THE MACHINE IS IN GOOD SHAPE.

Political southsayers have been inflicting the Chicago reading public through the medium of the press that the great Republican machine of Cook County had reached the hour of its dissolution. The uninitiated have been to some extent convinced of these gentlemen's wise prognostications that Lor-mer, Madden, Hertz, Jamieson, Pease and the rest had about arrived at the jumping-off place, and that all that would be left of the machine would be such debris as a new set of Warwick's would consider worth while gathering up and utilizing in the construction of a new political engine.

Now let us see how recent developments bear out the prophecies of these wise men who claim to be able to predict their minds into the future.

Dr. Jamieson, the machine National Committee man from Illinois, has just returned from a visit to Canton, the home of McKinley, with this information:

The Federal patronage of Illinois is to be distributed through the regular party organization.

The machine Congressmen from Cook and there are six of them, are to be the channels of patronage distribution in their respective districts. M. B. Madden, the machine candidate for United States Senator, has the endorsement of President-elect McKinley, who declares that Mr. Madden is an admirable man for the place.

The President-elect has given assurance that the present machine Senator from Illinois, Shelby M. Cullom, and the other machine candidate for Senator, when elected, will be the medium through which the biggest political plums that come to Illinois will be given out. In the local fights upon the machine the leaders of the regular organization have won out in every instance.

Pease has squelched Boyce, Foss and the rest of the reformers in Lake View.
Ald. O'Neill is to be laid out cold this week because he won't be good and make the South Side manumous for the machine. Over on the West Side nobody dreams of doing or saying anything political that is not in accordance with regular machine methods, and the only question now remaining is whether William Lorimer or James R. B. Van Cleave shall be the next Republican candidate for Mayor. Oh, yes, the Republican machine is gone to the demention how-ows, and the leaders thereof are about passed up—nit.

THE NOTORIOUS BERRY DETECTIVE AGENCY, FOR INSTANCE.

Chicago Record: To carry deadly weapons concealed about the person is a misdemeanor when the statutes have been passed almost criminal. This privilege has been hedged about with restrictions, and in the police department of Chicago a man must pass a rigid examination as to character, intelligence and tolerance before he is trusted with police power and the privilege of defending himself and the law by taking the life of a fellow man in an emergency.

Yet, with all these inquisitorial sacraments for citizens, there is a horde of private watchmen and private detectives turned loose upon the city, armed with revolvers and displaying more or less of authority under the law.
Some of these men are chosen because of a reputation calculated to discourage petty thefts and malicious mischief directed against private property. They may be chosen by a person or firm, be sworn in as special officers and armed with a deadly revolver—all the while ignorant of the first principle of common law rights of citizens. The city can make no inquiry as to the individual, and its only protection against the work of the officer thus sworn in is a bond from the employer releasing the city from any responsibility for that officer's wrongdoing. Various cases might be cited where an officer displaced from the city police department, because of a dangerous temperance, has been taken up by a corporation or firm and armed for special service. Against such a man a citizen has no protection.

Such protection from promiscuous shooting can be best assured by making the hired policeman, guarding private interests, conform to the same civil service examinations through which the city police force is replenished. At a time when the question of taking the revolver from the regular police has been agitated, the arming and swearing in of Tom, Dick and Harry is not good policy.

SCRIBNER'S FOR CHRISTMAS.

The Christmas Scribner has another of those brilliant and beautiful covers in gold and colors that first attracted popular favor on last summer's Fiction Number. The Christmas design is by Bryson Burroughs.

Another example of successful color printing, in which Scribner's is leading the way, is in the twelve pages of decorative designs which Oliver Herford has made, to accompany Kenneth Graham's story, "The Magic Ring." This is the author's first appearance in an American magazine. He made his reputation here with "The Golden Age"— an idyl of childhood that has been already called a "classic" by eminent critics. This story describes the first visit of some children to a circus. The fanciful treatment of it exactly suits Mr. Herford's very original talent as an illustrator.

Another novelty in illustration is Greiffenhagen's quaint pictures and cross-texts to accompany F. J. Stin-son's "Law-Latin Love Story"—a three-century romance.

All of the fiction in this number therefore is complete short stories is of remarkable quality and variety.

Richard Harding Davis, in "The Last Night Together," gives the meditations of one of James's Transvaal raiders on the way to prison after sentence.

T. B. Sullivan, in "The Phantom Governor," tells the charming love story of an American bachelor and an English maid—the scene of the story being an English country house.

Clinton Rose has a story of mystery entitled "The Square Diamond," which gives glimpses of India, and culminates in the smoking-room of a P. and O.

THE CHICAGO EAGLE.

steamers. The pictures, by Rosenmeyer, are faithful and dramatic.
W. H. Shelton, in "The Drouth at San Antonio," describes a dramatic episode in the curious life of a "treasurer" village on the Mexican border. It is full of humor. Gilbert Gant, who has spent much time on the border, makes the pictures.

James Barnes tells in farcical story of three old maids and a benevolent burglar. Peter Newell's quaint pictures are great adjuncts to the text.

Mrs. Schuyler Van Rensselaer, now well known as a writer in other fields, makes a new venture in a short pathetic story of New York life, entitled "Mary."

Nathaniel Stephenson is a new writer, and makes a striking debut with an Ohio River story, entitled "Flower of the World."

The leading article of the number is Cosmo Monkhouse's thoughtful account of the work of Sir John Mills, late president of the Royal Academy. This article was prepared a short time before Mills' death, and the selection of the marvellously beautiful illustrations was made with his aid and approval.

Three poems have been commended the work as illustrations of the best artists: An unpublished poem, by H. C. Bunner, illustrated by the Misses Cowles; Mrs.
Dorr's "Sanctuary Lamp," by Will Low; and Miss Larned's "Mont St.
Michel," by Henry McCarter.

Miss Reppel writes an amusing and satirical attack on pernicious Sunday school literature in "Little Pharoahs in Fiction."

The departments and poems complete the most attractive Christmas number that Scribner's has ever published.

DEATH OF WILLIAM STEINWAY.

By the death of William Steinway, the well-known head of the great piano house of Steinway & Sons, of New York, there has passed away not only a conspicuous and successful manufacturer, but one of the most public-spirited, able, and useful of the German-American citizens of the United States.
Outside of the special instruments manufactured by this house Mr. Steinway for many years has been a power in the musical history of the country, and in connection both with German and American musical societies, with the opera, the orchestra, and the concert room has been a distinct educational force.
His death leaves a vacancy in the world of music which will be hard to fill, since few men so closely identified with music in the United States have been so practical and clear-headed and so equipped for work and counsel as William Steinway. On these lines he has achieved a world-wide reputation.

Mr. Steinway was not only a great manufacturer and business-man, but he was equally conspicuous as a man of affairs and a good citizen. He was abstinent of every great movement of public reform and usually was found in the lead. He closely sympathized with all forms of culture, philanthropy, public education, and with all movements for elevating, enlightening and refining the people. Though never accepting offices which were offered him, he bore an active part in politics. He was a Democrat, but never an unswerving partisan. He had been represented in Congress as well as the Mayor of New York, but he declined the office. He had served upon the National Democratic Committee, and he was one of the active participants in the breaking up of Tweed and his gang of plunderers. In the recent campaign his voice was one of the first among New York City Democrats to sound vigorously and emphatically for honest money. The people of Chicago have good reason to remember him admiringly, as he was one of the first and most liberal contributors to the World's Fair scheme, although he was not an exhibitor. In contributions, indeed, he was always liberal and the list of his charities is a long one. He had made himself loved and respected by all who knew him for his many admirable qualities of head and heart.—

REORGANIZATION OF THE STATE SENATE.

There is a very interesting contest going on just now over the organization of the newly elected Senate, and politicians are regarding the outcome with a good deal of curiosity.
It seems there is an organized effort being made to oust from control the old party that has for years dominated affairs in the Senate at Springfield. The men at the head of this movement are young, aggressive men well known of late in the management of Republican politics in Cook County. There is Edward J. Dwyer, for instance, and John J. Morrison, Sidney McClelland and others of the same class. All are comparatively young men when compared with the veterans they are going up against.
Senators Hank Evans, John Humphrey and Charles Crawford were prominent figures in the political arena when the others were in their swaddling clothes.
They have been victors in a hundred battles of this sort, but this does not argue by any means that they are not now facing their Waterloo. Morrison, Dwyer et al. are among the shrewdest Republican workers that have ever come to the front in Cook County politics. They are young men, but there are no flies on them.

The fact that Messrs. Evans, Hamphrey, Crawford et al. have for years controlled everything down at Springfield and raked in everything that could be raked in with a three-tooth comb, is no reason why they should go on doing the same thing forever. "Turn about is fair play." This is the old adage. It is the war cry of the Dwyer, Morrison sympathizer, and The Eagle is inclined to side more power to them.

THE CITY DOG THIEVES.

The Chicago Dog Stealing Bureau has been closed for the year after a profitable season.

At least 15,000 valuable dogs were stolen by it from their owners—law-abiding citizens.

Many of these dogs were sold at good prices.

The closing of the dog-stealing industry was due to the outcry of citizens

over the inhuman treatment of the poor animals.
John G. Shortall, president of the Ho-mane Society, denounced unparalelled the treatment which impounded dogs in this city are subjected to, as indicated in the Tribune of yesterday.
"It is a disgrace to the city," he said, "and one which should be remedied as quickly as possible. It is in line with the general treatment which impounded dogs have received here, and I have made several efforts to change the present system. I have called upon the Mayor and other officials and pointed out the evils of the present method of taking care of dogs, but never have received much satisfaction. The fact that it is only dogs which are being appealed for does not seem to arouse much compassion."

In New York and several other large cities impounded dogs are taken care of by the humane societies, and no such crudities are practiced as in this city.
The vagrant cur and the well-groom-ed lap dog were companions in misery at the pound. With the temperature below freezing, a biting wind blowing, the canine victims had nothing left but to draw close together and suffer.

The building has gaping crevices between the boards and open ventilators in the roof. As the brutes whined and looked appealingly into the faces of victims the question was naturally asked why some straw was not put in the pens for a bed.

MR. BROUSSEAU IS MISSED.

The sage advice and able counsel of Hon. Z. P. Brousseau are missed upon the Public Library Board. It will always be a matter of regret that Mayor Swift did not reappoint Mr. Brousseau.
His distinguished work for the library and for the people will long be remembered.

EAGLETS.

Hon. John B. Parker will make a good judge of the Circuit Court, and his friends propose to see that he is nominated in the judicial convention.

Many citizens of the Twenty-sixth Ward say that Mr. W. H. Tarnow is pretty certain to be elected Alderman next spring. Good people will hail with delight the candidacy of first-class business men of Mr. Tarnow's standing in the community.

Mr. Henry J. Evans, Samuel Kerr, F.
M. Woods, Ludwig Wulf, S. F. Gunderson, Hon. S. H. Case and F. E.
Coyne are doing great work for Hon.
W. E. Mason in his fight for United States Senator.

Hon. F. E. Coyne, the popular President of the Menoken Club, has just been re-elected President of the Twelfth Ward Republican Club. Mr. Coyne has been a red-hot McKinley man for the past eight years, and there are a great many business men who think he would make a splendid postmaster to succeed Wash. Hesing. Mr. Coyne is one of the stanchest supporters Hon. W. E. Mason has on his staff in his fight for United States Senator.

Mr. Wm. P. O'Hearne, the well-known real estate man, who pays as much taxes as any resident of the Twelfth Ward, has been selected by the Twelfth Ward Democracy as their candidate for Alderman next spring. Mr. O'Hearne is very popular, and stands high in Masonic circles.

Mr. G. G. Le Fevre, the well-known grocer, at 1239 Madison street, is one of the largest property owners and most highly respected citizens in the Twelfth Ward. Republicans in this half-block propose to nominate a high-class candidate for Alderman next spring. Members of the Menoken Club are outspoken in their belief that their fellow-citizen, Mr. Le Fevre, would be a splendid candidate to elect to represent the great Twelfth Ward in the City Council.

Some "amooch" ones" who is long on elevated roads, and proposes to build one on Madison street, is being laughed at for his pains. Three-fourths of the property owners on West Madison street, who are unalterably opposed to any such idea, are holding the originator of this wild rumor up to ridicule, and regard all such talk as mere bosh.

Hon. Washington Porter is being much talked of all along the line as a good man to lead the Republican party to victory in the Mayoralty campaign next spring. He was one of the original McKinley men, and no man in the West labored harder for the Major's success than did Washington Porter. He is in the front rank of solid Chicago business men, and would make an ideal candidate for Mayor. He would command the suffrages of the best voters in Chicago. Provided Mr. Porter is not re-elected a cabinet position, look out for him in the spring convention.

Among the prominent Chicago leaders mentioned for Judge of the Circuit Court next June are the following able and successful lawyers: Hon. E.
T. Gleason, Hon. E. F. Ryan, Hon.
Frank W. Young, Hon. Ephraim Banning, Hon. N. M. Plafie, Hon. John J.
Coburn.

Mr. Ben M. Smith, the newly elected president of the Twenty-fifth Ward Republican Club, is a member of the well-known law firm of Mitchell & Smith.
Mr. Smith has practiced law in this city for eight years, and stands high in his chosen profession. Many North Side Republicans are in favor of nominating Mr. Smith for Circuit Court Judge. The Twenty-fifth ward Republicans are solid for him if he decides to be a candidate.

Alderman Malby is said to be hot on the trail of the Democratic nomination for Mayor next spring.

The recent invention of a bicycle that can be folded and then carried on the back like a knapsack has added almost infinitely to the availability of the wheel as an adjunct to the soldier. It can carry him part of his way, and the remainder of the distance he can carry it, the change from one position to the other being quickly and easily made.

LEGISLATIVE GOSSIP.

Extortion by chattel mortgage loan brokers is the latest evil at which the Civic Federation has decided to aim a blow when the Legislature convenes in January.

A bill will be introduced to legalize the chattel loan business with a rate of interest greater than that required by bankers, but considerably less than the present extortionate rates demanded by loan brokers. An interest of 12 per cent a year, or 1 per cent a month, has been fixed upon as a fair medium.

Some people who have noticed Representative Shanahan and "Race Track" Thiemann hobnobbing together a great deal of late are wondering what dark conspiracy these fellows are setting up plins for.

Hon. Henry H. Evans has represented this district in the State Senate more consecutive terms than any Senator in Illinois. By actual terms of service he is the oldest member of the Illinois State Senate. Before the Junior Senators from Cook County are much older they may get their eye teeth out and quit fighting the redoubtable "Hank"—otherwise they will most likely hear something drop. When the Senate is fairly organized the Honorable Senator from Kane will be pretty sure to be on top as usual, and the spring chickens will have gone to roost.

The only Cook County member of the Legislature mentioned for speaker of the House who has any qualifications for the position is Hon. George W. Miller. He was the ablest member of Cook County in the Thirty-ninth General Assembly.

E. G. Schubert, who was supposed to be the choice of the Cook County machine for speaker of the House, and also in favor with corporations, is now said to have pulled out of the fight, and is laboring hard for the success of Chas.
A. Allen, of Hoopstons. Mr. Allen now has a strong lead, and is quite likely to be the successful aspirant.

If Senator Dwyer ever does introduce a three-cent fare street car bill, the query is, Will the bill die "a borned" in the committee it is referred to, or be allowed to languish and perish in the entangled meshes of a sub-committee?

One or two of the daily papers have mentioned Joe Schwab for Democratic leader of the minority in the Legislature. Heaven save the mark! Just prior to the election the usually correct Times-Herald commended Mr. Schwab to the voters of his district, notwithstanding the fact that about the last official act of Schwab's legislative career was his vote against the Merriam resolution for an investigation. His name afterwards appeared in the Times-Herald blacklist, and now this same individual has the temerity to expect Democrats to make him their leader.
Play the minority with Schwab for leader! The Eagle wonders if Schwab is to be put in the saddle, and such old-timers and able members as Capt. Farrell, Fred P. Morris, Ike Craig and Cal Johnson are to be left out in the cold?

If Gus Noble, the great and long-to-be-remembered opponent of the "five-thousand dollar limit law," ever should do such a thing as to introduce a three-cent fare bill in the House, oh, where will Gustavus Noble be when the sun goes down?

Although the Democrats are in the minority in the Illinois House of Representatives a great many of their members are intensely interested in their candidate for Speaker, because the candidate for Speaker of a minority in the State Legislature is regarded as the leader of his party, and has the privilege of naming the minority representation on the standing committees.
Among the candidates for the place are F. P. Morris of Watseka, Isaac B. Craig of Matteson, Caleb C. Johnson of Whiteside, and Michael Stockopf of Stephenson.
Stockopf is said to have the indorsement of Gov. Altgeld's friends, Johnson is going to make a fight and the contest may develop into a trial of strength between the Altgeld and the anti-Altgeld factions.

Capt. Tanner had his usual grist of callers, and was busily engaged in answering correspondence. Congressman Hitt spent the day in the Great Northwestern and so did Clark E. Carr. A number of the members of the Legislature were in and around the house. Among them Frank Mumcock, who may or may not be a candidate for Speaker, but is sure to be chairman of one of the important committees. Ex-Representative McKee, said to be an applicant for a position on the Railroad and Warehouse Commission, called, as W. Berggren, of Galesburg, will be an applicant for the position of Insurance Commissioner.

Brigadier Wheeler is being indorsed by his friends for reelection in the position which he now occupies.

Thomas B. Needles of Washington County, who will probably be a candidate for the Speakership, came up to see how he stood with the Cook County members. Robert Mayberry, of Fairfield, who was one of the officials of the Southern Prison under Gov. Fifer, will ask reappointment to his old place.
Ex-Senator R. E. Adams, of Fairfield, a life-long friend of Capt. Tanner, will ask reappointment as a member of the Court of Claims.

Dr. Clark Gopen, the Superintendent of the Asylum of the Insane at Kankakee, has addressed a circular letter to the members of the next General Assembly, inviting them with their families, to come down to the institution on Dec.
3 and look it over.

The Republicans will have the same majority on that ballot in the General Assembly of Illinois that they had in the last Legislature—viz., forty-six.

Two years ago there were ninety-two Republicans in the House and thirty-three

HON. HENRY STUCKART, Talked of by Democrats for City Treasurer.

In the Senate, a total of 125. In the next General Assembly there will be 125 Republicans—eighty-seven in the House and thirty-eight in the Senate. The Democrats will have sixty-six members of the House and only thirteen in the Senate, a total of 79. This includes as Democrats the "Populist" Senator, Dresser, of Greenville, and Representatives Blood of Mount Vernon and Bryant of Onalua.

The successful candidates for the House, with their postoffice addresses, are as follows, those whose house numbers are given living in Chicago:

Dist. Name and postoffice address. Politics.
1—William G. Lamb, 2545 Halsted st., Rep.
