

MURDERED PASTOR HAD MANY ENEMIES

One Suspect Held in the Rev. E. H. A. Kayser Mystery Tells Straight Story.

GARY, Ind., Aug. 26.—The first suspect in the Rev. E. H. A. Kayser murder mystery was released this afternoon by the police after telling a straight-forward story.

According to the police, George Schneider, a member of the Gary Saxon Verein, who was arrested early this morning, told relatives he had been in the city Tuesday night. There were bruises and scratches on Schneider's face when he was taken to police headquarters.

Rev. Kayser had opposed plans and principles of the Verein, because it was said by Chief Heintz, Kayser believed they conflicted with his domination of the German colony he had built up around him.

More details which the police say are relevant in their hunt for the murderer of the minister and German propagandist, were uncovered today. The police said Kayser's enemies were not confined to the hundreds of Slavs and Lithuanians of Gary, but were among his own congregations.

Sold Lots To Parishioners.

He had shown Chief Heintz letters he received from members of his German colony whom he had brought here from the Fatherland and to whom he had sold lots. Another feature in the case was the disclosure of the identity of the alleged "woman in the case."

Federal inspectors, it became known today, have for some time been investigating the source of letters threatening Kayser bodily harm if he continued visiting a Mrs. Mary Krause, one of his parishioners. The woman was questioned at headquarters by Chief Heintz and Federal investigators. The latter had been called into the case by the postmaster.

More details also of Kayser's recent business activities were unearthed today. Kayser founded his Independent Lutheran Church eight years ago. It was not subject to rule of the Central Lutheran bodies.

Bought Up Many Acres.

The minister bought up many acres of land surrounding his church, divided them into lots, and then sold them to Germans whom he persuaded to come here from the old country, and to Germans whom he interested on trips to New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland, New York and Missouri.

Kayser received $50 monthly as pastor of his church. He lived handsomely, however, presumably the police say, on the profits of his lot sales. He had confided to the postmaster, a close personal friend, that he had frequently been threatened for charging one settler more than another for a lot.

It has been variously estimated that he profited to the extent of $20,000 on his lot sales.

New Jersey Mosquitoes Knock Man Unconscious

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—Lewis L. Reis of this city invaded Big Piece Meadows, near Belleville, N. J., incubator for the largest mosquitoes in the State.

He was found unconscious several hours later, his arms and legs showing through his clothing, and his cheeks swelled to twice their normal size. It was impossible to count the bites he had received.

Reis was camping on the Passaic river, and went blackberrying. He slipped and sprained his ankle. Before he had crawled half way to camp the mosquitoes had conquered him. He was picked up by William Bloom, Morris Rosenfeld and Morris Laitz, and sent home after treatment at Caldwell, N. J.

FRENCH GIVE OVATION TO KING OF BELGIUM

Two-Day Tour of Trenches From Arras to the Vosges Is Triumphant Procession.

PARIS, Aug. 26.—Belgium's brave young monarch received a remarkable tribute from the soldiers of France on his first trip of inspection of the French battle front. His two-day tour of the French trenches from Arras to the Vosges, just ended, was one continued triumphal procession, amid the cheers of the French fighting men.

King Albert returned the visit recently paid to the Belgian front by President Poincaré. He motored first to the French lines near Arras, where he was met by President Poincaré and General Joffre, and escorted to general headquarters, where an exchange of decorations took place.

From headquarters the Belgian King was driven to an important French position along the Aisne. Five French regiments passed in review before him there, demonstrating new formations. President Poincaré, on behalf of the French troops, thanked the Belgian King for his visit.

Following this review, the party proceeded to an artillery observation post from which it was possible to view the French and German fronts for many miles. Monday night the two rulers boarded a train for the eastern front and on Tuesday King Albert reviewed an entire French army corps between Nancy and Lunéville.

Before leaving the eastern front, the Belgian King visited a French aviation camp and several observation points between Nancy and Pont-à-Mousson. When he parted from President Poincaré late Tuesday night to return to Dunkirk, King Albert expressed the highest admiration both for the French army and its system of defense.

DR. DUMBA'S TRUNK RIFLED FOR PAPERS

Austrian Ambassador's Baggage Broken Into, But Nothing Is Taken.

LENEX, Mass., Aug. 26.—In an effort to secure valuable secret papers relating to Austria in affairs, persons believed to be spies employed by the enemies of Austria, attempted to rifle the baggage of Dr. Constantin Theodor Dumba, Austrian ambassador to the United States.

The trunks and bags of the ambassador were placed in the Lenox railroad station, and when the ambassador sent for them it was discovered that the various pieces had been tampered with. Some of the trunks and bags had been broken into, the contents taken out, inspected and then thrown into a pile in the corner of the baggage room.

The ambassador was known to have in his possession valuable papers, but as a precautionary measure Dr. Dumba carried the papers in a small bag, which he kept with him at all times and never allowed it to leave his sight. Lenox police discovered that one of the trunks of the ambassador contained jewelry and other articles valued at $5,000, the property of the ambassador and his wife, but this remained intact. It had been taken from one of the trunks and then returned. From this evidence the police believe that the attempted robbery was not the work of ordinary burglars but of parties seeking the papers which Dr. Dumba carried with him.

WIFE ANGRY, AS SHE COULDN'T BE WIDOW

Bitterness So Great at His Spoiling Her Mourning Plans That She Left, He Says.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—Could anything have been more absurd, more inconsiderate in a husband than to come home unexpectedly and alive out of a hospital, when his wife had just delivered at her home that day the loveliest lot of widow's weeds a woman ever saw?

It was really exasperating to Mrs. Frank Nelson, wife of a contractor of Bennett avenue, Hempstead, L. I., he says. She so liked the nowing veil, the fetching crape bonnets and the smart effects in dead black gowns that she wept in open disappointment, he says, when he arrived home to blithely announce he had cheated the Reaper.

She did more, the contractor alleges in the warrant he has taken out charging his wife with abandonment. She was so nettled by the turn of events, and the uselessness of all the pretty mourning things that she left him then and there, he charges.

In applying for a warrant for her, charging abandonment, the contractor told Justice of the Peace Edward T. Neu that he had gone to Roosevelt Hospital in Manhattan early last year, told by the doctors that he could not live. Fully expecting death, he made over $10,000 in property to his wife.

Yet Nelson frankly says he still loves his wife and will forget all their difficulties if she comes back and resumes her place in his household. He has tried vainly to discover her whereabouts.

The children, Elsie, twenty-one; Bland, eighteen, and Howard, twelve, are loyal to their father. On Nelson's recovery the property he had deeded to his wife was conveyed by her to her daughter, who has since reconveyed it to her father.

HAITI PROTECTORATE WILL BE OPPOSED

Some Democrats as Well as Republicans in Senate Will Object.

Vigorous opposition to the arrangement of this Government to put a financial protectorate over Haiti will develop in the Senate the coming winter, according to talk today. This opposition will include some Democrats, as well as a number of Republicans.

The Administration, however, believes the negotiations will be ratified. The intolerable conditions in Haiti and danger of foreign intervention unless something is done by this country are ample reasons, it is said, for the course taken.

Secretary of State Lansing had a talk with Acting Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt and with Captain Beach of the Washington, who was in command of the marines that landed at Port-au-Prince.

Captain Beach, who returned on account of illness in his family, told the Secretary of conditions. He said the people were starving in some sections. He pointed out that President Dartiguenave was the first President in recent months who had been elected who was not elected by the congress at the point of guns in the hands of revolutionists.

The proposed arrangement with Haiti is made like the one with Santo Domingo. Republicans in the Senate for the most part voted for that. They cannot with much consistency oppose the Haiti convention, although they can point with satisfaction to the fact the administration has been obliged to resort to the much-assailed "dollar diplomacy" of the republicans.

Philadelphia Italians Heed Call to Colors

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 26.—About 4,000 Italians in this city are affected by the latest call for reservists, it became known today.

The Italian office at an early hour today was crowded with patriotic sons of Italy clamoring for transportation home to take up arms against Turkey.

Girl to Run Submarine Gantlet With Dan Cupid

YORK, Pa., Aug. 26.—Miss Florence Harding, of Burlan, Staffordshire, England, will run the gantlet of German submarines to come to this country to marry Philip R. E. Lever, a photographer, of this city.

In a letter received today by Lever from his fiancée, she says that she realized the danger in making the trip to America, but she is not afraid. The marriage will take place Friday, September 24.

Wait 35 Years to Make Sure Their Love Is Ripe

SOUTH NORWALK, Conn., Aug. 26.—When Frank J. Moore and Miss Sarah F. Kilboy were being wheeled in baby carriages, fifty years ago, they showed a positive affinity.

As school children they became betrothed, and for thirty-five years this relation had continued without disagreement. They were married in St. Mary's Church to day.

They said they wanted to wait until their love was ripe and they were convinced it would last until death.
