FITCH'S COMEDY, "GIRLS," AT THE PALACE
The Associate Players promise a real treat in their presentation of the late Clyde Fitch's farce comedy, "Girls," which will open at the Palace theater this (Sunday) evening and will be the attraction during the coming week. The plot deals with the experiences of a crowd of young and old "girls" who believe themselves to be men haters of the nth degree. Their trials and tribulations, coupled with their natural inclinations, make up an entertaining farce.

FULL WEEK AT THE GRAND THEATER
The Grand theater is scheduled to have a busy week, commencing tonight with George White's "Scandals of 1919," a big musical revue that will also be seen tomorrow (Monday) evening. The "Scandals of 1919," is a travesty on foibles of the day. It is essentially a "dancing show" with a big chorus, a host of comedians and singers galore. Tuesday and Wednesday evenings will be Patanque vaudeville, as usual at the Grand. There are six acts on the bill. Maud Earl, a prima-donna of vaudeville and her company, in a fantastic singing novelty, is said to be one of the most successful of the 1920 vaudeville offerings. Among the other numbers are Waca, Bligh and McCarty, the three of jazz; Salvation Molly, a dramatic playlet presented by Frank Belmont and company; Jack Sidney and Isabelle Townley in their latest comedy, "A Sub-way Flirtation"; The Pals, four young men who furnish songs—songs and ensembles; and the Three Bartos, athletes in sensational gymnastic tricks.

"Three Wise Fools," presented by John Golden with the original New York cast, will be the attraction at the Grand Thursday and Friday evenings. This is acknowledged the best-acted comedy of recent years and is staged admirably. It deals with the coming into the lives of three crusty old bachelors of a young girl bequeathed them by a woman they had all loved and lost in their earlier manhood. The young girl, played by Helen Menken, rejuvenates the old bachelors. The comedy offers humor that no true theater lover can well afford to miss. Arthur Middleton, the American baritone, appears at the Grand in concert next Saturday evening. He appeared 35 times during his first year with the Metropolitan Opera company which is testimony of his popularity.

SEXTON HAS THREE ATTRACTONS FOR WEEK
Wallace Reid in "Always Audacious," End Bennett in "Her Husband's Friend," and Billie Burke in "The Frisky Mrs. Johnson," are three stellar movie attractions to be shown at the Sexton theater during the coming week. Opening today and continuing Monday and Tuesday is Wallace Reid's latest comedy, "Always Audacious," in which he essays a dual role. For Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, the Sexton will show End Bennett in "Her Husband's Friend," and next Saturday will present Billie Burke in "The Frisky Mrs. Johnson," and a Sennett comedy, "Mr. Goodness."

WILLIAM DESMOND AT THE GEM
The Gem theater shows a lively Tom Mix special today and again Monday. William Desmond in "Whitewashed Walls" will be shown at the Gem Tuesday and Wednesday. The comedy is a travesty on comic opera happenings in certain Latin-America states. For Thursday and Friday, the Gem will show Charles Ray in "Bill Henry," one of Ray's best productions in which he wins at poker and buys some worthless land to help a lady friend, only to find the land is valuable after all. Next Saturday, the seventeenth episode of Eddie Polo's serial, "The Vanishing Dagger" will be shown.

"AUCTION OF SOULS" AT THE IMPERIAL
Dorothy Phillips in Allan Holubar's newest feature, "Once to Every Woman," is the movie attraction at the Imperial today. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday will be shown "Auction of Souls" with Aurora Mardiganian in the principle role. This play has the unusual distinction of having as leading woman, the girl who actually passed through the original experiences in Armenia in 1915, on which the photo-play is based. "Twins of Suffering Creek," with William Russell in the leading role, is the Imperial's offering for Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday. This play is said to be crammed with exciting incidents.

MADGE KENNEDY AT THE ALCAZAR
Madge Kennedy in "The Girl With the Jazz Heart" is the attraction at the Alcazar today and Monday. Owen Moore in "The Poor Simp" will be shown Tuesday and Wednesday. Commencing Thursday to be shown for five days, will be Nazimova in her latest feature, "Madame Peacock." In this picture, Nazimova deserts her husband because he is an unsuccessful newspaper man with a cough, and her baby girl because she cries too much. She goes on the stage, achieves a triumph and lords it over all until years later, a younger member of her company rises to take the curtain calls away from her. She demands the dismissal of the upstart, only to learn in time that the young actress is her own daughter. Nazimova plays both the actress and her daughter.

AVOID WAR, ITALIAN ORDER
Rome, Dec. 4.—Orders have been sent by the Italian government to General Cavaglia, commander of Italian regular forces which have established a cordon around Fiume, to avoid all complications or painful incidents, Premier Giolitti declared Friday night.

Tacoma, Dec. 4.—Fred Shoemaker, commissioner of public safety, announced Saturday that begging will be prohibited on the streets. He informed the police that any destitute person can get meals and a bed at the city jail by working a few hours daily for the city.

Western Montana
Apple Is in Demand

Special to The Daily Tribune.
Missoula, Dec. 4.—While other western states are finding much difficulty in marketing their apple crops, the western Montana McIntosh apple is selling as rapidly as it can be brought to the market and for the highest prices, according to J. C. Wood of this city, state horticulturist. The demand for the McIntosh exceeds the supply and western Montana's favorite fruit is enjoying its best season, he states.

Alleged Kidnapers Bound Over to Court

Boulder, Dec. 4.—Orville Paige and Ralph Redfield, jointly accused of the abduction of 14-year-old Zola McNinch from the ranch home of her parents near Whitehall, Nov. 17, were given a preliminary hearing on a charge of kidnaping and bound over to the district court for trial. Bail in each instance was fixed at $1,000. Neither of the young men was able to post the required bonds and as a result are being detained in the Jefferson county jail.

FAIL TO FIND LOCATION IN SOUTHWEST STATES

Stanford, Dec. 4.—Tom Chamberlain and Donald Wilson have returned from an extended trip through the south, including old Mexico, and the states of Arizona and New Mexico. Their intention was to locate somewhere in that section, but after a thorough investigation decided there was no place like Montana.

Flood Illumination Effects Make Big Hit at Odeon

A Packed House Last Night

Several hundred dancers enjoyed themselves last night at the New Odeon.

As an added feature the management installed a beautiful flood illumination effects to be used for waiters. These flood lights are made up in such a way that different color effects can be obtained. It is something new and made a decided hit.

This feature will be held over for the ticket dances to be staged Tuesday and Thursday of this week. Large crowds are attending these dances and they are gaining in popularity each week. Piorse's irresistible dance music pleases everyone, and today many traveling men have rated them as the best dance orchestra in the northwest.

The management of the Odeon has made arrangements to obtain and put on special holiday features during the holidays which will be enjoyed by all and will be announced in the near future.
