Charles Town is crowded with pretty girls. The age of THE FREE PRESS—72 years—suggestive or not, hasn't dimmed the eyes of its editor to the beautiful panorama that opens before him in his daily walk.

A bus will run to Shannondale Springs for the public accommodation on Saturdays and Mondays. Round trip 75 cents. Tickets can be procured at Light & Watson's drug store. A pleasant company at Shannondale now.

It is mentioned in the papers that Mayor Ray, of Shepherdstown, fined himself because his cow was at large. It ought to be easy enough for the aforesaid mayor to make the raise; we congratulate himself if we can find our cow.

Dr. Thomas S. Tuggle, aged seventy-four years, died Friday in Columbus, Ga., where he had practiced medicine for forty years. Dr. Tuggle married Miss Bettie O'Bannon, a very handsome young lady of this town, about forty years ago.

Mr. Stanley Shirley, superintendent of the City Electric Light Company, informs us that the new armature of the recently damaged dynamo will be received from New York next week. The company will then be prepared to furnish "light for all," as heretofore.—Spirit.

Lovers of baseball are to have the novelty of a match game at 3 p. m. on Friday next, near the B. & O. depot, between nine young New York girls and the local masculine agility. The diamond will be enclosed by an eight-foot wall of canvas, and an admission fee will be exacted.

A Mr. Levi Keller, a comparative stranger here, aged about 45 years, whilst at the dining room in the Hooff building on Sunday afternoon last, was stricken with paralysis. He was taken to Washington Hall and kindly cared for, but died on Tuesday morning. Dr. J. P. Bishop attended him.

Children Cry for

At the regular meeting of the town council Monday night it was decided that not more than $1,000 should be paid for the right of way through the Methodist Church property for the extension of Charles street. It will be known in a few days whether the congregation will accept that offer or not. It will be unfortunate if these two bodies which ought to have the public welfare at heart—the church and the town council—come to a deadlock over the trifling sum of $200 in the consideration of a matter so important. The mutual unwillingness to yield a hair's breadth is contrary to the material interest of the community and to the spirit of progress. It is impossible for either party to the pending negotiations to throw all the responsibility on the other, and if the arrangement is not consummated neither will be held guiltless of the resulting injury to the general interest. If the proposed overhead bridge should not be built, and some little child on its way to the new school building should be crushed beneath the wheels of a passing train, or some vehicle attempting to cross the track should be struck by a locomotive and valuable lives be lost, it would be in order for the obstructionists on both sides to lie awake several nights afterward.

Mr. F. W. Drew, formerly of this place but for some years past a resident of Harper's Ferry, died on Friday last, aged 79 years. Mr. Drew was at one time the owner of quite a large estate, but the reverses of war and lavishness of an over-generous nature swept much of his property away. Kindliness of heart, however, never forsook him, but continued the strongest trait of his character. At the outset of the late war Mr. Drew owned and resided upon the "Mordington" estate, formerly the residence of Judge J. R. Douglass, now the home of Mr. C. T. Mitchell—at the edge of Charles Town. When Gen. Patterson's Federal army entered the town in 1861 Mr. D. left a Confederate flag flying upon his house-top until it was surrounded by the northern troops, and even then, at the risk of his life, defended it until he was overpowered by superior physical force and the flag wrested from its elevated position. Such was his love for the South and such was his hatred for the invading foe. These feelings, however, had long since been mellowed by the lapse of years, and veterans of the blue and gray have alike of partook of his warm hospitality. His remains were interred in Edge-Hill Cemetery, at this place on Sunday, Rev. Mr. Everett officiating.—Spirit.

School Notice.

I have engaged the services of a skilled and experienced teacher, Mr. C. R. K. Varner, a distinguished graduate of the Virginia Military Institute of the class of '84. He is highly commended by its late superintendent, Francis H. Smith, also by Prof. Maupin, University School, Ellicott City, Md. He was associated with Prof. Maupin for five years. I call attention to the following extracts:

"Mr. Varner graduated with distinction in class of '84, and has been teaching with signal success ever since. I commend him with great confidence. F. H. SMITH, Sup't Va. Mil. Institute."

"Maupin's Univ. School, Ellicott City, Md.—Mr. Varner has taught in my school for five years, having come upon recommendation of Gen'l Smith. He has shown himself a zealous, painstaking instructor. His work has been most successful and satisfactory. Mr. Varner is a most excellent disciplinarian, his training at the Institute giving him that promptness of decision and firmness in the maintenance of order so essential in the school—while his sympathetic nature, his genial and kindly manner of dealing with boys, have made him beloved, as well as respected and obeyed. CHAPMAN MAUPIN, M. A." R. K. MEADE, Prin.

Thirty-two years yesterday Gen. Jackson left Winchester for Manassas. The boys sulked somewhat, knowing that Patterson was in Charles Town with thirty thousand men, occupying the homes of many of them and threatening spoliation of the vine and fig tree of many others. About the hour of the 18th of July then, as we make this note now, Gen. Jackson told them that Beauregard was fighting and needed them.—Cheerfulness took the place of despondency and with quick step they moved forward, and the First Brigade on the 3rd day thereafter won for itself and for its commander the name of "Stonewall." And the glory of it is: it never forfeited its claim to the distinction. Only a few of the boys of that day are left to recall the march in a mid-summer sun, the fording of the river, (water to the necks of the tall ones), the bivouac in a graveyard on the top of the mountain, the exhaustive next day, and the rest, in battle line, on the proceeding Saturday to the eventful Sunday. The majority has passed the flood and a small minority is passing now.

We are gratified to know that our contemporary, The Farmers' Advocate, has taken possession of a fine room in the new Wick building on Charles street, and the site of its initial operations. We can now refer to it as "our neighbor around the corner." But we can't refrain from telling a joke on our neighbor. As we descended our office steps and worked our way, as we do every day, through a congregation of colored people sunning themselves, or otherwise taking life easy on our office steps, we overheard a conversation, to wit: "What does it mean?" asked one. "Why," was the reply, "the Farmers' Advocate has come back. It ought to have stayed where it was put." The Advocate may extract comfort from the thought that his colored critics knew little or nothing about the faculty of lipce to not stay where it is put.

DON'T TAKE POISON!

Cheap whiskies are a mild form of poison. Consumers are warned against their use. I. W. Harper's Nelson County Whiskey is a standard, high grade Kentucky Whiskey which reaches me direct from Kentucky, and whose purity I can conscientiously guarantee to those seeking a stimulant for medicinal or social use.

Gen. Ober, of Maryland, visited Charles Town last week. The General is one of Maryland's representative men—holding a first place in business, as well as political and social circles. Messrs. Washington & Alexander represent his firm here in the standard fertilizers—so popular because efficacious.

Church Notes

Rev. Dr. A. C. Hopkins will preach at Kabletown on Sunday, July 30th, at 3.30 p. m.

Rev. Dr. Hopkins preached in the Elk Branch Church Sunday afternoon, after which a congregational meeting was held to consider the calling of a pastor, and a unanimous call was extended to Rev. J. E. Triplett, of Sweetwater, Tenn.

The sacrament of the Lord's Supper was celebrated in the Presbyterian Church on Sunday morning last. The pastor, Dr. Hopkins, was assisted by Rev. Mr. Clymer. The latter gentleman preached Friday, morning and night, and Saturday morning, and Sunday, morning and night. Sunday afternoon he addressed the children of the Sabbath-school.

Died on Saturday, July 15th, 1893, at the residence of her husband, Mr. John William Marshall, in Jefferson county, Mrs. Susan E. Marshall, in the 57th year of her age. Mrs. Marshall had been a great sufferer for several years and leaves a devoted husband and several children to mourn their loss. She was for years a member of the Elk Branch Presbyterian Church, and fell asleep in the hope of resurrection unto glory.

The Ritenour orchestra of this town gave inspiration to slippers feet at Shepherdstown on Friday night—the occasion being a party at Mr. Shepherd's. It is said that the gawk of an awkward squad would disgrace himself by making an eccentric movement, if "chassis all round" was in order, if permitted to step to the music of this band. Of course he would. This orchestra is much in demand because of its excellence.

A Gentle and Satisfactory Remedy.

Of late years I have been troubled considerably with indigestion, constipation and gas in the stomach. Found no particular benefit in the different remedies I tried until I used Dr. Dean's Dyspepsia Pills, which removed all those troubles in a gentle and satisfactory manner.

Wm. RUTLEDGE, Prop. Continental Hotel, Martinsburg, W. Va.

Mr. Charles G. Littleton, for many years past superintendent of the county infirmary and farm, died on Monday afternoon—aged 72 years. He was paralyzed several weeks ago. The Spirit pays the following just tribute to him: "In the capacity of superintendent of the infirmary he was one of the most popular officials the county ever had, and not the least sincere among the many who will mourn his demise will be the unfortunate poor who have received from time to time his uniform kindly care. He had been for a number of years a consistent and zealous member of the Baptist Church." His remains were interred in Edge-Hill Cemetery on Tuesday afternoon. Revs. Shepherd, Broadus, Hopkins and Hamill participated in the funeral services.

We had the pleasure of an introduction today to Col. C. W. Medinger, of Baltimore, who is a guest of Hotel Powhatan.—Col. Medinger once owned "Elkwood," the race horse who, with odds of 20 to 1 against him, won the valuable suburban handicap $20,000. We understand the Colonel has his eye on some of the superb young thoroughbreds of Mr. J. F. Manning of "Vinton Stud Farm," near town. This farm has turned out "Capt. Manning," "Return," "Lady Antoinette," and the promising colt "Montello," winner at St. Louis this year.—We wish the Col. and Capt. bon voyage. On dit: Col. Medinger is a judge of good horseflesh.

It is gratifying to know that the Hotel Powhatan is getting on swimmingly without detracting from the Main street hotels. Each one of them has its place, its usefulness and its need of success. Charles Town is an attractive place for summer visitors and its hotels and boarding houses have handsome complements of visitors—not crowded, not with all they can accommodate. The town is just swarming with charming girls—and, we suspect, with fascinating beaux, but we haven't been fatiguing our weather eye by observation on this latter point.

Mr. Joseph Trapnell has associated with him in the practice of the law his son, Mr. Benjamin Trapnell, who will take charge of an office in Shepherdstown. The junior gives promise of a pains-taking counsellor and successful practitioner. He has our best wishes.

MARRIED.

On Tuesday evening, July 18th, 1893, by Rev. Dallas Tucker, Mr. MARTIN KELLY and Miss SARAH D. EASTERDAY—daughter of Mr. John S. Easterday—all of this town.

HE COMMITTED SUICIDE!

The Cause and Its Lesson.

Why did he commit suicide? Oh! for the same reason that thousands of others are on the verge of the same sin, or in immediate danger of insanity, paralysis, idiocy, or some other equally unfortunate result of a nervous affection. He knew he was afflicted with a nervous disorder, but was careless, apparently indifferent to the outcome; or he may have lessened his chances for recovery by treating with physicians who had little or no knowledge of such affections, and find them as I did to be more than you claim for them."—Mrs. Mary Kister, Los Angeles, Cal.

W. B. Capwell, editor Tribune, Plymouth, Pa., writes: "My wife was cured of sick headaches of many years standing by the use of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. She has recommended it to her friends, and they all praise it highly. Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine is sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee, or sent direct by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle. Six bottles for $5, express prepaid. It is positively free from cocaine or dangerous drugs. Dr. Miles' Pills 25 cents a box. Free book at druggists or by mail."
