Avoid Sedative Cough Medicines.
If you want to contribute directly to the occurrence of capillary bronchitis and pneumonia use cough medicines that contain codeine, morphine, heroin and other sedatives when you have a cough or cold. An expectorant like Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is what is needed.
That cleans out the culture beds or breeding places for the germs of pneumonia and other germ diseases. That is why pneumonia never results from a cold when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is used. It has a world wide reputation for its cures. It contains no morphine or other sedative. For sale by all dealers.

FORD'S GRAND OPERA HOUSE.
Week October 21st, the famous musical triumph
MADAME SHERRY,
famous cast and production.
"Madame Sherry", considered the musical sensation of a generation, is announced at Ford's week of October 21st with an exceptional company and the same production seen so long at the new Amsterdam theatre, New York.
Its remarkable vogue in this and other countries gives it the credit of being the most popular and widely whistled and hummed sung and dancing rage of the present period. It is filled with magnetic melody and the fun and vivacity of the story is equally popular.
Yvonne Sherry, the little maid from the convent with a convent girl's ways, who finds herself suddenly thrust into the quick of life comic situations that follow so rapidly that suddenly she finds herself in love.
"Every Little Movement has a Meaning of its own," the taking lyric, has been popularized all over the world.
Madame Sherry ran a whole season in Paris, a year in London, a year in New York and six months in Chicago.

ROBBERS AT GRACEHAM.
Many Persons Lose Provision.
Great Excitement Prevails.
One Arrest Made.

We learn that for some time past petty thieving has been perpetrated in our neighboring town, Graceham. Corn has been missed from cribs, cellars have been entered, meat missed from smoke houses and chickens from a number of flocks have mysteriously disappeared.
Last Tuesday morning between 5 and 6 o'clock when Mrs. John Joy arose she went to a window and looking toward the barn saw a man at the barn bin filling a sack with bran. Mr. Joy was quickly notified and after securing a gun fired several shots at the thief, who was beating a hasty retreat. Feeling sure that he knew the man at the feed box, Mr.
Joy swore out a warrant for the arrest of James Connor, a citizen of the town, the writ being served Friday by constable Clarence Lidie. Connor was brought to Thurmont and taken to Frederick on the 3 o'clock car and given a hearing before Justice Dennis who held him in the sum of $100 for his appearance at court.
The citizens of the town have become very much alarmed, fearing that at anytime their property will be entered and valuables carried away. Whether one person has been doing all the thieving or whether an organized band has been at work is not known, but at the present time it is said to be extremely dangerous for anyone to be found prowling around other people's premises in that town.

Wagaman Will Receive a Big Majority in Washington County.

Charles D. Wagaman, the Republican candidate for Congress from the Sixth Congressional District, will receive on November 5th the largest majority from Washington county ever given a Congressional candidate and unless all indications fail, he will sweep this district.
At no time was sentiment so favorable to the election of Mr. Wagaman as at present and his popularity increases as election day approaches. Voters, without reference to their sentiments on National issues, are supporting the Republican candidate and urging his election with growing enthusiasm.

The reason for this is plainly evident.
He is the embodiment of these qualities that make a great statesman and he is essentially the people's candidate. Everything that he does is, as far as possible, fit and complete. He aspires to place and preferment, not for the mere exercise of political power, and still less for pleasurable indulgences, but for occasions to serve his country. This is the type of man that we want to represent us in Congress.

It is astonishing when one learns of the real sentiment for Wagaman in his own county. People every day are declaring their intention to cast their vote for him. And it should be understood that these declarations come from men who have been of a political faith different from that of the republican party.
Democrats are constantly expressing their intention in Washington County to support him. One can hear it talked on the streets, in the workshops, on the railroads, on the farms, in the rural districts.

All this largely by reason of Mr. Waga-man's personal popularity and the esteem in which he is held by his fellow citizens, and also by reason of his firm and substantial views on public questions, especially the tariff and the farm.
The farmers in Washington county are especially interested in Mr. Wagaman.
Besides being an able lawyer he is also a farmer of the first type owning and personally conducting a farm. The farmers recognize that his views on the problems which confronts them are not visionary but are worked out and framed from personal observation and practical experience.

This class of people appreciates this fact and they are frank and out spoken in their determination to stand by him in this campaign.
The republicans of Washington county irrespective of their intentions as to the presidential candidates are a unit in their support of Mr. Wagaman.
The large vote that he will receive from personal friends of the opposite party, added to the solid vote of the Republican party, will give him Washington county by an extraordinary majority as stated above.—Hagerstown Morning Herald.

COL. ROOSEVELT SHOT.

Receives Bullet From 38-Calibre Gun at Milwaukee.
Assassin Captured. Admits Shooting; Now in Prison.

Col. Theodore Roosevelt, Progressive candidate for President of the United States, was shot but not seriously wounded Monday evening, October 14th, as he was leaving the Gilpatrick Hotel for the Auditorium hall in Milwaukee.
The wound at first was not thought to be serious and the Colonel went on to the hall and began his speech after he had seen his assailant arrested and taken to the police station. For a time the Colonel did not know he was hit, and after his attention had been pointed to the bullet hole in his overcoat and after he had withdrawn his hand covered with blood, he made light of the matter.
An examination was made at the Auditorium, and his physicians urged him to go to a hospital, but he insisted on making his address and spoke for an hour and a quarter and only showed slight signs of weakness from loss of blood.
Col. Roosevelt's life probably was saved by a manuscript of the speech which he delivered that night.
His assailant was prevented from firing a second shot by Albert H. Martin, one of the Colonel's secretaries, who leaped from an automobile onto the man's shoulders and bore him to the ground.
The crowd cried kill him, but the Colonel asked that the assassin be not hurt.
At police headquarters the man who did the shooting gave his name as John Schrank, and admitted that he had been following the ex-President for many days in hope of getting a chance to kill him.
Schrank came from Bavaria with his parents when 9 years old, and has re-sidently been a saloonkeeper in New York city, he now being 30 years old. He says he has been personally acquainted with Roosevelt ever since he was police commissioner of New York.
Schrank gives the following reason for seeking Roosevelt's life:
"My knowledge of history, gained by much reading, convinced me that Roosevelt was following a grand undertaking.
I was convinced that if he was defeated at the fall election he would again cry 'Theif!' and that his action would plunge the country into a bloody civil war. I deemed it my duty to put him out of the way. Soon after I had a dream in which former President McKinley appeared to me. I was told by McKinley in this dream that it was not Czolozsz who murdered him, but Roosevelt. McKinley in this dream, told me that his blood was on Roosevelt's hand, and that Roosevelt had killed him so that he might become President."

The following report is given in Wednesday morning papers regarding the condition of Col. Roosevelt: Mercy Hospital, Chicago, Oct. 15.—The physicians, after making an X-ray photograph of Colonel Roosevelt, announced that the bullet had entered the right breast, to the right of and one inch below the level of the right nipple.
"The wound is a simple one, but dangerous because of the possibility of blood poisoning. Colonel Roosevelt has a phenomenal development of the chest. It is largely due to the fact that he is a physical marvel that he was not fatally wounded. The gun was a foul one and the bullet passed through too many substances before entered his body for fear of blood poisoning not to be imminent.
"The range of the bullet, which was of 38 calibre, was upward and inward, a distance of four inches on the chest wall.
The missile entered above the upper border of the liver, less than an inch below the lower border of the lungs.
"If the bullet had penetrated either the liver or lung, or had entered the same point on the left side, it would probably have been fatal.
"It was not deemed necessary by the physicians at Mercy Hospital to remove the bullet now, but a careful watch will be kept for septic conditions."

It's a Ford 1912.
It arrived last Wednesday night and was cosily housed in a new shed at the home of Dr. E. B. Sefton. It's a "1912 Ford" fitted with electric lights, and is in other ways different from other Ford cars in town. Mr. M. L. Creager brought Dr. Sefton and the car from Philadelphia via York, and had a thrilling experience running through a rain and wind storm from York to Gettysburg. The car came through in good condition, and we dare say Doc is the happiest man in town running an automobile. It was predicted he and the car would be found up a pole, but so far he has remained on the ground.

Receiving Many Hawk Heads.
The law passed at the last session of the legislature putting a bounty on all hawks, foxes, weasels, etc., killed, is responsible for 152 hawks, 1 fox and 4 weasels having been brought to Justice Jos.
C. Gernand's office. If the same amount is taken to other Justices throughout the districts in which the law applies, the county will have a neat little sum to pay out January 1st of each year. No provision was made in the tax levy this year for this expense, hence those who have killed any of the above must wait until January 1, 1914, before they can collect.
