CROOKS MAKE THEIR ESCAPE. All Three of Them Are Known to the Scranton Police.

The following dispatch was received by The Tribune from Wilkes-Barre last night: Wilkes-Barre, Oct. 15.—Henry Evans, of Scranton; David Sullivan, of Pittsburg, and Lawrence Sullivan, of Philadelphia, who were arrested last week charged with being pickpockets, were ordered before the court for a habeas corpus hearing today, and while Jail Warden Holand was escorting them from the jail to the court house, all three made a dash for liberty and escaped. Holand is a heavy man and could not overtake the prisoners. It is believed that the men are notorious crooks.

Evans is known to be from Scranton. The two Sullivans have relatives on Ninth street and all three are known to the Scranton police.

WINFIELD WAS A GREAT CATCH Young Man Arrested in Coal Exchange Is Now in Jail.

Entered Architect Duckworth's Office and Stole Drawing Instruments; Also Took Cigars from Keogh's Pool Room—Was Making a Third Attempt When He Was Detected. At the Hearing Held Under $1,500 Bail.

Maurence J. Winfield, the young man whose arrest in the Coal Exchange building at 2:30 o'clock yesterday morning was exclusively reported in yesterday's Tribune, is now in the county jail in default of $1,500 bail on a charge of burglary. He confessed the recent burglary of Architect Duckworth's office and the stolen goods have been returned; Winfield also acknowledged to have burglarized Jerome Keogh's pool room, on Lackawanna avenue.

For these offenses and the entrance to E. A. Shiffer's office yesterday, Winfield was held in $500 bail each by Mayor Bailey at the hearing.

Winfield is a very clever young man. He came here from Leadville, Colorado, where his father is a reputable citizen. The young man is a civil engineer, having followed his father's occupation, and when he struck Scranton had little trouble in securing employment in George Leighton's office on the second floor of the Coal Exchange building. He gave a hard-luck story and through the kindness of his employer the young man was given a key to the office and allowed to sleep there.

Thus he was placed where he could strike from the inside. A few weeks ago the Duckworth office was entered and drawing instruments to the value of several hundred dollars were stolen. Miller & Peck's china store on the ground floor was entered on the same night and $7.75 in money taken. The manner of the robberies showed that some one familiar with the premises had done the work. Winfield was not suspected, however. His actions did not warrant the slightest suspicion.

ANOTHER JOB. Last Wednesday night Jerome Keogh's pool room was burglarized. Eight boxes of cigars and seven or eight dollars in money were taken. The theft was the work of some one from the inside, although an attempt to ward off suspicion had been made by loosening the bolt from the outside.

The police say that the Keogh burglary was traced to Winfield and that a warrant was to have been sworn out yesterday for his arrest. The coup by Patrolmen John Thomas and John Saitry yesterday morning cleared up the mystery in a better way than anticipated.

Patrolman Thomas, who patrols the Wyoming avenue beat, has been particularly watchful of the Coal Exchange building during all the week. He, in truth, spent most of his time in the building and no person entered the place without being stopped and questioned. At 2 o'clock yesterday morning a light was noticed in the apartments of E. A. Shiffer, on the second floor. This light had not been burning earlier in the night and Patrolman Thomas at once reported the fact to Captain Richard Edwards, who is in charge of the night force this week. He was advised to inform Patrolman Saitry and together an investigation was made.

Two Tribune reporters, who were standing on the opposite side of the avenue, saw the patrolmen enter the building and, it seemed, the policemen had just started up the stairs when the light in Shiffer's establishment was extinguished. The reporters at once informed Patrolmen Thomas and Saitry of the unusual happening.

The door to Shiffer's office was found locked. For fully twenty minutes the patrolmen knocked and threatened and finally a young man came to the door and said: "Hold on there; what do you—are you fellows doing?" He opened the door and was at once grabbed and handcuffed. Patrolman Thomas' revolver was drawn.

DIAMOND DYES AHEAD. Women Know by Practical Experience That It Is Easy to Dye with Diamond Dyes.

It's the easiest matter in the world to dye with Diamond Dyes, as thousands of women know from practical experience. By using these simple home dyes, one can make old clothing look like new and save a great many dollars in the course of a year.

Do not accept imitations of the original Diamond Dyes from any dealer, no matter how strongly he may recommend them, for while he can make a larger profit on them they do not dye as much as the Diamond, nor equal their fastness of colors. When poor dyes are used, both your money and labor are thrown away and the goods are spoiled forever. Use the Diamond Dyes only and get results that are equal to those of the professional dyer.

A WORD OF ADVICE—Republicans who are faithful in 2000 off years are the ones whose festivity to party counts. Let all such besmirch themselves now.

VERY ATTRACTIVE DISPLAY. Miller & Peck's Lamp Exhibition Is Well Worth a Visit.

One could hardly ask a prettier sight than that displayed in Miller & Peck's china hall yesterday on the occasion of the opening of their special lamp sale. Hundreds of lamps in endless variety from the ordinary kitchen affair to the hundred-dollar hand-painted parlor lamp were exhibited in tasteful array, and during the day and evening were viewed by crowds of delighted visitors.

The window display lasts almost every passerby, and with their attention thus attracted to the dazzling splendor of the interior exhibition few indeed pass on without entering.

IN THE EVENING when the more beautiful lamps are kept burning the display is especially attractive. The exhibition lasts until Monday. The firm claims that a larger or more varied display of lamps cannot be found anywhere in the country.

That's What the Scranton Poor Directors Think, Anyhow.

CRITICISM FOR FAVORS RECEIVED. Scranton Accommodates the Central Poor District of Luzerne by Caring for Twenty-five of Its Insane Each Month at Cost Rates and the Wilkes-Barre Directors Grumble About It. Now the Latter Are to Be Asked to Explain or Care for Their Own Insane.

The directors of the Scranton Poor district are tired of doing favors for the Central Poor district of Luzerne county and getting in return criticism of county asylum methods. The Scranton district gets $1.75 per week for maintenance of Wilkes-Barre's insane confined in the Hillside Home but the Scranton directors prefer that Wilkes-Barre should do its own care-taking or cease to criticize.

Such is the situation as revealed at yesterday's meeting of the directors of the Scranton Poor district in their rooms in the city hall. Members Fuller, Shotton, Murphy, Terpe and Payne were present. In the absence of Mr. Langstaff, the president, Dr. Payne was chosen to preside.

The Wilkes-Barre matter started with Dr. Payne's suggestion that it was time to regulate the reception of Wilkes-Barre's insane at the Home where an average of 25 from Luzerne county are inmates during each month. Mr. Fuller stated that two Wilkes-Barre directors at the recent state convention of poor and charity districts in this city had misrepresented the Scranton district and its asylum. If their statements indicated the general sentiment of the Luzerne district board to take action and decline to accommodate people who did not appreciate

EXPLANATION WANTED. Secretary Lynett was directed, on motion of Mr. Shotton, to correspond with the Central Luzerne directors and ask for an explanation.

The trouble is traceable to the difference of opinion between the two boards as to county or state care of the insane. At the convention this week it was the consensus of opinion that Pennsylvania should adopt the Wisconsin plan of county asylums for the insane. It was agreed, however, that this plan was not wanted unless created by a state act and not special legislation, as in the former case each county would have its asylum and the whole would be under state supervision. At present counties pay $1.50 per week per inmate for the care of their insane in state asylums, while the state pays $1.75 per week per inmate in county asylums, a difference of $3.25 in favor of counties like Lackawanna which have their asylums.

Luzerne county, and its Central district in particular, has for years been "plugging" for the locating within its borders of a state insane institution for the northeastern part of the commonwealth. While Luzerne has been plugging it has had to pay $1.75 per week for the care of each of its insane in Danville, Hillside Home and other institutions outside Luzerne county and is frequently obliged to confine its subjects in the Luzerne county jail until a place can be found for them.

Meanwhile the other counties of the state are anxious without exception to divert toward the county asylum plan of Wisconsin, in which state there is not an overcrowded insane institution.

HOSPITAL CHARGES. Mr. Fuller entered a protest against the district paying for patients at hospitals which are beneficiaries of state appropriations. His motion, seconded by Mr. Terpe, provided that no director should give an order on a hospital of that kind for a patient whose maintenance is charged against the district. The usual number and variety of applications for relief were heard during the meeting.
