“MY RIGHT TO DIE,” WOMAN KILLS SELF

Mrs. Mary Hinton Wrote
Many Gruesome Epigrams
Before Decision.

“If life is anything that we have the privilege of ending when we choose, then life becomes a hobby.
It is everybody's right to exercise that privilege. When we have lived ourselves, it is our right to die by our own hand. So everybody has the right to their own views of life, and this is my view. When I think it is right to die I shall end it.”

The epigrams were written by Mrs. Mary Hinton, an assumed name by which she signed the note she left before putting herself to death.
