

AMERICANS READY TO FLEE MEXICO IN FEAR OF REBELS

Censorship of Telegraph Lines Is Re-established by Government.

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 5.—Re-establishment of the censorship over federal telegraph lines caused deep anxiety here today. Hundreds of Americans and other foreign residents are preparing to flee in fear that the situation in this state is more serious than the government has admitted. No censorship has been placed on the cable, but a rigid one has been put on the land lines.

Nothing definite has been heard of General Orozco for several days and it is reported that he has slipped into Central Mexico and has assumed leadership of an army, whose aim is the capture of the capital itself. Nothing has been heard from General Huerta, who was recalled because it was believed he leaned toward the revolutionary side. It is believed possible he may have joined the insurgents.

Mexican Rebels Taking Towns in March on Capital

Simultaneously with the report that the revolutionary movement in the north of Mexico is on the wane comes the news today that success is attending the efforts of the rebels in the south, who are capturing town after town in their advance on the capital.

The two revolutionary bands, one headed by General Aguilar and the other by Gen. Felix Diaz, are about to join forces. In the state of Mexico the people are in panic. The town of Villa Guerrero has been taken, and it is believed here that the town of Tenancingo will fall before the rebel onslaught by night.

The guerrilla warfare being carried on by General Zapata and his horde of bandits is also menacing the life of the Madero government.

Brig. Gen. E. Z. Steever, in command of the American forces along the Rio Grande, reported today that General Orozco and his column have retreated from the border and he is believed to be marching to the south to join the other insurgents.

Generals Rojas and Escobedo, rebel leaders in the state of Sonora, are reported to have made overtures to the governor of that state looking to their surrender.

The American cavalrymen along the frontier, acting on orders from Washington, have redoubled their efforts to capture General Salazar, lieutenant of Orozco, who is reported to have fled to United States territory to escape the wrath of the federalists who are pursuing the insurgents.

The father of Orozco and his brother, together with General Campa and a number of rebels, are now being held prisoners in American jails, and should Salazar be caught, Orozco will be the only remaining rebel chief in the field in northern Mexico.

COMMUTERS ARE AROUSED BY FARE

Residents of McLean, Va., Think Car Line Charges Too Much.

Protest against the high rates on the Great Falls and Old Dominion Railway was made at a meeting of commuters in McLean, Va., last night. It was called for the purpose of gaining signatures to a petition which will shortly be presented to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The specific cause of complaint is the fact that McLean is now in the third fare zone out of Georgetown, where it used to be in the first. Residents now pay 15 cents and one car ticket for a ride into the city. Commutation is allowed to Cherrysdale, and from that point they pay the usual city fare.

Indignation meetings have been held at McLean, Cherrysdale, and other points along the line. Crandal Mackey, Commonwealth's attorney for Alexandria county, has been instructed to bring suit against the railway company.

TRAIN KILLS THREE AT CITY CROSSING

Flagman Is Run Down Trying To Save Two Pedestrians.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Oct. 5.—Three men were instantly killed today when the Gratiot Special, of the New York Central railroad, ran them down in a dense fog near the Twenty-fourth street crossing. The dead are: ALEXANDER McDONALD, twenty-eight years old; JAMES STERLING, twenty-eight years old; MARTIN RYAN, flagman.

Ryan saw the two other men on the track a few minutes before the train was due to pass a crossing, and ran to tell them of the special. He had hardly begun to shout when the train bore down on all three, cutting them to pieces.

SON SAYS SICKLES GAVE $4,000,000 TO FOUR WOMEN

Declares Aged Warrior Is in Debt for About $1,000,000.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Declaring his intention of driving Gen. Daniel B. Sickles into "an old soldiers' home" because of his "base and untruthful attack upon the character of my mother," Stanton Sickles resumed his bombardment upon the aged warrior. He mentioned the names of two women, besides the prominent Manhattan society woman her had before named, to whom, he declared, his father had been devoted and had given sums totaling approximately $4,000,000. He said his father is at present in debt to an extent that may reach $1,000,000. This money has been lost principally in Wall Street, according to the son.

Not content with these revelations, the son made public a love letter written by the New York society woman to the general in 1864. He challenged his father to disprove his assertion that he and his mother saved him from a serious legal entanglement seven years ago.

Tells of Raising $40,000.

"My father came to me in great distress in March, 1895," recounted Mr. Sickles. "He told me that he had been entrusted with $40,000 by the Government to disburse for the Gettysburg-Chatanooga Memorial Association; that he had found other uses for the money, and that he should be forced to replace it by July 1 of that year. He wanted my wife to let him have the money. I refused to allow my wife to make the sacrifice, but told my father I would see if mother could spare that amount."

I sailed for Spain in May of that year. She agreed to furnish father the money. She got it together in cash, and it arrived in New York two days before father had to render an accounting of his stewardship.

"I place my father's financial downfall at the door of four women," continued the son bitterly. "Three of these are the New York society women I have mentioned, her mother and her aunt. The mother is dead. The general was with these women for almost half a century. I have in my possession a letter from him to his first wife, Teresa Baglioli, asking if she were jealous of 'Fannie,' the aunt of the woman I have named. The aunt is now alive and prominent socially."

"Inheritance Is Stolen."

"These three women have stolen my inheritance and those of my two sisters, in addition to that of father. This money came from the estate of my grandfather, George B. Sickles, who died in 1857, and amounted to approximately $4,000,000."

"My father is now in a pitiable financial condition. When he sent a hurry call for mother to pay the $3,000 note held by the Lincoln Trust Company, I learned that he owed sums ranging from $200 down to $100 for groceries, the care of his horse and such trivialities. I should not be surprised if his total indebtedness amounts to $1,000,000."

Board Trade Rejects World Fair Proposal

Charles Freeman Johnson's administration of the world's permanent exposition project received another setback at the hands of the industrial interests committee of the Board of Trade, at its meeting yesterday afternoon. Mr. Johnson, through Chairman D. S. Porter, asked the committee to reconsider its previous unfavorable action by appointing a special committee of three to investigate the project.

The request was denied, and a motion passed that the committee would take no further steps until Mr. Johnson had called and held a meeting of the advisory committee on the exposition recently appointed by Commissioner Rudolph.

Isn't This Your Idea of THE PERFECT KITCHEN

It is an Artist's Drawing of the Kitchen of Our Warder and Newton Street Homes

It will give you a practical idea of the working arrangement of this kitchen. It cannot show you the splendid dimensions of the large china cabinet on the right or the complete equipment of the double-deck gas range just this side of the china cabinet. It cannot portray the perfectly sanitary appearance given to the entire room by the wall covering of sanitas that can be washed just like tile, and the real tile backing at the sink and drain board. Nor can you get a comprehensive idea as to the spacious dimensions of the pantry, illuminated as it is with a full length outside window and equipped with a modern refrigerator system for perishables as well as innumerable shelves for groceries, etc. The illustration only suggests the location of the extra collapsible preparation table and the immense double compartment fireless cooker.

Your personal inspection is absolutely necessary in order to fully appreciate this Perfect Kitchen.

Just to emphasize the fact that every other room in this model home has been given the same careful attention on the part of the builders as the kitchen—even more attention in many cases, in proportion to their importance, we reproduce above photographic view looking over the house from the hall on through the parlor and dining room. As this photograph was taken without the aid of a flashlight, you can appreciate the perfect, natural illumination given this home by its many windows, interior glass doors, etc.
