

CHARGE WATSON IS TOOL OF PACKERS

Federal Trade Commission Says Senator's Statements Are Propaganda.

Replying to the charges made by United States Senator James E. Watson of Indiana, the Federal Trade Commission today issued a formal statement charging Watson is a tool of the Chicago meat packers, and that his statements are part of the propaganda instituted against the commission to subvert justice.

The statement, in part, says: "The charges made against the Federal Trade Commission by Senator Watson, coupled as they are with other and serious charges made against the commission by a Senate resolution offered by Senator Sherman of Illinois, require an answer.

The Sherman charges were answered fully in writing by the commission last July, and since that time the author of the charges has not offered one word of proof. Instead of making good the first charges, new ones are brought. The commission challenges proof of the Sherman charges; it challenges proof of the Watson charges.

"These charges are open to question

when it is remembered that Senator Watson was a lobbyist in 1909, as was shown in the report of the House of Representatives of December 9, 1913, entitled "Charges Against Members of the House and Lobby Activities, Sixty-second Congress, Second Session, Report 113." His relations with the Chicago meat packers are shown by certain correspondence which is here quoted.

WATSON REITERATES "REDISM" IN GOV'T.

Senator Watson today reiterated his charge that some members or employees of the Federal Trade Commission are "red" and "subversive."

Senator Kenyon, who read into the record a letter from Basil Manly, denying the charge, clashed with Watson when the latter repeated his attack and said he staked his reputation as a Senator that he could substantiate it.

"What is the source of the Senator's information," asked Kenyon. "When the proper time comes I'll divulge it," replied Watson.

After Kenyon, by a barrage of questioning, had intimated that it came from the packers, Watson declared that such was not the case and that he had no connection with any of the packers.

"Well, where did it come from?" demanded Kenyon.

"Well, I'll say this much," replied Watson, "it came from an inside source—from a member of the Federal Trade Commission itself."

Watson in reply to Kenyon's question, "If he personally knew whereof he spoke," declared that he did not have the information, but that he had personally investigated the charges and could substantiate them.

Kenyon declared that while no member of the Senate objected to the investigation of the Federal Trade Commission, it was exactly what the packers desired in their attempt to discredit the commission.

KAISER WASN'T A GLUTTON, ANYHOW

BERLIN, Oct. 22.—The Berliner loves to dwell on thoughts of food. And, if he can't have exactly what he wants himself, he can take some pleasure in thinking of what "used to be." So today he regaled himself with an interesting moral—not of food, but of gossip—straight from the kitchen domains of the ex-Kaiser's ex-kitchen—namely, the royal menu, now revealed for the first time.

From one of the royal cooks came the story of what viands used to tickle the palate of his majesty—and Berlin smacked its lips as it reflected thereupon.

Strange to say, the Kaiser didn't eat five meals a day, as the peace-time German was wont to do. Instead he was of simple tastes and had only a few courses. Veal cutlet was his favorite dish, and he liked dried fruits. At 9 he was accustomed to breakfast with the Kaiserin. At lunch he had some of the castle personnel as guests. Then he was served a soup, fish and meat, with a dessert.

At night he entertained usually, and then was served soup, fish, meat, poultry, ice cream or other dessert. When the war came the courses were reduced.

On what his majesty now fares is unknown, though his former subjects are sure he isn't starving to death, inasmuch as Holland affords every imaginable variety of food—and the Kaiser still has funds.

INDICT MACHINIST AS BOMB MAILER

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 22.—Paul R. Carter, a local machinist, was indicted by a Federal grand jury here yesterday on charges of having sent an infernal machine through the mails to Capt. John Kneubel, of Ebenezer, N. Y. Carter pleaded not guilty, and is ordered held under $5,000 bond in addition to a $1,000 bond in a State case charging him with assault and battery on his wife, from whom he had been separated.

Jealousy of his wife was the theory on which postal inspectors worked. Captain Kneubel and Miss Mary Schulz, keeper of a boarding house in Philadelphia, where Carter is alleged to have manufactured the instrument, were among witnesses appearing before the grand jury.

MULES TOTTED SUPPLIES.
ELBASSAN, Albania, Oct. 22.—For three months the American Red Cross carried all its supplies from Tirana to Elbasan for distribution in the interior of Albania, on mules furnished by the Italian army. Then it hired six horses to make five trips every two weeks. The mountain feudists declared a truce to let the American caravans pass.

ESKIMOS FACE FAMINE.
DUNDEE, Scotland, Oct. 22.—The Eskimos are described as in desperate straits from lack of supplies, in reports brought by the crew of the Norwegian steamer Mercurius.

LIVES AS PEER TO FLEECE TRADESMEN

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 22.—The respect British tradesmen have for the name of a peer is demonstrated by the fact that a forty-year-old man was enabled to get credit from tradesmen to the extent of $750 by impersonating Lord Mount Stephen, a Canadian peer, who is ninety years of age, says a copyrighted dispatch from London to the Public Ledger.

The man lived in style at the best hotel and spoke in a cultured and authoritative manner. He is now in jail awaiting trial.

HEARSE STOLEN, FUNERALS HALTED

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 22.—London has been suffering from a plague of auto car thieves. For the last month no car has been safe, says a copyrighted dispatch to the Public Ledger.

The thieves have now taken a ghastly turn of mind. They broke into an undertaker's garage and stole his six-wheeled, black-shrouded motor hearse. The thief has not yet been detected and the unfortunate undertaker with a dozen funerals booked, is offering $250 reward.

ARE YOU DRAGGING THROUGH LIFE FEELING MORE AND MORE WORN OUT DAY BY DAY? HUDSON'S IRON AND NUX TONIC WILL RESTORE THE BALANCE

It Keeps the Young Feeling Young and Puts New Life and Energy Into the Old by Building Healthy Circulation of Red Blood Rich in Iron and Full of Revivifying Power.

Modern habits of life put a heavy tax on the man or woman who would succeed. The constant drain on the vital forces of life, nerve and energy, causes a rapid tearing down of the tissues of brain and body. It is the function of the blood to rebuild the worn-out tissues and carry away the waste matter to be eliminated from the system by the liver and kidneys. Physicians prescribe iron for worn-out bodies. Hudson's Iron and Nux Tonic puts rich iron in the blood and builds a healthy circulation to send it coursing through the system. It also stimulates the liver and kidneys, increasing their powers for the elimination of waste matter, and acts as a mild laxative, clearing the bowels gently and without griping.

Two letters from the files of the Hudson Medicine Co. will show the extent to which the public is turning to Hudson's Iron and Nux Tonic to rebuild and restore their health and strength.

One, from W. E. Armstrong and Co., of Petersburg, Va., one of the leading wholesale drug companies in the State, reads as follows: "We are very much pleased to advise you that the sale of Hudson's Iron and Nux Tonic is increasing wonderfully. We have repeat orders every day. There must surely be a remarkable amount of virtue in this preparation for it to become so popular in so short a time." The other is from a retail druggist, H. H. George, of Georges Drug Store, Hope-

TO BOOST BRITAIN THROUGH TOURISTS

Extensive Good-Will Campaign to Be Inaugurated Among England's Visitors.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—America's tourist armies have not always been the best boosters for the Old World when they return to the New, but if a project seriously considered here takes definite shape, then America's tourist thousands may become good-will propagandists between the two Anglo-Saxon countries, states a copyrighted dispatch to the World from London.

It is urged by advocates of this new movement that when tourists come here there should be committees in different localities ready to see that old as well as modern things should be made accessible to visiting Americans. It is pointed out that in this way there will be some definite method whereby tourists who desire to do so can really gain a comprehensive knowledge of John Bull's islands and what is taking place there.

Under such chaperonage it would also be difficult for fleecers of visitors to ply their trade. It is also urged that tourists will go home with a better impression than some have had in prewar years. Major Ian Hay, who did propaganda work in America, is keenly interested in developing this plan.

SPEEDING JUDGE PINCHED; CASE IN OWN COURT

WABASH, Ind., Oct. 22.—Arrested for speeding, John H. Sayre, justice of the peace, had his case transferred to his own court, swore out an affidavit against himself, had his own constable serve the warrant and agreed to appear in court before himself. He said that when his case came to trial he would levy a fine of $10 and costs against himself and pay it to himself. A part of the fine and costs paid by defendant Sayre would then revert to Justice Sayre, as he will collect a fee for hearing his own case. He admitted he believes in keeping the fines in his own family.

DOCKMEN'S STRIKE STILL IN PROGRESS

Only a Few Report For Work Despite Union Leaders' Orders.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Although called off twice by officials of the unions, the strike of longshoremen which has tied up the port of New York for nearly three weeks, was still in progress today.

Although one faction of 1,000 strikers voted to return this morning, not a man had resumed work early today. Several hundred men were gathering outside the piers of the International Mercantile Marine, but no attempt had been made to enter.

The faction voting to end the strike was under leadership of T. V. O'Connor, president of the International Longshoremen's Association. Shortly after they had reported their vote, 1,000 other strikers, headed by John F. Riley, chairman of the strikers committee, voted to stay out.

Charging O'Connor with unfairly representing their views, several hundred longshoremen, at a meeting in Hoboken last night, hissed and booed him and Joseph Ryan, vice president, and started a small-sized riot.

O'Connor was prevented from speaking and finally, when the shots were fired, scores from the audience rushed to the stage where a general fight began. Police reserves arrested several of the strikers and Ryan.

Disorder broke out this morning when 147 men tried to return to work at pier 18, Brooklyn. They were attacked and jostled by a crowd of "extremists" from the faction which does not want to return to work until the demands have been met. A lively fracas ensued, in which there were several broken heads. A riot call was sent in. Part of the men went to work, but other fled.

The radical element of the striking longshoremen today organized a new strike, electing Dick Butler chairman.

This organization, designed to supplant the "regular" strike committee headed by John F. Reilly, was to present a program of demands to Mayor Hylan as head of the conciliation board, some time today.

T. V. O'Connor, president of the International Longshoremen's Association, who has opposed the strike from the outset, was expected to announce suspension of all local unions which refused to return to work today.
