Jones Tries to Be Released
On Habeas Corpus.His Case Belongs to Los Angeles
County.The Crown Hills People Discuss the Water Question.A Boating Party in the Moonlight—Other
Local Items of an Interesting
Nature.

The case of J. Jones came up before Judge Shaw yesterday on habeas corpus. It will be remembered that Jones was tried and held to answer in Justice Savage's court on a charge of bribery in connection with the Weyse divorce case. His attorneys based the application for release on the ground that the offense, if any, had been committed in Orange county, and therefore did not come under the jurisdiction of the Los Angeles courts. It was shown that the testimony in the case indicated that the overt act had been made in Orange county but the money had been paid over in Los Angeles county. Judge Shaw held that this brought the matter within the jurisdiction of the Los Angeles courts and dismissed the writ, remanding Jones to the custody of the sheriff. Later Jones furnished bail in the sum of $1,000, and was released.

CROWN HILLS.

The Water and Other Questions Discussed.

At a meeting of the Crown Hills Improvement Association held last night, the principal topic under discussion was the much-mooted water question. The sentiment of the meeting was unanimously in favor of the city owning its entire water system, as there were universal complaints that the water under the present arrangement was unfit for use, the quantity inadequate and the rates charged excessive. Messrs. E. H. Hutchins, D. W. Field and Jesse Yarnell were appointed as a committee to act in conjunction with others in the mass meeting to be held in the Temperance temple on Thursday evening next.

A BOATING PARTY.

Moonlight Gathering at West Lake
Park.

The brilliant moonlight Monday evening tempted out a merry party of young people, who, proceeding to West-lake park, took possession of the boats and floated about on the sparkling waters until the "wee sma' hours." There were several musicians among them, and the sound of the banjo and guitar mingled pleasantly with the musical voices. Among the young people noticed were the following: Misses Emma Granite, Cornelia Keyes, Julia Spencer and Dimmick; Messrs. Herwig, Reynolds, E. Hine, W. Fiske and W. Noble.

THE IROQUOIS.

Their Reception and Banquet to the Hon. James V. Coleman.

The Iroquois Club, at their regular meeting last night, had the pleasure of receiving the Hon. James V. Coleman, the grand sachem of the league of Iroquois Clubs. Mr. Coleman presided over the initiation of six new braves and the hearing of applications for membership of seventeen more. After the regular business was transacted an address on the Iroquois organization and the beauty of its formation was delivered by Jos. D. Lynch.

The adjournment of the club was followed by a banquet at Jerry Illich's, and a most enjoyable time was had under the supervision of "Jim Murphy," of San Jose, as toast-master. "The Democracy," by James V. Coleman, was very eloquently responded to. Other toasts were as follows: "The Iroquois of Los Angeles," by Captain A. F. Mackay, president of the club; "The Iroquois of San Diego," by Secretary Harry J. Neale, of the San Diego club; "The Bar," by Hon. R. F. Del Valle; "The Press," by Colonel J. J. Ayers; "The Ladies," by A. W. Ryan, and "The Democracy of Southern California," by Charles R. Redick.

Many impromptu speeches were made, and the final speech of Mr. James V. Coleman, in reference to his resignation as grand sachem, was listened to with universal regret.

CRIMINAL NOTES.

Valencia Reyes, a Mexican, was arrested by Officer O'Regan on Main street yesterday morning upon a charge of grand larceny, and was locked up in the city jail. He attempted to drive off in a buggy belonging to Dr. Wong, a Chinese surgeon, which the owner had left hitched to a post in front of his drug store at No. 647 Upper Main street.

Jerry Moody, a son of Captain J. F. Moody, the door-keeper of the opera house, was yesterday arrested upon a warrant charging him with the battery of J. T. Ellis, the discontented "supper" who attempted to get away with Jerry's father on Saturday night last. Young Moody was taken before Justice Lockwood and placed under $10 bonds to appear for trial at 9:30 o'clock on the morning of the 13th inst.

The condition of Ah Sing, the laundryman who was hit on the head with a shovel by J. S. Bernard, on Tuesday afternoon, was considered so serious yesterday that the charge against Bernard was changed from that of battery to assault with intent to commit murder, and he was rearrested and locked up in the city jail upon the more serious charge. It is believed that the Chinaman's skull was fractured by the blow, but owing to the condition of the wound a satisfactory diagnosis could not be made yesterday.

NEW SUITS.

Complaints Filed Yesterday With the County Clerk.

Among the papers filed with the county clerk yesterday were the following new complaints:

Mrs. Francis McDonald vs. G. E. Gard; suit to foreclose a mortgage on lot 2, sec. 31, T. 1, N. R. 9 W. S. B. M., dated April 1, 1889, and given to secure a promissory note for $1,550, bearing interest at 10 per cent. per annum.

The Pacific Bank vs. Hannah C. Pile, executrix of the estate of W. A. Pile, deceased; suit to obtain judgment for $1,200, with interest at 10 per cent. per annum from April 11, 1888, $150 attorney's fees and costs, alleged to be due as the balance of the purchase price of lots 13, 14 and 15, block N, Monrovia.

Books at $500 Per Ounce.

Of the original edition of the sonnets of Shakespeare, published by George Daniel, of London, in 1609, there are but two perfect copies known. One of these is in the British museum; for the other $5,000 was paid but a short time ago. As the book is very small, only 7 by 4 inches, and weighing less than ten ounces, it has been figured that at that rate each ounce of the precious volume brought $500, or many times its own weight in gold.—[New York Sun.]

Getting Their Eyes Open.

Senator Plumb will make a lengthy speech on the tariff bill, which will doubtless enable Kansans to understand many points about this complicated matter that are not only puzzling to the ordinary citizen and voter, but even to the few who are well versed in political economy. Kansans people are not such blind worshippers of the protective tariff that they are ready to accept everything proposed under its name.—[Topeka Journal.]

O! My Baby.

She (just returned from a burning building)—O! my baby! my baby! Won't somebody save my baby? Gallant fireman—Betcherlie, marm. (Disappears amid the flames.) Gallant fireman (presently appears at an upper window)—Ain't no baby here marm. Nothin' but this blame dorg. She—O! that's my baby.—[Texas Sittings.]

The lady was young, and her school was a district school across the river; she was drawing a salary of $60 a month. A piano tuner was traveling in that particular district. For several days he made ineffectual attempts to engage the interest of the schoolmistress. The business of having the organ tuned she left entirely to her parents, and the young exquisite felt as though he was left out in the cold, so he asked her one day: "Why is it that so many school-teachers are old maids?" With perfect sang froid she replied: "Because we do not care to give up a $60 salary for a $50 man."—[Astorian.]

A BANTAM FIGHT.

Seventy-Three Rounds Fought and the

SAN FRANCISCO, June 3.—Dal Hawkins and Fred Bogan fought seventy-three rounds at the Golden Gate Athletic Club tonight for the bantam championship of the Pacific coast. Hawkins did the most of the leading and punished Bogan badly about the face. Hawkins, however, was knocked down twice in the seventeenth round, and again in the eighteenth, and was nearly knocked out. For the last forty rounds no fighting was done, and the referee declared the contest postponed until tomorrow night.

When a Woman is Well Dressed.

The general woman is the woman you know and I know, you like and I like. She has wit and sense enough to realize that the most expensive fashions are often the key-note to the development of pretty coats and frocks in less costly fabrics. If she is wise she will study out the colors and stuffs that suit her best. She will buy each frock and gown with the thought to that which is already in her wardrobe, and in this way will avoid inharmonious effects. Gowns, gloves and hats in harmony are what, after all, make a well-dressed woman. They need not absolutely match, but a color must, as the French people say, "sweat at each other." The general effect must be that gained in a many-hued flower, each shade blending into each other until perfection is obtained, and the woman, like a flower, is a symphony in tints.—[Ladies' Journal.]

How to Enjoy Music.

To widen and deepen the pleasure and profit which can be got from acquaintance with the nature and material of music one should learn something about instrumentation. He should be able to identify the tones of the flute, clarinet, bass clarinet, oboe, English horn, bassoon, French horn, cornet, trombone, tuba, harp, violin, viola, cello and double bass which are employed in the ordinary modern orchestra. He should learn in a general way how these instruments are employed—that is, he should ascertain how the wood and the brass are organized, and how they should sound when used separately or together. After a time he will be able to distinguish special combinations, such as two clarinets and two horns, or two flutes and a bassoon, and from that his ear will advance to the ability to tell when clarinets are combined with flutes, and when a change is made to oboe and flutes. In a similar manner he will improve his acquaintance with other parts of the orchestra.—[Philadelphia Evening Telegram.]

SEA SHELL SONGS.

A DREAM OF BALBOA.—BY FELICIA MADDEN.

Oblivion, land of dreamless sleep,
Thou country from whose gates none e'er return,
Where weary rest, and mourners do not weep,
Where love is quenched, and hatred ceases to burn,
Where those who drink one draught from thy deep river,
Or launch their tiny craft on thy smooth sea
Have rest and peace and quietude forever;
Methinks these silent shores be part of thee.

A deathlike calm has settled o'er the sea;
No sound is heard save now and now again
The lap of wavelets breaking on the strand,
Or cry of seabird answering to his mate.
Far to the west a soft September sun
Plays with the mist, and burnishes the sea.

With gold and green and nearer still
With white and carnine, intermixed and gray
As here and there a weed comes floating in,
And rests upon the silver of the sand.

Far out, among the rocks and shoals that be
Along the coast-line near that jutting point,
Weird monsters of the deep disport themselves,
And ever and anon they cry aloud
As if in terror, yet the voice
With which they break the stillness, circling round.

Strikes on that purple cliff, and ever sweet and clear,
Back from the cliff the echo answers "Peace."

But list! another sound breaks on the air,
The tramp of armored men! and moved along
Their greaves of steel make concert to their tread.

The sea-fowl, frightened, scurry far away,
The seals return them to their watery bed,
And from the purple cliff the echo "Peace"
Has died forever. Henceforth oh, thou sea,
Thou hast no peace; but still the name,
A token to thee from the silent past,
Shalt thou keep ever; thine inheritance.

Henceforward thou shalt be the briny path of commerce,
On thy breast shall waft them over richly-laden ships,
And men shall build them cities by thy cliffs.

The warriors pause upon the jutting point,
A goodly band, two hundred strong or more,
They pause while yet their chief goes on in pace
Or two toward the apex of the cliff.

Then, drawing forth his sword, he, in the name
Of God and king before his followers there,
Christens the shining still blue waters "Peace."
Then, kneeling down devoutly on the sand,
Where age on age have rolled them by unmanned.

But still have left their footprints visible
On this lone coast so young and yet so old,
He asks a grace of him to whom eternity
Is but the dawning of a fuller day.

Thou, thou, the God of all majesty,
Hast by thine own hand this day led us forth
Upon the confines of this boundless sea,
And to this land, the discontented "supper"
Who pray that thou wilt still thy blessing lend,
And a great empire raise along this shore,
And may its excellence and fame extend
Throughout the traversed world forevermore.

And now, beside this silent, peaceful sea,
Accept our thanks, we yield them, Lord, to thee.

Billiards Extraordinary.

Don't make a mistake about tonight being the date for the great exhibition at billiards by the two famous players, Schaeffer and Ives, the most brilliant players in the world. It is a great opportunity, and the pavilion has been engaged so as to give opportunity for the largest number to witness it at a low price of admission. Bring the ladies, also the children that are old enough to appreciate the games.

The Condensed Milk

Made by the new factory, Buena Park, is the richest and purest in the market. Every grocery store has got it, and every person should ask for the "California Brand" of condensed milk. Remember it is absolutely pure, and besides being a home product, it is the best.

Make No Mistake

If you decide, from what you have heard of its cures or read of its merits, that you will take Hood's Sarsaparilla, do not be induced to buy something else which may be claimed to be "about the same" or "just as good." Remember that the sole reason for effort to get you to purchase some substitute is that more profit may be made. Firmly resist all inducements, and insist upon having just what you called for, Hood's Sarsaparilla. Then you will not be experimenting with a new article, for Hood's Sarsaparilla is Tried and True.

"In one store the clerk tried to induce me to buy their own instead of Hood's Sarsaparilla. But he could not prevail on me to change. I told him I knew what Hood's Sarsaparilla was, and had taken it, was perfectly satisfied with it, and did not want any other." Mrs. ELIA A. GORR, 61 Terrace Street, Boston, Mass.

We Are All Taking It.

"We could not be without Hood's Sarsaparilla. It is the best medicine we ever kept in the house. My family are all taking it." Mrs. J. M. BARNES, San Joaquin and Fremont Streets, Stockton, Cal.
