Meeting at McLain's Hall.

The called meeting of the ladies of the city last Saturday afternoon, at the above named place, was largely attended. It was in the interest of the Childrens' Home, and at once assumed practical working shape.

The various wards of the city were divided among the ladies resident in those wards, and through these persons the Thankagiving sacks are to be distributed in the next few days. The headquarters of this committee is at A. C. Egerter's old stand, No. 1427 Main street. The sacks will be ready for handing out to the various ward committees to-day and to-morrow. They will be distributed by them during Wednesday and called for the day after Thankagiving. This request, however, is made of all persons kind enough to put anything into the sacks, to leave them at their nearest grocery, and thus lighten the labors of the sack gatherers.

There also accompanies cach sack a small money envelope. It is intended for persons who prefer to make a cash donation, or who for any reason cannot attend to the sacks. The managers of the Home have enclosed an address in each envelope. They thank kind clittens for past help. There is no bazaar or public entertainment of any kind in contemplation.

The entertainment advertised by Dr. Chas. H. Slade, to take place at the Academy of Music last night, came off according to the printed announcements, and was witnessed by an audience which crowded the large hall up stairs and down, from the very door closs to the edge of the stage. THE BAG TRICK, next performed, is justas easy. While in the original position, a large bag, which covers him loosely to the floor, is put over him. He releases his hands, and clutching the bells and other instrumunts used to produce a noise, with the bag still over him, has no difficulty whatever in convincing some people that his manifestations are produced by an outside agency of some mysterious character.

Of course it is not any harder to remove his hands, place a solid metal ring over each arm, and replace his wrists in the loop, than to produce the other manifestations while tied in the same manner. The feat of removing the two rings from his arms when locked together at the back is similarly easy, the shoulders being held rigid while the rings are locked on, and loose when the "medium" is removing them.

ANOTHER KIND OF TRICK

ANOTHER KIND OF TRICK is employed in the next performance on the programme, in which a sleel band is locked close about his neck, the keyhole being sealed up with wax. In this case, two rings exactly similar, are used. One has previously had the lock sealed, and is concealed in the man's clothes. The wax is removed, being still soft, as soon as the curtain is closed and the hands freed from the loop, the lock unlocked with a key taken from the man's pocket, the ring removed and concealed, and the other one handed to the committee when the curtain is closed. This seems amarvelously simple performance, but so were most of those which seemed so mysterious as done on the stage last night.

was done in two ways. The first time two slates were tied and sealed together, nothing being upon them. They were then laid upon the man's lap. As his assistant very bunglingly drew the curtain shut he substituted a pair of slates on which a message wayd, written for the other hair. atituted a pair of slates on which a message was already written for the other pair. That's all there is in that trick. In the other case the writing is also on the slate, which is, however, so wet that the writing cannot be seen. Any school child knows that plain writing is invisible when a slate is wet. One slate was given to a committeeman to wipe, while the medium very thoroughly wiped one side of the other slate. The two are then placed together with the writing, now nearly dry, inside, and tied, after which they are placed on a committeeman's head, the medium's hands resting upon the top of them. The noise which is heard by those near and taken for the movement of a pencil is simply the scraping of a large ring worn by Dr. Slade, as could easily be seen by those who observed critically.

Stade, as could easily be seen by those who observed critically.

Mr. Mendel next entered the cabinet with the nan. Those who remember seeing a prominent physician do the same with Mr. Baldwin, and declare that Baldwin made no movement, will also remember that he afterwards performed the same manifestations on the open stage with his hands held by the same gentleman, and the whole mystery was how any man could be so deceived as to say that the performer did not move.

scarcely needs an explanation. There was not a quick-motioned man in the audience not a quick-motioned man in the audience who could not have put on a coat as Dr. Slade did if placed in the same position. Nor is it any harder to remove a coat which fits one so loosely as did Mr. Harden's fit the medium, when it is sewed together in front and the sleeves joined with thread, than when they are not. This any person can demonstrate by a trial.

medium, when it is sewed together in front and the sleeves Joined with thread, than when they are not. This any person can demonstrate by a trial.

After this performance Dr. Slade explained that is would step to one side an instant "to rearrange his hair." What he really went for was to get rid of the steel ring and slates. It was remarked at the time that he did not invite a search of his person or clothing. The whole of his performance, so far referred to, depended entirely upon the fastening of his hands. This was probably the loop described, though a knot, which resembles an ordinary hard one is sometimes used. We have not space to refer in detail to all the rest of the programme, nor is it sufficiently mystifying to justify it. We owelt, however, to Officer Wilcox to explain that he was not a party to the fraud attempted to be played with the handcuffs. The performer explained that he had had Chief of Police Hennett send a pair of handcuffs to the hall, This was a lie. One of Slade's assistants gave the handcuffs to Wilcox. Capt. Bennett did send for a pair, and they were handed to slade by 'Squire Phillips, but he positively declined to repeat the experiment with those cuffs, which in itself characterized; his claims as false.

This sermon was very well received and made a favorable imp enion.

The pride and glory, honestly so, of Rev. Barnits, was filled to crowding. The black-board spoke welcome words to the new and good-bye to the old pastor, and after suitable words from each, every member was taken by the hand and wished a blessing.

THE FARNYELL TO SERV. S. B. RAENITE.

Rev. S. B. Barnitz closed rather an eventful ministry of over nineteen years, at the English Lutheran church on Sixteenth street, last night, and though his family will not leave the city before April next, and he will be back and forth amongst us, yet his official relations as pastor closed with the discourse of yesterday evening. The text on which his farewell words were based was taken from Faul's first episale to the Corinthians, second chapter, third, fourth and fifth verses: "And I was with you in weakness, and in fear and in much trembling. And my speech and my preaching were not in persuasive words of wisdom, but in demonstration of the spirit and of power, that your faith should not stand in the wisdom of men but in the power of God."

The historic points of the discourse will no doubt interest our readers, and we have therefore had them reported. Mr. Barnitz came to Wheeling as pastor June 10, 1802, at the age of twenty-four years, and preached his opening serson from second Timothy, fourth chapter, second verse, "Preach the word; be instant in reason, out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhore with all long suffering and doctrine." The services were held in the old Presbytorian Church, on Clay street (now Eighteenth street) and for the ceiling and doctrine. The services were held in the old Presbytorian Church, on Clay street (now Eighteenth street) and for the ceiling and corrine was f old Presbyterian Church, on Clay street (now Eighteenth street) amid very discouraging circumstances. Windows were without glass, plastering was falling from the ceiling and the audience numbered less than twenty. Richard (Uncle Dick) Richardson led in the singing, and Daniel N. Hoxie. A. H. Detwiler, Uriah Shepp and Andrew Britt acted as church officers. Some of the experiences of the then young pastor were rather amusing as well as discouraging. A high church pastor who was to share his room with Mr. Barlatz deelined to do so, got another boarding thouse and gave as a reason that "they had put some unordained fellow in to sleep with him, and he could not stand that." Another advised him not to remain in Wheeling, as the "field was fully occupied, and there was no room for him nor for an English Lutheran (Church." Mr. B. replied, "There is surely room for somebody here, sir, as I learn there are thousands of people who never attend church, and no Protestant orphanage or hospital."

By the first of September, 1862, the attendance at divine service had more than quadrupled, and the Sunday School had grown to 165 members. The Baptist people destring to 165 members. The Baptist people destring to call a pastor, it was necessary to find another splace of worship, and St. James German Lutheran Church, on Fourth street, was secured for afternoon services and Sunday School. Soon, however, the new pastor objected to this arrangement and school and congregation were "out in the cold." The tession of the First Presbyterian Church kindly offered the use of their church during the summer vacation of Rev. I. W. Fisher, and Mr. Barnitz preached to both congregations until the hall now used as the Jewish Synagogue was ready for the holding of services. Here the worship was conducted for a number of years, and then for a short time In the Court House, until the Chapel on Sixteenth street was ready for occupancy. On a number of years, and then for a short time in the Court House, until the Chapel on Sixteenth street was ready for occupancy. On the 18th of August, 18r7, the handsome lot on which the Chapel now stands was purchased, George Fricher and George Ke like advancing $1,500 so as to pay the entire sum for the lot as soon as the deed was ready. The Chapel was over two years in building, the corner stone having been laid in November, 1863, and the dedication taking place. December 18, 1870. Speaking of the additions to the church, Mr. Barnitz said: "Three hundred and thirty-eight persons have been brought to Christ, and into this, church from the world, and twenty-four have come to us by certificates. I have rejoiced with the joy of them who gather in the harvest that the inguthering has been from the world. Nover has this church, nor its pastor, by word or deed, attempted to entire members from other churches. Praise the Lord that from such a mean business His grace has kept us. Speaking of the changes tice members from other churches. Praise the Lord that from such a mean business His grace has kept us. Speaking of the changes that have taken place, he said: "I have administered the rite of burial to 408 persons, and from the lowest hovel where sin and wretchedness held high carnival, and from the howest hovel where sin and wretchedness held high carnival, and from the houses of the exalted and wealthy. I have seen the dead carried out, and admonished the living of their mortality. What an admonition in these facts." Referring to the Children's Home, he called it "Wheeling's noblest, broadest, grandest charity," and urged everybody to stand by it and sustain it. Mr. Barnitz urged upon every member of the church faithfulness and earnestress, and commended to them his successor, Mr. Dornblaser.

Touching allusion was made to the pleasant relations with all the other pulpits, and a high compliment paid to the generous kindness of the merchanis and all the years of his ministry been exceedingly kind and helpful, and indeed Rev. B. seemed to have's kind farewell word for everybody and everything but sin. In closing Mr. Barnitz said: "Let legel and the proper said of the word of a shaving always in the years of his ministry been exceedingly kind and helpful, and indeed Rev. and indeed Rev. B. seemed to have a kind farewell word for everybody and everything but sin. In closing Mr. Barnitz said: "Let us look away from these temporal things, to what, if we are faithful, shall presently be ours. May we realize it as what we shall be, and in the prespect of it be content to labor and suffer, if need be, and wait until the day break and the shadows flee away. The night is atmost spent; the morning is at hand; fearless, meanwhile rest you all in peace. The guardian spirit shall lead you to those homes felicitous where now your parents and your dear ones await Christ's kingdom with the other blessed dead."

ARY. MOFFAT'S DEPARTURE.

As has been announced, on last Wednesday the Board of Trustees of the Washington-Jefferson Cellege tendered to the Rev. J. D. Moffat, pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church of this city, the chair of the President, which was made vacant by the resignation of Dr. Hays. The expectation that Rev. Moffat would formally announce to the congregation the receipt of this invitation and what his intentions were, doubtless drew a somewhat larger congregation than usual to the Second Church yesterday morning. After giving out the usual notices Mr. Moffat stated that there had been tendered to him the position of President of the college and it was his intention to accept provided the Presbytery would dissolve the pastoral relation existing between the pastor and the church. He then branched out into a short brotherly and friendly talk, stating his reasons for feeling that it was his duty to accept the positios; it was more in the nature of a private talk, one addressed to his people, and not to the general public. His text was taken from the 48th chapter of Jeremiah, tilt vs.

"Moab bath been at ease from his youth, and he hath settled on his lees, and hath not been emptied from vessel to vessel; neither hath he gone into captivity: therefore his taste remained in him, and his scent is not changed."

An eloquent sermon was preached from taste remained in him, and his scent is not changed."

An eloquent sermon was preached from this text, that so closely applies to the reverend gentleman. Born and raised in the church, he has, since he began praching the word of God, been connected with the Second Presbyterian Church, where he is regarded with love and brotherly feeling. The sermon was not a farewell one, but it was what one might call a review of his action in the important matter of making a change.

The Presbytery meets at Burgettstown on the 13th prox. and will, at that time, be asked to sanction the change. There will be a congregational meeting of the Second Church members held very likely this week, and it is probable that the people will join their pastor in asking for the change of pastoral relationship. There is no doubt that the Preabytery will grant the request.

the Presbytery will grant the request.

Rev. Dr. Turner, of Philadelphis, who is assisting the pastor for a week, preached morning and evening to large and attentive audiences. The evening sermon, based on the words found in the first chapter of Isalah, eighteenth verse: "Come new and let us reason together, saith the Lord: though your sins be as scaled they shall be white as snow; though they be red like crimson, they shall be as wool; was one of great power, both in thought and feeling. Services will be held every afternoon and evening during the week.

Rev. C. P. Masden, of Fourth street M. E. church, was not able to be with his congregation last night, but it is hoped will be able to be out to-day.

ADDITIONAL TELEGRAPH.

Skeleton of a Man Found.

Little Rock, Ark., November 19.—Mr.

Curtia, who lives in this vicinity, found in a hollow stump about seventy-five yards from Bayon Metno, a section house on the Memphis and Little Rock Rairroad, the skeleton of a man. The coroner was notified, and with a jury repaired to the spot and viewed the remains. The jury's verdict was, "That the skeleton of a small or medium sized man, came to his death by a cause unknown" to them. The opinion is that the party was killed and hidden in this novel manner, as his thigh bones were chopped and broken just above the knees, and the remains show that they had been segered about the hips and shoulders, in order, doubless, to more easily crowd them into the cavity of the stump.
Upon the whole body was found lime, placed there, it is supposed, to aid decomposition and prevent any odor, then a layer of earth.

Milled in a Bar Boom Fight.

Killed in a Bar Room Fight.

Bradford, November 19.—During a bar room fight in Richburg, a town in the new oil region of Allegheny county, this afternoon, Jack McCarty fatally stabbed Pat Markey. McCarty was promptly arrested, and is now in custody. Both the murdered man and murderer were oil well drillers. McCarty is a bad character, and indignant citizens have threstened to lynch him. Rescued from Death.

Rescued from Death.

William J. Coughlin, of Somerville, Mass., says: In the fall of 1876 I was taken with bleeding of the lungs, followed by a severe cough. I lost my appetite and flesh, and was confined to my bed. In 1877 I was admitted to the Hospital. The doctorssaid I had a hole in my lungs as big as a half dollar. At one time a report went around that I wasdead. I gave up hope, but a friend told me of Dr. William Hall's Balsam for the Lungs. I got a bottle, when to my surprise, I commenced to feel better, and to-day I feel better than for three years past.

"I write this hoping every one afflicted with Diseased Lungs will take Dr. William Hall's Balsam, and be convinced that consumption can be cured. I can positively say it has done more good than all the other medicines I have taken since my sickness.

CARBUNKLES, Felons, Boils, Bores of long standing, such as Ulcers, Absesses, etc., positively cured without the aid of a knife or poultice, by using Mrs. Julye Myers Drawing and Healing Salve. Piles, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Soft and Ulcerated Corns, Chilbhains, etc., it has never failed to cure. For sale by Lozan & Co.
