DETROIT GOT GAY AND RIOT STARTED

Sheridan Forfeited Game to Washington.

INTERFERENCE AT THE PLATE

Warner Was Too Previous in Taking Pitched Ball in Effort to Catch Hit.

DETROIT, Aug. 23.—An attempt to assassinate Umpire Sheridan, who was the umpire of the game between the Detroit Tigers and the Washington Senators, was made today. The game was forfeited to Washington by 3 to 0.

All of the fuss was stirred up over the umpire's decision in calling Hunter Hill safe at the plate when he stole home with the winning run in the eleventh inning. With the score 1 to 1 at the beginning of the second extra inning, the Nationals went in with two weak batters up. Patten and Hill were easy for the local infield, but Hill poked a Texas leaguer over Lindsay's head, and the first ball that Mullin served up to Hickman was straightened out to left for a double, which advanced Hill to third.

Warner interfered.

With two strikes on Anderson, Hill tore away from third and tried to score while the pitcher held the ball, and it looked as though the Washingtonian was going to get away with the trick. Just as Anderson started to swing for the ball Jack Warner moved up in front of the plate and got the ball in time to catch Hill by a yard, but Umpire Sheridan called him safe on the ground that Warner interfered with Anderson.

The home team immediately set up a great howl, but after waiting a minute the umpire pulled his watch, and at the expiration of the two minutes declared the game forfeited to Washington.

Players Protected Umpire.

The crowd broke out upon the field, and for a time it looked dangerous to the arbiters, but the home players fought the mob back and, forming a cordon about him, escorted him to the clubhouse.

The game was a pitchers' duel throughout, with little difference between the work of Patten and Mullin. In the third Heydon drew a pass, and Patten followed with one of his few and far-between hits which sent the catcher to Coughlin's station. Hill's long fly to center scored Heydon. Detroit's attempt to squeeze a run home in the fourth was foiled, but in the fifth singles by Lindsay and Coughlin, together with two outs, evened up the score.

IT COSTS REAL MONEY TO WATCH JIMMY BRITT

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 23.—James Edward Britt is taking no chances on losing money in his forthcoming battle with Battling Nelson. Yesterday his family began charging a fee of 50 cents for each person visiting the training quarters and a total of $75 was accumulated. It is thought the receipts will run this high every day.

Ground was broken today for the big arena at Colma. The arena is planned so that every seat affords an unobstructed view of the ring. It is estimated that over 10,000 spectators can be accommodated. In about two weeks the structure will be completed. The most distant seat from the ringside will be 100 feet. Prices range from $29 to $39 a ticket.

It is now certain there will be a big crowd to see the fight Friday night between Buddy Ryan, of Chicago, welterweight champion, and Jimmy Gardner, of Lowell, one of the claimants of the lightweight honors. The advance sale of seats is larger than was expected after the Britt-Nelson match was made for such an early date. Gardner is a slight favorite in the betting.

Handsome Trophies For Rifle Experts

Bronze Group Authorized by Congress Is Center of Attraction—Hilton and Dryden Figures and Soldier of Marathon.

RIFLE RANGE, SEA GIRT, N. J., Aug. 23.—Thirty-five rifle teams went to the butts this morning for the final day's practice before the opening of the national matches under the auspices of the National Board for the Promotion of Rifle Practice. The list of contestants was swelled yesterday afternoon and last evening by the arrival of Indiana, Michigan, and Missouri. The only match tomorrow will be the national individual.

The trophies awaiting the victors in the national team match have been put on exhibition in the reception room the New Jersey Rifle Association's club house. The handsome national trophy, authorized by Congress, holds the place of honor—a five-foot bronze—the figure of a warrior holding in leash the four dogs of war representing the army, the navy, the marine corps, and the national guard.

On either side of the national trophy are the Hilton trophy and the Soldier of Marathon. The former—a magnificent shield valued at $4,000, was presented to the National Rifle Association by the late Henry Hilton, of New York. As the prize in the Hilton match, the District won it repeatedly before it became the prize for the second best team in the national match. The bronze Soldier of Marathon, which goes to the team making the third best score, is valued at $200. The District won it several times when it was the prize in the interstate military match, now discontinued.

Dryden Trophy.

The Dryden trophy is also on exhibition. This massive bronze, presented by the late Senator John F. Dryden, of New Jersey, is valued at $3,000. The trophy captured it in 1923 from eleven competitors by a score of 994. The District taking second place, with 990. New Jersey value New York team, which will endeavor to make it three straight victories in the national match, is composed of Capt. E. B. McAdams, First Sergeant X. O'Connor, Sgt. W. B. Short, and Corporal W. M. Taylor, of the Seventh Regiment. First Sergeant F. M. Darling, Killer and First Sgt. C. M. Smith, of the Twelfth; First Sgt. G. E. Bryant, Second Third, Ordnance Sgt. G. V. Went, Capt. A. E. Wells, First Lieut. A. E. Ranner, Ordnance Sgt. G. L. Egan, and First Lieut. W. B. Shepard, Seventy-first, and Capt. Arthur D. Kemp and Ordnance Sgt. W. F. Lennher, of the Seventy-fourth.

The West Virginia team—the first rifle team ever sent out of the State—reached camp yesterday morning in command of Maj. Charles W. Cole, ordnance officer of the First Brigade. The coach is Maj. C. C. Pierce, of the First Regiment, and the spotter Capt. J. L. Graham, Second. They came direct from the State encampment at Parkersburg, where the competition was held for places on the team.

The Florida mascot—the nine-foot, fifty-year-old alligator—has given up the fight. He died yesterday morning. The Florida boys say Northern snail killed him; Jersey men insist that the prospect of a bad dogging for the Florida riflemen broke his heart. The "gator" was the central attraction of the camp. There remains, however, a baby "gator, a yard long, to entertain the women visitors.

Haze Bothers 'Em.

Poor light conditions prevailed for the 800-yard practice this morning, a haze hanging over the targets lined up against the horizon. The practice this morning is over the same ranges as this morning, 500 and 1,000 yards. Brig. Gen. William P. Hall, general staff executive officer of the National Competition, has called a meeting of the team captains for the purpose of discussing the conditions of the match.

At least two matters are expected to come up—the use of the sling and the prohibition of all communication between two men firing at the same time. The rules call for the sling to be fastened to the proper swivels, but competitors use and manipulate it in a dozen different ways, some wrapping it around the arm, others around the neck, etc.

Mustn't Talk.

To enforce the regulation prohibiting all communication between two men firing together is obviously very difficult, but the officers of the tournament propose to impress upon the team captains the necessity of absolute silence.

If practicable the program of the national competition will be changed by shifting the national match from Friday to tomorrow. The change is desirable to save time.

The general hall today issued an order to the effect that captains of teams for the national must file the make-up of the teams with him not later than tomorrow evening, and that failure to do so will result in a team from the match.

ST. VINCENT WALLOPED BY EPISCOPALIANS

A pretty running catch by "Grappler" Turner was the feature of yesterday's loose game, in which St. Vincent, of the Marquette League, was trimmed by Epiphany Chapel, of the Episcopal League, by 7 to 1.

The Catholics played fast ball, but in the last three the Episcopals piled up all of their seven runs.

SCROFULA A Disease We Inherit

The tainted blood of ancestors lays upon the shoulders of innocent offspring, untold suffering by transmitting to them, through the blood, that blighting disease, Scrofula; for in nearly every instance the disease can be traced to some family blood trouble, or blood-kin marriage which is contrary to the laws of nature. Swelling, ulcerating glands of the neck, catarrh, weak eyes, sores, abscesses, skin eruptions, white swelling, hip disease and other deformities, with a wasting of the natural strength and vitality, are some of the ways this miserable disease manifests itself.

The poison transmitted through the blood pollutes and weakens that health-sustaining fluid, and in place of its nutritive qualities, fills the circulation with scrofulous matter and tubercular deposits, often resulting in consumption. A disease which has been in the family blood for generations, perhaps, or at least since the birth of the sufferer, requires constitutional treatment. S. S. S. is the remedy best fitted for this. It cleanses the blood of all scrofulous and tubercular poisons, makes it rich and pure and under the tonic effects of this great blood medicine the general health improves, the symptoms all pass away, there is a sure return to health, the disease is cured permanently while posterity is protected. Book on the blood and any advice wished, furnished by our physicians, without charge.

YANKEES PREPARE FOR NEXT SEASON

Griffith Has Number of Likely Recruits.

SEVERAL VETERANS TO GO

Neither Pat Dougherty Nor Jack Powell Has Been Satisfactorily Probable Line-Up.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 23.—It turns out the Old Fox, Clark Griffith, has paraded several good recruits from the minor leagues for next year's New York Yankees.

It already is known that Frank Hahn of the New Orleans team of the Southern League will be his substitute outfielder. In addition, Griffith announced today he had signed for next season Frank Delehanty, another of the famous brothers, who, as leftfielder of the Birmingham club in the same organization, has led his league in batting all this season, with Hahn next; George Moriarty, leading third baseman of the American Association, whom Tim Lincecum got for Griff from the Toledo club; Thomas, catcher of the Providence team in the Eastern League, whom Manager Jack Dunn, formerly of the Giants, considers the best backstop in that organization, and who bats about .320; Bob Keefe, star tender of the Pacific Coast League, who has just won the half-season pennant for Tacoma by shutting out the 'Friscos players in two successive games, and three others whose names Griffith is not prepared to reveal.

Costs $11,000.

Griff, it seems, under the direction of Frank Farrell, who owns the New York Americans, has been at work for weeks on the organization of a 1935 outfit for the Hittites. He has sent checks for $11,000 in all in the last fortnight or so, and in exchange has the signatures of the above seven men, who, he is convinced, will strengthen the Highlanders wonderfully. Manager Griffith knows he is to lose Dave Paul at the end of the season, the astute David wisely concluding it's time for him to stop playing ball and begin practicing law. He is living in the city of Pat Dougherty and probably Jack Powell. It's likely Jim McGuire will be retained.

The team next year, therefore, probably will consist of Delehanty, left field; Moriarty, center; Keefe, right; Moriarty, third base; Chase, first; Williams, second; Elbert, short; Chesbro, Orth, Dabson, Keefe, Hogg, and the mysterious Pacific coast pitcher, and Thomas, Klenow, and McGuire, catchers, with Hahn as substitute outfielder and Joe Yeager as utility man.

Stewards Take License Away From Jockey Baird

Alleged That He Claimed Apprentices Allowance Illegally—Owner Nicholson Ruled Off.

SARATOGA, Aug. 23.—The stewards of the Jockey Club held a meeting last evening after the races, and one of the main matters that came up for their consideration was the case of Jockey Baird, which was referred to them by the stewards officiating here.

Since the boy was suspended the other day they have been getting evidence as to the connections of the rider and of those that held the contract on his services. As a result the stewards handed out the following rulings:

"Robert Nicholson is ruled off the turf for practices in contravention of the rules of racing. The jockey's license granted Harry W. Baird is revoked, and practice allowance having been procured under false pretenses."

Nicholson is the man who holds the contract on the boy and also brought him East. Last winter he was training for Thomas Hatfield, one of the parties implicated in the case of Jockey Hicks at New Orleans three years ago, when the boy, after a lot of persuasion, confessed that he had ridden to lose under threat from Hatfield and another party that they would shoot him. Hatfield was ruled off but was afterward reinstated and is still racing horses in the West. Nicholson has always asserted that his association with Hatfield was anything but pleasant, and that he had cut loose from him. Just what his offense was here has not been made public.

The revoking of the boy's license seemed to be based on the fact that he asked for and received an apprentice allowance that he was not entitled to; still the chances were that the evidence submitted showed other and graver reasons for his banishment, for that is the taking away of his license. It is said that Baird was in the means at Latonia last fall and scored his first victory on a legitimate track, riding under the name of Baird. He had been in the saddle again this year. The boy, who began after a poor ride on Woodward.

Baird rode at the Benning spring meeting, where his work was a sensation.

All idea of starting Mahawk II, in the Futurity was abandoned today, and the colt, as soon as able to be moved, was shipped back to the farm at Amsterdam where he has been. Handlers report that there is some improvement in his condition today, but that this does not mean that he will round to with any great haste. On the contrary they have grave doubts as to whether he will see the start of the season this year, and as for another season they are simply hopeful. They know Baird is a good colt and are perfectly willing to wait for any length of time rather than push things and break that does not mean that he will round to with any great haste.

The colt's owner, John Sanford, and his father, old General Sanford, feel that the accident that takes this colt out of the big race at Sheepshead Bay is a great loss. They had every hope of winning it, for the colt had shown them even better than his race and with the field for the race lacking in stars they had every reason to believe that victory would come their way and bring to the present chairman of the Jockey Club the present chairman of the Jockey Club.

The rest of the Sanford stable will be shipped to Sheepshead Bay, and it is almost certain that it will be able to pay expenses and a little more, for there are some very useful materials in the lot. When it became a certainty that Mahawk II was out of Saturday's race the stable quite a scramble to secure the services of Redfern, who was to have ridden him, but the seekers found they had been forestalled by Tom Welsh yesterday, as soon as he heard of the mishap to the Sanford colt. Redfern made a provisional engagement that if his services were not required by his employers he was to take the mount on Ormonde. This was confirmed today, and this means that one of the most dangerous factors in the race will be in good hands for Redfern is in better form just now than he has been all summer.

J. A. Bennett has secured the services of W. Knapp for his filly Flip Flip in the big race of Saturday. The boy had been reserved for some time back to the pilot one of Philip J. Dwyer's candidates, but as none of them seem to have a chance, Mr. Dwyer has agreed to let Bennett have the boy. This should make a happy combination, for this jockey is a very patient rider and the filly he will have under him needs just that sort of handling. She has a great chance for the race provided that the big field does not bring some interference. She is its own bow and if she should be knocked about much would surely be beaten. Her preparation, which has been made here, has been gilt-edged, and some very clever judges now rate her chances as second to none.

The owner of Ruth's Rattler, who finished second in Monday's steeplechase, has filed a protest against the payment of the purse to Danaher, in whose name Charawind ran, on the ground that he is not the owner of the horse. This matter will be looked into by the stewards of the National Horse and Steeplechase Association. It has been looking up the transfer of the horse to Danaher on its own account, and now that a protest has been made, will insist on having the bill of sale, which has thus far failed to develop. This probably means that Edward Corrigan, who formerly owned the horse will be called on for the details of the transfer. He is here, and will no doubt appear if required. The parties making the protest seem to think they have a good case, but refuse to disclose their evidence until the matter comes up for an official hearing.

Oak Duke, the colt which H. K. Knapp purchased for a reported price of $15,000, ran yesterday in the third race, but failed to set a share of the purse. The showing was of course disappointing, for the fact that led him to the finish are at best but selling points. Still it will not do to condemn him on this one race as he ran as if he was away short of being at the top notch. He is above the ordinary and will make good beyond all question when he is fit to run.

Accountant, who will carry the colors of Capt. S. S. Brown in the Futurity has his final keying-up in the form of a six race straight all through the final quarter, and many who have been clinging to the belief that he will win are now looking elsewhere for the winner.

Dandellon's victory in the Saranac Handicap yesterday was due more to the clever riding of O'Neill than it was to the merits of the colt. While Water-making every post a winning one, he was waiting in behind for them to tire, went a little wide and then he won. O'Neill was waiting for them. He was in the opening with a rush and in a driving finish just got home in front. Judging from the race would have been solely between Waterlight and Bedouin. As it was they were both raced off their feet.

Bullman won two races yesterday afternoon with Snow and Dood. This is the best that this rider has scored this season and yet it is only a couple of years ago that he was one of the top notchers and winning races every day. For some reason his mounts these days are few and far between, and yet he is a far better rider than many of the youngsters parading in every race.
