TO INVALID SOLDIERS!

Artificial Legs, Arms and Crutches.

GREAT IMPROVEMENT IN THEIR MANUFACTURE.

U. S. GENERAL HOSPITAL,
Wheeling, W. Va., April 2th, 1865.

I TAKE PLEASURE IN STATING TO you that I have carefully examined the Artificial Legs manufactured by LEONARD LEGRAN, and for which you are agent. For their superiority of construction as well as durability and convenience, I have never seen anything to equal them, and I therefore cheerfully recommend them to any who are unfortunate enough to need artificial limbs.

Very resp't, your obed't serv't,
JOHN KIRKER,
A. A. Surgeon, U. S. A., in charge.

The Wirz Trial.

WASHINGTON, Sept 2.—The Wirz military commission assembled to-day.

Mr. O. S. Belder testified that he had served in the 16th Illinois cavalry, and was a prisoner at Andersonville from the 8th of March until September, 1864. He thought that Capt. Wirz assumed command about the first of April. On one occasion Wirz came into the stockade, when a cripple walking on crutches approached and asked to go outside. The re, said was refused, and the cripple said he would rather be shot than stay there. The witness soon heard Wirz halloo to the sentinel, "Tell that man if he did not go back he would shoot him." The man did not return when the sentinel fired and shot him in the jaw. The cripple was known by the name of Chickamauga. Wirz afterwards threatened to shoot the other men if they did not go away. On another occasion, while the prisoners were being divided into squads of hundreds, one of the men, owing to sickness, did not fall in. Wirz threatened to shoot him, and did shoot him; the ball went through the man's hat. The prisoners were kept in the sun all day, and were not allowed to procure water. If they could not give a satisfactory account of any one of their number missing they were deprived of their rations; this was the case for three days early in July. There was not sufficient room in the prison, scarcely enough for men to stand upon; the limits were enlarged on the north side; there were 42,000 prisoners there at one time. He said heard Wirz say he was killing more Yankees than they did by killing in the field at the front. Witness had seen twenty-five or thirty men shot over the dead line and others fired into who were not over the dead line.

Emigration from the Southern States to Brazil.

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—A correspondent of the Herald gives some interesting statements in regard to the proposed emigration from our Southern States to the rich and magnificent Empire of Brazil. About twenty agents of various Southern States sailed for Rio Janerio on the 12th ult., to make an examination of the Don Pedros dominions, to return and report on their advantage for the settlement of Southerners. Our correspondent estimated that upwards of 250,000 of our Southern countrymen are now ready to emigrate thither, and should the reports of these agents be favorable he gives it as his belief that the number will be greatly exceeded.
