

PURE FOOD SHOW PROMISES MUCH

Manufacturers From All Sections Send Samples Here This Week.

The National Pure Food Show will open the doors of the transformed Convention Hall tomorrow afternoon at 1:30, on what, it is predicted, will prove the greatest exhibition of pure foods that has ever been given in Washington.

All is in readiness today at the hall for the opening. The show, which is to extend over a period of two weeks, is to be an eye-opener, according to the promise of the Retail Grocers' Association, of this city, under whose auspices the annual exhibition is held.

Guaranteed Pure.

Only foods which have the official approval of the Department of Agriculture are to be shown. Chief Chemist Harvey W. Wiley, noted foe of all food impurities, agreed to be one of the speakers at the opening of the show only after he was assured that none but reputable foods would be offered for display.

Commissioner H. B. F. Macfarland, who is not a food expert, but who is always ready to extend the welcoming hand to a worthy local enterprise, will formally welcome the makers of the best in foodstuffs. Health Officer W. C. Woodward also will speak.

It will be the most representative assemblage of pure edibles ever gathered under one roof. Manufacturers from all sections of the country are sending their products to demonstrate they are complying with the pure food and the staples handled are really as represented.

Decorations Are Rare.

As to Convention Hall itself—it will hardly be recognizable. Two weeks' preparation has made it a chamber of rare decorative charm. Every vestige of the old structure has been covered and made, figuratively speaking, to blossom like a wonderland. A canopy of orange and gold extends from end to end and from side to side. Strings of incandescent bulbs and arc-lights furnish light and add to the general brilliancy of the scene. The booths, artistically arranged and lavishly decorated, are underneath this canopy. Every space has been filled.

The entire decorative effect is the handwork of M. A. Singer, of New York, who came to Washington after putting the finishing touches to Madison Square Garden, where the New York Horse Show takes place this week. Secretary Patrick said the food-show decorations were placed in the sole charge of Mr. Singer in order to give the most harmonious effect throughout.

MINISTERS MAKE PLEA TO ALL CHURCH GOERS

Fervent pleas are going forth this afternoon from three of the leading Baptist pulpits to stir interest in the Washington convention, laymen's missionary movement, which will open here at Calvary Baptist Church, Eighth and H streets northwest, next Saturday afternoon, November 13.

At the coming convention will be rallied missionary and religious workers from all parts of the United States, whose purpose is to spread the influence of Christianity everywhere. The laymen's missionary convention will open at 5 o'clock next Saturday afternoon at Calvary Baptist, and at 6 o'clock the denominational dinner will be held at the Calvary Baptist Sunday school house. The speakers will be Samuel C. Capon, of Boston; the Rev. Thomas S. Barbour, of the American Baptist Missionary Union, and the Rev. S. J. Porter, of the foreign mission board.

The three church rallies this afternoon, which are intended to focus attention to the coming convention, bring to Washington three distinguished clergymen and three laymen as disciples of mission work. The rallies began at 3:30 o'clock and will continue throughout the afternoon. The speakers at the Temple Church, corner of Tenth and N streets northwest, are the Rev. C. L. Rhoades, of the American Baptist Missionary Union, and the Rev. S. H. Greene, at Grace Church, Ninth street and South Carolina avenue southeast, J. Harry Tyler, of Baltimore, and C. L. Rhoades; and at Fifth Church, E street, near Seventh street southwest, the Rev. R. H. Pitt, editor of the Religious World, of Richmond, Va., and J. H. Tyler.

on hand by the score. They are going to see to it that the visitors who stroll by sample the wares, too. Food literally will be thrust upon you, and the best thing about it is that purity is guaranteed.

Have Miniature Bakery.

The Washington bakers have exhibited the right kind of spirit by setting up a miniature bakery. Its product will be distributed daily at the show. A number of exhibiting firms have gone to the expense of installing a replica of their large factories.

Bakers' Exhibit.

Washington people will be intensely interested in the combined exhibit of the bakers at the pure food show. The bakers have assembled their funds and equipped a complete bakery in Convention Hall, and bread will be made before the eyes of the visitors. The same devices and methods as are used in every bakery every day in the year will be employed.

Time was when persons who ate bakers' bread dreamed to think of how it was made. They did not care to enter a bakery, for they felt they could never again eat bakers' bread.

But the bakery of today does not permit the bread or its ingredients to be touched by the hand of a single employed. Everything is done by machinery. The workman stands ready to direct the machinery. The flour is sifted and cleared of impurities before being put into the hopper, where it is weighed and shifted into the mixing tank. The necessary yeast, salt, water, milk and lard are poured in and the mixing machine is started. The mixing requires thirty minutes, after which the rising dough is deposited in zinc drawers and permitted to stand for fifteen minutes. Next it is molded into loaves. These are permitted to rise, being all the while inclosed in dust proof boxes. The next process is baking, after which the fragrant, steaming loaves are placed on steel racks for cooling.

The Exhibitors.

The firms who have united in this exhibit at the Pure Food Show are the Boston Baking Company, Corby Brothers, Berens & Son, the Haverhill Baking Company, the Schneider Baking Company, P. S. Stohman, John G. Meiberg, M. Holzheilein, and George Kraft's Sons.

The bread that is baked in this model bakery at the pure food show will be given to the charitable institutions. The model bakery is built on such liberal lines that every process in bread making is going on at the same time. The entire time consumed in making the bread is about six or seven hours, but the finished product will be turned from the ovens every half hour or so.

The show will continue every day until November 29 from 1:30 to 5:30 and from 7:30 to 10:30. The regular price of admission is 25 cents.

The Retail Grocers' Association is pleased with the interest already being shown in the annual event. The hardworking officers of the association, who have striven untiringly to make ready for the thousands who will attend, are: President, H. L. Meader; first vice president, J. H. McDermott; second vice president, J. T. White; treasurer, E. E. Fisher.

NEW FLOWER STORE TO OPEN TOMORROW

Kramer's Emporium Launched at Same Time as Floral Show.

The opening of the flower emporium of Kramer, the Florist, at 916 F street northwest, tomorrow, will be an event in flowerland only second to the great flower show across the street, where Kramer will preside as president of the Washington Florists' Club. Mr. Kramer will have 10,000 feet of floor space with a conservatory attached in his new store, and his display of plants and flowers are varied and beautiful.

For weeks Mr. Kramer has been pushing forward his repairs and improvements to his shop, determined to have it in perfect shape by the time of the annual flower show. He has engaged to do this and the two great flower shows will be opened together tomorrow.

At the Kramer opening there will be music every afternoon and the general public is invited to go there and spend a part of the afternoon amid the fragrant and beautiful plants.

LAD CAUGHT TRYING TO SMUGGLE CIGARS

DR. CHILDS RESIGNS SUBURBAN PARISH

May Be Succeeded at Chevy Chase by the Rev. H. H. D. Sterrett.

The Rev. Thomas S. Childs, D. D., this morning formally announced his prospective retirement from the rectorship of Chevy Chase parish.

He announced also the acceptance of the call to be his successor by the Rev. H. H. D. Sterrett, now an assistant in Trinity parish, New Haven, Conn. The change will be made, it is expected, about the last Sunday in January next. Dr. Childs' statement included the following:

That some time since it had become plain that the need of the parish required additional clerical activities.

That a committee of the rector had been appointed to consider the advisability of employing an assistant minister.

That that committee had reported its inability to obtain an assistant a man suitable ultimately to become rector.

That in fulfillment of his decision to retire from the rectorship whenever it should appear that his work was ended, Dr. Childs had at that juncture presented his resignation to the vestry.

That somewhat more than a week ago the vestry had accepted his resignation, and that now he was informed the call issued to Mr. Sterrett had been accepted by him.
