"THE INTERMEDIATE STATE,"

As Set Forth by Preading Elder Byan, at the Fourth Street M. E. Church, Sun-day Night, and the Commotion it traised Among the Orthodox Sisters and Brothers.

On Sunday eventing Rev. E. W. Ryan,

On Sunday evening Rev. E. W. Ayard of Was held at the Court House last night, and the Methodist Episcopal Church, preached the members Leing present. President the Methodist Episcopal Church, preached the members Leing present. President Reymann presided. He also avowed his disbelief in, a hell of literal fire and brimstone; yet held that the wicked would be punished in some way for their crimes. This almost battered down the stronghold of the faith of mean, who had heap taught from earlier of many, who had been taught from earli-est infancy to avoid all sin and evil that would eventually condemn them to a lace of torrid torment. Rev. Ryan took for his text Hebrews xi, 39-40.

And these all, having obtained a good report through faith, received not the promise:
God having provided some better thing for us, that they without us should not be made perfect.

His first sentence was what nearly raised some of the people off their seats. He opened as follows: "No one has yet been saved in heaven; no one yet sent to the lil." The reverend gentleman then went on to prove that there was an intermediate state, and that at the final day all would appear to be indiged. He illustrated desired went on to prove that there was an inset mediate state, and that at the final day all would appear to be judged. He illustrated this point by relating the parable of Dives and Lazarus, claiming that both the rich man in torment and the poor man in Abraham's besom were in an intermediate place. The next thunderbolt that struck the audience was the assertion that he repudiated the doctrine of punishment in a lake of literal fire and brimstone.

These things were related to a reporter of the INTELLIGENCER yesterday, and in such a positive way that he thought it best to see Mr. Ryan and get his statements. Some of the reports that reached ments. Some of the reports that reached the reporter's ears were to the effect that the reporter's ears were to the effect that the reversend gentleman had upset the the resurrection."

"Any other authority?"

"Yes; there is John Wesley. Now if there is any one the Methodist Church ought to have confidence in it is John Wesley. In his sermon on Dives and Lazarus occuratuis passage: 'It is, indeed, generally supposed that the souls of good men, as soon as they are discharged from the body, go directly to heaven. But this opinion has not the least joundation in the oracles of God. Paradise is not heaven. It is indeed the anto chamber of heaven where the souls of the chamber of heaven where the souls of the righteous remain till after the general judgment they are received into glory? I can also cite Blahop D. W. Clark. In his work on "Man All Immortal" he says: his work on "Man All Immortal" he says:

"There is an intermediate state of some kind. The Scriptures are clear and conclusive on this point. Indeed, the subject is so often referred to in the Bible, and placed in such clear and strong light, and reiterated in so many forms that we wonder the how any one could ever have mistaken their import."

In the course of further conversation Rev. Ryan referred to other authors such as Bishops Foster and Morris and a host of other writers as sustaining his position. There were points made by the Reverend gentleman which the unthoological mind of the reporter failed to grasp and which he will not attempt to reproduce for the children them.

which he will not attempt to reproduce for fear of distorting them.

Leaving the subject of the intermediate state the reporter inquired of Rev. Ryan what he had said to lead the congregation to suppress that he applicated for hell the suppress that he applicated for the suppress that he applicated for the suppress that he applicated for the could personally secure enough substantial that he had a side of the intermediate state the reporter inquired of the could be explained by the could be reported by the could be coul what he had said to lead the congregation to suppose that he apologized for hell. "What I said," he answered, "was this, that I rejected as monstrous the assertion of Dr. Jonathan Edwards, that millions of our fellow beings would be put in a lake o literal fire and brimstone in the sight o lod and all the redeemed, and tormented day and night forever, as an incentive to the redeemed to faithfulness and to a the redeemed to faithfulness and to a higher appreciation of the misery from which they have been saved. That the Scriptures teach eternal punishment for the wicked there is no question; and that God will bury the dead out of his sight is a ead fact. Oh! the sadness of the funeral of a lost soul."

The reporter thanked Mr. Ryan for his courteey, and was bowing himself out when that gentleman added to the above statement: "You can eay that I am in entire harmony with the teachings of the Scriptures, and the prominent men of the church."

The sentiment of the ministers of the The sentiment of the ministers of the Methodist Churches of the city seems to be against Mr. Ryan. In the preachers meeting yesterday morning the subject was brought up, and quite an interesting discussion ensued. The further consideration of the matter was postponed until next Monday.

The doctrine advanced by Rev. Ryan startled the congregation. They knew not what to make of it, except to condemn it and reject it. Yet in spite of this their souls were troubled and they were made sore afraid at the possibility of the truth of the doctrine.

There was no denying the fact that Rev. Ryan had succeeded in exciting the congregation on the subject, and that he had raised considerable opposition to his theories. He also avowed his disbelled in a hell of literal fire and brimstone; yet held that the warious grounds, and had interviewed the owners.

At the conclusion of Mr. Reilly's report Mr. Robert Campbell offered a resolution the substance of which is: "That the bid of Mr. George R. Tingle, viz., $20,000, be accepted as follows: $2,000 when deed of conveyance is made; $2,000 after the fair next fall, Mr. Tingle to take $5,000 in stock, and the remaining $10,000 to be paid by five notes of $2,000 each, the notes to draw interest at the rate of 5 per cent per annum, payable semi-annually. cent per annum, payable semi-annually. The condition of the acceptance of this resolution is that Mr. Tingle must accept the terms offered before any vote be taken."

As ason as the resolution came before the Board Mr. Mendel opposed it in a short but vigorous apesch, in which he desired the matter of settling the location to be relegated to the stockholders. Mr. Reymann followed Mr. Mendel, and supported his [Mendel's] position in a brief speech.

the reporter's ears were to the effect that the reverend gentleman had upsat the creed of the Methodist church by declaring that there was no heaven or hell. This the reporter was no heaven or hell. This the reporter was cordially received by Mr. Ryan, and hence his visit to Mr. Ryan to obtain the facts.

The reporter was cordially received by Mr. Ryan, and was invited to take a seat. In answer to the reporter's first inquiry for a brief summary of the statements he made in his sermon, Mr. Ryan said he regretted very much that it had raised such a disturbance, but asserted that he was ready to prove his possision whenever called on to do so. "I knew perfectly well what I was saying," added Mr. Ryan, "when I made the assertions I did. I firsily believe the doctrine I preached in regard to the intermediate place, and can cite the beast men in our Church as authority on this position."

"What are the authorities you refer to?" saked the reporter.

"Well, the opening sentence of my sermon was quoted from Bishop McTyiere, of the Methodist Church South. He says: "No one has yet been saved in heaven, and no one sent to hell. Mr. Kimberly urged the Tingle tract as the most advantageous in many respects.

"It is easy of access, either by boat, cars or by vehicles. There are three streets that by vehicles. There are three streets that can be very easily made to open into it, one of which does, now. It is opposite the centre of the town, in full view of the river. Boats can land stock or people on the wharf at the point of the Island. It is opposite the river terminus of the Tuscarawas road. Beliaire and other Ohio towns can readily and easily reach it. For a very small outlay South Front street can be put in splendid condition."

Mr. Mendel said the Fair Grounds would be cheaper at $40,000 than any other tract on the Island.
