BOOST CHICAGO.

Plans for a $1,000,000 advertising campaign, extending over a period of four years, were formulated at a meeting of the "Chicago Boosters" in the Illinois Athletic Club.

The plan, designed to remove the stigma falsely attached to the name of Chicago by other cities, largely through misrepresentations in their press, was presented by William D. McJunkin, local advertising expert.

Mr. McJunkin called on Mayor Thompson and suggested the plan. "Put it into writing at once," said the mayor, "and lay it before the Boosters tonight."

The plan provides for appointment of a "Mayor's Committee for a Greater Chicago."

"This committee," reads Mr. McJunkin's outline, "shall act and speak only in the name of the mayor of Chicago. The membership can be a matter of later decision, but I should say that more than five might make it unwieldy."

"It is my belief that a sum of at least $250,000 a year for a period of four years, making $1,000,000 in all, should be invested in advertising and merchandising the city of Chicago.

"To look to the city council or special interests for funds would be utterly folly. The cause is such a democratic one that it should be financed with equal democracy. Every man in business in Chicago should be given an opportunity to share in the glory of this tremendous civic endeavor.

"It would be my plan to obtain bulletin boards in every advantageous location in the country. This is a strategic method of carrying the war into the enemy's country.

"Imagine, if you please, the great host of transients arriving in New York City being greeted by a painted bulletin extolling the advantages of Chicago as a summer resort, as an industrial center, etc.

"Pause for a moment and calculate the value of this message to the people of Chicago. How typical of Chicago's 'I Will' spirit, how characteristic of Chicago's commercial courage.

"Atlantic City visitors seeking the cooling breezes of the ocean would see flashed in striking colors before their gaze a personal message from the mayor of Chicago.

"The honest facts of Chicago's greatness would thereby soon be established in the national mind, and petty charges made against our city eradicated for all time.

"And what fighting blood it would put into our citizens, who, seeing these bulletins in other cities, would be encouraged to stand up wherever they might be and boost Chicago first."

EL WISO CLUB OUTING

The fifth annual outing of the El Wiso Club, one of the most popular North Shore organizations, was held last Sunday at the fine grove at Bryn Mawr and Lincoln avenues. There was a very large attendance, over 500 being present, and music, games, athletic sports, dancing and good eats kept everybody in the best of humor.

The officers of the organization are: John Walter, president; Thomas H. Dugan, treasurer; John V. Bergen, secretary. Thomas Pay acted as chairman of the outing celebration; Joseph Kane was official referee, and Robert Greig, announcer of entertainments.

Joseph P. Lynch was at the head of the restaurant committee and Joseph Murphy of the bar committee with O. Weighoff Peterson as first assistant and Bert Longworthy second assistant. The entertainers of the evening were Jack Donahoe, Robert Coppenger and John Shields, who also acted as chaplain.

Andrew J. Ryan, the able lawyer, should be elected to the constitutional convention.

KICKHAM SCANLAN, Able Judge, Talked of for United States Senator.

LOWDEN FOR PRESIDENT

William G. Eddens was elected president of the Lowden Boomers' organization, with A. N. Marquis, president of the Hamilton club, honorary president. Henry C. Morris was chosen secretary and W. M. Richards treasurer.

Among the vice-presidents who said they are ready to go forth and spread the Lowden gospel throughout the country, are:

John H. Batten, Henry R. Rath, Foster S. Nims, Elmer D. Brothers, John F. Voight, Chas. J. O'Connor, R. W. Dunn, Chas. J. O'Connor, The Rev. R. A. Leroy T. Steward, White, W. F. Olds, John C. Alm-S. A. Harper, strong, W. A. Leonard, H. E. Sever, O. G. Cammeron, John T. Richards, S. T. Messervey, Ninian H. Welch, Robert S. Ilea, G. T. Buckingham, Fred L. Rossbach, W. E. Humphrey, W. W. Edwards, W. S. Barber, Albert C. Clark.

Among those who attended the meeting and signed up as charter members, besides the officers and committeemen named, were:

Samuel Erickson, John T. Richards, Alfred S. Adams, L. H. Wilson, Henry R. Rathbone, William R. T. Owen, Even, Charles G. Blake, Judge William N. Gemmill, William A. Leonard, Foster S. Nims, and Clark S. Reed.

Eugene Mullane, the popular Chicago typo, is visiting his daughter in Cincinnati. Mr. Mullane has been doing great work in getting out the Cook county tax list for the Chicago Journal and his many friends wish him a pleasant time on his well-earned vacation.

Francis S. Peabody for United States senator is the winning battle cry for 1920.

SIGN OF THE TEETH

An Alderman Proposes a Fitting Symbol for the Department of Public Service.

A well known alderman suggests that a double set of teeth, similar to some Halsted street dentist signs be adopted as a symbol for the Chicago Department of Public Service.

The alderman does not say whether the teeth are to be used on public utilities or on the public itself.

WALSH AND THE PEACE CONFERENCE

Frank P. Walsh of Kansas City, whose portrait is here presented, and former Gov. Edward F. Dunne of Illinois, bulk large just now in the public eye because of their efforts to get the Irish question before the peace conference. Mr. Walsh was formerly chairman of the federal industrial relations commission and later prominently identified with organized labor.

"We had a conference with the president today in which he stated that the American commissioners could not take up the case of Ireland officially with the peace conference, but that he himself and others had done, and would continue to do, unofficially, what they could do in the interest of Ireland; that the American commission had not yet taken up the senate resolution requesting them to use their efforts to secure a hearing for De Valera, Griffith and Plunkett."

GILLETT AND THE MEXICAN PROTEST

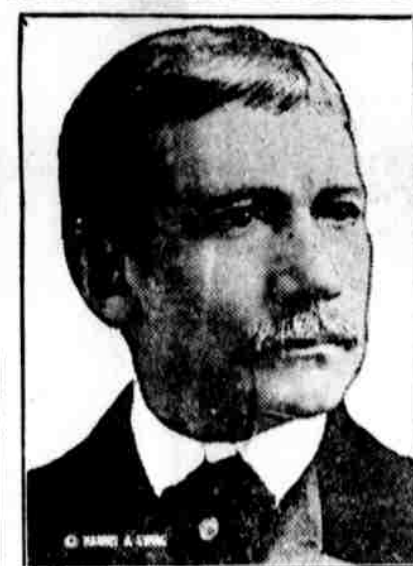

This is a particularly good late portrait of Frederick H. Gillett of Massachusetts, speaker of the house in the Sixty-sixth congress. He has a difficult position to fill—a Republican speaker in a Democratic administration—and his handling of the office is being watched with much interest.

Just now speaker Gillett is also in the public eye because of certain things he recently said about Mexico before the Pan-American commercial congress. His address brought forth a protest to the state department from the Mexican embassy. In a formal statement Mr. Gillett says:

"I thought it would be preposterous in a discussion of the commercial conditions on this continent to have no allusion made to Mexico, whose persistent failure to observe her international obligations and protect foreigners engaged in commerce has been notorious and is the most flagrant obstacle to commercial intercourse and growth in our hemisphere. And yet I endeavored to make clear that my attitude was entirely free from hostility or jingoism; that I was eager that the United States should earn the permanent confidence and friendship of the republic south of us."

ELIHU ROOT AND THE PEACE TREATY

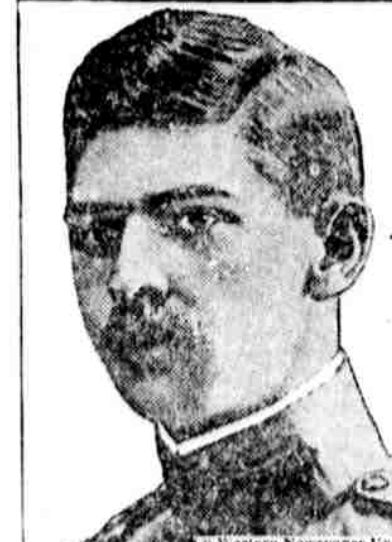

Elihu Root of New York, former United States senator from New York and former secretary of state, frequently occupies the public attention, inasmuch as he is probably the leading lawyer of the country, and many Americans consider his intellect second to none. Just now he is under the limelight in connection with the peace treaty. Mr. Root came voluntarily before the senate committee on foreign relations when it began its investigation of the "leak" following the statement by Senator Lodge that he himself had seen an official copy in New York of the peace treaty which the senate was unable to secure from the peace conference. Mr. Root's statement contains these points:

"I have a copy and have had it for several weeks. It was sent to me by Henry P. Davison. I assert the entire propriety of my having it and of his giving it to me. He had it because of his legitimate interest in the Red Cross, which is involved in the treaty. He brought it away with him when he came, there being at that time no injunction. It was not a secret document in the sense of the word. The German government having full right to make this paper public made it public."

CROWN PRINCE CHARLES OF ROUMANIA

Crown Prince Charles of Roumania is suffering from a bullet wound in the leg, self-inflicted, according to reports reaching this country. The wound is not regarded as serious. The crown prince's act, which has caused a sensation in Bucharest, is said to have been prompted by the king's insistence that the prince make a six month's trip to Japan to forget Mile, Coelle Lambino, the girl from whom he was forced by his royal parents to obtain a divorce because she was neither titled nor wealthy.

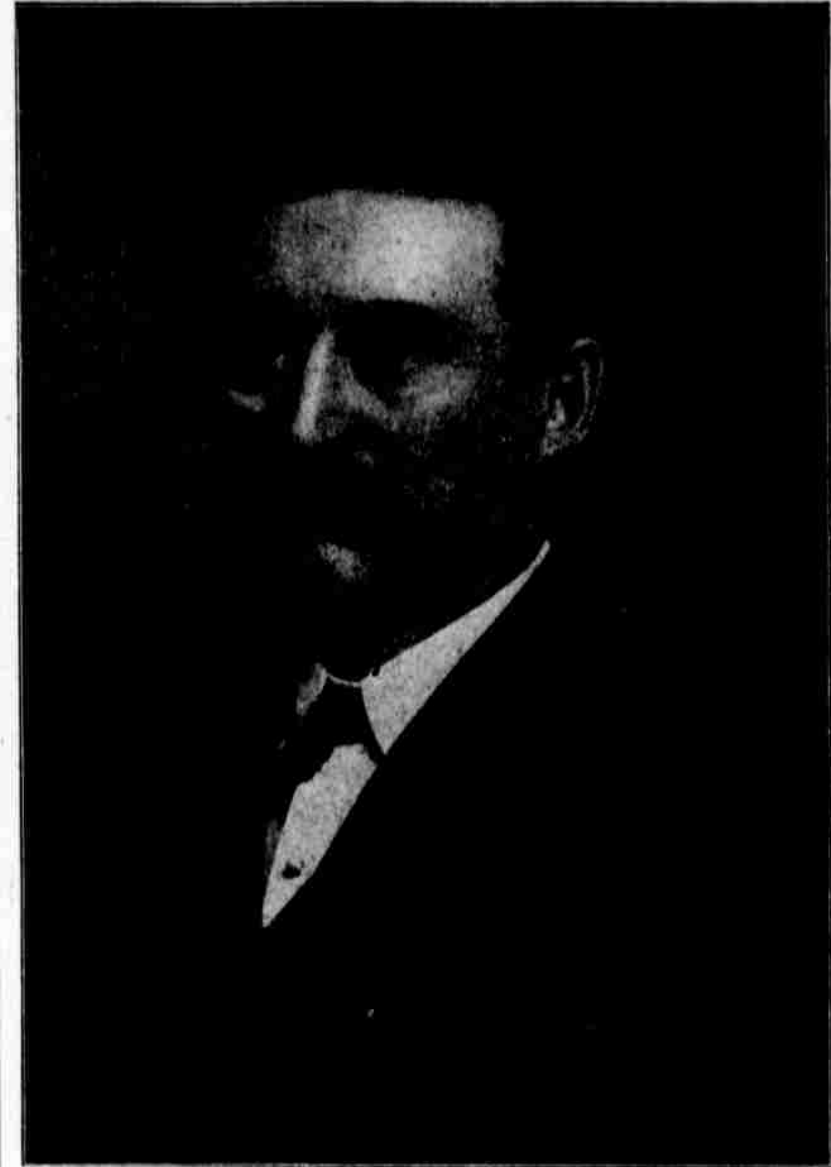

The crown prince created consternation in Roumanian royal circles last year by marrying Mile, Lambino, who is the daughter of a retired major in the Roumanian army.

For this "scandalous" King Ferdinand ordered that he be given 75 days' solitary confinement "for absconding himself without leave from his garrison." The queen has done her utmost to divert Prince Charles' mind from Mile, Coelle by trying to interest him actively in her charitable works, but Charles is still deeply attached to his former wife and has frequently been seen in her company.

ORLANDO AND ITALIA IRREDENTA

Herewith a new and good portrait of Signor Vittorio Orlando, Italian leader at the peace conference. He is president of council and minister of interior of the Italian government. He has been called the "most popular man in Italy." This is because of his stand for the Italian claims to Fiume and the adjacent regions in Italia Irredenta. While Orlando has apparently been compelled to recede from his position and accept the peace conference decision that Fiume shall be made a free city, with a plebiscite at the end of 15 years, he has made a sturdy fight, which has won the admiration and affection of his countrymen. According to the latest reports a League of Nations' commission is to administer Fiume, assuring equal rights to Italians and Jugo-Slavs. Italia Irredenta (unredeemed Italy) lies along the eastern shore of the Adriatic sea. It consists largely of communities admittedly Italian which geographically lie within the borders

ABOLISH THIS JOB

The Department of Public Service Is an Unnecessary Hardship on the Taxpayers.

The city department of public service should be abolished.

It is an unnecessary nest of sinecures.

The biggest sinure in it is the job of commissioner.

A visit to his office may disclose this fact.

This department cost the weary taxpayers of Chicago, $76,910 last year.

It pretends to receive, investigate and adjust complaints regarding service, rates, products and other matters relating to the health, comfort, convenience or safety of the public as affected by public utilities.

Let us laugh.

Everybody knows what a joke this department is and how little it does.
