to the fact we have been deceived by false hope.

The writer then declares that last year, after the armistice, France was assured that with the war over and no American troops to bring east, the United States would immediately have abundance of raw material, an abundance of shipping, an abundance of all things to place at the disposal of Europe for rehabilitation.

"But these hopes are not realized," says Le Temps, "in the measure we expected from the fact comes our anxiety and suffering."

"For lack of tonnage," continues the writer, "France and Italy suffer in a manner particularly cruel and unjust and should receive an immediate allotment of tonnage to meet their shipping needs for as many years as required during reconstruction. And also the railroads of Europe should be so managed as to contribute to the same end under the direction of an international company which should be organized."

Nish, Serbia, Aug. 10.—Through railroad service from Paris to Belgrade, Constantinople and Athens is expected to be established about the middle of August. The railway from Semendria on the Danube, to Nish, which was destroyed by the Austrians and Germans, has been reconstructed. From Nish to Salonika the railway was repaired some weeks ago.

To complete the through line from Constantinople to Paris it is now only necessary to repair the partly destroyed bridge over the Save river at Belgrade.

WORLD CHURCHES TO TAKE CENSUS

Survey of Protestant Evangelical Denominations Planned by New Organization

The first world census, or survey, of peoples, economic conditions, schools, churches, hospitals, orphanages and the whole moral, social, religious and sanitary situation of mankind has begun.

This announcement has been made by the interchurch world movement of North America, the new co-operative organization of Protestant evangelical churches. The denominations of the United States and Canada involved number 76.

With such support, the movement is carrying out the largest program of investigation ever undertaken in this country outside the United States census. Educators, social workers, economists and other scientists are watching it closely.

The United States will be studied intensively and from many points of view never touched on by a census. The object of the American, or home survey, is the tabulation of every kind of information about every community and institution in the country which will be of value in a world human betterment program of all Christian forces.

The foreign survey will determine how Christian forces abroad can be marshalled to the best advantage.
