FRANCE PLANS TAX ON BACHELOR GIRLS

"Friendly Marriages" on Platonic Basis Suggested for Those Who Can't Pay.

PARIS, June 14.—France has been utterly staggered by the enormous burden of taxation the new budget proposes to impose on the already grumbling taxpayer. Free predictions are being made that if the budget is approved wholesale passive resistance and perhaps a violent outbreak may occur.

Not a solitary article in daily use, except such staples as bread, vegetables, milk, etc., will remain untaxed. Bachelor girls as well as men are to pay a heavy yearly impost as the penalty of being single, and this, it is expected, will cause a large increase in the number of proposals by women.

"Friendly marriages" on a purely platonic basis are even suggested for men and women who do not love and do not want helpmates, but who cannot afford to pay the tax. After marriage the couple will continue the same life as before.

There is also likely to be a big reduction in the race suicide figures, for childless couples will be taxed in proportion to their joint income. A family with three or more children will not be subject to this tax.

Among other things which the new budget hits are electricity, petroleum, gasoline, musical instruments, automobiles, hunting licenses, sugar, tea, chocolate, pastries, pepper, mustard, condiment sauces, asparagus, sporting exhibitions, foreign cinema films, bicycles, telephones, hats, shoes, billiard tables, newspapers and billboards.

All these will be taxed in excess of the 10 per cent luxury impost already obtaining, by which "luxury" is interpreted as meaning anything from a new pair of stockings to a metal in an ordinarily decent restaurant.

With all these taxes France expects to increase her revenues by more than $10,000,000,000 yearly.
